The United States Department of Agriculture is carrying out experiments with a view to saving country roads from this quick deterioration. The device consists in laying down in the centre of the road two flat steel tracks to the gage of the average farm wagon. The steel rails, for they are nothing less, are to be 7-16 of an inch thick and of an inverted trough shape. They will be bedded in gravel laid in trenches, and they will be tied together at the joints and in the middle. On all hills the rails will be slightly corrugated or roughened to enable horses to take a good foothold. In addition to the durability of a road made on these lines, it is claimed that such a road would reduce the tractive resistance from forty pounds per ton on a macadam surface to eight pounds per ton on the trough rails.

It is estimated that the cost of the rails and gittings for a short stretch of road will be at the rate of about $3,500 per mile; though a line several miles in length could be built for about $2,000 per mile. This estimate is for a tract which would weigh about 100 tons per mile; a track for lighter traffic, weighing about fifty tons per mile, could be built for half the above named sum. These figues represent the cost of material only, the grading and track laying not being included.

As regards the value of such a road, there may be some districts where its construction and maintenance would be more economical than that of a first-class macadam, but we doubt whether it would prove to be so in cases where the materials of construction are within easy reach. As regards the increased hauling capacity of the steel-tracked road, there is no doubt that it would be greatly increased, though scarcely, we imagine, to the extent—five hundred per cent—claimed by the advocates of the system.—Scientific American.

LUMBER INTERESTS.

action upon the question of imposing export duties, or of prohibiting the export of saw logs, should be deferred till after the next meeting of the American Congress, in view of the possibility of securing a more satisfactory adjustment of the American lumber duties."

Mr. Charlton contended that the Ontario Government had no right to do what the original resolution demanded, save when the sale was taking place. He claimed that the Americans who bought limits on the understanding that they could tow logs from Canada at their pleasure had rights which the country was bound to observe. He was satisfied that if Canada prohibited the exportation of logs the United States would prohibit the importation of lumber.

"Let them do it," came from a dozen voices.

"I don't say no export duty should be imposed," continued Mr. Charlton, "but I think delay should be counselled."

Dr. Spohn favored the resolution and reminded Mr. Edwards that he had appealed too much to sentiment. No sympathy had Dr. Spohn for American owners of timber lands in Canada. He said they bought their limits knowing very well the restrictions which might be imposed by the Government. Ontario people, said he, knew their own interests and he was confident that regulations would be enforced so that Canadian logs must be manufactured in Canada.

As Dr. Spohn sat down W. C. Edwards had a question for him. In reply the Doctor said the poor lumbermen of the Georgian Bay were handicapped as compared with the Ottawa lumbermen by $1.50 or $2 freight rates.

Mr. E. W. Rathbun, in a short speech, in which he supported the first resolution, said that it was only a matter of time when there would not be enough pine to support the country's industry, and contended that the issue to be taken was: Have we any pine to spare from our own industrial interests? He held that an export duty was not retaliation. It was simply a return to a principle which was temporarily dropped in return for a $1 duty. He next pointed out how it was necessary in the interest of all the investments made in the country on the strength of the timber resources, in the vital interests of the towns and villages and farmers of the province, that the industry should be protected.

Mr. Beck felt that the lumber trade had reached a crisis. As a mill owner he contended that the effect of the Dingley tariff would be to shut up the saw mills of Ontario. He was one of those who proposed the holding of this meeting, and he felt that the time had arrived for the formation of a strong association of lumbermen. If he had no mills and only limits he might think differently on the whole question. Nevertheless he thought that in the interest of the whole country at large the forest products should be manufactured here. He declared that the new tariff of the United States was a most shameful affair, and he felt like getting back at them. If England would only consent to put a duty on grain in favor of the colonies then he would say she is a good mother. He made the statement that there is more lumber shipped from the United States to England and other countries than is shipped into the United States from Canada, and could see no reason why Canada should not secure a large portion of that trade.

Mr. Campbell declared that it would be suicidal to close themselves out of the American market at present. He strongly opposed the original resolution.

Mr. Dyment, M.P., spoke as a limit holder and manufacturer, and strongly opposed the original resolution. He held that those who are advocating an export duty are going on the supposition that no further duty will be imposed by the United States on lumber coming from Canada. The United States would undoubtedly put on a $4 duty on lumber. He pointed out that there are millions of American money invested in Canadian pine limits, for which the Americans were solicited, and they now know, to their sorrow, that they paid twice, yea three, times what they were worth in many instances. As a politician it would not become him to say what he would do in the matter, but the lumbermen came together at this time to endeavor to devise some scheme to better their condition. He favored Mr. Charlton's amendment.

Mr. Edwards again spoke, declaring that he was opposed to an export duty under any circumstances. If the export duty was imposed the English market would become overloaded far above its capacity in six months' time. The United States would hail with delight the chance to impose a $4 duty on lumber, instead of $2 as at present.

Mr. Brennan took exception to the remarks of the previous speaker, and thought the meeting and the discussion would be of great benefit to lumbermen. He saw no objection to going back to the old custom of an import duty on lumber and place an export duty on logs. He thought it unwise to sit meekly and not do anything, no matter what legislation the United States may impose on them.

Mr. Lovering spoke in a spirited manner, and was greeted with loud applause at the conclusion of his remarks. He commenced by stating emphatically that he favored the first resolution. If the United States did place a $4 duty on lumber it wouldn't interfere with Canada's European trade. He claimed that the Georgian Bay interests should first be considered, as the greatest good to the greatest number was the proper principle to proceed on. The export duty is imposed, declared Mr. Lovering, the duty is on our labor, not on our lumber. He closed by a strong plea for the lumbermen to assist in protecting the forests, and not let the mills lie idle while the forests are being stripped.

Mr. Charlton again spoke to his amendment, saying that the discussion was irrelevant, as his resolution said nothing about duty. All he counselled was delay. He questioned the power of the Government to impose an export duty.

Then Ald. John Scott again supported his resolution, but he had not proceeded far when he and John Charlton got into a wrangle. The trouble arose over Mr. Scott telling his hearers of a solemn compact which he and some other lumbermen entered into when they agreed that Canada was entitled to free lumber for free logs. They also agreed that if free lumber could not be obtained, to favor a one dollar duty. They further agreed that the matter was to be kept secret.

Mr. Scott then went on to tell how the M. P. got himself interviewed at Ottawa, and gave the whole snap away.

Mr. Charlton jumped up to reply, and commenced to tell what he had done for the lumbermen in years gone by, but the chairman shut him off, and after considerable difficulty nailed him down to the statement that he didn't know the reporter that interviewed him was going to publish what he said.

Mr. Scott then proceeded to say that Mr. Charlton's appeal for delay is a pitiable one—one that comes from the other side of the line—asking the United States to come to Canada's assistance. The matter has already been placed before the United States Government, with the result that we have a $2 duty.

The discussion was brought to a close by Mr. John Bertram, who also paid his respects to Mr. John Charlton. Mr. Bertram was of opinion that the meeting would be of great benefit to the lumbermen. As the United States have done their work, it now remained for Canada to legislate for herself. "Let us assert our manhood. We think we are right, and as Canadians and British subjects, let us give our opinions regardless of the United States," concluded Mr. Bertram.

Mr. Charlton's amendment was then voted on, but it was overwhemingly defeated, the vote being 50 to 11.

The original resolution—Mr. Scott's motion—was then submitted, and was declared carried by 48 to 11.

On motion of Mr. Scott, seconded by Dr. Spohn, a committee, composed of Messrs. Bertram, Rathbun, Waldie and Scott, were appointed to wait on the Ontario Government and present the resolution just carried.

A motion moved by Dr. Spohn and seconded by John Charlton was passed, to the effect that the Dominion Government be asked to impose a corresponding duty on American import lumber.

The meeting adjourned after passing a vote of thanks to Col. Davidson for presiding.

DR. CHASE.

All successful and distinguished men have imitators, and Dr. Chase, the well-known author of Chase's Recipe Book, proved no exception to the rule. Dr. Chase's discoveries have many pretended rivals, but no equals.

Long scientific researches produced Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Chase's Ointment, the first a certain cure for all kidney, liver, stomach, bladder and rheumatic troubles; the latter an absolute specific for chronic and offensive skin diseases. Among his other discoveries were Chase's Catarrh Cure and Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for colds and Bronchitis.

During 1895 the Canadian manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto, gave away free 500,000 samples of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and 100,000 samples of Chase's Ointment. The return they brought proved how much they were appreciated. The same free distribution of samples will be continued during 1896. Those at a distance should enclose a 5-cent stamp and also receive a sheet of the latest music in return.

CANADA'S WELCOME

To the Eminent Scientists of the British Empire.

LORD ABERDEEN FOR THE DOMINION

Premier Hardy and Hon. Dr. Ross for the Province and Mayor Shaw for the City Welcomed the Distinguished Visitors Happy Speeches Made in Reply.

Toronto, Aug. 19.

This great Dominion, this, its banner province, and this, the Queen City of the West, have severally welcomed the scientists of the great Empire of which they are a part. And a decided patrician flavor, such as this country is not accustomed to, pervaded the reception meeting. It was held in the Horticultural Pavilion, and never before, and perhaps never again, will the old hall hold within its walls so much that is distinguished by reason of birth, of knowledge and of political and municipal honor. The addresses, both those of welcome and those of reply, were unique in at least one particular. Never before has a Toronto audience heard a speaker arise in one of his forums and begin with a salutation couched in such terms as "Your Excellency, Mr. Mayor, My Lords, Ladies and Gentlemen."

It was, indeed, a goodly array of talent and a stately galaxy of femininity. It is scarcely necessary to mention that the hall was profusely decorated. It goes without saying that where so much that was British was to be looked upon, the old flag could not be missing. Around the walls and in every conceivable nook and corner were tastily arranged Union Jacks, and, what is uncommon, Union Jacks exclusively. The ground floor was given up entirely to the members of the association, while the galleries were occupied by curious and interested non-members.

The expectant audience gazed with an amusing disregard for the rules of etiquette at the various British ladies as they sauntered in and occupied a double row of easy chairs at the front of the hall. Finally, everybody arose in respect, for the representatives of majesty were approaching. His Excellency advanced to the chair on the platform, followed by Mayor Shaw and the Right Hon. Lord Lister. Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen arrived and took one of the centre chairs, immediately beneath the chairman, Lady Kirkpatrick sitting beside her. The vice-regal party were heartily applauded and Gilonna's Orchestra rendered the National Anthem, with all standing out of respect.

In addition to those already mentioned, there were on the platform: L F Vernon Harcourt, London; Major P A Macmahon, Artillery College, Woolwich; Prof Edward S Morse, Salem, Mass.; G Griffith, assistant general secretary, Harrow, Eng.; Prof Henry T Bovey, McGill University, Montreal; Dr Donald MacAllister, St. John's College, Cambridge, Eng; Prof A MacAllister, Cambridge, Eng; Prof Ayrton, City and Guilds of London Central Technical College, London, Eng; Hon G W Ross, Minister of Education, Toronto; Prof Ira Remsen, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md; Prof Wyndham Dunstan, Imperial Institute, London; Hon G W Allan, Moss Park; Prof J V Jones, F R S, University College, Cardiff; Prof John Perry, F R S, Royal College of Science, London; Prof George F Barker, Philadelphia, Pa; Hon A S Hardy, Premier of Ontario; H P Bowditch, M D, Boston; Sir James Grant, Ottawa; Dr Simon Newcomb, Washington; Chancellor Burwash, Toronto; E Sidney Hartland, F S A, Highgarth, Gloucester; Sir Sandford Fleming, Arthur Harvey, Toronto; Prof M Foster, Great Shelford, Cambridge; Charles S Minot, Provost Trinity College; O A Howland, M L A, Toronto; Capt H F Wyatt, A D C; Paul Carus, Chicago; Prof Loudon, Toronto University; Sir William Turner, Edinburgh; Dr McCallum, Col Sweny, ex-Mayor Kennedy, R T Coady, City Treasurer; John Blevins, City Clerk; Adj Crane, Saunders, Lamb, J K Leslie, Preston, J J Graham, R H Graham, Hubbard, Beale, A F Rutter, William Burns and P G Close.

Beside and behind Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen and Lady Kirkpatrick sat Lady Kelvin, Lady Evans, then the Misses Lister, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. E. B. Osler, Mrs. Byron E. Walker, Mrs. Roberts-Austen, Hon. James and Mrs. Bryce, Mr. and Mrs. Goldwin Smith, Capt. A. T. Kirkpatrick, Principal Parkin and a host of clerical, legal and other local celebrities.

Mayor Shaw, immaculately attired, announced that the British Association was to be welcomed by the Governor-General on behalf of the Dominion. He regretted to announce that illness had prevented the expected attendance of Lieut.-Governor Sir George Kirkpatrick.

His Excellency was cordially received as he arose. He had observed that the people of Canada were not forgetful of the proper way to entertain strangers, and more particularly distinguished strangers. To strangers personally a cordial welcome was always granted. But to an association of such distinction as the one before him the welcome would, he felt assured, be more than hearty. He expressed, in continuing, his regret at learning of the illness of Sir George Kirkpatrick, whose name had become a household word throughout Canada. [Applause.] It was not in a formal or conventional manner that the public would express their sorrow. The manner in which he and Lady Kirkpatrick had already entertained, a number of members of the association was a fit token of their appreciation of the work of the whole association. The occasion of the visit of the association to the far-off town of Aberdeen had left pleasant recollections in his mind. He knew, therefore, what pleasure the people of Toronto might anticipate. He hoped the members of the British Association would long store up in their memories their visit to Toronto.

His Excellency having been generously applauded, His Worship Mayor Shaw arose to convey the civic welcome. He delivered himself of his duty admirably. Then the Right Hon. Lord Lister, the retiring President of the association, announced by Lord Aberdeen to reply on behalf of the guests, had to await the subsidence of his welcome. "Your Excellency, Mr. Mayor, My Lords and Gentlemen," he began, and, proceeding, thanked the Governor-General and the Mayor for their kind words. His visit to Canada had hitherto been one of surpassing interest. He was much astonished at the evidences of its progress, its material and intellectual prosperity. He, without being invidious, he could compare his visit to Canada of twenty years ago with the present one, he desired to remark how much he had been impressed with the change in this city. Its buildings, its system of electric cars and the exquisite taste of its University Buildings and the beauty of the scenery in which they were located, was a matter for which the University deserved congratulation. [Applause.]

Then he launched upon the relations existing between Canada and the Empire, and his reference and all such references were met with loud clapping of hands. As an indication, in word, of the increasingly tight bonds which united the colony to the Mother Country there, the kindly and generous (and to pause) the cheers which always greeted allusions of the kind should go to the heart of every Briton good. [Applause.] The members had met with unbounded kindness everywhere, but nowhere had it exceeded that shown by Toronto. [Applause.] Therefore, on behalf of the association, he desired to thank the Dominion and the city for the welcome extended.

Sir John Evans, K.C.B., Treas. R.S., the incoming President of the association, and a hearty, genial-looking specimen of English squirehood, also responded. It was the first time he had crossed the Atlantic, but he was glad to be able to feel still among his relations and friends. He looked forward to the development of this great country. [Applause.] Loyalty to the Mother Land would be of great service in developing and unifying the whole Empire. [Renewed applause.] To this end science would take no small part, and the association was doing all it could to promote the interests of science. [Applause.]

The name of Lord Kelvin met with the reception of that of his predecessors. His Lordship suffers from an infirmity in his lower limbs, but is cheerful in speech withal. He spoke of the difficulty in persuading the association to adopt the new idea of holding a meeting outside the bounds of the United Kingdom, and for fifty years they refused to adopt it. But when they met in Montreal in 1884 the conservative misapprehension was dispelled. [Applause.] Not one but had no other feeling but that of satisfaction at the change in policy. He even wished they could look forward to meetings in other and more distant parts of the Empire, but the fact that there was a vast difference in traveling 3000 miles to a meeting and in going 12,000 miles might discourage the plan. After a word of commendation for the Reception Committee and an expression of pleasure at being present at a meeting in this part of Her Majesty's dominions, he sat down, but, inspired with a new idea, he again arose and explained that he felt touched by the expressions of applause which greeted every allusion to Imperial unity.

The audience fiercely applauded this little sentiment.

His Worship noticed that Premier Hardy was present, and called upon him to welcome the visitors on behalf of the province. He had been unexpectedly called upon to say a word for the province, but there was nobody living in the province who could not say a good word for it. [Applause.] In congratulating His Excellency and His Worship for their efforts he commended the committee for having brought the great lights and luminaries from Great Britain over here. [Applause.] The only danger would be in leaving England, Ireland and Scotland dark in their absence. [Laughter.] He hoped they would visit some of the more inviting parts of the province. He was glad to see Lord and Lady Aberdeen present, but it was only what he expected of them, as they were always prominent in good work.

As the Premier concluded, cries went up for "Ross!" Mayor Shaw stated that the Minister of Education was not present, but His Excellency, looking around, spied Dr. Ross and jocularly remarked: "The Minister of Education is hiding behind the Governor-General."

This last statement served to feed the ready wit of the Minister, who upon coming forward explained that he was "hiding under the shelter of the throne," a practice which was often convenient for politicians. [Laughter.] As the head of the Department of Education the meeting was largely in his line. It was part of his duty to see that his teachers taught from the books written by some of the members present. [Laughter.] He was afraid some of the pupils who studied from these books would hardly join in the benediction he was bestowing upon the authors. [Laughter.] He welcomed the association to Toronto, the meeting-place of the Indians, but promised he would take no scalps unless it were done scientifically. [Laughter.]

COULD NOT LIE DOWN!

Walked the Floor All Night Many a Time.

A Toronto Lady's remarkable Escape from Heart Trouble, and her Voluntary Testimony About the Safest and Best of Heart Tonics.

Toronto Testimony Comes Home to Toronto People.

Here is what Mrs. Robt. Mitchell 78 Huron St. says, "Three years ago I had rheumatism, since then I have had serious heart troubles, my physician said caused by the former attack of rheumatism.

My heart was so badly affected that I could not go upstairs or walk a short distance without experiencing violent palpitation, sometimes so badly that I could hardly breathe.

Sleep was almost impossible to obtain on account of the smothering nervous feeling which affected me. Frequently I was so bad that I could not lie down, or even sit down on account of my heart and the shortness of breath.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed these distressing and alarming symptoms. They have strengthened the muscles of my heart so that it now performs its duties in a natural way. I can now walk about without inconvenience, and sleep naturally and well.

Exertion does not affect me or cause my heart to beat unnaturally as before, and I am a great deal stronger and better than I have been for a long time. They have done me a world of good, and I heartily recommend them." 137

WOMEN TO GO ON THE MARCH.

Wives and Daughters of the Strikers Will Now Take Up the Fight.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 17.—The contemplated plan to have the women make marches, which was to have been inaugurated here to-day, has been definitely decided upon by the leaders, and the wives and daughters of the strikers will now take up the work which the men have been enjoined from doing. It is the intention to begin to-morrow, and have the women do the marching while the men remain in camp. The leaders think the injunction is not operative against women, and it remains to be seen what the outcome will be.

A new element is to be introduced in the situation at an early date. The farmers of the entire country surrounding the several camps are making offensive preparations for a demonstration to show their sympathy for the striking miners. They propose to have a parade, headed by a band, and march down the Saltsburg road and up over the hill. No missionary work is to be attempted; the demonstration is simply for the purpose of showing sympathy for the strikers.

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. Piscatorial.

A great many repaired yesterday up the river to try their skill with the rod. The old proverb held good, however, that fish have poor appetites on holidays, and the catch was small. There must have been a couple of hundred of fishermen between Nassau and Lakefield, and to see many of these ardent disciples of Izaak Walton up to their middle in the stream would have been amusing if it had not been for the perseverance and desperation with which they fruitlessly whipped the water. Notwithstanding the variety of bait and the delicacy and daintiness with which it was served, the fish would not be tempted, and the great majority had to return with empty baskets.

NOT OVERLOOKED.

Peterborough Will Receive Her Share of the Jubilee Postage Stamps in a few Days.

Col. Rogers, of the post office, has been much sought after of late by those who are anxious to purchase sets of the Jubilee postage stamps. As these sets had not as yet been received by the Peterborough office, the postmaster began to fear that we had been overlooked, and wrote to the postage stamp branch of the Department enquiring into the matter.

In reply he received the following letters which explains itself.

Postage Stamp Branch,
Ottawa, 18th August, 1897.

The Postmaster, Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—We shall let you have your share of the partial sets of Jubilee stamps as soon as possible. The task of distributing these sets, owing to the limited number, and to the fact that the distribution is to extend to seventeen hundred points, is a task of no small difficulty, more especially as it is in addition to the ordinary work of this branch, which is much pressed just now because it is obliged to deal with different issues of postage stamps, accounts of which have to be kept separately. The letter "p" is far down in the alphabet, but we are reaching it as fast as lengthened hours for all the staff and an effort on the part of each one to meet the extraordinary demands made upon the office jur now can accomplish it. We have complaints from several places, but we find that in the majority of cases the stamp speculator is behind most of them. Pray don't consider that I insinuate that this is the case with Peterborough, but even the public, at times, must be reasonable. I think in about two days we shall reach the letter "p." Your office will not suffer one jot by the inevitable delay. We have made our calculations in advance, so that Peterborough's share is as secure as that of Aberfoyle, issued some days ago. I send you in advance a copy of the circular intended to accompany the sets in question so that you may know the principle upon which we are proceeding.

Yours faithfully,
E. P. STANTON,
Superintendent.

—When the sets come they will be accompanied by the following circular which is explanatory of the matter:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, CANADA,
Postage Stamp Branch.
OTTAWA, 1897.

SIR,—I am requested to transmit to you the accompanying partial sets of Jubilee stamps. These sets consist of two kinds; one from a 1c to $1 (value $2.30 1-2), the other from a 1-2c to 50c (value $1.20 1-2). You are instructed to sell these stamps as sets, and as sets only, representations having been made to the Department that in various parts of the Dominion there is a desire to obtain such sets for souvenir purposes. You must not, under any circumstances, break a set; for besides the disappointment that such a course would cause, you would render yourself liable to loss, the Department having decided not to allow credit for any broken sets returned to it by a postmaster, who, notwithstanding the instructions herein given, sells any denominations of the stamps making up a set, apart from the rest.

I am also to ask you to use your own judgment in the sale of these sets, checking, as far possible, any attempt on the part of speculators to monopolize them, and thus securing as general a distribution of such sets in your vicinity as the circumstances may permit. To enable you to make change in connection with the sale of the enclosed sets, I include a sufficient quantity of ordinary 1-2c postage stamps.

I may add that the accompanying supply has been based strictly upon the annual revenue of your office, and, having regard to the total number of sets available and the extent of their distribution, represents that proportion to which you are entitled.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
E. P. STANTON,
Superintendent.

SUCCESSFUL REGATTA OUT AT STONY LAKE.

THE ATTENDANCE WAS ESTIMATED AT FULLY 1,500.

The Events Were all Well Contested, and as the Weather was Fine the Day Passed off Most Enjoyably.

Fine weather and a fair breeze were contributory to the first day's programme at Stony Lake regatta passing off most successfully. The attendance was very large, even larger, it is surmised than that at the A.C.A. regatta when it was held at the same spot. A fair estimate is considered to be about 1,500 spectators of the races. The decorations were even more than usually attractive and all the launches on the lake were present, presenting a pretty sight as they steamed into Juniper Island from the different portions of the lake, with long strings of canoes behind them.

The large number of strangers who are at the lakes this year were particularly noticeable on such a day, when the cottagers and campers were present from the most remote corners of old Stony.

The races began at shortly after two o'clock, being under the management of a most efficient committee composed of Messrs. D. W. Dumble, Benj. Shortly and Geo. Cochrane.

The interest manifested was intense and the Stony Lake regatta promises to become a feature which will hereafter attract large excursions to the spot on the date set for the event.

The finishes yesterday in many instances were close and exciting, the double skiff event being decided only by inches. Hubert McBain and Charlie Stewart coming with a rush at the last that almost made them winners.

The results were as follows:

Men's single canoe race—1 G.V. Gzowski, 2 C Strickland.

Boys' tandem race—1 R. Blomfield, 2 N. Bell.

Canoe sailing race—1 Wm. Cox, 2 Chas. Carton.

Tub race—1 R. Blomfield, 2 A. Brundette.

Double skip rowing race—1 W. G. Cox and G. Strickland; 2 Herbert McBain and Chas. Stewart.

Canoe sailing race—1 F. D. Roxburgh, 2 Robt. Shaw.

Boys' swimming race—1 R. Blomfield, 2 A. Brundrette.

Skiff sailing race—1 H. W. Buell and Huntingdon; 2 Roxburgh brothers.

Hurry scurry—1 C. Blomfield, 2 C. Strickland.

Mixed tandem canoe race (lady and gentleman)—1 Mr. Merrick and Miss Robinson; 2 W. D. Cox and Miss Emma Cox.

Men's swimming race—(200 yards)—1 G. V. Gzowski, 2 C. Stewart.

In the evening the pavilion was occupied by the young people, and through the kindness of a number of young ladies who presided at intervals at the piano, an informal hop took place and was greatly enjoyed.

NEW GOLF GROUNDS.

They Will be Located Just North of The Jackson Park.

Civic Holiday two gentlemen started out in search of an ideal spot for golf links, if such were to be had within reasonable distance of the town.

Golf cannot properly be played over a smaller area than fifty acres as the holes ought to average two hundred paces between.

They walked up along the G. T. R. line through Jackson Park where they found on the north side of the railway just such a place as they had been looking for. Mr. N. T. LePlante, the owner, happened to be present and the errand being explained to him and the fitness of the field enthusiastically dilated upon, Mr. LePlante very generously rented the field to one of the golfers for for the nominal sum of one dollar for the season in order to give the lessee a certain right over the field.

Mr. Leplante's generosity cannot be too highly praised, for it means that if there is any golfing spirit in Peterborough, that on Saturday, when the links will be thrown open for a trial to golfers in general, there will be a large number who will take advantage of playing upon a ground which in every way will be one of the best in Canada.

The view extends for fully thirty miles, and the turf is smooth and devoid of long grass, whilst the bunkers are on the true golfing scale.

FIRE IN MONAGHAN.

The Farm House and Sheds of Jas. McIndoo Destroyed.

The residence and sheds belonging to Jas. McIndoo, lot 2, con 10, North Monaghan, were totally destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning, the family barely escaping with their lives from the burning building.

The hired man was awakened by hearing the flames bursting out through the roof over his head, and gave the alarm. The members of the family had to fly for their lives, being unable to even take time to secure their clothing.

The house and contents, which were totally destroyed, were only partially insured. A quantity of wood was also burned.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

To-day—1 p. m.....65° above zero

	Highest.	Lowest.
Yesterday	86°	54°

Rain up to 1 p. m., .06 of an inch.

CURE FOR DROPSY.

Only a Positive Symptom—Not a Disease of Itself—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CAMPBELLFORD (Special) Aug. 9—An unlooked for and remarkable recovery from advanced stage of dropsy is just made public here. It is the case of Mrs. John Weese, wife of the widely-known veteran stage proprietor, whose life for months had been despaired of. From the accumulated water peculiar to this disease, she became so helpless as to be unable to drag one foot after the other. She now appears on the street, and says she is as well as ever in her life. And claims that after all other means had failed, she thanks Dodd's Kidney Pills for her unexpected cure.

HOW THE CIVIC HOLIDAY WAS SPENT.

The Citizens Went to the Four Points of the Compass in Pursuit of a Day's Pleasure.

As is usually the case Peterborough was almost deserted on the Civic Holiday, thousands leaving town by train and boat to seek pleasure and recreation in the direction suited best to their tastes.

There were plenty of ways of getting out of town and the reports from every excursion and picnic is that it was well patronized.

About two hundred and fifty tickets were sold for the Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F. trip to Rochester, and fully three hundred took in Court Littlejohn's, Canadian Order of Foresters, excursion to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The same number are reported to have patronized the picnic of the local branch of the Salvation Army to Sturgeon Point, going by way of G.T.R. to Lindsay and thence by steamer Crandella to the objective point of the trip.

The management of Court St. Peter, Catholic Order of Foresters, picnic at Jubilee Point, per steamer City of Peterborough, report a very enjoyable day with fully 300 in attendance. A list of sports was run off and dancing was participated in at the pavilion, a good orchestra being present.

The members of Court Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, took a big crowd with them to their picnic at Gore's Landing, but probably the largest excursion of the day was that of the Ancient Order of Foresters to Burleigh Falls. Large numbers of the citizens were anxious to go out to the Stony Lake regatta, and the trip of the Ancient Foresters was therefore patronized by about all the boat could accommodate.

Besides the regular excursions, a great many private picnics were held down the river and scores of canoes were out on the Otonabee between here and Rice Lake during the day.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—There was white frost again this morning indicating fall is fast approaching.

—Horses cannot be valuable in the Carleton Place section, as on Tuesday one was sold by public auction at Mr. Dunlop's on the town line, for the sum of 80 cents.

—The Bancroft Times says deer are reported to be very numerous in that section and some of the farmers threaten to shoot them if the game warden does not keep them out of their crops.

—Grasshoppers of Jackson county, Mich., have undergone a change of appetite and have been eating the binding twine from the bundles of wheat, causing farm hands the extra labour of rebinding.

—It is now proposed to authorize postmasters and deputies to open letters on which no postage stamps have been placed to learn the name of the writer and to avoid sending it to the dead letter office.

—The picnic of the season is the Brewery one. Everybody goes. Sports of all sorts, with valuable prizes offered for each event. A baseball match between the Park Nine of town and the Cobourgs for a silver tankard, presented by the staff. This picnic is considered by those attending former ones as the best of the season. Wednesday next, August 25th, is the date, per City of Peterborough to Jubilee Point.

—It is stated that a photographer is travelling through Ontario making contracts with boards of trustees for photographs of their school buildings and surroundings, and representing that he is authorized by the Educational Department to do so. No such person has any authority whatever to use the name of the Educational Department or of the Government in connection with any work of this kind.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar in every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of Syrup of Linseed and Turpentime, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

BASEBALL.

The "Orientals" again won from the "Neversweats" on Wednesday last, although the latter team had it all their own way until their young pitcher, Hopkins, began to tire, and was pounded for six runs in the sixth. Miles McDonough and Ernie Rutherford were then tried in the box but three runs were made off each in two successive innings, although if Rutherford had been properly supported the three last runs should not have tallied. Scott held down first base in fine style for the Orientals, and Graham played a fine game behind the bat. For the "Neversweats" Elliott's great catch of a long fly, and Doc Pitcher's base running were the starry features. The score was as follows:

Orientals.		Neversweats.
W Scott	1st b	Paxman
Dolan	s s	Dave Elliott
R Thorne	pitcher	Hopkins
T McDonough	2nd b	King
Graham	catcher	Ed Cassidy
Joe Barry	3rd b	Rickey

LeBarr	c f	Rutherford

Score by innings—

THE WHEEL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

We have heard a great deal these days about a slump in prices in bicycles, but from investigation which I have made, I am forced to come to the conclusion that there is really no slump whatever. True, bicycles have been sold for less money this season than ever before, but have they not as a rule been of a much poorer grade? For some time the public have been under the impression that a bicycle could be just as well sold for about one half the price asked for it and still leave a good long profit for the manufacturer. Consequently, any drop in price, no matter from what cause, was more in the direction looked for by the purchaser, and this determination on his part to pay only so much for a bicycle, forced the manufacturer into making an article to meet that demand, for a great many people will not buy an article unless it is low in price, the quality of the goods, not being taken into consideration.

It is only within the past two years that such a thing as a pressed bearing cone was ever heard of, but the demand for something cheap became so great that the manufacturer was compelled to look around for some way of cheaping the construction of the bicycle, and thus the worthless, unreliable pressed cone was introduced. This part being hidden from the purchaser, he is unaware of its presence and so long as the outward appearance of the wheel is all right, it is taken for granted that the bicycle is high-grade, and the price is about what it has been claimed a bicycle should be sold for and the sale is made. The present season I think will see the end of cheap wheels or at least has given high-grade wheels an opportunity of once more raising their heads to their proper level, for the many disappointments caused through the purchase of these cheaply-produced articles, have satisfied the buyers that a mistake had been made and that the same rule holds good in a bicycle as in anything else, that to get a good article one must pay a good price. I think the price of a high-grade bicycle next season will be from $75 to $25, and at that price a really good article should be obtained, but at any less figure than I do not consider that an article can be produced without using the cheaper material above referred to.

The general tendency is for a gradual improvement in the bicycle business and for a move towards it slowly, but surely settling down to a good sound basis.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

LOOK AFTER THE GIRLS.

To speak of this as a fast age is to talk tritely. Yet it is a solemn truth that calls for the earnest attention of the friends of humanity. The young are learning vicious habits that unfit them for occupying a useful place in the ranks of society. And not only that but they are being fitted for places in the ranks of the criminal and vicious. Through the agent of the Children's Aid Society, whose duties bring him in contact with the seamy side of human life, it is learned that scores of our young girls are being rapidly ruined—being qualified—and the communication is perilously easy—for graduation in the ranks of the fallen women. He reports that scores of girls of tender years from twelve to fifteen, the most critical age for the sex—are being led into the downward way. Vanity is generally regarded as not a vice, but one of the venial sins, but its tendency in the regard referred to is of the most vicious. Love of display leads many a girl astray. In this fast age—this surface age—parental training and parental restraint are almost unknown qualities. Girls are not brought up with a proper sense of the responsibilities in relation to the society of which they will be the future women. The unnatural love of display, which rigidly subordinated and wisly directed, is one of the most charming characteristics of the sex—is allowed to grow like a weed, without pruning or training. As a consequence, in the unbalanced characters of our girls, love of display becomes a passion; instead of being a means, it becomes an end. As a consequence we see scores of girls parading our streets in the evening, dressed in their cheap and showy finery without any companionship but those as giddy and unbalanced as themselves. Naturally, and under proper conditions, attempts are made to attract the opposite sex, who are, many of them, lying in wait for the unwary, and it needs no play of the imagination to picture the result. Facilis est decensus Averni—the downward way is easy—and girls who, under proper guidance, and carefully watched would have grown into useful and virtuous members of society, become the women whose "ways lay hold on hell." Unrestrained frequency of the streets after dark is a source of the most tremendous peril for young girls, and so far there is no organized system of preventing, or of counteracting its baleful influences. We have, it is true, the curfew bylaw, but a law, however wholesome, that is not enforced, is useless. Here the work of the true philanthropist is indicated. We have all sorts of associations for young people, but unfortunately those who do not need special guardianship are all that receive the benefit. We want personal work—direct personal interest that will come into personal contact with those in danger, and by wise peristence endeavour to withdraw our young girls from the sphere of danger in which they are moving. Those who wish to know more of the work to be done can learn much by communicating—personally, if possible,—with either the agent or secretary of the Children's Aid Society. They will learn much that should stimulate them to active and systematic work in counteracting the vicious influences that are enmeshing to their ultimate ruin hundreds of our sweet and as yet innocent young girls.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

GALT MURDER CASE.

Interest Appears to be Focussing on Young Allison.

EVIDENCE TAKEN AT THE INQUEST

Anthony Orr, Husband of the Dead Woman, Gives Some Pretty Strong Testimony Against the Hired Boy of 17 Years—Harry Blair Tells His Story.

Galt, Aug. 18.—Prospects of solving the murder of Emma Orr are brightening every hour. In fact, Detective Murray is now wearing the smiling face of a man who has achieved his purpose. Suspicion is now centered entirely upon James Allison, the hired boy, and that the Crown authorities are working towards him was clearly shown by the evidence given at the inquest to-day. While yesterday three theories were seriously considered, to-day there is but one theory, and that is that James Allison killed Emma Orr and that it was a fiust murder. The boy's full name is James Alfred Allison. He was born within two miles of Glen Morris on May 20, 1880, and is consequently 17 years and 3 months old. His father's name is Alexander Allison. He was born in Freeport 42 years ago. His mother's maiden name was Annie Elizabeth Hance. Her mother is dead and her father, a respectable old man, is still living in Galt. There are four other children, James being the eldest. They live in a frame house on the banks of the river, a short distance from Main-street. The father is a carter and James worked with him until he got the job at Orr's in March last. This is the first time he ever worked out. His younger sister Maggie worked at Mrs. Orr's for a few weeks this summer. Allison's mother says that James was a good boy; that she never had much trouble with him, and that both Anthony Orr and Mrs. Orr said that he was the best boy that ever worked for them. He went to school very little and his mother says he can neither read nor write. She says he can make some marks that look like his signature. Every eye was on Allison when Chief Ahearn brought him into the court room to-day, but this did not seem to disturb the boy in the least. He glanced about, sat down and was about the most unconcerned person in the room. His head and face are a study. His low, retreating forehead and close-set eyes tell of a low intellect and animal cunning. Heavy jaws, large mouth and thick lips indicate determination and sensuality. He had only been in the hands of the police once before and that was when he was 7 years of age and had a penchant for pears. He took a few that did not belong to him, but was let off by the magistrate. His father says he would get a little ugly when he licked him and that a scolding always did him more good than a licking. The most startling evidence at the inquest to-day was Anthony Orr's statement of how he shadowed Allison and overheard him talking to himself down in the field, and exclaiming: "Oh, my! Oh, my!" as though in great mental agony. The Crown's theory is that he dug the grave in the swamp on Tuesday morning, when he went for the cows, and came back half an hour after the cattle arrived at the barn. It is thought that he hid the spade in the swamp the day before. Premising that Allison killed Mrs. Orr, it is still a question whether he committed the deed before or after going to Barrie's with the cow. It is all a question of time, and George Barrie's evidence at the inquest to-morrow will be very important, showing when Allison arrived at his place, how long he stayed, his demeanor and when he left. The Crown authorities seem to favor the theory that he killed the woman before he left for Barrie's.

AT THE INQUEST.

Anthony Orr Tells How Young Allison Acted When the Body Was Found.

Galt, Ont., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—The inquest on the body of Mrs. Anthony Orr was resumed in the Council chamber at the Town Hall before Coroner Radford at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The prisoner was taken to his home across the river before the inquest opened and allowed to put on his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. He appeared looking clean and tidy, and exhibited no signs of fear or emotion. Barrister John R. Blake appeared for the prisoner. Crowds sought admission, but as there was only room for about 200 spectators many were turned away. County Crown Attorney Bowlby appeared for the Crown, and Dr. Vardon sat beside Coroner Radford as associate coroner.

John Orr, brother of Anthony, was the first witness. He lives on the farm next to Anthony. He last saw Mrs. Orr alive on Sunday afternoon, the day before the tragedy. He found the dead body in the corn patch. His attention was first called to the spot by fresh earth thrown up on either side. He called Douglas Lillico's attention to it, and several persons in the house came out. He simply took out one spadeful, when he saw part of the dead woman's dress. He then went to notify the police. When the body was exhumed it was found to be in an advanced state of decomposition. Witness knew nothing about how she came by her death. The body was lying face downward in the shallow grave. He sent for Allison, who was at the barn when the body was found. Allison came and looked at the grave and turned pale. Mr. Wilks remarked to witness: "Did you see how he looked?"

Anthony Orr, husband of deceased, was the next witness. He testified that he was married twelve years ago last June. His wife lived with him constantly, except for a few days about four years ago when she ran away with Mulholland. There were three children. He had never quarreled with his wife, and she was a good housekeeper. Allison had worked for him since March 15. Witness was the first person up on the morning of the tragedy. Allison was called and sent for the cows. Mrs. Orr prepared breakfast, which was partaken of about 6.30. Allison hitched up the team, and witness and his little son drove off to Andrew Orr's with the sow. He left Mrs. Orr, Allison and the two children at the house. He had instructed Allison before leaving to take two cows to George Barrie's. Witness left at about 7 o'clock and returned at about 10.15. He met Allison and his oldest girl. The baby was on the verandah. Allison was standing at the small gate leading into the front yard. He had a fork in his hand.

Maggie cried out: "Mamma is lost!" Witness asked Allison if Mrs. Orr was around, and Allison replied "No." Allison was grinning and laughing when witness approached. Witness asked him again if Mrs. Orr was away, and Allison said: "I suppose so." Witness then ran into the house. Allison took the horses to the barn. Witness found the table just as it was when he left, and he knew at once that his wife was gone. Mrs. Orr usually finished milking by 7.30, and she must have been disturbed in her household duties at that time, as she had done nothing after milking. Witness went upstairs to see if the beds had been made, and found them untouched. He then went into Allison's room to see if the guns were there. The cupboard where they were kept was partly opened.

Allison's gun was gone. Witness found one cartridge gone from the box, and asked Allison how many there should be there. Allison said there were six there on Saturday night. Witness told Allison that his gun and one cartridge were gone. Allison said he knew nothing about it. No stranger could find the gun. Witness then continued the search for his wife. Allison said that he had returned about twenty minutes before witness. If he went away at 7.30 he should have been back at 8.30, but witness did not know when Allison had left.

Harry Blair came in about 15 minutes after witness returned. Blair offered to assist in the search. He seemed as anxious to find Mrs. Orr as witness, and kept calling her by name in the bush, crying: "Mrs. Orr, I hope you are not dead." When witness and Blair returned from the two hours' search Blair drove witness to Galt, as witness wanted to see if Trevelyan was at his boarding house for breakfast. Finding that Trevelyan was there witness returned and notified the neighbors, who turned in and helped in the search.

On Tuesday morning witness sent Allison for the cows. The cows and horses came to the barn, but Allison did not return for half an hour. Witness asked him why he had not returned along with the cows. "Oh, something!" replied Allison. "What something?" asked witness. "Oh, something!" again replied Allison. Allison said he was drying his stockings, but witness could not understand how Allison could get his feet wet. Allison and my boy found the empty grave. William Bond found the shovel the next day. Witness watched Allison closely on Wednesday when he went for the cows. He allowed Allison to get ahead of him. Witness hid himself behind a stump fene and heard a voice. It was Allison's voice, and he was talking to himself, saying: "Oh, my! Oh, my!" Allison then went off in a direction away from the cows and horses. Afterwards he went and brought the cows up, and then went for the horses. On Thursday the search was kept up, and the body was found on Sunday about 1.30. John Orr told him about the grave. Witness saw the body carried into the house. He could not see why no drawers were found on her, as she always wore them.

Witness was present when Allison was sent for to come and see the grave. Allison climbed up on the fence and looked pale, much paler than usual. Witness told Allison that if he knew anything about the murder he had better speak right out. Allison had been ordered to pick some weeds out of the garden and throw them over the fence into the corn patch. Allison disobeyed orders and piled the weeds up in the garden. Witness thought that Allison had disobeyed because he was afraid that witness would go to the fence and look over. Allison frequently went to one side and talked with his father, who was also working on the farm. Robert Stalker came on Friday and asked to be allowed to join the searching party. He asked to have a look at Allison, and, after seeing him, remarked to witness that he "had seen enough." Allison has a poor opinion of Stalker, too. He thought that Stalker had come for some other purpose than looking for the body. Stalker took Allison aside and talked to him for an hour and a half. He afterwards told witness that Allison was "a curious boy." Stalker came the next day and he helped in the search. He did not ask for any pay for his work.

Coroner Radford took the witness in hand for a few minutes and questioned him closely as to the visits of Blair and Trevelyan. The visits and movements of these two men were examined, but no facts that have not already been published were elicited.

Maggie Orr, the 10-year-old daughter, told the coroner and jury the same story almost word for word as has been published. She is a bright, intelligent child and corroborated her father's story in almost every particular.

Norman Orr, the 9-year-old son, also corroborated his father's evidence.

Dr. J. M. Cameron, one of the physicians who made the post mortem examination, testified that he had made a thorough examination of the body, which was that of a well-nourished woman, about 5 feet 4 inches in height, and weighing 140 lbs. The tongue protruded from the face and the eyeballs protruded from their sockets. On the face, neck, chest and abdomen were large, diffused, livid patches. The skull was fractured in three places. Two of the blows landed on the fore part of the skull. One of the wounds was 2 1-2 inches long and about 3 inches from the left ear. The other was quite close to this and was 2 inches long and 1 1-2 inches wide. The bone was broken in thirteen places. The broken pieces were easily picked out, leaving an opening in the skull 5 by 5 1-2 inches. There was a fracture also of the frontal bone, starting over the nose and branching off to the right orbit. The brain was too much decomposed to admit of an examination. The heart, lungs and other organs were in a healthy and normal condition. In the stomach was partly digested food, in which pieces of meat and eggs were found.

Dr. Cameron was shown the red oak club with which it is thought the murder was committed. He said it would be possible to make the wounds with this club, but he thought a sharper instrument was used. The blows, he thought, might be struck either from in front or from behind.

Dr. Albert Hawke, who was associated with Dr Cameron in the post mortem, signed the written statement of the condition of the body. He too, said it would be possible to fracture the skull in the manner described with the red oak club which Detective Murray handed him to examine. From the condition of the food in the stomach, he would say that Mrs. Orr had been struck down shortly after she had partaken of breakfast.

Harry Blair swore that he had lived in Galt for about 20 years. He had known Emma Orr for some years and was often at the Orr house. He had been on good terms with Mrs. Orr, even up to the day of her death. He was at her house on the Saturday before the tragedy and took a fish out as a present. She had invited him to come out and see them. He arrived there shortly after 11 o'clock and Mr. Orr told him that the missus was missing. That was the first he heard of her disappearance. Mr. Blair then proceeded, in answer to Mr. Bowlby, to give an account of his movements from 7 until 11 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy. He told a straight story, showing where he was and what he was doing in Galt on that morning. As Detective Murray fully expected, Blair proved an alibi very clearly.

Anæmia means "want of blood," a deficiency in the red corpuscles of the blood. Its cause is found in want of sufficient food, dyspepsia, lack of exercise or breathing impure air. With it is a natural repugnance to all fat roods. Scott's Emulsion is an easy food to get fat from and the easiest way of taking fat. It makes the blood rich in just those elements necessary to robust health, by supplying it with red corpuscles.

QUICKCURE

THE SLATER SHOE
Business Moods.
When a good man swears on a wet day it's more than likely the profanity comes from his feet.
The shoe that pinches spoils the temper, irritates the nerves, impairs digestion, and obscures the merry sunshine of life.
Success or failure in life oft hinges upon a man's mood at critical moments, and the way his feet feel sometimes sways destiny.
It had to fit the shoe.
A pair of "Slater Shoes" may unconsciously save a fortune, but can't cost more than $5.00.
It's cheaper to throw away a shoe that hurts than to keep it, and mark this—new "Slater Shoes" need no breaking in.
A tag on each pair tells just what leather it is made of—how it will affect the feet—and the wear it will, or will not give, according to use.
The makers name and price stamped on the sole protects against imitations of Goodyear Welt, and ensures value every time to the wearer. $3.00, $4.00, $5.00

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The man who has been struck by a locomotive and is picked up alive and carried on by the cow-catcher has had a miraculous escape. The man who through neglect has sacrificed his health and wrecked his body, and through the merits of a medicine is picked up alive and restored to health has had an almost equally wonderful experience. There are thousands of men, who have for years overworked themselves to the neglect of their health, and then when utterly wrecked in body and shattered in nerve have been picked up and restored to health by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is a marvelous remedy that corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver, and fills the blood with the life-giving elements that build new flesh and muscle. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption and is a specific for diseases due to disorders of the digestion or imperfect nutrition. Druggists sell it.

"Myself and wife," writes Mr. H. G. Adams, of Turners Station, Henry Co., Ky., "have taken five bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' The medicines are curing both of us. We can't say too much for them or for you. My wife persuaded me to quit the doctor here and try one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so, and I thank God for it. I have recommended it highly to many of my neighbors. I told them that if it did not do them one dollar's worth of good that I would pay for it.

"I will give you a little statement of my own case. I was enervated, could hardly get up in the morning, never got a whole night's sleep, was short of breath, had a tight feeling in the stomach, and was restless. I would throw up my food, and had numerous other ailments which I have not time to write about now. I now feel better and look better than ever before in my life."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the surest, safest, quickest cure for constipation. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Substitutes are sometimes dangerous, and always cause discomfort.

FANATICAL UNREST

All Along the Northern Frontier of India.

THE BATTLE OF TUESDAY LAST

Was Participated in by at Least Three Thousand Tribesmen Other Tribes Have Risen and a Further Advance of the British is Probable Cable News.

London, Aug. 18.—A despatch to The Times from Simla says that at least 3000 tribesmen were engaged in yesterday's battle. The batteries prevented them risking a fight at close quarters, but about 1000 held on for some time. Then, as the infantry attack developed, they fled, and, when the other 2000 saw their line of retreat threatened, they moved rapidly away. Lieut. Greaves of the Lancashire Fusiliers and Lieut. MacLean, adjutant of guides, were killed, and Capt. Palmer was seriously wounded. Lieut. MacLean met his death while trying to carry away the body of Lieut. Greaves. The despatch adds: "The whole border still seems to be in a state of fanatical unrest."

General Blood directed the centre of the attack. Col. Meiklejohn occupying the heights to the right of the enemy's position. The Swatis were strongly entrenched and maintained a steady fire, but the British column carried the entrenchments with great dash and the enemy fled. It is believed that General Blood will order a further advance today (Wednesday). There is no longer any doubt that the Afridis are deeply involved in the rebellion, which as yet is in no wise suppressed. Such is the condition of things now that the slightest check to British arms would be the signal for a general revolt.

Two Other Tribes Have Risen.

Simla, Aug. 18.—News has been received here confirming the report that the Afridis of the Bazar Valley and the Orakzais have risen. The latter are reported to be descending in force on the Kurramthull-road, on which is situated the Sadr Post. This post is held by a native officer and 30 Sikhs. A detachment of cavalry has left Kurram, with instructions to ascertain the movements of the Orakzais.

The reinforcements sent to Kohat have reached that place. If the Afridis rise generally, the British forces will be compelled to temporarily abandon Landi and Kotal.

The force of British and Indian troops under the command of General Blood is now in camp at Kotal. The British cavalry yesterday pursued the enemy as far as Barikot, fifteen miles beyond Chakdara.

The defection of the Afridis is regarded as being especially serious, as they have been loyal during many Indian outbreaks, and guarded the Khyber Pass for the British during the Afghan War. They are one of the most powerful tribes on the frontier.

About one hundred insurgent tribesmen were killed in the attack made by General Blood, the British commander, yesterday upon the entrenched positions in the hills of the Swat Valley. General Blood brought his field guns into action against the alone entrenchments of the enemy, demolished these works and the insurgent tribesmen fled. About 3000 of the latter were engaged.

Afridis Threatening Jamrud.

Simla, Aug. 18.—It is believed 10,000 Afridis are threatening Jamrud, but the place is considered proof against attack by any force without artillery. Before venturing to attack Jamrud the Afridis, it is expected, will try their strength on the smaller forts in Khyber Pass.

Additional reinforcements of infantry, cavalry an dartillery have been ordered to proceed from Simla to Peshawar today, while troops are being moved forward to replace those sent to the front. The work of mobilization is proceeding smoothly.

The Porte Denies the Impeachment.

Constantinople, Aug. 18.—The Turkish Government issued a denial of the alleged understanding said to exist between the Porte and the Ameer of Afghanistan to foment an insurrection in India by preaching through the fanatical priests a holy war or Jehad against British rule in India.

ROYAL VISITS TO IRELAND.

The Prince of Wales' Reception in the Year 1885 Recalled.

Dublin, Aug. 18.—The visit of the Duke and Duchess of York to Ireland is in a sense official, as representing the Queen's concession to oft-repeated Irish grumbling at "royal slights to the Emerald Isle." The Tories are endeavoring to attach as much political importance to it as possible, and everything is to be done that could give it exceptional social brilliancy. Nowhere in the United Kingdom does a "show" call for more enthusiasm than Ireland; and in the presence of royalty even the bitterness of party politics seems to vanish. Recollections of the memorable visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales in 1885 are still fresh, and no one has forgotten the universal and fervent expressions of loyalty which it called forth in spite of Mr. Parnell's repeated demands that his followers should not recognize the visit and despite the injunctions of the Archbishop of Cashel to preserve a "dignified reserve."

Many Irishmen still recall vividly the most memorable scene of all in connection with royal visits, the state visit to Punchestown. Kildare, by the Prince and Princess of Wales in 1868. Fifty thousand people assembled at Punchestown, wild with enthusiasm, and the royal carriages were escorted all the way from Sallins Station by a running, shouting mob of genuine bog-trotters, who completely defeated the efforts of the outriders and cavalry escort to keep them back.

Hundreds of grubby hands were thrust into the carriage and pleasantly grasped by the Princess; while everywhere she met the unending chorus of "Haroo for the Countess of Dublin!" "Haroo for the Countess of Malahide!"

The Queen visited Ireland in 1849 with the Prince Consort, again in 1853 and still later in 1861. During the last visit she went to the beautiful demain of Muckross, in Killarney, which it was rumored the other day is to be purchased for a royal residence for the Duke and Duchess of York.

The Prince of Wales also visited Ireland in 1865 and in 1871; the Duke of Connaught came here in 1869, and the Dukes of Clarence and York in 1887.

All the Papers Respectful.

Many of the trappings and fittings used in London during the Jubilee festivities were utilized to-day in the lavish decoration of the route followed by the royal procession. The tone of the Irish Nationalist newspapers is respectful. They point out that Ireland has no quarrel with the Duke and Duchess of York but, they add, the courtesy extended to them must not be interpreted as meaning that the Irish are content with present conditions.

Arrival at Dublin.

Dublin, Aug. 18.—The Duke and Duchess of York arrived at Kingstown from Holyhead at 9 o'clock this morning. The weather was glorious, and all the ships in the harbor were brilliantly decorated for the occasion. The guardship Melampus fired a royal salute as the royal yacht Victoria and Albert entered the harbor. At noon the commissioners of Kingstown township boarded the yacht and presented their Royal Highnesses with an address, expressing the hope that their visit would lead to the establishment of a royal residence in Ireland. The Duke of York replied that he and the Duchess looked forward to becoming better acquainted with the people and the beautiful scenery of Ireland. On disembarking the Duke and Duchess of York were accorded an enthusiastic reception, being loudly and continuously cheered by the vast crowd assembled. The cheering, which was mingled with the booming of cannon, was followed by the bands playing the National Anthem, during which the whole throng uncovered.

The royal party took the train for Dublin amid a renewal of enthusiasm. Handkerchiefs and hats were waved and flung in the air, and the cheering was redoubled as the train drew out of the depot.

The ovation was repeated upon the arrival of the Duke and Duchess of York in this city. All the windows and housetops along the route were black with people, and the buildings were profusely decorated. There was an imposing military procession, and on all sides were seen Union Jacks entwined with the green flag of old Ireland.

The Duke of York wore a naval uniform, and bowed continuously to the plaudits of the vast throngs assembled, while the Duchess was kept busy acknowledging the warm greeting which the royal visitors received.

Almost immediately after the Duke and Duchess had crossed College Green a heavy rain fell, thus marring the remainder of the procession. The Duke and Duchess were received at the castle by Earl Cadogan, the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and by Countess Cadogan, and a royal salute was fired by a battery of artillery stationed in Phoenix Park, after which the Earl and Countess, with the staff of the Lord-Lieutenant, joined the procession and escorted the royal visitors to the vice-regal lodge, where the guard of honor was furnished by the Royal Irish Constabulary.

The proper way to build health is to make the blood rich and pure by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E. Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

GOLLI'S DOOM SEALED.

His Death Sentence Confirmed and He Will be Garroted To-Day or To-Morrow.

Madrid, Aug. 18.—The Supreme Council of War has confirmed the sentence of death passed by court-martial at Vergara on Michael Angiolillo, alias Golli, the assassin of Premier Canovas del Castillo. The murderer will be executed on Thursday or Friday.

The Spanish Government has forbidden all telegraphic and telephonic communications relative to Angiolillo, the assassin of Premier Canovas, who was tried by court-martial Sunday last, and who was sentenced on Monday to be executed by the garrote. It is expected that the prisoner will be executed to-morrow or on Friday.

Scotland Yard Watching Arrivals.

London, Aug. 18.—Chief Inspector Melville of the Scotland Yard police has gone to Dover in order to arrange for establishing the closest possible watch upon all arrivals at British seaports. A large staff of London detectives acquainted with foreign Anarchists will be engaged in this work. It is rumored that the British authorities apprehend an active Continental Anarchist plot, with England as the base of operations.

British Tars to be Court Martialled.

London, Aug. 18.—The British Admiralty has ordered the trial by court-martial to-morrow of two of the prisoners on board the British battleship Royal Sovereign, which was to sail for three years' service with the Mediterranean squadron, so that the whole trouble on board that ship can be aired.

Sir Donald is Coming.

Liverpool, Aug. 18.—Among the passengers who are booked to sail for New York on the Cunard Line steamer Lucania on Saturday next is Sir Donald Smith, the Canadian High Commissioner.

That Pigeon Was From Andree.

Christiania, Aug. 18.—M. Mahuron, who prepared Herr Andree's balloon, says it was arranged to start the first carrier pigeon twenty-four hours after the ascent, and he believes that the bird shot between North Cape and Seven Islands by one of the crew of the sealing vessel Alken was probably the first sent out.

During the hot weather, a cooling, refreshing drink is the first requisite and nothing can be more wholesome than the juice of fruit. MINERS ARE HUNGRY

And Yet the Battle Against Operators Continues.

THE MARCHING TO BE STOPPED

Roads Will be Patrolled and Every Man Who Cannot Give a Satisfactory Account of Himself Will be Arrested Evictions at Plum Creek Strikers Gaining.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 17.—Something like martial law has been declared in Plum, Patton and Wilkins townships by Sheriff Lowry. The three mines of the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Company are in these townships, and all roads leading to them will be patroled by his deputies. Persons walking or driving along the roads who cannot give a satisfactory account of themselves will be ordered to leave the neighborhood, and upon refusal will be arrested. The sheriff will not attempt to break up the camp of the strikers until the court has passed on the question, but announces to-day that he is determined to stop the marching and trespassing on the company's property. No one will be allowed on the company's property who fails to have a pass signed by Superintendent De Armitt. There are now nearly 800 men in the camp at Plum Creek. After the mutiny at Sandy Creek yesterday the camp at that point was abandoned, and the men went to Plum Creek.

In addition 200 men arrived at 3 o'clock this morning from Belle Vernon. The large increase in the number in camp has caused a shortage of provisions, and the men are hungry. They threatened to march during the morning, but were induced not to do so by the deputies.

Last night it was decided to have the women march, as the injunction did not include them. The order of the sheriff to arrest all persons, however, caused a change in the program, and there was no march. Sheriff Lowry said he would disperse the women as quickly as he would the men.

There were 22 evictions near Plum Creek during the day of striking miners. The evictions began at noon.

The claim is made that there are a number of Anarchists in the vicinity of the mines, who are after the De Armitts. They are not in the camp, however.

Samuel De Armitt is under arrest by the sheriff. Neither he nor the sheriff will say for what, but the strikers say it is to prevent his arrest by any constable, which will be impossible as long as he is in the sheriff's custody.

At Turtle Creek 50 strikers, without leaders, marched from Camp Determination this morning on the Oakhill mines. This was done unexpectedly and in violation of the restraining order temporarily continued by the court yesterday.

Before reaching the mines Sheriff Lowry and a posse met the marchers and ordered them back to camp. The strikers reluctantly turned back, sorely disappointed, but peaceful.

The miners' officials express themselves as well satisfied with the injunction proceedings.

"According to the court," said President Dolan, "the injunction only restrains us from doing what we have not done and what we do not intend to do. The camps will be continued and conducted as usual, until further notice. We have abundant assurances of help and all the reports that we are destitute have no foundation."

President Dolan said he was misquoted or misunderstood yesterday when giving his testimony at the injunction hearing.

"I did not intend to convey the impression," said he, "that Operators Shields, Blythe and Steyt'er, and other operators, had requested me to order a strike. They never told me to get De Armitt's men on a strike, but did say, as it is the general opinion among all operators, that De Armitt is responsible for the deplorable condition of affairs in the Pittsburg district."

The decision in the injunction case probably will not be handed down before to-morrow.

Four more suits were entered against Superintendent Samuel De Armitt to-day by strikers and their wives, the charges being disorderly conduct.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

Mrs. S. James, Seaforth, suffered for years with what is called old people's rash. She was treated by many physicians without any result. Mr. Fear, the local druggist recommended Dr. Chase's Ointmend, which relieved the irritation at once and speedily effected a permanent cure of the skin eruption. Mrs. James also says Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her of Itching Piles which she had been troubled with for years.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, Aug. 20.

Two very interesting games were played yesterday afternoon at the Island between Buffalo and Toronto. There was not the unnecessary wrangling that usually occurs between teams so evenly matched, although the umpire got mixed up with himself on several occasions.

HAMS TOO GOOD FOR LONDON.

London, Aug. 19.—About 800 people witnessed the Canadian League game here today between London and Hamilton. London made a grand attempt to win out in the ninth innings, piling up six runs, just one short of the number required to tie the game. They were made on two three-baggers, a double and a single, coupled with a series of fumbles on the part of the visitors. The absence of Reid, the regular catcher of the home team, proved very disastrous to them. Score:

How to Serve Potatoes.

Old potatoes boiled whole, peeled and covered with a sauce made by cooking together half a pint of milk, a tablespoonful of butter and one of flour, are better thus prepared than when served in any other fashion. New potatoes are waxy until late in the season, and should not be given to children or to persons of delicate digestion. The old-fashioned saying that new potatoes should never be eaten before the 1st of July contains a certain amount of common-sense.

How to Powder Parsley.

To powder parsley for use in creamed new potatoes, and other similar dishes the bunch is dipped quickly into boiling water to make it a brilliant green, then put into hot oven for a few minutes to dry thoroughly. After this treatment it may be either rubbed through the hands or pressed through a wire sieve to break it into fine flakes.

Distressing Dyspepsia.

The Miserable Lives of Dyspeptics made glad by KOOTENAY CURE.

Everything looks "blue" to the man who suffers from stomach disorders.

When to this is added Kidney Complaint, then indeed, does life become a burden.

To be able to eat three meals a day, to go about without being punished by pains in the back and stomach, is a "consummation devoutly to be wished for."

Mr. James Boyd, of Hamilton, employed by the Electric Light and Power Co., was one of those whom Kootenay Cure released from suffering, and made a new man of. Under oath he says that for over five years he was a victim of Dyspepsia, and suffered greatly from severe pains it his back, due to disordered kidneys.

He only took a moderate amount of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, which has given him relief from his troubles. Now his wife has taken it for Nervous Prostration. She is completely cured, and says she never felt as well in ten years as she does at present. Thus man and wife were emancipated from the slavery of disease by Ryckman's Kootenay Cure. Could any proof of the worth of this remedy be more conclusive?

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

FEELING THE POWERS

Before Taking Offensive Action Against Spain.

GENERAL STEWART L. WOODFORD

Instructed by President McKinley to Ascertain How the Nations Would Stand in the Matter of Neutrality in Case of a Conflict—General Cable News.

London, Aug. 20.—The Daily Graphic publishes the following despatch from Berlin:

General Stewart L. Woodford, the newly appointed Minister to Spain from the United States, has been instructed by President McKinley to ascertain the limit of neutrality of the European powers in the event that the United States should decide on an offensive policy against Spain, and he has been in communication with various American Ambassadors on the subject.

Col. John Hay, the American Ambassador to Great Britain, has received no encouragement from Lord Salisbury. M. Hanotaux, the French Foreign Minister, has emphatically refused to discuss the matter with General Horace Porter, the American Ambassador to France, and for some days avoided granting audience to General Woodford.

As a last resource General Woodford and General Porter telegraphed for Mr. White, who has joined them. Mr. White, who is the cleverest American diplomat [illegible], knows better than anyone in President McKinley's Cabinet the futility of the step now being taken. He has avoided even mentioning it to the German Government, and went to Paris resolved to do all in his power to dissuade General Woodford and General Porter from any course but one of moderation towards Spain.

THE DUKE IN IRELAND

Addresses Presented at Dublin Castle Cordial Greeting by the People.

Dublin, Aug. 20.—This morning the Duke of York was presented with a number of addresses at Dublin Castle. On his way there from the vice-regal lodge the Duke was cordially greeted by the people. He proceeded to the throne room, and remained standing while a large number of congratulatory addresses from the magistrates of the city and country, and from the business, professional and other associations and societies were read to him. At the conclusion of the reading, His Royal Highness replied, saying he was deeply sensible of the truly Irish welcome accorded to the Duchess and himself, adding that they heartily reciprocated the kind words, and would convey to the Queen the expressions of loyalty. He remarked that he hoped it would not be the last opportunity which the Duchess and himself would have of becoming acquainted with the Irish and their beautiful and interesting country. The Duke of York, escorted by the officers of the vice-regal household, then proceeded to the Council chamber and took the oath as Privy Councillor.

During the afternoon His Royal Highness was installed as a Knight of St Patrick at a chapter held at Dublin Castle.

Lord Frederick Roberts of Kandahar was installed a Knight of St. Patrick at the same time with His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

CALM AT CONSTANTINOPLE.

And a Turkish Official Says the Turks are Ready for the Armenians.

New York, Aug. 20. — A despatch to The Herald from Constantinople says: Perfect calm reigns, the rumors of fresh Armenian schemes for outrages continue. A Turkish official who has much to do with the maintenance of public order just said to me: "We'll let them try if they care to. We are perfectly ready for them."

Indeed, the Turks are showing the utmost vigilance. They are determined not to stand any more Armenian defiance of the law. The man I described yesterday as having fired a revolver in Pera had previously thrown a bomb amid the sentries stationed outside the official residence of the Governor of Pera. The detonator exploded, but luckily the bomb did not. Otherwise a hundred innocent men would have been sacrificed.

Constantinople, Aug. 20.—It now appears that Wednesday was selected for the explosion of the bombs in this city, because the Turkish Cabinet had been announced to meet that day at the offices of the Grand Vizier. The Turkish officials for some time past have been apprehending danger, though they were not aware of its imminence. Immediately after the explosion gangs of Mussulmans crowded the streets, ready for mischief, but the police ordered them to go back to their homes, and even arrested some of them who were armed with cudgels.

Fresh outrages are apprehended, possibly upon the anniversary of the attack on the Ottoman Bank, Aug. 26, or on the anniversary of the accession of Abdul Hamid II. to the throne, Aug. 31, on which day in 1876 he succeeded his elder brother, Sultan Murad V., who was deposed.

The British and Italian guardships have left their usual anchorage and entered the harbor.

Another Explosion.

There was another explosion yesterday. It occurred on a hill behind the suburb of Bukukdhere, and is believed to have been caused by a bomb. There was no loss of life and nobody was injured, but several Armenians were arrested, and the police captured documents which are said to be of an incriminating nature. Otherwise there was no disturbance of public order.

An official note issued this afternoon says:

"Six Armenian Anarchists who perpetrated criminal acts yesterday have been arrested and will soon be tried. They will receive exemplary punishment."

GOLLI STRANGLED.

He Was Not Allowed to Live Long After He Killed the Premier of Spain.

San Sebastian, Aug. 20.—Michael Angiolilli, who shot and killed Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Prime Minister of Spain, on Sunday, Aug. 8, was executed at 11 o'clock this morning.

Angioli heard calmly the news that he was to be executed to-day, but he appeared to be surprised, and bitterly complained of the priests, declaring that they would obtain nothing from him. He declined to enter the chapel, saying he was comfortable enough in his cell. An executioner from Burgos performed the garrotting, just prior to which a priest exhorted the Anarchist to repent, to which Angiolillo responded: "Since you cannot get me out of prison, leave me in peace. I, myself, will settle with God."

GEN. BLOOD'S CAMPAIGN.

It Has Not Been Bloody So Far, for No Opposition Has Been Found.

Simla, Aug. 20.—General Blood, the commander of the British forces operating against the insurgent tribesmen on the frontier, has reached Galagai without opposition. He reports that village to have been found deserted, and says that the Afridi rising is exaggerated, adding that they have not left Tirah.

Encountered Very Rough Weather.

Plymouth, Eng., Aug. 20.—The twin-screw torpedo boat destroyer Thrasher and the second-class twin-screw cruiser Pheaton, which was escorting the former, and which started yesterday for the Pacific Station, have returned to Plymouth, both being badly damaged through the rough weather which they encountered. During the past night the Thrasher got across the bows of the Pheaton and the coxswain of the torpedo boat destroyer was knocked overboard and drowned.

GUILTY OF MURDER

That is the Verdict of the Coroner's Jury at Galt Regarding James Allison.

Galt, Ont., Aug. 20. — The adjourned Orr enquiry was again resumed shortly after 1 p. m. Provincial Detective Murray appears to think that the Crown has sufficient incriminating evidence against Allison now in hand to go before a jury in the final trial and convict him. Alexander Allison, father of James A. Allison, the accused, had sufficiently recovered from the sudden attack of convulsions that seized him last night to give evidence. He made sworn statements directly contradictory to previous witness. The manner in which his evidence was given made a bad impression, and there are people who think he has some knowledge of the murder, but does not want to divulge it.

He identified the son's overalls, and said he left home at 6 a.m. on the Niagara Falls excursion on the Monday morning the murder occurred.

All the evidence was in shortly after 2 p.m., and the jury retired to consider the verdict.

The Verdict.

After half an hour's retirement the jury returned the following verdict: "That on the 9th day of August, 1897, James A. Allison did unlawfully, feloniously and maliciously kill and murder Emma Orr."

The preliminary hearing before a magistrate has been changed from Monday, Aug. 23, to Friday, Aug. 27. It is thought that Alexander Allison, father of the accused, will be arrested on the charge of being an accessory after the fact.

Coal Companies are Signing.

Pittsburg, Aug. 20.—Forty-seven coal companies of the Pittsburg district have signed the uniformity agreement. Eleven other big concerns have promised to sign, and their names will be appended to the list as soon as the directors of the various companies meet and go through the formality of instructing their official heads, the presidents, as is prescribed by a clause of the uniformity agreement.

WHEAT AT A DOLLAR

The Goal Was Reached In New York Yesterday.

AND THE EXCITEMENT WAS GREAT

Hundreds of People Cheered Loud and Long When the Figure Was Announced Chicago Fell the Rise as Well Minneapolis Went Wild—Music in the Air.

New York, Aug. 20. September wheat in the local market reached the long-talked-of goal of one dollar per bushel at 1.45 p. m. to-day. Naturally enough, the incident created a tremendous sensation on the floor of the Exchange, and was greeted with prolonged cheers from half a thousand throats, being re-echoed from the crowded galleries. Several times during the early afternoon had the bulls snapped the price within 5-8c of the desired mark, but a return wave of selling orders each time swept it back again. The final and successful effort was made under the impulse of export rumors reaching enormous figures. September was hanging around 99 1-8 when the export news was first whispered about, and at once danced upwards in response to excited local buying. Higher and higher it whirled, watched by everybody on the floor, until the big black finger on the record dial plumped fairly on the even figure, and "dollar" wheat in New York was an accomplished fact. Now that the bulls have attained their boast they are as far as ever from being satisfied, and claim that the wave of bull sentiment which has spread like fire all over the country will carry the price here at least to $1.25 per bushel, and perhaps even higher. That dollar wheat is already a thing of the past was demonstrated on the late curb when further clamorous demands from high strung local shorts raised the price to $1.00 1-2, or a cent a bushel advance from the official close. About 50,000 bushels of wheat changed hands at $1.00 this afternoon. The first sale was made by Bob Gwathmey to McIntyre and Wardwell, who bought it for a Duluth customer. From the very outset to-day local dealings were marked by great excitement. Everybody felt that dollar wheat was in the air, and while there were occasional let ups, when traders unloaded sales of wheat on which there was a good profit, they were invariably followed by a general tightening of values on fresh waves of reckless buying. The crowd, being keyed up to a high pitch of excitement, eagerly swallowed the wildest sort of bull news, such as would ordinarily be rejected. The English market was up in the air, keeping free pace with our advance. Their closing prices were top for the day, and 3-4d to 1 1-8d higher than last night. French markets, on the other hand, held back and showed practically no response to the extraordinary strength in other markets. Private cables credited the English advance to rainy weather and excited covering by shorts.

The full range on September to-day was from 97 to $1, the close being 99 3-8. December opened at 96 3-4 to 97 3-8, sold off to 96 up to 99, and closed at 98 1-4. Total transactions were 8,355,000 bushels. Export sales were 175 loads here and outputs including these loads for France.

The Advance in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The wheat market had another remarkable advance to-day, September closing at 93 and December at 92 5-8, showing gains of 5 7-8 to 5 3-8 respectively. A sensational advance at Liverpool and poor crop reports were responsible for the jump, which was accompanied by scenes of excitement almost unparalleled. On the curb this afternoon September wheat sold at 95 3-4.

A Dollar at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 20. — Cash wheat to-day sold at a dollar in Minneapolis, the first time since the summer of 1890. Predictions to-day were that futures would follow within a few days, in view of the advance of 6c to-day. The price of cash wheat had just passed the dollar point, when from down the hallway came the sound of martial music. There was a rush for the door, and the crowd broke into a cheer as up the corridor came C. A. Pillsbury at the head of a band of music, which was pounding out a dollar memorial march. Mr. Pillsbury led his band through the doorway and onto the floor, while hats went up and cheers proclaimed the entire satisfaction with which a majority received the news of dollar wheat.

Pirates Captured a Vessel.

Valetta, Island of Malta, Aug. 20.—Information has just been received here to the effect that the Italian barque Feducia, Captain Razeto, from Pascagoula, on June 4, for Marseilles, was spoken on Aug. 18 in latitude 36.04, and reported having been boarded on Aug. 15 abreast of Cape Baba by 14 pirates, who fired on the crew, ransacked the vessel, stole the papers, charts, instruments, provisions and clothing of the crew, cut the running gear and carried off the captain, boatswain and a seaman. The Feducia was supplied with provisions and instruments by a passing vessel, and was thus enabled to proceed.

Organized for Police Protection.

Seattle, Aug. 20. — Shortly after the collier Willamette left Seattle for Dyea the passengers organized for police protection, the organization being named the Willamette and Klondike Protective Society. Especial care was taken to prevent fire, and all suspicious characters were watched. Before the boat reached Dyea eight suspects had been [illegible]

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 St. Patrick Street,
Ottawa, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

Gentlemen,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

OVERHAULING THE DEPARTMENT.

There is evidence on every side that the Laurier Government is a business Administration. The work which the ministers are doing in putting their departments in order makes this clear. The other day we told our readers about the departmental reforms which the Hon. Mr. Mulock is putting into effect. Similar activity is apparent in the Militia Department. It is receiving a thorough overhauling, and in the course of things Hon. Mr. Borden has introduced a check upon the railways. A despatch puts it this way: The late Government allowed the ratepayers to be fleeced by railways in the matter of transport of troops every year. The railway charged four cents a mile for officers and three cents for the men, and refused to give any cut, or the ordinary excursion rates. The Dominion Rifle Association, not being a Government affair, gets a single fare for the annual meet, but if the Government were transporting the Rifle Association, the company would charge twice as much. Two hundred excursionists can get a rate from Ottawa to Montreal and return for $2.50, but the Government has been charged the sum of $7.20. The Minister of Militia, Col. Borden, has, therefore, secured an order-in-council compelling the railway companies to deal fairly in the matter. Section 264 of the Railway Act says: "The railway companies are bound to carry troops and all artillery, ammunition, provisions or other stores for their use, on such terms and conditions and under such regulations as the Governor-in-Council may make."

"Under this section the Government orders that the following fixed scale of rates, which is the same as is now in force in Great Britain, be established for the conveyance of troops and all military stores by rail:

"1. Troops from a single individual up to 125 in number, at two-thirds the rate charged to private passengers.

"2. Bodies of troops in number greater than 125, two-thirds for the first 125, and one-half for the remainder.

"3. Bodies of troops numbering 125 who make the return journey within three months shall pay single fare for double journey.

"4. When special return or cheap rate tickets are in force with less rates they are always to be taken.

"These regulations will save the country about $20,000 a year."

The Mail and Empire has been assiduous in its efforts, both by letter, press and cartoon to create the belief that Mr. Sifton, the Minister of the Interior, has been appointing a number of relatives to positions in the public service. The Ottawa Free Press points out that Mr. Sifton has not been considerate in his reply. Instead of showing that he was only following the example set by the great and good Sir Charles Tupper, and thereby permitting the retort that the Liberals ought to know better than to follow such a very peculiar statesman, he most inconsiderately shows that he has not appointed, now or at any time, any relative to any office here or in the west, and that there is not a word of truth in, or shadow of foundation for the Mail and Empire stories, and that in telling them that paper has once more deliberately sought celebrity at the cost of the scanty remnant of reputation left it. It is to be hoped the discredited Toronto journal will seek to rehabilitate itself in the minds of honest people, or will it prefer to wear the mud that boomeranged upon itself. Also we may or may not hear from the Montreal Gazette, which was particularly facetious on the subject of Mr. Sifton's relations. Many Conservative Journals of smaller size and therefore of less weight than the Mail and Empire have quite an opportunity in this connection, but will they avail themselves of it? We doubt it. There is something written somewhere about a dog returning, etc., which is likely to be suggested by the attitude of Conservative journals in this connection.

Truly the age of chivalry is past, as Burke so mournfully said in his magnificent burst of eloquence concerning Marie Antoinette. But he complained merely that "philosophers and sophisters" had usurped the place of the golden spurred knights of old. What would he have said had he read to-day of an "enterprising firm in the United States sending this telegram under the ocean:

"To His Royal Highness Prince Henri of Orleans, care of Duc de Chartres, Rue Jean Goujon, Paris, France:

"Will give you and Gen. Albertone $50,000 apiece if you will fight your coming duel before the Kinetoscope, giving me exclusive rights to use the films. Will give you $10,000 apiece additional if you will make the duel last for at least ten rounds."

Shades of Don Quixote! A duel to the death in honour of a nation's spotless robe brought down by commercial cupidity to the level of a Corbett and Fitzsimmons "mill." How are the mighty fallen! Licked by a dog—go, weigh against a grain of sand the glories of a throne," and so on. But it is not to be denied that such Kinetoscope views would have "taken." They would have been a Klondyke in minature, and a liberal royalty to the combatants would have bought the baby a frock.

THE CANADIAN TEAM

Who Will Battle on the Cricket Crease Against the United States Eleven.

Toronto, Aug. 21.

A special meeting of the Canadian Cricket Association was held last night at the Walker House, with President Dr. Beemer in the chair, and the following representatives present: D C Campbell (Ottawa), W W Walker (Montreal), F W Terry (Clinton), D W Saunders (Vancouver), George S Lyon (Rosedale), J T Clark (Parkdale), A H Collins (Toronto), and Secretary John E Hall.

The meeting was called to select the team for the international match, to be played at Rosedale on Sept. 6 and 7, starting at 11 o'clock each day. After some discussion the following team was chosen: D W Saunders (Toronto), F W Terry (Clinton), G S Lyon (Rosedale), W H Cooper (Toronto), P C Goldingham (Toronto), A F R Martin (Hamilton), H B McGiverin (Ottawa), J M Laing (Toronto), W R Wadsworth (Toronto), H C Hill (McGill), J L Counsell (Hamilton), spare A G Chambers (Parkdale), M Boyd (Toronto), M G Bristowe (Ottawa). J. E. Hill was selected as scorer and A. H. Collins as umpire.

The team this year is a strong one and should make a good showing against the Americans. There was some discussion as to where the game would be played, and finally Rosedale was decided on.

Mrs. Peter Brown and Her Brown Dress.

Mrs. Peter Brown was a worthy and thrifty housewife, and though proud of her Brown family she got tired of browns—we refer to brown colours.

Now, Mrs. Brown had a large brown cashmere dress that she had donned on Sundays for fully three years. Going to church in sun, rain, sleet and snow for such a length of time had discoloured and faded Mrs. Brown's brown dress. The material still good, gave Mrs. Brown hope that the brown dress could be changed in colour and made to do service until times were better and money more plentiful with her.

Mrs. Peter Brown had heard of the marvellous Diamond Fast Black for Wool, and decided to experiment in the work of home dyeing. The dye was purchased from her druggist, and the operation conducted as per directions on the envelope, and what a transformation resulted! A deep, rich and pure black, equal to the finest blacks produced by French professional dyers—a new dress at a cost of about thirty cents.

Mrs. Peter Brown's experience is just the experience of thousands of economizing women in Canada to-day. They find the Diamond Dyes so indispensable that home would be robbed of half its pleasures if they could not procure these great money savers.

The Coloring of Butter.

One of the nice points in butter making is to color the butter the proper shade, as the quantity of color used must almost continuously be changed, according to the season. Great care must be taken to use the proper amount of salt. A butter-maker's eye or taste may deceive him, and he may not see butter other than his own make more than once or twice a year, perhaps not that often, so it is pretty hard for him to fix his eye on the proper shade for color and his taste for the proper amount of salt.—Field and Farm.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

[illegible] Butter in England.

Perfumed butter on the dinner table is the latest fad of some wealthy people in London, England. The dairies where this butter is made are as odorous as the florist's shop or the laboratory of a perfumer. In the first place the butter is made in small pats, like those in ordinary use. Each pat is wrapped in a bit of fine muslin and placed on a bed of rose leaves specially prepared in an earthen jar. On top another layer of the fresh and delicate rose leaves is placed before the jar is filled with a solid chunk of ice. Then the jar is placed in a refrigerator and allowed to remain there for ten hours, when the pats are ready for the customer.

Division of Dairy Pastures.

The pastures should be divided into two or more fields. The roots are weakened by too close cropping by the stock and the land is exposed to the extent of baking from loss of moisture. The weeds are also enabled to get a foothold to mature and fill the soil with noxious seeds. The success of the dairy is largely dependent upon the flush, clean pastures and the abundance of food they supply. This gives to unused pastures time to grow and thicken, which is important to insure plenty of pasture late in the fall.

I tried two doctors but they did me no good, and I even went for change of climate, but all to no avail, until I got your TONIC. Official Bulletin of the Department of Agriculture.

THE BEST YIELD IN MANY YEARS

An Increased Area of 73,000 Acres, With Promise of an Increase of Ten Million Bushels Over Last Year The Hay Crop is Above the Average Yield.

The following is the statement of acreage of crops in Ontario for 1897, prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and the estimate of yields based on the reports of the regular correspondents of the Department under date of Aug. 9.

It will be seen from the tables that the yields of the present year on the whole promise to exceed those of 1896, and also to exceed the average of the fifteen years, 1882-96.

The amount of fall wheat plowed up this year was 55,000 acres, or 30,000 less than in 1896. Three-fourths of the plowed up area was east of Toronto. With an increased area of 73,000 acres, the promise at present is nearly 10,000,000 bushels greater than was reported a year ago. The high average of 25.5 bushels per acre is estimated. Over 80 per cent. of the fall wheat is grown west and northwest of Toronto, and the reports of condition are in the main very favorable.

Best for Many Years.

The comment, "best crop for many years," is quite common. There are some complaints of too much rain at harvest time; but on the whole the crop was harvested in good condition. The fall wheat, therefore, shows, as compared with August, 1896, an increased acreage, an increased yield per acre, and an increased value per bushel in the market. Spring wheat has taken a move up again, both in acreage and promised yield. The acreage and yield of barley are both somewhat below the previous year. For several years the area sown to oats has been increasing. Over 7000 acres are again added this year, and the yield promised is 4,000,000 bushels greater than the enormous yield of 1896. In round figures, the crop is estimated at 87,000,000 bushels, against an average of 63,000,000 for the years 1882-96. The yields of rye and beans are above the average, and that of peas below the average.

The Hay Crop.

As nearly 2,500,000 acres are given over to hay, the value of this crop generally exceeds that of any single grain crop. The average yields for six years have been as follows: 0.94 ton per acre in 1891, 1.74 tons in 1892, 1.79 in 1893, 1.39 in 1894, 0.73 in 1895, and 0.93 in 1896. There were three poor years and three good years. The average of the fifteen years, 1882-1896, was 1.35 tons. This year the yield was 1.63 tons. Though in some eastern sections the yield was light, on the whole the hay crop of Ontario has been heavy, and quite a bit above the average, the total being 3,811,518 tons, as against 2,260,240 tons in 1896.

Increased Corn Area.

The acreage of corn has been increasing year by year as follows: 181,463 acres in 1892, 217,284 acres in 1893, 267,348 in 1894, 302,029 in 1895, 406,629 in 1896. It has now increased to 544,035 in 1897. The 1897 acreage, therefore, is three times that of 1892.

Buckwheat and mangels show an increase in area, potatoes a decrease, while carrots and turnips are about the same as in 1896, though both are above the average.

Hailstorms and heavy showers of rain have done considerable damage to spring grain crops, and in many sections barley is reported to be colored. As in addition to the week's rain of July heavy rains have occurred since Aug. 9, it will be well to note that the reports as to quality of spring grain at that time may have to be modified. To offset the damage to grain crops, however, we have the favorable effect upon corn, root crops and pastures. The universal report is good pasture, and cattle appear to be in first-class condition.

Cheese factories have been generously supplied with milk, and dairy prospects generally were favorable.

Fruit.

The supply of apples will be far below the average, as might be expected after the immense yield of last year. In a few instances large yields are spoken of, but a considerable number of correspondents report the opposite, and too frequently mention is made of scab. Of the standard winter varieties, the northern spy has done the best. Pears will give a better yield relatively than apples, but mention is made here and there of the blight. Plums suffered considerably from curculio and rot, but many speak of large yields, and the season has been a good one for careful and intelligent growers. Peaches are yielding heavily in Lincoln, although there has been a tendency to rot among some early varieties. In Essex and other counties this fruit has done very poorly. On account of the ravages of black knot, comparatively few cherry trees have been left in the province, but as a rule those have been loaded. Several correspondents complain of the non-enforcement of the law governing black knot in plum and cherry orchards. Grapes promise a fair to good yield, although in many quarters threatened with mildew on account of the damp season. This crop is reported to be a week or two late. In most sections of the province small fruits were abundant, raspberries especially giving a magnificent yield.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

Paine's Celery Componud The Popular Medicine With the People and the Medical Profession.

Only a truly great and effective remedy could continue, as Paine's Celery Compound has done, to hold its high place in the estimation of the ablest physicians and of the tens of thousands of busy men and women whose only means of judging is from the actual results in their own homes or among their friends. No remedy was ever so highly recommended, because no other ever achieved so many grand victories over disease and sickness.

For feeding exhausted nerves, building up the strength of the body, giving a natural and healthy appetite, and as a promoter of refreshing sleep, Paine's Celery Compound stands to-day without an equal in the world.

Mrs. Garland, 675 Crawford St., Toronto, gives her experience with the world's best medicine as follows:

"Your Paine's Celery Compound has most wonderfully improved my health. Before using it my appetite was poor—almost gone; I was also weak and debilitated, and suffered from pains in the head.

"Paine's Celery Compound does all that is claimed for it. I have recommended it to my friends, and they all speak highly of the results received from it. I wish Paine's Celery Compound the success it so richly deserves."

It Depends on Feeding.

When calves are intended to be grown for cows it is a great mistake to feed them so heavily as to increase the tendency to fatten. Often this can be seen at birth in the thick, bull-like neck and heavy head. In such case it is best to fatten and sell to the butcher, no matter what stock may be its ancestry. But frequently also the calf which seems to be all right for a good milker is fed so heavily and on such fattening food that its tendency for life to produce fat and beef rather than milk and butter is fully established. To grow a good cow the calf should not be stunted, says American Cultivator. That will impair digestion, which is just as important for the cow as it is for the beef animal. Calves intended to be kept for cows should have much succulent food, with enough of the kind of nutrition required to make large growth. Then it will be well developed and come early into heat. It is always advisable to breed as early as possible. Then when the tendency to milk production has been fully established, good feeding with the best food will turn the product of the feed into the milk pail, where it will be most for the farmer's profit to have it.

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

Merit Talks

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. It will make your blood pure, rich and nourishing, and thus drive out the germs of disease, strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Lindsay Boodlers

Those Lindsay councillors must be boodlers of the first water, if the following extract from the Warder is true: "That our town council would for a moment consider the advisability of evading a salutary provision of the municipal act is hard to be conceived, yet we have learned that at a meeting recently held it was proposed to vote the mayor $300, with the understanding that he would retain $300, the amount heretofore granted the occupant of the civic chair, while he was to hand over to the other members of the council $50 each for their remuneration for their arduous services. This nice little scheme was well received by a number of those present; the two members so well known for denouncing boodlers and asking for a committee of investigation in relation to expenditure by the board of works, speaking in favour of and endorsing the proposition.

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP O'CONNOR RETURNS FROM A SIX WEEKS' TRIP.

He Visits Port Arthur and Fort William, and Was Also in the Sudbury District.

OUT-LYING PARISHES OF THE DIOCESE.

Three New Churches Have Been Erected During the Year in the District, and the Church and Convent at Fort William have been Re-built—Seventeen Parishes were Visited in the Six Weeks—Experiences of the Trip—Portaging Through a Rough Country.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor has just returned from one of his periodical visitations to the outlying missions of his large diocese.

Accompanied by Mr. J. J. O'Brien, a student at the Cathedral, His Lordship left Peterborough on July 8th last and going by rail to Owen Sound, took the C. P. R. steamer there for Port Arthur, visiting the missions along the north shore of Lake Superior, as well as a number lying inland. Seventeen were called upon, all told, eight of them being Indian Missions. Three new churches have been erected in the respective parishes of Cutter, Blind River and Wahnipatae during the past year and these were blessed by His Lordship, as were also two new cemeteries. During his absence he held a services and confirmed 547 applicants.

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP O'CONNOR.

The Diocese of Peterborough extends 150 miles west of Port Arthur and includes the district between Sudbury and Fort William and also about eighty miles along the Sault. Taken altogether it perhaps covers more ground than any other diocese in the Dominion extending from the borders of the town of Trenton west and running up into the back settlements. The only thickly populated portions are the counties Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Haliburton as the southern boundary line then runs north of the populous districts and skirts around until it comes south again to the shores of Lake Superior.

On the occasion of his last visit west His Lordship went to the parishes in the Manitoulin Islands and through the more civilized portion of the district. This time, as stated, he took the steamer to Port Arthur and travelled back to Sudbury on the C.P.R. leaving the line at intervals to strike into the back settlements through the smaller lakes with Indian guides and canoes. Considerable canoeing was also done in Lake Superior. On arriving back at Sudbury His Lordship, also went out along the Sault line, coming back again to Sudbury and proceeding from there to North Bay and then home.

In regard to the eight Indian missions visited His Lordship states that few have an idea which the parish priest has to undergo, particularly in the winter. Speaking of Father Specht the Bishop stated that his parish covered fully four hundred and fifty miles of territory along the railway, where the scattering families of Indians were to be found The different stations were generally visited once in two months by him when he celebrated mass and gave instruction. When travelling in the winter time he had often to camp out, digging for himself a bed in the snow and building a huge fire beside it. It was impossible to even sleep in a tent as the fire would burn it and with the thermometer indicating 40 degrees below zero sometimes, the missionary priest was to be found thus bivouaced in the snow.

The Indians, who are known as the Ojibaways, engage in fishing in the summer time and hunt in the winter. Each little band of Indians seems to have its own particular hunting ground and it is never trespassed upon by the others. They speak either English or French, and sometimes both. The Bishop addresses them in English when visiting their settlements and the missionary interprets the words into the Indian dialect. The different bands do not seem to be increasing in numbers, but are apparently just

HOLDING THEIR OWN.

The reserves are almost too scattered for effective work as generally only about twenty or thirty families are found together and it is thus hard to look after the training of the children.

In the whole diocese there are about 6,000 Catholic Indians, and in the particular portion visited there are 2,100 of them who belong to the Roman Catholic church.

When an Indian Mission is reached by His Lordship, the pleasure of the dark-skinned parishoners, as may be imagined, is very great, and they generally show their appreciation of the honour of the occasion by gathering in a body and firing a volley from their guns.

In visiting the Wichipicoten Mission, which is sixty-eight miles from the railway, the Bishop and his party paddled through Manitou and Dog Lakes, and also along river, making seven or eight portages, one of them three miles in length. When portaging one of the Indian guides would hoist the birch bark canoe up on his head, and the other one carried the luggage. Even His Lordship was not exempt from being called upon to assist in the weary work of portaging, while the swarms of were even more trying than usual at this season of the year. Being very swampy, portaging is naturally very slow work in this country.

On the way back to the railway by another route there were twelve portages, one of them being five miles long. The party had to camp three nights both going and returning from Wichipicoten.

The whole country is intersected with pretty little lakes.

The party met with quite an exciting experience when travelling from Hene Bay to Pic river, when the Indian guides suddenly sighted a bear swimming across from one shore to the other, and instantly gave chase. There were three canoes—the Bishop, the parish priest and Mr. O'Brien each sharing one with a guide.

A transfer of canoes was speedily made, whereby the priest and Mr. O'Brien took one canoe and their two guides the other, and then the chase was proceeded with in earnest. The Indians having no guns with them, armed themselves with huge rocks and boathooks, but although the other two canoes tried to keep Bruin out into the lake by heading him off, he soon made so determined an effort as to get to shore and elude his pursuers. At one time he when one of the guides threw the Bishop's tent over the animal's head. The bear had a hard time of it in defending himself in such a peculiar mode of warfare, and as soon as he could free himself from the tent, lost no time in getting as far away from the canoeists as possible. His escape was facilitated by the fact that no one was willing to get too near as one swipe of his paw would have placed the inmates of a canoe at his mercy if he reached them.

At Fort William the church and convent, which were destroyed some years ago by fire and were since rebuilt, look very handsome. A large orphanage for Indian children has also been erected at this point. The town seems to be prosperous and the business men energetic, but His Lordship was not so favourably impressed with the activity in Port Arthur and other towns and villages along the line.

A convent and hospital have been erected in Port Arthur by the parishoners.

There are eight schools amongst the Indians with Roman Catholic teachers and strange to say there are 2100 Catholic Indians to 140 Protestants according to the Government returns. There is only one Protestant Mission in this district and that is at Nipigeon.

NO LESS STRANGE

is the fact that the proportion in regard to religion is about reversed on the Brantford and other Indian reserves east.

In the district just visited there about twenty priests, all of whom are Jesuit fathers.

Speaking of the country generally His Lordship states that it is very rocky and barren and that its only hope is in its minerals and timber. At present, in consequence, business is very dull on account of the uncertainty existing in regard to the tariff as affecting minerals and mining supplies, and the Bishop states that the same uncertainty exists as regards the lumbering, and there are very few camps this year in the timber limits. The small settlements in the vicinity of Spanish River, which depend largely for support on the big camps are feeling the dullness and it will be even more noticeable in the winter.

Along the railway the villages are largely peopled with railway men and miners. Great expectations exist as to the results of the government's experiments with in the vicinity where coal is said to exist. In order not to raise any false hopes, the men working on the drill have been asked to preserve secrecy concerning the result of the tests until a definite statement can be issued from the Department in regard to the value and usefulness of the coal.

In the townships of Rayside and Balfour, just on the other side of Sudbury, the farming land is considered quite good. There are 250 Catholic families settled here. In the township of Lumsden and Blizzard just to the North, the land is also said to be good but it is not opened up to the settlers yet, as the timber is still standing on it. Sudbury itself is dull at the present time in business circles.

His Lordship looks extremely well after his somewhat wearisome six weeks' journey through the wilder portion of his diocese, but announces his intention of leaving next month to visit the upper part of the Parry Sound and Nipissing District.

STONY LAKE NOTES.

The Season is Drawing to a Close and Many Campers Came Down Yesterday.

Last evening's train from the lakes was crowded with cottagers returning to their homes at the expiration of their holidays. Two coaches were crowded, and the Stony Lake season is evidently drawing to a close.

Although the weather in town has been quite chilly lately, especially in the evenings, the air at the lakes is so evenly tempered by the water that the cold wave has not affected the campers to any extent.

The new visitors to the lakes this year have been greatly struck with the great quantity of granite which is so conveniently situated for the quarrymen. On the completion of the Trent Valley Canal this stone will be able to compete with the St. Lawrence quarries on an even footing. The cost of transhipment puts it out of the market at present.

ALMOST A FATALITY.

A Canoe Upset Down the Otonabee on Thursday Last.

On Civic Holiday a canoe party down the Otonabee were precipitated in the river while landing a twenty pound 'lunge.

The party consisted of a Toronto teacher, a Bowmanville young lady, a "small" electrical student, and an old resident of Monaghan. After some trouble they were fished out, and walked home where a liberal supply of hot drinks revived them.

Mrs. S. James, Seaforth, suffered for years with what is called old people's rash. She was treated by many physicians without any result. Mr. Fear, the local druggist recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment, which relieved the irritation at once and speedily effected a permanent cure of the skin eruption. Mrs. James also says Dr. Chase's Ointment cured her of Itching Piles which she had been troubled with for years.

PORTRAIT OF VEN. ARCHDEACON CASEY.

Mr. D. A. Shaw Paints a Striking Likeness in Oils.

A contribution to Canadian art of exceptional merit has just left the easel of the well known artist and portrait painter of Peterborough, Mr. Daniel A. Shaw. It is the life-size portrait of no less a personage than the Venerable Archdeacon Casey, of the Peterborough Diocese. In composition, technique and quality of work the painting is destined to take high rank.

The distinguished gentleman is represented in a sitting position in his study, robed in his sutan, Roman cloak and sash, and the flowing drapery together with the easy and graceful pose of head and figure, combine to present a most dignified and striking appearance.

The texture of the silk in the vestments is most admirably caught, while the folds are perfectly natural, with not a single jar in the conjunction of lines.

The painting of the head shows very superior appreciation of colour and skill in treatment. It is strong and well rounded and the gradations of tint and modelling of the flesh is delicate, yet full of force and vigour. Altogether in the kind mild eye and benignant expression Mr. Shaw has painted the very life of the spirit of the man.

The accessories are exceedingly well drawn and painted, yet sufficiently subdued to lend due prominence and a wonderfully life-like look to the portrait. The harmony is good and the values well preserved, and the key to the colouring is found in the touch of red in the book on the table and the chair back.

The portrait will be exhibited to the public for two or three hours after 8 o'clock to night in the vacant store lately occupied by J. D. Tully, next door to Adam Hall's, George street, prior to being shipped to the Toronto Industrial Exposition, where it will be exhibited, if it is not too late for position. It will shortly be presented to the Venerable Arcdeacon by the Cathedral congregation.

STONY LAKE REGATTA.

The Results of the Second Day's Programme—A Good Wind for Sailing.

The attendance at the second day of the Stony Lake regatta was hardly as large as that of Thursday, which may be accounted for by the fact that the day previous was Peterborough's civic holiday, and many citizens were up from town.

The wind on Friday was strong and steady and most suitable for the sailing races.

The results of the different events were as follows:

Sailing race, skiffs (six entries)—Chas. Carter, 2 R. A. Shaw.

There was considerable excitement and interest manifested in this race, which was only won by half a boat length.

Mixed tandem (200 yards)—1 Hugh Cochrane and Miss Griffin; 2 Chas. Hull and Miss Mears.

Double canoe (four entries)—1 J. Merrick and V. C. McWilliams; 2 Baptie and Hull.

Ladies' tandem (four entries)—1 Miss Rackham and Miss Lillian Hall; 2 Miss Mears and Miss Flora Collins.

Canoe sailing race (2 sails)—1 R. A. Shaw, 2 Frank Bradburn.

Sailing and paddling race—1 Victor and R. F. McWilliams, 2 R. A. Shaw and J. Merrick.

This was a most exciting race and one of the canoes containing Messrs. Stewart, of Rochester, and Gongols upset.

Boys' canoe race - 1 Chas. Blomfield, 2 Fred Blomfield.

Mixed tandem race (six entries)—1 Mr. J. Merrick and Miss Edith Shortly; 2 Hugh Cochrane and Miss Griffin.

Arrangements will have to be made at next year's regatta to have a better system of receiving entries, which should all be received by noon the day before in order that the events may be properly numbered and run off in order.

GYMNASIUM EQUIPMENT.

Has Arrived For the Y. M. C. A.—It is Fully Up to the Mark.

The handsome new Y. M. C. A. gymnasium is now furnished, the task of placing the apparatus in position having been completed yesterday.

Last evening a class of fifteen of the members spent an hour or more in testing it and all were highly pleased with the arrangement.

It will be timely and of interest to all to read a few statements regarding the selection of the furnishings for the gymnasium, as well as a short description of the various pieces composing the same.

The committee having the work in charge included Messrs. A. L. Grover, J. W. Bennett and Rev. E. V. Stevenson, besides two representatives from from the Reds and Blues, Messrs. A. C. McCallum and W. J. Wattam.

Much time and thoughtful consideration was expended in selecting the apparatus. Opinions were secured from several of the leading physical directors in Canada and a number in the United States. The present equipment is the fruit of this together with the work of the committee named.

The heavy duties on gymnasium apparatus made it necessary for the committee to try and purchase the goods in Canada. But after a visit of the secretary to Toronto it was decided that the goods manufactured by American companies were the best and most durable. For proof of this the Central Y.M.C.A. gymnasium in Toronto was furnished just ten years ago by the Naveauxansell Machine Co. of Providence, and nearly every piece then purchased is practically as good as new.

All the pieces in the new gymnasium were secured from the same company, with the exception of the horizontal bar and vaulting horse, which were furnished by the Schumacher Co., of Akron, Ohio.

The mats were manufactured by Mr. B. F. Ackerman, and for quality and workmanship cannot be surpassed. They are, however, made after the American pattern, their principal component part being two one-inch thicknesses of felt specially manufactured for gymnasium purposes, this covered with burlap and the whole encased in a covering of heavy white duck. The mats are well tufted, are six in number and are of sizes suited to the apparatus which they accompany.

A handsome 30 ft. ladder is suspended under the east gallery. This is the work of Mr. E. Courtney, who also is to be credited with the dumb bells and clubs, and the racks which support them.

The punching bag occupies the north-west corner, and the large hexagonal drum from which it hangs was also made by Mr. Courtney.

The basket ball apparatus is placed midway on the end galleries, and the space between affords a good field for this best of all indoor games. Under the western gallery the Intercoaial chest weight machines have been placed.

These are indispensable in good gymnasiums. Six of these have been secured. They are of two styles, and are particularly adapted to class work, which makes it necessary to have six or more.

The flying rings consist of two large leather covered rings suspended from the ceiling. They have been placed near the centre of the room. Five travelling rings appear on the east side of the building, the ropes being securely fastened to special beams above the ceiling by means of 10 inch bolts.

A trapeze attachment has been purchased, which may be used in connection with the flying rings.

The combined horizontal and vaulting bar is the best yet manufactured of the kind, the side poles of steel being graduated, while the bar of selected hickory is adjusted by means of patent clamps.

This has been placed in the south-west side of the gymnasium.

The parallel bars are well adapted for the work, the greater portion of it being composed of highly polished wood, the foundation of course being of solid iron.

The vaulting horse is the most expensive and perhaps the most appreciated piece of apparatus. The body is covered with leather, and the foundation is of iron. A notable feature about this machine is the patent screw which lowers and raises the two rods supporting the body of the horse at the same time. The raised neck and handles are useful additions in the use of it.

In addition to these Mr. McCallum's has placed a Donde's chest weight among the above mentioned apparatus. This machine though apparently simple is valuable, as the work that can be performed on it is considerable.

Mr. McCallum has also sent in a number of weights and dumbbells for heavy work. For these the Association expresses thanks as well as for several similar pieces the gift of Mr. Hampden Burnham.

There are some additions of a minor character which will be made to the apparatus by the physical work committee. This is composed of Messrs. J. S. Knapman (Chairman), Rev. E. V. Stevenson, Dr. Scott, H. Godwin, R. M. Waddel, W. L. Innes, T. H. Martin and A. C. McCallum.

These have charge of the supervision of this department for the year.

All citizens interested are invited to call and see the gymnasium in its complete form. The secretary will be only too pleased to make any explanations in connection with this or any other department of the work.

A visit in the evening when a class is on the floor will best convince those who have subscribed to the gymnasium fund as to the value of the apparatus which as a whole is second to none in Canada.

THE RUSH FOR GOLD

Englishmen and Americans Going to the Klondike

THE DUTY WILL BE $30 PER MAN

And the Canadian Government Will See That the Prospectors Whack Up—There Will be Some Kicking, But the Mounted Police Will be There.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19. (Special.)—Scores of people are still flocking into the Yukon country by the Edmonton-all-Canadian route. Thirty prospectors from California have just reached Edmonton to go from there to Klondike.

Last evening's Pacific express had on board seven Englishmen from Dulwich, Kent, Eng., bound for the Klondike. They crossed the ocean on the Parisian. They had a bountiful lot of supplies with them, which they had purchased prior to leaving the old country. The members of the party stated that there was great excitement in London over the Klondike, the different steamboat offices, etc., being besieged with enquiries concerning the district.

WILL COLLECT THE DUTY.

Canadian Customs Officials Will See That the Gold Hunters Pay Up.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—The steamship Alki, which arrived in port yesterday from Skaguay and Dyea, brought the following letter to the Associated Press:

Skaguay, Alaska, near Dyea, Aug. 4—Twelve Canadian customs officers have arrived here and will establish a custom house at the portage between Lake Bennett and Tagish Lake, a point by which all Yukon or Klondike travelers must pass if they start from Dyea and Skaguay. The rates of duty will average about $30 on the average outfit of a Yukoner. The officers are well armed and will have the assistance of the Mounted Police to enforce the duties. Further down the river will be stationed guards to intercept anyone who might attempt to elude the vigilance of the officers. Miners and prospectors are very much exercised over the situation and this may lead to complications. The Canadian officers declare they will enforce the law impartially and will not discriminate against Americans.

It is idle to argue that there is no serious feeling between the Americans and Canadians. The newly appointed collector for Alaska, Mr. Ivy of Oregon, has been here. He said he had been in telegraphic communication with Secretary Gage prior to sailing from Seattle on June 25, and that he was ordered to instal a sub-port of entry at Dyea as soon as possible. Unless both the Canadian and United States Governments are very careful, a system of retaliation will be in vogue before either is aware of the fact. Much ill-feeling will follow, and the miners will be the greatest sufferers.

Better Mailing Facilities.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The Canadian Government and the United States have practically agreed upon co-operation in augmenting the postal facilities for the Klondike region, and the result will shortly be evidenced in a substantial doubling of the mail service from the coast into that district. The exact route is not outlined, but in all probability it will strike off directly southward from Dawson City, which is on the British side of the line, down to Dyea.

Canada's proposition for carrying the mails, one round trip a month, between Dawson City and Dyea, was formally accepted this afternoon by acting Postmaster-General Shallenberger, and the Canadian Government was notified of the action. In this communication this Government is stated to be in readiness to assume its share of the responsibility, and Canada is urged to put the service into operation at the earliest possible moment. Dyea, which is one hundred miles above Juneau, on the Lynn Canal, and Dawson City, will be declared international postal exchange offices. The British mails will be carried by the United States from Victoria, B.C., to Dyea.

The service will bring about the creation of a postoffice at Dawson City and also at Fort Cudahy, Forty Mile and probably at other points, although these mentioned are beyond Dawson. The service will be under the immediate supervision of the Canadian Mounted Police. The carriers will be equipped with dogs and sledges and have Indian drivers. The first contract, at least, will be for one year. Whenever the British mails can be expedited by carrying them over the present Circle City route between the dates of the new service this will be done.

THE TELEGRAPH LINE.

A Serious Question Looms Up in Regard to the Matter of Control When It is Built.

Ottawa, Aug. 19. The question of telegraphic communication between civilization and the Klondike is becoming a serious one, involving, as it does, the point whether or not public money is to be expended on a line an important portion of which will not be under Canadian control. The first proposition of the Government was to lay a cable from Skaguay wharf to Tagish Lake, a distance of 80 miles, at an estimated cost of $25,000. This would be an isolated piece of telegraph in all the distance to the Klondike. At Skaguay wharf the messages would have to be sent by sea to Victoria, from Tagish Lake to Cudahy by dog train. This line, which would be built down the White Pass, would cross nine miles of disputed territory at present in the hands of the United States authorities, and would be built under a charter obtained at Washington by the British Yukon Company. Permission to build over this nine miles of disputed territory has been asked in Washington. There is considerable opposition to this scheme. One end of this cable would be under the control of the American authorities, and the delays consequent upon dependence on dog trains and ships would be ruinous in case of an emeute or famine breaking out. A second proposition was to build a line from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing, and thence via the waterway, which promises to be the future road to the Yukon. This would be an all-Canadian system, at all times under the control of the Canadian Government, but would be of considerable length. Telegraph experts advocate a third route. The British Columbia Provincial Telegraph system extends as far north as Packerville and Quesnelle. From either of these places an old line existed in a northwesterly direction to Hazleton. This line, which is now in ruins, the posts only standing, was formerly worked by a western company. It is proposed to utilize this line, and then construct straight into Cudahy. This would mean some 1500 miles of construction. What will be done remains to be seen when the matter has received due consideration.

The Quadra Under Orders.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 19. — Orders reached here to-day to have the Government steamer Quadra in readiness to take Major Walsh and his party north on Sept. 20. They will be landed at Dyea and proceed inland by dog train over the ice.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

Putting the baby to bed is the good-night joy of a happy day to a healthy mother. Many mothers delegate this motherly duty to a nurse. Some mothers hardly see their baby the live-long day. This is not because they are without mother-love or the natural impulses of a womanly woman. It is because of their own ill-health and broken nerves, and because baby is also sickly and peevish. This unfortunate state of affairs might have been avoided had the mother, during the period of expectant motherhood, taken the right care of the delicate organs that make maternity possible. A woman should always keep these important organs well and strong. Her own health and that of her child depend upon it.

The best medicine for prospective mothers is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes healthy and strong the organs that bear the burdens of maternity. It cures all disease and weakness. It makes comfortable the period preceding motherhood and renders the advent of baby easy and nearly painless. It insures a healthy child. The pains and suffering that women endure, as a result of weakness of the distinctly womanly organism, vanish under its use. All good druggists sell it. There is nothing else "just as good."

"I want to tell you," writes Mrs. N. A. Thomas, of 400 Pulaski Street, Little Rock, Ark., "that my daughter, Mrs. Lawrence, who lives in Texarkana, Ark., is taking under the doctor's care for four years. I lately sent her word to try the medicine which cured me, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I have just heard that it has done her more good than all the doctors."

"The People's Common Sense Adviser" explains symptoms of ailments common to every family, and suggests remedies. It has several chapters on woman's diseases and weaknesses. An edition in heavy paper covers will be distributed absolutely free. Send the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Cloth binding may be had for 50 stamps.

MICROSCOPIC LIFE.

Bacteria Play an Important Part in the Work of the Dairy.

"The necessity of bacteriology in dairy products" was discussed by Prof. McDonnell, of the Pennsylvania State College, at the recent dairymen's meeting. As it was exceedingly interesting, I report a few of the salient points.

The speaker stated that only a few years ago physicians were the only persons who were thought to have any interest in this subject, while the fact is, we are indebted to bacteria for very many of the good things of life. Bacteria comes to us as friends and not always as enemies, as was supposed a few years ago.

Every delicacy supplied to us is largely dependent upon bacteria. We could have neither good butter nor good cheese without them; in fact nothing of a delicacy in the dairy can be had without bacteria, except condensed milk, which he did not regard as a delicacy.

These bacteria all belong to the vegetable kingdom, are of vegetable origin, and are of many different forms. Some move through liquids while others remain quiet; 25,000 of them can lie side by side in an inch of space. Some of the bacteria act only on dead matter, while another class produces the acid of milk, and others produce the aroma so very desirable in butter—and also the flavor.

If dairymen were careful to have clean stables for their cows very many undesirable bacteria could be kept from the milk and less trouble would result. It is not true, as some seem to think, that bacteria come from the cow with the milk. If milk could be kept from coming in contact with the air—which is filled with bacteria—while the cow is being milked, it could be kept pure for an indefinite period.

Great care should be taken to have all milk vessels clean if the dairymen desires the best possible product. Typhoid fever bacteria develop very rapidly in milk, and as a result the malady often spreads very rapidly. Scalding milk kills all organisms.—George Spitler, in Ohio Farmer.

Family Ties May be Broken in the Grand Rush for Gold, but What's Wealth Without Health?—Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is a Wonderful Cure—It Never Fails to Relieve in Ten Minutes.

Fred Lawtie, of Trail Creek, B.C., writes "I have used two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and have been wonderfully helped. I can recommend it very highly to all sufferers from Catarrh." And here is another: Mr. B. L. Egan, Easton, Pa., says: "When I read that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder would relieve in ten minutes, I must say I was far from being convinced of the fact. I decided to try it. I purchased a bottle. A single puff of the powder through the blower afforded instantaneous relief." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Lord Roberts of Kandahar Says There are Plenty of Troops to Put Down the Indian Fanatics.

London, Aug. 20.—The Daily Chronicle publishes this morning an interview with Lord Frederick Roberts of Kandahar, commander of the forces in Ireland, with reference to the disturbances in the Swat Valley and the Indian risings generally. Lord Roberts said:

"There is no cause for alarm or anxiety. The movement is wholly fanatical. We have a large body of magnificent troops on the frontier, officered by highly experienced commanders and capable of coping with any difficulty likely to arise.

"We hope that the rumor that the Afridis are disaffected is untrue. They have been very loyal and have made excellent soldiers under Col. Warburton."

The Daily Chronicle's reporter asked Lord Roberts as to the rumored complicity of the Ameer of Afghanistan. His Lordship at once became serious, and, speaking slowly and deliberately, said:

"I wish I could think that the Ameer has had nothing to do with the present disturbance, but, knowing the control he has over his country, my belief is that not one of his own immediate subjects on the borderland who owe allegiance to him would venture to join in the attacks against us unless convinced that in doing so he would meet with the approval of the Ameer."

Lord Roberts, in concluding the interview, reiterated his belief in the staunchness and loyalty of the native troops and his confidence that there is no serious danger in India, as the present forces on the frontier will be able to suppress any uprisings.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The deliveries were not heavy, but creditable for Thursday's market. There were 27 car loads, composed of 550 cattle, 688 sheep and lambs, 25 calves and 300 hogs. Taking a general view of it, trade was quiet, and no pronounced change from that of Tuesday's market.

Export cattle sold all the way from $4 up to $4.50 and one load brought $4.60, but this was an exceptional case where a good load was wanted for the purpose of completing a shipment, and should not be regarded as the rule, as the bulk of the exporters went below $4.40 and if an average was taken of prices paid $4.25 would be nearer the mark. J. Dunn purchased for S. Smith 20 cattle weighing 1250 lbs. each, at $4.60 per cwt.; also 21 cattle averaging 1175 lbs. each at $3.40 per cwt.

Butcher cattle were inclined to be dull, and the market was slow, prices ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt., with an occasional picked choice lot reaching $3.75, but we did not see any sold at the latter price, although we believe it was paid in one instance at least. Mr. Levack bought 7 butchers' cattle weighing 1087 lbs. each at $3 per cwt., less $1 per head; also one mixed lot of 17 common butchers' cattle cows, heifers and steers weighing 800 lbs. each at $2.80 per cwt.

Mr. McConvey sold 7 butchers' cattle at $3.40 per cwt.

Stockers were quiet. Small ones averaging 600 to 700 lbs. each brought from $2.90 to $3.15 per cwt., and those weighing 800 to 1000 lbs. were worth from $3.20 to $3.40, while a few brought $3.50 per cwt.

H. Mayhee bought 50 stockers averaging 600 lbs. at $3 per cwt.

Bulls are scarce. C. Zeagman bought one weighing 1800 lbs. at $3.50 per cwt. and another weighing 1520 lbs. for $40.

Milk cows were not well represented, there being only 4 or 5 on the market; prices ranged from $25 to $40 each. Good ones wanted.

Calves, prices remain unchanged, from $3 to $6 each.

Export sheep brought good prices, ranging from $3 to $3.37½ per cwt. for ewes, and $2.50 for good bucks.

Lambs sold from $2.75 to $3.25 each, and a few extras in weight and quality $3.50.

Prices for hogs remain the same, $5, being paid for the best selections.

The shipments per C.P.R. were as follows: J. & J. W. Dunn 4 double-decked cars of sheep and 3 cars of cattle, all for export; and F. Crawford, M.L.A., shipped 2 car loads of stockers and feeders to Forest, Ont., per G.T.R.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Table Philology.

Occasionally one pauses to inquire the origin of food nomenclature, but more often his only anxiety is as to the taste of the article and its physiological effect. A writer in "What to Eat" has offered these explanations:

Charlotte is a corruption of the old English word charlyt, which means a dish of custard, and charlotte russe is Russian charlotte.

Succotash is a dish borrowed from the Narragansett Indians and called by them msickquatash.

Hominy is from auhuminea, the North American Indian word for parched corn.

Sally Lunn was a pastry cook, who, at the close of the 18th century, used to cry the teabread which bears her name about the streets of Bath, England.

Gooseberry fool is a corruption of gooseberry foule, milled or pressed gooseberries.

Waffle is from wafel, a word of Teutonic origin, meaning honeycomb.

Macaroni is taken from a Greek derivation which means "the blessed dead," in allusion to the ancient custom of eating it at feasts for the dead.

Blancmange means literally white food, hence chocolate blancmange is something of misnomer.

The sandwich is called after the Earl of Sandwich.

Forcemeat is a corruption of farcemeat from the French farce, stuffing, i.e., meat for stuffing.

Mulligatawney is from an East Indian word meaning pepper water.

Gumbo is simply okra soup, gumbo being the name by which okra is often known in the south. Chicken gumbo is soup of okra and chicken.

After a Severe Cold.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated and Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and made me strong and well. After a severe cold a had catarrhal fever. I again resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla which accomplished a complete cure." SARAH E. DEVAY, Annapolis, Nova Scotia.

Hood's Pills are the favorite family cathartic, easy to take, easy to operate.

Sir Wilfrid Sails for Home.

Londonderry, Aug. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, sailed for Canada to-day. He visited Galway yesterday, in order to learn the views of the people there with reference to the Canadian mail ship line, and to judge of its suitability as a port of call.

A Large Order.

A hurenbaan Scots Grey passing along Princes street, Edinburgh, one day stopped at the postoffice, and called on a shoeblack to shine his boots.

The feet of the dragoon were in proportion to his height, and, looking at the tremendous boots before him, the arab knelt down on the pavement and called out to a chum near by:

"Jamie, come owre and gie's a hand; I've got an army contract!"—Answers.

Scott's Emulsion makes the blood richer and improves the circulation. It increases the digestion and nourishes the body. It corrects diseased action and strengthens the nervous system. In a word, it places the body in the best possible condition for preventing the germs of Consumption from beginning or continuing their work. In that one sentence is the whole secret. Book covering the subject very thoroughly sent free for the asking.

ITCHING ECZEMA

An Editor's Little Son Suffers Terribly. Itching Intense, Face Raw and Bleeding from Constant Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for nearly a year, during which time we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent the little fellow from scratching his face, owing to the intensity of the itching. I was advised to try CUTICURA. The first application was made before putting the child to bed, and the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning. As a result of the continued use of CUTICURA my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

CURRENT EVENTS OF THE YUKON.

(From the Klondike Lyre.)

Our esteemed townsman, Bud Gravel, placed upon our desk yesterday a handsomely shaped nugget. It weighed 27 pounds. We have credited him with three months subscription to the Lyre. We are pleased to see that Mr. Gravel, who is one of our best citizens, is doing well. He is one of a syndicate who expect to buy a quart of whiskey on Saturday night.

The high wind yesterday raised considerable dust. Jake Luckenbill who was out on the Eldorado road with his team, says that he was nearly blinded by it. When he came home he coughed up $73.89. One of our greatest needs is street sprinkling.

Dawson Pettibone has finished his new well in the rear of his kitchen. It now has eleven feet of ice water in it, and he has washed out over $85,000 in dust from the dirt taken out.

The Widow Larkin yesterday met with a misfortune, which will, we are sure, call forth the sympathy of the public. During the heavy rainstorm in the afternoon a regular torrent rushed down the gully back of her house and washed so much gold dust into her pig sty that the pig was smothered. A subscription has been started for her benefit.

While Ike Sigman, the esteemed proprietor of the Big Strike saloon, was fishing in the river yesterday his boat struck a snag; it proved to be a 600 lb. nugget. He will have it taken out and will use it as a horse block in front of his place. Ike is always bound to have the best that is going.

Large numbers of dead catfish are seen floating in the river every day. When examined it is found that every one of them has from six to eight ounces of gold dust in its stomach. This carelessness in allowing loose gold to escape into the river will ruin the fishing unless stopped.

Bill Jacobs made a pretty good strike on the Little Juniper this week. He struck plenty of gold at a depth of three feet, but as the lumps were too big to carry, he closed the hole and staked another claim further up the creek.

Aleck Cameron put a new fireplace in his cabin this week, but he will now have to build another one. After he had completed it he built a roaring fire, but there was so much metal in the stone that it melted and ran all over the floor. He now has a gold plated floor, but no fireplace.

There was a bull movement in dog meat yesterday, the price closing at 68 cents above the opening figure. It is supposed to be due entirely to professional speculation.

Weak and Sickly Babies Made Well and Strong by Lactated Food.

After many years of trial in the homes of Canada and in hospitals and institutions for the young, mothers, nurses and physicians emphatically declare that Lactated Food is the best nourishment for weak and sickly babies.

Lactated Food is the most easily digested of all known foods; it is a corrective of confined bowels, a preventive of dysentery and other complaints that cut down so many of the innocents. From every section of Canada letters come from mothers testifying to the life-giving properties of Lactated Food.

Babies regularly fed on Lactated Food become happy, bright, vigourous and strong; peevishness, crosses and fretfulness are banished, and the home is made a happy resting place.

Try Lactated Food, dear mother, for your little one if it is not thriving. The use of the great food for a few weeks will work wonders for baby.

LACROSSE.

And what does it mean, this victory of the Tecumsehs over the Toronto's. Stouffville and Wiarton both played tie games with the Tecumsehs, who beat the Torontos, who beat the Capitals. Where does this place Wiarton and Stouffville, and where does it place the Thistles of Fergus, who beat Wiarton, who tied with the Tecumsehs, who beat the Torontos, who beat the Capitals? Hats off to Fergus champions of the earth! Toronto Saturday Night: "But what about Orangeville who beat Fergus."

The Torontos go down to Ottawa to play the Capitals to-day. Will they win 10—0 or lose 10—0. It seems to be about an even chance.

The secretary of the Peterborough's is in correspondence with the Shamrocks, of Montreal, trying to arrange for a match to take place here early in September.

In all probability the protest of the Markham team against Tudhope, of Stouffville, will be settled early next week and the first of the semi-finals will then be played in Peterborough on Friday next. Under these circumstances no player can afford to lose even one night's practice.

The Orangeville Lacrosse club is very anxious to come to Peterborough for a game, and the chances are that a match may be arranged with them for Labour Day.

BASEBALL.

That baseball can easily be worked up into popularity again has been proven by the interest which has been awakened by the little local games which have taken place and at the P.A.A.A. grounds within the last week or two.

On Friday afternoon next the printers will play the Park nine, the latter team giving the printers Dolan and Cassidy for a battery.

GOLF.

The new golf links north of the Jackson Park were opened this afternoon, quite a large number being present. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Yesterday morning about 5.30, shortly after the I.B. & O.R.R. train from Baptiste Lake had passed Gooderham station, Conductor Harry Filkins fell out of the baggage car as the result of a sudden jolt caused by a low rail joint. The brakeman saw him falling, but as the train had no bell cord he was obliged to run over the tops of the cars to notify Engineer Hill, by which time the train had covered about a mile and a half. It was backed down, and Filkins was found lying upon a heap of stones alongside the track. He complained of severe pains, and is supposed to have been injured internally. He was carried back to Gooderham, and Dr. Frost, of Kinmount, was summoned by telephone. The train was a few minutes late in arriving at the junction, but the Haliburton train waited for it.

The Toronto Telegram is trying to arouse the board of trade of that city to agitate for the extension of the Haliburton branch of the G.T.R. to a connection with the Ottawa and Parry Sound R.R., which would bring Toronto into touch with the rapidly growing trade of Mattawa and the whole valley of the Upper Ottawa. Less than 40 miles of line would be necessary. Should the scheme be carried out Lindsay would become a more important railway and supply centre.

A siding has just been laid from the C. P. R. track running partially across the station yard, for the purpose of enabling cars of gravel, etc., to be run out and used to fill in the depression in the yard, which, since the grading of George street, has developed into a mud hole. The yard is to be graded up to the street level.

The Life of Dr. Chase.

As a compiler of Chase's Recipe Book, his name is familiar in every household in the land, while as a physician his works on simple formulas left an imprint of his name that will be handed down from generation to generation. His last great medicine, in the form of Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, is having the large public patronage that his Ointment, Pills and Catarrh Cure are having. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is especially adapted for all Bronchial and Asthmatic troubles.

Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, and all throat and lung troubles. Price 25 and 50c.

HIGH-GRADE

BICYCLES.

If you had all the wealth of the Klondike you could not buy them in thousands at as low a price as the low grades. But you can now get them at a closer price than formerly—to clear.

Candidly, though, there are very few makes that come within the catigory "High Grade"—The "Gendron" and "Reliance" sets the pace for them all, for the realm of their birth is the best factory in Canada, and also one of the best in the United States. Devoted to the exclusive making of wheels—every part and piece that goes into construction is made specially for them and is the best that money can buy or skill design. If "Gendrons" drop in price other makes must follow, for no wheel can sell alongside it at a higher price—except to "cranks" and idiots.

We are offering these wheels at cost now together with the "Columbus" make.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

THREE LIVES LOST.

Deplorable Calamity at Niagara Falls Yesterday.

CAMPERS FROM THE AMERICAN SIDE

Were Trying to Cross in a Boat, But the Current Was Too Strong Their Boat Was Smashed and They Were Carried Over the Horseshoe Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 22.—Three men in a green-colored boat marked No. 8 lost their lives this afternoon in attempting to cross the river above the falls about 5 o'clock. Several people in the upper or south end of Cedar Island, about a mile above the Horseshoe Falls, noticed three men struggling for dear life to pull towards the Canadian shore, but swiftly and surely the strong current gradually swept them towards the cascades above the falls. When they were first noticed they were about 200 yards from shore and looked as though they might possibly beat the strong current. Two of them faced each other, pulling on the same oar, while the third had a piece of an oar and seemed to be making good use of it in the stern of the boat. But the all-powerful current mastered the trio and they were swept over the first cascade. Their frail boat completely up-ended, spilling the unfortunate men into the rushing current, and their boat soon came to the surface with the end stove in. The three men disappeared in the rapids, but in a few minutes were again seen struggling in the water, attempting to swim, but were swept over the falls like chips of wood in a few minutes. Their boat came ashore a few yards above the falls, where it was secured. It is said the men were from Lasalle, N.Y., on their way to Chippawa. Their names cannot be learned. Several people witnessed the struggling men, but were unable to render them any assistance.

They Were Campers.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Frank Weber of Buffalo, Warren Bush of Chicago, and Charles Glasner of Chicago, who have been camping on the banks of the Niagara River for a week past, to-day hired a small boat and started to row across the Niagara River to the Canadian shore. When in midstream their boat became unmanageable and capsised. The men were seen struggling in the rapidly-rushing waters, but before assistance could reach them they were swept over the Canadian falls. Bush and Glassner were employes of the United States Express Company of Chicago and were on a vacation. Weber leaves a wife and two children. Nothing has been seen of the bodies, and it is hardly likely that they will be recovered.

FOUR CHILDREN DROWNED.

The Ferry Across the Ashbridge Bay Cut Capsized, Throwing Many Little Ones Into the Water.

Toronto, Aug. 23.

By the criminal carelessness of some one at least four little children lost their lives by drowning in what is known as "McNamee's Cut" in the marsh opposite the foot of Cherry-street, yesterday afternoon.

Three of the bodies have been recovered and taken charge of by grief-stricken relatives and a search is now in progress for the other child, who is known to be drowned and for any other bodies there might be on the bottom.

The dreadful accident was caused by the presence of what is known as "Lamb's float," a drawbridge contrivance that was placed at the cut on Friday last to ferry people across to the other side of the marsh, where there are some cottages and a mile farther on the east end swimming baths for boys.

After leaving Sunday school yesterday afternoon several parties of youngsters went down to the marsh to see the new float, and shortly before 5 o'clock they were ferrying to and fro on it. Several trips had been made and the children, who ranged in age from 6 to 14 years, thought it great fun, and those who had at first been afraid to venture upon it stepped on board.

The float was propelled by a chain which was fastened at each side of the cut, and had to be pulled by someone aboard. About 20 children got upon it, and a boy named Jack Lawless, assisted by others of the older lads aboard, commenced to pull on the chain. Too many of the young passengers were on one side of the float and it slanted considerably, causing the water to come over its flooring.

To avoid getting their feet wet the children crowded toward the other side of the float, which tipped right over, and every one was precipitated into the water. The float by this time was almost in the middle of the stream, and the water seemed full of the scrambling, shrieking children. Some had the presence of mind to cling to the float when they came up and were rescued. Others who were floundering around were rescued by some young fellows who had witnessed the float turn over while they were aboard a yacht. Of these young men William McCarthy, whom his chums call "Ted" and who lives at Vine and Front-streets, did noble service in the work of rescue and he was ably assisted by the Delaney brothers, who live at 467 King-street east; Matthew Green, 25 Ontario-street; William Smith, 59 Cherry-street, and several others who were on the scene. McCarthy and Green stripped and dived for bodies, and McCarthy succeeded in getting one little chap named Robert Long out while life remained, but the little fellow expired shortly after being brought ashore.

The children who had been rescued mostly ran for home, and it was difficult to ascertain who had been aboard and who were drowned. The bigger boys, afraid to go home, went away to get their clothes dried. It was learned that several bodies must be in the water, and after the Long boy's body was rescued dragging was commenced.

The news of the fatality spread quickly, and soon hundreds of people were upon the scene. Mothers, whose children had not yet returned from Sunday school, acted in an hysterical manner up and down the side of the cut, and everywhere inquiries were being made regarding some little boy or girl. At one point was the mother of a boy who was known to be drowned, and the scene was a pitiful one. Children ran in and out looking for their brothers and sisters, and men spoke in loud tones of the extreme carelessness of leaving such a dangerous plaything as the float with no one to look after it and asking each other who was responsible.

At half-past 6 Bob Anderson and Frank Delaney recovered the body of a little girl named Gertie Harvey, and at 8 o'clock Capt. Pat McSherry recovered the body of Albert Driscoll.

Search was continued, but no other bodies were found, although there is no room to doubt that the remains of little Willie Bythell are in the water.

FRED SLATER IS DEAD.

The Mystery Partially Solved by the Finding of the Young Man's Body.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 21.—Word was received here this morning of the finding of the lifeless body of Fred. W. Slater in the lake at Ashtabula, Ohio, and created no little stir in this town and vicinity. It will be remembered Slater, who was a young man of twenty years, left here three weeks ago, accompanied by a young lady friend named Miss Edna Mitchell, about his own age, whose former home had been Toronto, where she resided with her uncle prior to taking a position in the Jewish Hospital at Cincinnati about one year ago as nurse. The young lady, who was a friend of the Slater family, came back to Toronto during last month on her vacation on a visit, and on her return to Cincinnati the first of the month she remained here two or three days visiting the Slaters. It was then arranged by young Slater, who wished to go to Cleveland, that the two should go together on the Cleveland boat from Buffalo, young Slater to Cleveland and Miss Mitchell to accompany him there and then continue her journey to Cincinnati, which was done. Young Slater went to his uncle at Cleveland, Thomas D. Slater, superintendent of the Cleveland Street Railway, returning home the same evening by boat from Cleveland to Buffalo. His uncle, who accompanied him down to the steamer, attempted to persuade him to remain over at Cleveland, but young Slater told him it was impossible; he had to return by that boat.

Suicide or Accident?

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 22.—The remains of young Fred W. Slater arrived here early this morning and were taken to his father's residence. The body was found floating on the shore of Lake Erie, near Ashtabula, Ohio, by a clergyman, who was camping with some friends. The body had all the clothing on, even the mackintosh young Slater had left with the purser of the boat and afterwards got, after the boat left Cleveland. All his money was in his pockets, as well as his letters, which identified him, as the body was in a bad state of decomposition when found. His watch was in his pocket and showed it had stopped at 11.15, which proves conclusively he got in the water two hours and 40 minutes after leaving Cleveland, which would be near Ashtabula. His ring was also on his finger, and it is now certain that the young man was not murdered, but without a doubt lay down in some dangerous place when he could not obtain a berth and, falling asleep, fell overboard. His remains will be taken to Galt and interred there to-morrow.

MURDERED HIS FATHER.

Hungarian Colony Near Whitewood, Man., the Scene of a Savage Tragedy on Saturday.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—(Special).—The Hungarian Colony, near Whitewood, was the scene of a terrible tragedy yesterday. Adam Gregg, aged 28, had a quarrel with his aged father over the ownership of some chickens. The old man in a rage struck his son in the face and the latter, seizing an ax, felled his father with a blow. While the old man was on the ground the son chopped it his neck, almost severing his head from the body.

THE BOOM IN WHEAT

It Extends All Over the Continent of America

AND IS BACKED UP BY CABLE NEWS

At New York on Saturday Sales Were Made at $1.04 and Over, and the Bulls are Now After $1.25—State of the Market at Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 23.

The rapid advance in prices of wheat within the past few days has electrified the trade. It came unexpectedly to the majority, and profits have accrued only to a comparatively small number of people. It is only a week or ten days since it was thought the United States would have a bumper crop, and wheat buyers everywhere were talking in a bearish strain. While admitting that present stocks were light, they were looking forward to the rapid filling up of granaries on liberal receipts from one of the greatest wheat harvests the United States ever cut. But the weather interfered, and estimates of the spring wheat yield have been considerably reduced.

A very bullish factor in connection with prices was the enormous demands for wheat for shipment to Britain and the Continent. About a month ago, the crops of wheat in Europe were said to be nearly 200 million bushels less than last year, but the figures have grown, and estimates by good authorities now place the deficiency in the neighborhood of 384 millions. At most it is thought that the United States will have 165 millions of bushels for export, so that the world's shortage is nearly 220 millions. India and the Argentine are said to be out of it this season.

These startling figures have created a heavy buying movement all along the line, and the result is the highest prices since 1891. In Chicago cash wheat, September and May sold at $1 yesterday, advances of 15c to 16c for the week. A year ago September sold at 57 5-8c, or 42 3-8c lower than the current price. In New York cash wheat sold at $1.07 1-2 yesterday, the advance being about the same as in Chicago.

New red and white wheat are selling in Ontario at 86c to 88c, which is in advance of 2c over the prices paid the latter half of August last year. Manitoba No. 1 hard sold here yesterday at $1.08, an advance of 35c to 37c, as compared with a year ago.

The advantages of these high prices to the business interests of Canada must be apparent to all. Fortunately, the Province of Ontario will have a yield of 11,000,000 bushels in excess of last year. According to the estimates of the Department of Agriculture the crops of wheat in the province will be 20,754,000 bushels, as against 18,597,000 bushels in 1896. Taking these figures as a basis, and with the difference in prices in favor of this year, the crop of wheat in Ontario is worth to-day more than $13,500,000 in excess of the crop of last year.

Manitoba will have 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 bushels more wheat this season than last, and owing to the enhanced prices the crop will probably be worth in the neighborhood of $7,000,000 more than last season. This increase of $20,000,000 in the purchasing power of the farmers of Ontario and Manitoba will lead to the expansion of trade and commerce and every interest will be benefited thereby.

Already there is an increased demand for farm lands in Manitoba. Farmers in Kansas, Minnesota and Dakota have agents in the Prairie Province looking out for good farms, and the future is bright indeed for the week. The Northwest Land Company is doing a large and increasing business in the sale of farm lands.

MANITOBA'S YIELD.

The Province Will Have 21,284,274 Bushels—About 16 1-2 to the Acre.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The Manitoba Government yesterday issued an official bulletin on the crops. The total wheat yield is estimated at 21,284,274 bushels, the average being estimated at 16.49 bushels per acre. Manitoba's production of all kinds of cereals is shown to be forty million bushels, and all departments of agriculture are reported to be in a satisfactory condition.

The following figures are taken from the official bulletin, and it must be borne in mind that they do not include any portion of the Northwest Territories, but apply only to the Province of Manitoba. The average wheat yield per acre in the eastern portion of the province was over twenty bushels to the acre, and in other portions exceeded eighteen. However, in the southwestern portion it was only thirteen, and this pulled down the average for the province.

The total yield of oats is 12,517,112 bushels, the average per acre being 26.63. The yield of barley 3,644,788 bushels, average per acre 23.8.

Total yield of flax 309,795 bushels; rye 55,037, peas 38,287.

When wheat reached a dollar a bushel at Chicago yesterday a telegram was read from W. W. Ogilvie, conveying his greetings to Manitoba farmers. The members of the Exchange gave three cheers for dollar wheat.

THE BOOM IN NEW YORK.

Five Cents Added to the Dollar and Now the Bulls are After $1.25.

New York, Aug. 21.—Wheat bulls added about five cents a bushel to the dollar mark attained yesterday, and are now out hot-foot for $1.25 a bushel on the New York market. To-day's opening was one of the most exciting of the entire week. Members and others who had not been seen in down-town cafés in years, flocked to the floor and gallery to watch the sensational developments. At the first stroke of the gong September swung up to $1.02, selling at $1.02

LET US UNITE.

It is pleasing to read in a Quebec paper, La Semaine Commerciale, an earnest appeal for closer union and a better understanding between the peoples of French and British blood in Canada. The homecoming of Sir Wilfrid Laurier forms the theme on which the article is based, and the writer takes advantage of the opportunity afforded him and pleads feelingly for the breaking down of the barriers which, it must be confessed, have been too rigidly maintained between the two races, an evil which it must, unfortunately, be conceded, is not to be attributed to the French Canadians. No better theme, says the Ottawa Free Press, could be afforded. If there is a statesmen who has set the idea of a union of effort, purpose and mutual good will, among all the various elements which go to make up our population before him, it is Sir Wilfrid Laurier. No one has in later times more eloquently protested against such wicked and deliberate attempts to foment discord and excite religious and race differences as have unfortunately been witnessed at times not long past. La Semaine Commercirle sums up Sir Wilfrid Laurier's position in this respect very accurately when it says:—

In our eyes the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is that man who of all our race has best understood his age and the duties which it imposed; and if he has attained the eminent rank which he to-day occupies it is due principally to his intelligent comprehension of the situation. Called to live among Englishmen, he has mastered their language and borrowed the qualities which abound in them, such as a sense of method, conciseness in speech, moderation in all things, courtesy in discussion, and straightforwardness in man's relation towards man. He early freed himself from the prejudices which everyone acquires by being born in such a country as this, where nationalities are as clearly divided from one another as are flocks. According to him language and religion should not divide us. He is himself a living example of the possibilities of bi-lingual education, and to religious matters he has applied those rules of equity understood by all men endowed with a conscience, and in any way adoring God. At first this broad-mindedness caused some stupefaction, so little were people accustomed to it. It took time to have it prevail, but to-day we note with satisfaction that Sir W. Laurier has created a school, and that his pupils are daily increasing in number.

The Premier has proclaimed his views on this subject in season and out of season and expressed them on every platform when an opportunity afforded. During the discussion which was provoked for years owing to the weak policy of the late Tory administration in connection with the Manitoba schools he took occasion to emphasize this idea of national unity, with all the brilliant eloquence of which he is so great a master. "We must carry out the idea of confederation here," he told his hearers recently in Parliament. "We must have a nation here; we must build up a nation, but if this is to be done we must teach every citizen no matter what his creed or his race may be, in the prosecution of his rights to make some concessions to the feelings, nay to the prejudices of his fellow countrymen." And he spoke even more emphatically on this point on a certain occasion in Quebec when he made reference to a stirring passage in a speech of Sir George Cartier in which that statesman touched upon the objections raised to the idea of a confederation on account of the diversity and divergences of race. That passage was as follows:

Objection has been made to the scheme now under consideration, because of the words "new nationality." Now, when we were united together, if union were attained, we would form a political nationality with which neither the national origin nor the religion of any individual could interfere. It was lamented by some that we had this diversity of races, and hopes were expressed that this distinctive feature would cease. The idea of unity of races was utopian—it was impossible. Distinctions of this kind would always exist. Dissimilarity in fact appeared to be the order of the physical world and of the moral world as well as in the political world. But, with regard to the objection based on this fact, to the effect that a great nation could not be formed because Lower Canada was in great part French and Catholic, and Upper Canada was British and Protestant, and the Lower Provinces were mixed, it was futile and worthless in the extreme. Look, for example, at the United Kingdom, inhabited as it was by three great races. Had the diversity of race impeded the glory, the progress, the wealth of Britain? Had they not rather contributed their share to the greatness of the Empire. Of the glories of the Senate, the field and the ocean, of the successes of trade and commerce, how much was contributed by the combined talents, energy and courage of the races together. In our own Federation we should have Catholic and Protestant, English, French, Irish and Scotch, and each by his efforts and his success would increase the prosperity and glory of the new confederacy. He viewed this diversity of races in British North America in this way; we were of different races not for the purpose of warring against each other, but in order to compete and emulate for the general welfare.

And the meeting which Sir Wilfrid was addressing received these sentiments with thunders of applause, a good and encouraging sign, which caused him to continue: "I am glad that in a Liberal assembly you applaud these words. They are grand, strong, noble and generous words. I am not ignorant and I do not forget that the Liberals of Lower Canada feared Confederation. I do not forget that Sir A. Dorion feared the Confederation as the tomb of things that we always regarded as a sacred heritage. But Sir George Cartier did not participate in this apprehension, and for myself, a disciple of Dorion, and a student of the school of Dorion, I do not hesitate to say that my ideas are with Sir George Cartier and not with Sir A. Dorion. Few men understood the situation of the French race better than he. Few men had a more lucid sense of the duties that this situation imposed. For my part I know no person who on this point was his superior unless it was Sir Louis Lafontaine." These are grand sentiments, and it is to be hoped that the accession to the Prime Ministers's office by the speaker will be the initation of an era in which the great principles of national race unity will be a conspicuous feature. The fact that we have a Prime Minister of French race for the first time since Confederation is itself a guarantee that the idea will be greatly advanced. His brief year of office has already demonstrated how earnest are his efforts and high his Imperial and British aspirations, while at the same time he is properly true and loyal to his own race and traditions. We feel sure that the people of all races will join with La Semaine Commerciale in hoping that the Premier may accomplish the destruction of barriers hitherto existing. It notes that since Sir Wilfrid has been in power it is "noticeable that the Province of Quebec is more respected than formerly? All of this shows that the barriers on either side are falling." Let the work of destroying them be expedited.

THE HARVEST IS RIPE.

Laborers are Fairly Plentiful Now That the Excursions Have Arrived Fort Garry to be Preserved.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—(Special)—The historical old Fort Garry gateway is to be preserved. The Hudson's Bay Co., in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee and to perpetuate the memory of Fort Garry, has presented the City of Winnipeg with the gateway and land on which it stands for a public park.

Reports issued to-day by the railroad companies regarding the Manitoba and Northwest wheat crops are of an encouraging nature, and flatly contradict the pessimistic reports that have been issued recently. The yield will be fully up to the average and a very large percentage of the wheat will be of high grade. With certainty of high prices, the farmers of this country are well satisfied with the outlook. The railroad reports, collected by reliable correspondents, show that the wheat crop is not a uniform one as regards yield. Some districts report as low as 15 bushels to the acre; others 18 to 20, and so on up to 35, and even 40, but it would appear, speaking generally, that the crop will be larger and better than that of last year. Well-posted grain operators at Winnipeg say that an estimate of 24,000,000 bushels of wheat for this country is quite conservative.

Several thousand farm laborers from Eastern Canada arrived here to-day and were promptly despatched to the harvest fields. Wheat everywhere is now ready for cutting and harvesting operations will proceed rapidly.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW

When people you know give their evidence you have confidence in it much more so than when strangers talk.

These people are people you know, Peterborough People, and you can credit every word they say.

HERE IS ONE:

Mrs. Sarah Henderson, 392 McDonel St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from pain in my back, complicated with terrible headaches. Oh my! how my head did ache.

A dizziness would come over me at times, and a filmy mist seemed to cover my eyes so that I could scarcely see. Often I would stagger as if intoxicated.

I could not sleep at night; my hands and arms used to swell and puff up, and I was in a condition of great misery, unable to work and almost in despair.

I doctored a great deal and took many medicines, but everything I tried failed. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I got a box at Jas. Lynch's Drug Store. The change for the better was wonderful.

The first few doses seemed to lift a load from my aching back, and on taking three boxes I can conscientiously say that I am perfectly cured of all my complaints. I cannot too highly recommend this wonderful remedy."

Cooked Cucumbers a Novelty.

Another dish too seldom seen is cooked cucumbers. They can be sliced, dipped in butter and then fried, or sliced and stewed for 15 minutes and served with a white sauce, or cut into dice and scalloped in a baking dish, covering each layer of cucumbers with fine crumbs, putting bits of butter on it, and baking all to a good brown.

Creamed carrots are seen on many tables, but fried carrots, while less familiar, are quite as good. Young carrots should be used for this. They should be boiled until tender, the skins rubbed off with a coarse cloth and then each carrot should be sliced. For two cupfuls of the carrot two tablespoonfuls of butter should be heated in a frying pan, and the carrots should be cooked in this. Before they are taken up a little minced parsley should be strewn over them, and after they have had the fat drained from them they should be turned into a very hot dish and sprinkled with salt, pepper and a very little white sugar.

Squash fritters furnish a way of using up the cold squash left over from dinner. To two cupfuls of the squash should be added a cup of milk, half a cupful of flower, an egg, a little salt and a scant teaspoonful of baking powder. The mixture thus made may be baked by the spoonful on a griddle like pan-cakes.

THE BOOM IN WHEAT.

to $1.01 1-4 at the same instant in other parts of the pit. The crowd of buyers fought vigorously among themselves to get possession of the few lots offering and quickly bid the price up to $1.03 1-2 by rapid strides of 1-2c or more at a chip.

The bears were nowhere. It was a feverish clamor for wheat from all sources. Eleventh-hour bulls, those who never come in to buy until prices have already had a big advance, were particularly prominent in the early dealings. December opened from $1 to $1.00 3-4, and went flying after September, impelled by mad rushes to buy and general bull excitement. It soon reached $1.02 1-2, and then, in common with the rest of the list, cooled off a little, both in trading activity and upward movement. For a time, the whole market rested like some huge monster taking breath after a fray. But towards midday the restless energy of the bulls started prices climbing up once more. Just before the close September reached $1.05 5-8, easing off later to $1.05 1-4, which was the official closing figure. During the next hour on the curb pandemonium again broke loose, for the wires announced "dollar" wheat at Chicago.

A cheer almost as hearty as that which greeted the similar event here yesterday went up from the pit, and bulls shook the market to its foundation with their demands for more wheat, forcing September still higher, to $1.06 5-8. It was a feverish day, giving promise of sensational markets in the future. While there were several points in the news to-day which might, under ordinary circumstances, have given the bears a foothold, they had no influence, in view of the overpowering bull sentiment among traders. Liverpool cables came 3d. and 3 5-8d. higher than last night, but foreign houses sold as much as they bought. There was no important export transactions, and the spring wheat outlook was made brighter by sunshine and warm weather. Cash wheat (No. 1 northern, f.o.b., afloat), closed nominally at $1.13 a bushel. Total sales of futures were 4,750,000 bushels. Exports of wheat and flour, both coasts, were 5,200,000 bushels last week, while Europe purchased about 3,000,000 bushels more during the week at New York and outports. Closing figures on wheat futures to-day were about 42 cents higher than last year, and spot wheat about 58 cents higher.

MR. MEIGHEN'S ESTIMATE.

The President of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. Expects Good Times.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The conflicting statements regarding this year's wheat crop in Manitoba being shown Mr. Robert Meighan, president of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., that gentleman said: "One authority gives thirty million bushels and another fourteen millions, but if you take these amounts, add them together and divide them by two, I believe you have a pretty fair estimate of the wheat crop of 1897."

Being asked if he had any fear of damage from frost and hail, Mr. Meighen replied that there would be a small percentage damaged by hail, but none whatever by frost.

"Have you made any calculations as to the price of the new crop in Manitoba?"

"I don't possess spectacles that will enable me to see far ahead, but if reports are true, Russia and America are the only countries that will have wheat for export this year. Russia, so far being an unknown quantity. I believe we are going to see a higher level of prices than have been ruling for the last few years. The large quantity of wheat for export this year will be an important factor in enhancing the prosperity of the Dominion. Apparently," Mr. Meighen concluded, "that which is a loss to other countries will be a great gain to the Dominion."

Dollar Reached in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Dollar wheat was reached in Chicago to-day. The September option reached this figure a few minutes before the close, and wound up an excited day's session at 99 1-2c, an advance to 6 1-2c since yesterday. December closed at an equal gain. For the first time since the recent phenomenal advance began leaders of the bull clique let go large blocks of their holdings, which, in a measure, relieved the strain. The excitement in wheat was shared by all the other markets, trading in corn especially being tremendous. Corn closed at 2c advance and oats wound up 1 3-4c higher. Provisions, after an early spurt, sank back, and closed unchanged to 7 1-2c higher.

Where the Millionaires Come In.

New York, Aug. 22.—Charles A. Pillsbury of Minnesota is the holder of 5,200,000 bushels. Philip D. Armour holds 2,500,000 bushels in Chicago. John Cudahy of Chicago has a great amount of options in wheat at his command. Thomas & D. R. Francis of St. Louis, the latter the former Secretary of the Interior, are said to be the holders of 2,000,000 bushels. Thomas Francis on Thursday cleared $300,000 by sales in wheat. He has an enormous amount of options. Former Congressman S. W. Cobb has 500,000 bushels in options. J. Pierpont Morgan is said to be one of those who are most deeply interested in wheat. George B. French of New York, who engineered the bull movement in wheat, has holdings amounting to more than half a million bushels. Former Governor Flower of New York is also interested in the new rise.

Washington advices to the Agricultural Department predicted yesterday that wheat would not go below the dollar mark, and that in all probability it would rise very much above it. Superintendent Hyde of the Statistical Department said that the demand of Europe for wheat was very much above the ordinary. He said that the great famine in India, which necessitated the consumption of all available wheat, greatly affected the present price. He further reflected on the fact that France has been crying out for supplies.

"This country," he said, "always considered its last resource to be a request for American wheat. Other market reports showed that the demand during this week for American wheat exceeded that of last week by a million bushels."

Is There a Corner?

Duluth, Aug. 21.—According to operators on "Change" here, Duluth traders have cleared up from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 by the recent advance in wheat. They are very reluctant about saying who the lucky ones are, but it is reported that A. D. Thompson, commonly said to be very close to Charles A. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, has made two or three hundred thousand dollars. Commission men say that a great many of their customers have made large amounts, but refuse to divulge their names.

There is a rumor here to the effect that cash wheat for delivery Sept. 1 has been cornered, but nothing authentic can be learned regarding it.

There is, however, somewhat of a wheat famine in Superior. All of the flour mills there have shut down because of the inability to get wheat. The Imperial mill of this city is receiving wheat from Iowa and Nebraska for the first time in the history of Duluth. Flour has advanced materially, and bakers announce that the price of bread will be advanced next week.

Millions Without Turning a Hand.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 21.—Wheat reached $1 here just before noon to-day. September option, as the leading future, sold at $1 for the first time since 1891. It fell 1-2 cent afterwards, but advanced to $1.00 3-4. The gain for the day averages about 4 cents.

There was intense excitement on the exchange, but it was as nothing to the feeling in the rural districts. It is estimated that there are left in Kansas 40,000,000 bushels of wheat, worth yesterday $36,000,000 and worth to-day $38,400,000. Without turning a hand the farmers of the Sunflower State are richer by $2,400,000 to-day.

Usually it is the speculator and the middleman who reap the benefit from advances in price. This year it is the farmer.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

DUNLOP TROPHY RACE

Ramblers' Club of Toronto Won and Greatrix Was First Man In—Good Wheeling.

Toronto, Aug. 23.

The 20-mile road race for the Dunlop Trophy was ridden on Saturday on the Kingston-road, starting at the Woodbine, under the most favorable circumstances, as good weather and roads favored the wheelmen, and the distance was covered in reasonably fast time, and won by the Ramblers of Toronto, with the T.A.C. second, Queen City third, Tourists and Royal Canadians tie for fourth, Crescents of Hamilton sixth, and the Garrison team last.

There were seven teams faced the starter with five men each, three to count at the finish.

Sharp at 3.30 the riders were sent off by the starter, the Queen City having the pole, the Royals next and the rest in the following order: Torontos, Garrison, Ramblers, Tourists, and the Crescents on the outside. The riders went round the track four times, then 7½ miles out the Kingston-road and return, then once around the track to finish the twenty miles.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

SADDER BUT WISER.

Canadian Visitors Robbed While on an Excursion to Rochester.

Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Messrs. Gillette and Robinson came to Rochester last Thursday evening on the annual outing of Peterborough Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows of Peterborough, Canada. The Canadians came over on the steamer North King with a party of twenty or more who enjoyed a two days' visit to the city and the lake resorts, and then left this morning by boat for Canadian soil. They saw the town in all its different phases; Gillette and Robinson did especially. They registered at the Clinton House on South St. Paul street. Both went home to the soil of Her Majesty sadder but wiser men.

Gillette is of Millbrook; Robinson lives within a few miles of Peterborough. They are great friends. They came together to the Odd Fellows' outing at Rochester and accentuated their friendship by dressing alike. Both wore black cutaway coats, gray trousers and linen hats.

Thursday night the two Canucks started out to see how the other half lived. They hired a hack and invited two young women to go with them on an enjoyable evening's excursion. The two women were Mae Harding and Jennie Wilson, frequenters of music halls and lake and bay resorts.

The town was explored. All the sights were seen. The jolly party alighted from the carriage in front of a hotel on Franklin street. Gillette and Robinson had a lively but good humoured dispute over who should pay the hackmen. They caressed and argued with each other until both linen hats looked very much indisposed and the trousers of the Canadian youths had lost their creases.

While the two of Her Majesty's subjects were arguing, the young women of the party had a little confab with the hackman. What they said, they themselves only know. But it is already history that the two Canadian visitors were suddenly interrupted in their conversation, and, to put it mildly, badly jostled by the hackman and the two women. Robinson remembered nothing about the impromptu melee that then occurred. Next morning when he awoke he found himself in a cellar, covered with ashes and dirt, with two black eyes and a badly bruised face and minus $37.50.

Robinson pulled himself together, climbed the stairs, walked out of the place, still half dazed, and began to look for his friends. When he got on Main street he began to appreciate his position. He found one of his friends and his injuries were attended to by a physician.

This morning Robinson left Charlotte on the North King. He was a sadder but much wiser man than when he landed on American soil on Thursday. He did not tell his troubles to a policeman, because he could not locate the hotel in the cellar of which he found himself yesterday morning. He was so dazed by the rapid happenings of the night before that he could give but a vague idea of the evening's enjoyment. Being unable to definitely implicate anyone in the crime he held his peace and went home.

IS SERVING HIS TIME.

Was his Dominion Day Sentence Valid in Law?

Mr. D. O'Connell returned from Toronto this morning where he was acting at Osgoode Hall in the interests of Conlan, the pickpocket. The Toronto News says:

Judge McMahon yesterday decided to reserve judgment on the application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Patrick Conlan, who was sentenced to three months imprisonment on Dominion Day at Peterborough for theft. His counsel claims that Dominion Day Criminal Court proceedings are invalid. If judgment is delayed the the sentence will be served before the law point is solved.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The new Presbyterian Psalter and Hymnal will be introduced into St. Andrew's church services the first Sunday in October.

The congregations in the George street church yesterday were remarkably good both morning and evening. Rev. S. J. Shorey officiated at both services. In the morning he spoke from St. Matthew 10 34, and in the evening from Romans 3-4. Both sermons were of superior excellence, unique, vigourous and deeply impressive. Mr. Shorey is a preacher among preachers, and any church might be glad to secure such a man.

Preaching at St. John's yesterday morning from the text "All things are ours," 1st Cor., 3rd ch., 21v., Rev. J. C. Davidson alluded incidentally to the meeting of the British Association in Toronto and the scientific stimulus which the whole country should receive from the presence of scientists and the published reports. St. Paul in this passage told the Corinthian Christians that "the world" was theirs. Unfortunately, however, it is only a small portion of world's beauties and interests placed within our reach that we really possess or enjoy. We should all read about, observe and learn to appreciate God's handiwork in and around us. Years ago scientific knowledge was thought in some quarters to be at variance with the pridciples of Christianity. Now we have come to see that that these gifts are especially ours by virtue of our Redemption as well as our creation.

As observers too, true Christians have a great advantage. To their eyes deeper things will reveal themselves than to the merely scientific student. Their thoughts will rise from a world seen to be more wonderful and beautiful to a God revealing Himself thereby, as of more surpassing wisdom and majesty. In order that this might be the case, St. Paul insisted that we should really belong to Christ and should be built up on Him as a "sure foundation stone." God's revelation in Christ was the first and most important knowledge to be grasped. Scientific study could be advantageously built up on this as a beautiful superstructure.

CURE FOR DROPSY.

Only a Positive Symptom—Not a Disease of Itself—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

CAMPBELLFORD (Special) Aug. 9—An unlooked for and remarkable recovery from advanced stage of dropsy is just made public here. It is the case of Mrs. John Weese, wife of the widely-known veteran stage proprietor, whose life for months had been despaired of. From the accumulated water peculiar to this disease, she became so helpless as to be unable to drag one foot after the other. She now appears on the street, and says she is as well as ever in her life. And claims that after all other means had failed, she thanks Dodd's Kidney Pills for her unexpected cure.

AMERICAN CANOE ASSOCIATION.

A Very Successful Camp Held Under the Management of the Canadian Division.

The American Canoe Association closed its eighteenth annual camp at Grindstone Island, St. Lawrence river, on Friday evening, and it was by far one of the most successful meetings held since its foundation, both in regard to the number in attendance and also in the racing competitions.

As has usually been the case all the principal events have been carried off by Canadians, Mr. Chas. E. Archbald winning for the third time the coveted sailing cup, and Mr. D'Arcy Scott of Ottawa, was an easy winner of the chief paddling event. The latter event has caused our American cousins to show considerable jealousy as last year it was won by an American (Mr. Noack of Detriot) and as a result many are the aspirants to win it back, who have given the ordering of the trophy paddling canoes their serious consideration.

A number of changes have been recommended to the executive committee for consideration. One is that the limit for the paddling canoe class be changed so that the minimum dimensions for a canoe will be as follows: length 18 ft., breadth 30 inches, depth 12 inches. The Maximum being of the war canoe class was fixed at 35 ft in length and not less than 40 inches beam. These changes will be found in the right direction for the interest of the Association.

Now a few words as to who were there and the clubs represented. Commodore Mackendrick had a nice party consisting of Mrs. Mackendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Brailly, Miss Wilkinson and Mrs. Hawcken, of Toronto. The Toronto Canoe club had a splendid representation in Messrs. Geo. A. Howell, D. H. McDougall, T. H. McNicholl, Walter Begg and Mr. Sparrow. The latter stood all the troubles of the chairman of the Regatta Committee. Mrs. Sparrow and Miss Pearsall were the representative of the lady members of the club. Down at Squaw Point (the ladies' camp). One of the prettiest camps was that of Mr. H. M. Carpenter, of Sing Sing, N.Y., and at the Iron Pier a visitor was always sure of a refreshing greeting. Mr. and Mrs. Towne, of Holyoke, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Lansing, of Springfield, were general favourites. The jolliest crowd in camp was the Brooklyn canoe club which was the whole life of the camp. The veteran canoeist, Bob Walker, made himself very entertaing at the camp fires, but more particularly at Squaw Point. Mr. P. Hogan, of the same club, was in demand at every camp, while next year's commodore, Mr. F. L. Dumwell, was very popular. Mr. Pinkey, who was unfortunate in having sprained his ankle, was well looked after by Doc. Upham and Mr. Cutter. Mr. Lewis busied himself with making some very fine views of the camp. The Welsh rarebit parties of the Brooklyn push were the envy of the camp.

The Buffalo canoe club attended camp for the first time, and were the jolliest lot lot of fellows that have ever been in camp. They arrived in their war canoe, and under the careful supervision of Capt. Thorn, were well looked after. Ex-Commodore Huntingdon's camp was one of the favourite resorts of the camp. Farther around the point the Kingston boys camped and they made life glorious for all. Messrs. F. H. McWe, H. Kent and Mr. Kinghorn taking the visitors promptly in charge. While they were in camp, the Peterborough gentlemen, Messrs. McNee, Allen and Montgomery, who arrived on the Hustler, were the finest lot of entertainers that the camp has had the pleasure of seeing.

Next year it is hoped that Peterborough will have a large representation at the camp, which will likely be held in Canadian waters on Stave Island, below Gananoque, and already steps are being taken for the formation of a new club to ensure a large contingent at camp.

The Death of Daniel Adams.

The many friends of Mr. Daniel Adams, of Harvey, are much distressed over his present condition of health. Some five weeks ago Mr. Adams was laid off from his usual active life, a cancer having developed in his jaw. The dread disease has made much progress and is quite beyond all medical avail. Mr. Adams came from Wales about twenty years ago and with the assistance of a large and industrious family, has succeeded in making a comfortable home. He has been a man of most upright intentions and strict integrity, quaint and original in thought, and outspoken in his views. Socially he has been esteemed for his kindly, good natured disposition, and his precarious condition is a source of grief to all who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance. —Bobcaygeon Independent.

BRISISH SCIENTISTS VISIT RICE LAKE.

TO INSPECT THE SERPENT AND EGG MOUNDS AT ROACH'S POINT.

Stansbury Hager, Archæologist, of the Brooklyn Institute, is Greatly Interested, Having Previously Visited the only Other Similar Mound in America Down in Ohio.

On Saturday night a party composed of a number of the members of the British Association, which is now meeting in Toronto, arrived in town accompanied by Mr. David Boyle, Dominion Archæologist, for the purpose of viewing the Rice Lake serpent and egg mounds, which are supposed to have been created by a prehistoric people, now known as the "mound-builders," and in the tracing of whose earth-works present day archæologists are greatly interested.

Although the excursion from Toronto to Rice Lake was announced in the official programme of the Association, yet through mismanagement the trip was sadly bungled as in some way the impression got abroad that the visit to the mounds was to be postponed until later and in consequence the party was not nearly as large as anticipated.

Special arrangements for accommodation were made with the

and before retiring the party met Mr. Jack Martin, of the North Star, and chartered that "tight little, right little" steamer to convey them to Rice Lake next day.

At about half past nine Sunday morning the North Star steamed away south for the Lake, Mr. R. B. Rogers kindly seeing that the locks were opened on this special occasion.

At Harwood, where the Star stopped to wood up, the entire party paid a call on Mr. Merriam, who was found in his hunting lodge, and who is probably the best known trapper and fisher on the Rice Lake waters, having grown old at the work. From him Mr. Boyle secured a couple of old specimens of the old Indian utensils, carved in stone.

The steamer then bore away for Idyl Wyld, when Mine Host Spellman, although he did not expect the party, soon had a piping hot dinner on the table, which was hugely enjoyed, as the appetites were keen after the morning's trip down the river. After taking on board a number of guests from the Idyl Wyld hotel, the Star ran across the lake and through a hidden channel in the weeds to Roach's Point, where all disembarked and, headed by Mr. Boyle, went to inspect the serpentine mound.

One of the members of the party was archæologist of the Brooklyn Institute, and as he devotes the greater part of his time to research in connection with the habits and customs of the "mound builders" as well as of the different tribes of Indians, his views regarding the Rice Lake mound were eagerly awaited.

As to the genuineness of the mound he had no doubt whatever, and his interest was immediately awakened, as the only other mound of the particular variety known as the "serpent and egg" is located in Ohio, where Mr. Hager had spent some time examining it. These particular mounds, he states, were not used as fortifications, but evidently for some sacred purpose, and he strongly inclines to the belief that the mound builders were sun-worshippers, and that the "serpent and egg" mounds have reference in some way to the constellations, possibly the Pleiades. This contention is borne out by the fact that the two mounds referred to both seem to be constructed as nearly as can be ascertained on exactly the same plan, running to the same cardinal points. The Yucatan and Nova Scotia Indians also associate their worship with the constellations up to the present time. Another point of evidence is considered to lie in the fact that during the when the mound builders are supposed to have held their most sacred ordinances, the sun rises at a point directly opposite the tail of the serpent, when viewed from the head.

In the Ohio mound the egg is found between the extended jaws of the serpent, but the Rice Lake serpent on first sight would appear to have been constructed with its jaws closed, the head being indicated by a flattening of the mound and the egg being just in front of it. Mr. Hager, however, states that after carefully examining the ground, he thinks that at one time the Rice Lake serpent's jaws were also distended but that this part of the mound has been subsequently destroyed in some way.

The Ohio mound is higher and is situated on a bluff on the banks of the river. The serpent is a larger one and its tail makes several distinct circles. Another point of connection between the two mounds is that both seem to be associated with three hills in close proximity to them.

Prof. Putnam, of Harvard University, considers that these hills are indissolubly connected with the history of the erection of the Ohio mounds and therefore, as Mr. Hager points out the existence of hills in the same relation to the Rice Lake mounds will greatly strengthen Prof. Putnam's theory.

THROUGH PROF. PUTNAM'S

instrumentality the University of Harvard has purchased the site of the Ohio mounds and by making it into a park has preserved the mounds. Mr. Hager points out the necessity of something of the kind being done at Roach's Point, as curiosity-seekers are destroying the symmetry of the mound already by digging for curios in the sides.

These bones, which are found by digging, are not those, Mr. Hager says, of the mound builders, but of the Indians, who, finding the mound, and detecting that it was an artificial and not a natural earth-work, surmised that it had been built for some sacred purpose and themselves utilized it for a burying ground.

Mr. Hager was particularly struck with the appearance of the terrace, which runs around Roach's Point, and to which his attention was called by Mr. Harry Strickland. He does not think it is a natural terrace, as does Mr. Boyle, but is of the opinion that it was probably constructed by the mound builders for processional purposes. Just such a terrace was built by the Micmacs in Cape Breton, leading up to an old village and the resemblance is so striking that it was at once recalled by Mr. Hager.

After about half an hour's stay the party embarked again and after calling at Idyl Wyld, the North Star steamed away for home, arriving in Peterborough at about eight o'clock.

It is thought that a much larger party of the members of the British Association will be down from Toronto on either Wednesday or Thursday to visit the mounds, and as the spot is being visited almost daily by those interested in such matters, the following description of the place published in the EXAMINER last year, may not come amiss. In referring to Mr. Boyle on the occasion of his first trip to the mound it says:

His researches show the Rice lake region to be one of the most, if not the most, interesting in Ontario, in relation to archæological remains. In this sense this district extends, so far as research has been made, from Jubilee Point, on the north shore of Rice Lake and at the debouchement of the Otonabee River, on the west, to the mouth of the Trent River, on the east. This unique interest arises from the fact that this district is the meeting place of the mound and ossuary systems of aboriginal interment. The former, it is known, extends along the provincial water front from the vicinity of Montreal on the east, westward to the head of Rice Lake, while the system of ossuaries extends from Rice Lake westerly along the water front to Georgian Bay, as well as through many parts of Ontario south of Georgian Bay and Goderich.

The Rice Lake mound system embraces, so far as explored scientifically, about a dozen examples of this aboriginal predilection for elevated burial places. About a dozen so far have been identified and more or less explored by Mr. Boyle, of Rice Lake. Beginning at the west and excluding one reputed mound on the west side of the Otonabee at its mouth, there are four mounds situated on the farm of Mr. James Miller, of Keene, on the Mowhawk Reserve, about a mile and a half west of the church in Hiawatha, the village of the Reserve. All these mounds contain human remains, and two strata of these—one prehistoric and one dating since the later occupation of the country. One of these mounds is unique, as occupying a low position in a valley at the foot of the slope containing the other mounds; but it is well defined, both as to elevation and contour. Peculiar interest attaches to this which has been named the "Shell Mound" of the group, from the fact of a peculiar shell having been found among the osseous and other contents. This was the shell of a busycon, rudely shaped in the form of a turtle and crudely ornamented with engraved figures, the most significant of which was the central one, consisting of two concentric circles, drawn with evident ignorance or disregard of the value of the value of centric and circumferential points as aids to symmetrical results. The other three mounds in this group were similar in character and contents to the valley mound, save the shell incident.

About five miles eastward along the north shore, on Roach's Point, near the mouth of the Indian River, a bold point, almost a bluff, contains seven mounds. Six of these are of the normal type, but the seventh—a significant number—is remarkable as being one of the only two undoubtedly certain serpent mounds so far discovered on this continent.

The serpent and egg mound is one of the most unique and interesting features of archæological occurrence in this country. These mounds are found commonly in the remains of Europe and the old world, and are regarded as evidences of the prevalence of serpent worship, one of the earliest forms of adoration amongst primitive peoples, suggestive of religious reminiscence of the serpent incident of Eden, doubtless the germ idea of this form of worship. Hence it came that serpent and egg mounds—the one the symbol, in various forms, of eternity and the other, the egg—as it is to this day even amongst Christian peoples—the symbol of life or reproduction. The serpent as a concrete expression of the idea of

is also found in the rude sculptures, temples, etc., of archaic peoples. Hence it is a matter of deepest interest that the presence of a serpent and egg mound on this continent such as the Otonabee mound identified by Mr. Boyle, should prove the truth of Shakspeare's words, that "one touch of nature makes the whole world kin;" that the oneness of untutored human aspirations after god-like objects of veneration should almost instinctively suggest the same forms, those of the egg and serpent; that, in fine, of one blood God created all the nations of the earth.

The serpent and egg mound at Roach's Point is a most interesting monument; it has been an object of popular curiosity for years and was regarded variously as the remains of a fort or a simple burial place. It has been explored for a long time at intervals in a desultory way, for the mere sake of getting bones, and no doubt with the expectation of securing some objects of value, possibly of gold or silver. But it is as well, in order to check the vandalism of wanton destruction of these monuments to state Mr. Boyle's assertion that there is nothing of monetary value to be found in any of these mounds—nothing but bones and a few pipes or other remains of only scientific or archæological value.

Up to the date of Mr. Boyle's visit there was no idea that the mound had any peculiar significance. Mr. Boyle first saw it without any preconceptions as to its true character as a serpent and egg mound. He visited the locality for the purpose of exploring the numerous ordinary mounds that exist all over the neighbourhood, and the fact of its true character was literally forced upon him. The situation of the mound in relation to the vicinity, as well as its tortuous shape, forbade the possibility of its being considered a fortification—it would afford no defence by its position. He was standing on the top of the mound at its western end and studying its length, when its serpentine character suddenly presented itself and further investigation led him to that the structure, which afforded unmistakeable evidence of artificial character was a veritable serpent and egg mound, the cis-Atlantic counterpart of somewhat similar mounds that abound in the Old World. He was further convinced by a simple test. An Indian of the vicinity, who had just landed from his canoe, came to where Mr. Boyle was standing and the native was asked what the mound looked like. After a careful survey of the structure from Mr. Boyle's point of view he replied that it looked like a snake. To ascertain if its internal character corroborated the evidence of the outside, Mr. Boyle caused excavations to be made in such a way as to disclose the fact that the mound was of artificial formation. A face of a section was carefully smoothed and the mottled appearance indicated that the mound had been built up of small portions of soil deposited by different workers and procured from different places, and consequently of different characters and colours. There was an entire absence of regular stratification, such as is invariably found in mounds of natural formation, and in addition, at the base of the mound the vegetable mould was found continuous with the uncovered mould outside the mound at its base.

This mound is situated about 300 feet, measuring on the slope, above the lake shore, and about 75 feet above its level, and lies in a due east and west direction. The serpent is 190 feet in length from the head to the tip of the tail. In front of the head and 25 feet distant is the "egg," 35 x 40 feet. The height of the body is an average of four or five feet, though the surface is somewhat uneven, owing to the removal of soil caused by the uprooting of a large oak tree, several of which grow on the top of the mound. The serpentine shape is VERY DECIDEDLY MARKED.

The sinuosities occur at regular intervals of 40 feet, and the head itself is of about the same length. Exploration of the interior disclosed the presence of several skeletons, both prehistoric and modern—or intrusive—and similar skeletons were found in a slightly enlarged portion of the body about forty feet from the tip of the tail. The presence of skeletons at this point and the increased size of the body near the tail have a most interesting symbolical significance, which will be referred to later. In addition to the double layer of skeletons found in the head and near the tail, there were several found in the egg, the prehistoric or lower skeletons, having been buried in a sitting position and the recent "intrusive" skeletons had been placed on the side with the knees drawn upwards towards the chin.

Mr. Boyle, after a careful study of the situation, comes to the conclusion that the mound at Roach's Point is a genuine example of the serpent and egg mound and analagous to similar ones found in the old world. He is most positive in his belief of the absolute genuineness of what he has named the "Otonabee serpent and egg mound." He regards it as a discovery of the greatest archæological importance. Surveys of the mound and its surroundings will at once be made with a view of preparing an exact model of this interesting monument of a prehistoric people on this continent.

In the vicinity of this mound at Roach's Point are found several other mounds of the ordinary character, similar to those on the Miller farm referred to above. In these were found both ancient and modern skeletons, but nothing of special importance, except a skull which had the phenomenon of an extra suture of the occipital bone, which defined a portion of it, altogether too large to be considered a Wormian bone.

OTTAWA EXHIBITION.

The Central Canada Fair directors are securing a splendid list of special attractions for the exhibition at Ottawa, commencing September 17th. The artists already engaged include the three Richards, the acrobatic stars of the stage; the Vaidi twin sisters, aerial performers; the Labrosas, comedy Roman ring performers; the Barrett trio, acrobatic comedians; Potter and Zamora, trapeze artists; Guy Bros. minstrels, twenty-five in number, the famous Rossow midgets; Lowell & Lowell, eccentrique personification of elasticity. Visitors to the fair will be able to see all these and other novel and entertaining specialties to be secured each afternoon and evening, in addition to the night spectacular and exhibition proper for the 25 cents admission fee. The fireworks displays in connection with the production of the "Taking of the Bastile" at nights will be the grandest ever seen in Ottawa. As there will be cheap excursions on all railways, none should miss seeing Ottawa's great Fair.

The famous Guy Brothers, minstrels, twenty-five in number, are among the special stage attractions secured for the Ottawa Fair next month. This company is one of the best minstrel troupes travelling in America to-day, and their performance alone is worth more than the price of admission to the fair grounds. The Rossow midgets, the smallest men in the world, and many other renowned artists, have also been engaged for the Fair, the special attractions of which will be the most novel and entertaining to be seen at any Fair in Canada.

Prize winners at the Fair this year will be presented with handsome jubilee badges in addition to the usual cards.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

MINERS GREW DESPERATE.

They Threatened to Shed Blood Unless Agreements Previously Made Were Carried Out.

Camp Lake Linderman, Northwest Territory, Aug. 8, via Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—[Copyright by James D. Hoge, Jr., for P. I. Alaskan News Syndicate.]—This has been a day of excitement on the Skagaway trail. Determined men who considered that their rights had been trampled upon drew their rifles and threatened to shed human blood unless certain agreements heretofore made were fulfilled. The men are men of the character who tolerate no deception and are willing to fight for their rights, and this afternoon their mettle was put to test and they exhibited true nerves of steel and won the day. The trouble originated about the packing of miners' supplies from Dyea to Lake Bennett. The trail was finished a few days ago. The promoters or openers of the road, it appears, had promised to take supplies to the lakes for 15 cents a pound if the miners would turn out in a body and assist in clearing the trail and corduroying the roadbed. The proposition was accepted and fulfilled. The arrival of several hundreds of speculators from Seattle, with nearly 250 tons of supplies caused the rate to advance to $25 a hundred weight. The packers ignored their former verbal agreement and began soliciting business at the new schedule of rates. Much of the supplies had been taken half way and left by the roadside before the trail was completed. The men had worked hard and faithfully from early morning until late at night, and, in sullen silence, mixed with not a little tinge of disgust, not to make use of a harder term, saw the newcomers passing over the trail and toward the gold fields of the north.

An informal miners' meeting convened. The situation was calmly and deliberately discussed, and the utmost order prevailed. Not a man flinched when the chairman asked if all present would abide by the action of the majority, and every prospector present, who had contributed his allotment toward opening the trail, signified his willingness to act as directed by the meeting. A committee was appointed and reported ack recommending that the packers be forced to live up to their agreement by the use of firearms. Not a dissenting voice was raised. The assemblage adjourned, and in an hour 100 determined and wronged men, armed with Winchesters, shotguns, pistols and pick-handles, stood by the roadside and halted the packers as it was returning to Skagaway from the mines for another load of supplies at 25 cents per pound.

"Halt!" came the command in clear and ringing tones, and 50 head of pack horses came to a standstill. The situation was explained to the head packer. At first he was inclined to pass on and obey the commands of his employers, but the sight of arms in the hands of determined men changed his opinion. The horses were turned about and new packs placed on their backs, and started for the lakes. In a short time the supplies were landed at Lake Bennett, and the packers were paid at the rate of $15 a hundred, and the men were careful to see that no one other than those who assisted in the opening of the trail were allowed to have their goods carried at that rate. In this manner ended the first real exciting event of the Klondike rush.

The Canadian customs officers have established a custom house at the arm between Tagish and Bennett Lakes, and are inspecting all miners' supplies entering the Northwest Territory. Duty is not exacted on ordinary and necessary supplies, consisting of plain, common food and clothing, weighing 1000 pounds or less. It is reckoned that that amount will last a miner one year. The officers are inclined to act in an impartial manner and free from discrimination. They are particularly after the liquor and tobacco smugglers, and the supposed to have already seized a considerable amount of whisky. The officers are determined to put a stop to this class of smuggling, and will use every effort to promote to immigration of American miners for the purpose of development of Canadian territory.

From 0 to 30 persons in large boats and scows, which have an average carrying capacity of 4000 pounds, and six or seven persons, are leaving every day for the Stewart River and the Klondike mines. Hndreds of people have landed on the coast with from 800 to 1200 pounds of supplies, but when they reached here they discarded about 500 pounds, and that has been about the average each man has taken during the last few weeks when leaving for the mines. Boats that are ordinarily worth $40 or $50, are selling for $150, and any kind of skilled carpenter labor is worth from $6 to $8 a day. Provisions are very high. The cost of packing from Dyea has advanced to 27 cents a pound. The cost of a sack of flour, laid down here, is about $17, and one sack sold yesterday for $25. A man cannot get a meal of bacon, bread and coffee at Lake Linderman for less than $1.25, and is fortunate if he gets it at that price.

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SALADS AS A DAILY DIET.

Most Wholesome Food and Should Be Eaten Every Day.

"The beauty and wholesomeness of the salad should commend it to every housekeeper," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer in her cooking lesson on "The Missing of Salads," in The Ladies' Home Journal. "I do not refer to those highly-seasoned combinations of hard-boiled eggs and mustard, but to dainty or luncheon salads, made with a dressing of olive oil, a few drops of lemon juice, and a light seasoning of salt, garlic and pepper.

"The salts necessary for the well being of our blood are bountifully given in these green vegetables; then, too, it is a pleasant way of taking fatty food. All machinery must be well oiled to prevent friction, and the wonderful human [illegible] is not an exception to the rule. [illegible]refully to it that you take sufficient fatty food.

"We do not use enough oil to keep them in perfect health. While butter is served in some families three times a day, and is better than no fat, its composition is rather against it as compared to a sweet vegetable oil. Fats well digested are the salvation of consumptives or those suffering from any form of tuberculosis. For these reasons a simple salad composed of any green vegetable and a French dressing, should be seen on every well-regulated table three hundred and sixty-five times a year. Those who live out of town can obtain from the fields sorrel, long docks, dandelions and lamb's quarters, for the cost of picking. Where desserts are not used, and I wish, for health's sake, they might be abolished, a salad with a bit of cheese and bread, or wafer, or cracker, with a small cup of coffee, may close the meal. Where a dessert is used the salad, cheese and wafer are served just before it, to prick up the appetite that it may enjoy more fully the sweet. At a large dinner the salad is usually served with the game course."

To make French dressing put a half teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a spoonful of white pepper into a bowl; add gradually six teaspoonfuls of olive oil. Rub until the salt is dissolved, and then add one tablespoonful of vinegar or lemon juice. Beat well for a moment and it is ready to use. It is much better if used at once. Cream dressing is made by heating a gill of good cream. Moisten a tablespoonful of cornstarch with a little cold milk; add it to the hot cream, cook a moment, then stir in the well beaten yolks of two eggs. Take from the fire; add a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, and a tablespoonful of vinegar or lemon juice.

Put the uncooked yolks of two eggs into a clean, cold soup-dish, then add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne pepper; work these well together, and then add, drop by drop, half a pint or more of olive oil. You must stir rapidly and steadily while adding the oil. After adding one gill of oil, alternate occasionally with a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar. The more oil you use the thicker the dressing. If too thick add a half teaspoonful or more of vinegar until the proper consistency. More or less oil may be added according to the quantity of dressing desired.

Things We Ought to Know.

That nausea and indigestion may be greatly relieved by taking a cup of hot water before meals.

That a glass which has held milk should be first rinsed in cold water before washing.

That sliced tomatoes dipped in a batter and then fried make a delicious entree.

That no one should wear the same undergarments at night that they do during the day.

That women may frequently cure themselves of nervousness by plenty of outdoor exercise.

That the surroundings of children have a great deal to do with forming their character.

That the boys like pretty things and tidy rooms just as well as the girls, although they won't admit it.

That an old bedstead which is shabby may be greatly beautified by the judicious use of a little pair of delicate color, and a coat of enamel.

That many a boy ruins his prospects for life by thinking that people do not notice the kind of companions he chooses.

That after cleaning silver it should be rubbed with the juice of a lemon. It will then take on that clear white color so desirable.

That if glasses are laid sidewise in hot water they are not apt to break.

That a little lemon juice squeezed over strawberries before the sugar is sprinkled over them gives a delicious flavor.

That lamp wicks should be rubbed, not cut.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Funny Without Knowing It.

Debate in the British House of Commons is ordinarily conducted in a low, conversational tone. Not long ago a burly military member who was not accustomed to public speaking, delivered an excited harangue on the exile of the Guards of Gibraltar, and nearly emptied the House by the violence of his shouting.

It was like the breath of a roaring blast furnace, and every word seemed to crackle with explosive energy. Members in the benches were at first amused by his unnecessary fervor and finally wearied by his noisy, ear-splitting declamation. Drawing himself up to his full height, and speaking in tones which were fairly deafening, he shouted:

"If I may be allowed to whisper in the ear of the government—"

He was not allowed to go on. The members burst into a loud guffaw of laughter, which drowned his voice and seriously disconcerted him. When it was perceived, from his look of astonishment, that he was unconscious of the real cause of amusement, they laughed again, even more heartily than they had laughed before.

Unconscious humor is not always appreciated. When Herr Bickbert, not long ago, turned contemptuously toward the German Ministers and cried out: "Why hear nothing upon the Ministerial benches—nothing but profound silence!" no member moved a muscle and nobody laughed. Yet whispering in thunder tones was scarcely more ludicrous than hearing profound silence.

O'Connell's most famous Irish bull was delivered at a public meeting in London, and passed unnoticed until the speech was in print. He asserted that the birth rate in Dublin had diminished by 5000 a year for four years, and added, solemnly:

"I charge the British Government with the murder of those 20,000 infants who never were born."

Nothing could have been more absurd, yet there was not a sign of appreciation from the audience that the great orator had been unconsciously funny.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

There is no music like the melody of health. When every life-string is in perfect tune, and the pure, rich, red blood dances through the arteries to the quick step of health, life is truly worth living. But the human body is the most delicate and intricate of all instruments. Just one little string out of tune will make a general discord. The body may apparently be in the best of order in every way, save that there is a slight disorder of the digestion. The sufferer hardly notices it, and does not think it worth troubling about. It is just one little string out of order, but it soon puts every organ in the body into a jangling discord. The blood no longer receives the proper supply of life-giving elements with which to build up new and healthy tissue. Instead it receives the poisons thrown off by improperly digested food and the effete material with which the intestines are clogged. Diseases of the blood and skin or wasting diseases like consumption are the result.

The best of all known medicines is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It keeps every life-string in perfect tune. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It invigorates the liver. It makes the appetite hearty and keen and assimilation perfect. It fills the blood with the vital elements that build new and healthy tissues, firm muscles, and strong, vibrating nerve fibers. Acting through the blood it tears down inert, half-dead tissues and causes them to be carried off and excreted. It acts upon every organ of the body driving out impurities and disease-germs. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures every kind of humor from the common simple blotch or eruption to scrofula. It cures eczema, salt-rheum, and all skin affections. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Thousands have testified to its wonderful merits. All good druggists sell it.

WAIST TRIMMING, SKIRT MAKING.

A Few Practical Hints for Home Dressmaking.

A writer in The Woman's Home Companion gives a few practical hints on waist trimming and skirt making.

In trimming the waist, if the figure is long, tapering and slender, almost any style of trimming may be used, and can be put on in almost any way that pleases the fancy of the wearer. But if the figure be short and stout always trim with an up-and-down effect running in toward the waist line, and as far out at the shoulder as can be worn, avoiding belted effects. In this same figure the basque made short on the hips and pointed back and front, with a very flat finish around the bottom, is the only consistent style, and helps out the short, thick look amazingly.

Braided gowns, or those having applied trimming, such as galloons, passementeries, or gimps, should have a lining of crinoline or canvas under the portion of the cloth bearing the trimming.

The province of trimming is to ornament, so never be guilty of overtrimming, which always detracts from the tout ensemble. Trimming is a law unto itself, and must be done essentially. Do not use splendid trimmings for inferior dress goods, nor shoddy trimmings for rich materials.

In using lace as trimming never gather it so much that the pattern is disturbed and lost to sight. And always remember that dainty, fine laces are out of harmony with coarse materials. While ribbon bows are so much used as a trimming, a word of assistance in their construction may be of use to our readers. We all know the French woman's natural knack and taste at bow-making, so why not follow her simple, practical method? She never cuts her ribbon, but uses one piece, unless she happens to have a lot of short ends, which for economy's sake she uses. She folds her loops with not too much precision, and holds them in place by twisting fine thread wire tightly around them. She then gives each loop a pert little touch, shapes the ends and she has an ideal bow. She never ties or sews her bow. If she wishes the loops to sit out bouffantly she puts a flat ribbon wire under the ribbon as she bows it up, but with the first quality of ribbon the centre will keep the loops crisp looking.

The chief things to remember about cutting dress skirts are not to stretch gored edges and to make allowance for the way in which the intended wearer habitually carries herself. As a rule, when being fitted one is likely to take on an unnaturally upright pose, for which one must allow. The effect of the best made and hung skirt is ruined if the wearer stands and walks with her weight thrown on her heels, with abdomen and hips thrown forward, which invariably throws the skirt up in front and down in the back. In lining a skirt always stretch the outside to prevent bagging in the dress material. Never in any case make your lining tighter than the outside. Skirts must be fitted by shaping the front and side gores, either goring or taking darts in the lining near the waist line, so as to make every seam hang in a vertical line from the waist to the foot. Many skirts are ruined by carrying the seams to far back at the top, where the belt is attached, which twists the seams out of line. Each seam must represent a perfect line from top to bottom, curved of course, but not stretched or stitched out of shape. Skirt seams do not have the same strain of bodice seams, and set much better if a long stitch is employed. All seams should be stretched to the full extent of their straight selvedge in stitching, as the seam passes under the machine presser foot, but never stretch the goods edge which means ruination. Seams must be well opened and pressed firmly, but not ironed. Facings of canvas in haircloth in skirts that are not lined throughout should be seamed separately, have the seams pressed open, and turned toward the dress when applied. Street dresses usually outwear more than one binding, so it makes repairing much less complicated if the skirt is finished completely before the binding of braid or velveteen is applied. Do this by turning the raw edges in toward each other and filling the lining to the outside just above the edge of the latter, as it folds over on the under side of the skirt. The bindings now most used are worsted or silk braids, having one edge finished with a cord of the same, which are easily applied, and add to rather than detract from the appearance of the skirt.

The break in so many skirts when the wearer steps is usually due to the facing being too deep. The depth of a facing must be regulated according to the measurement of the wearer from the knee down, using it narrow for the short woman and wider for the taller one.

The Most Costly Silk.

It is said that the highest price ever paid in these modern days for silk goods was given by the Empress of Germany last year, when she ordered at Lyons, France, a quantity of white silk, with bold sprays of flowers, foliage and plumaged birds in relief. The stuff was specially ordered for a state gown for the Empress, but when Her Majesty received it, she declared it far too beautiful to cut up, and commanded that curtains should be made of it. One weaver alone was capable of producing this masterpiece, and it took him many long months to complete a piece of sufficient length for a gown. The wages he received, in addition to his ordinary pay, were at the rate of 100 francs ($20) per yard, the eventual price of the brocade being 600 francs ($120 per yard. Up to that date the most expensive material on record was the cloth of gold bought for Louis XIV. for a dressing gown, the cost of which, according to modern reckoning, was the respectable sum of 414 francs per metre.

An Effective Bit of Decoration.

A portiere that has bright colors or something else striking about it is most effective in a hallway, or where little or no sunlight comes. An inexpensive but desirable portiere may be made of burlap. Make a 12-inch trimming or border a little distance from the top of the hanging and the second border half a yard from the bottom. Make this border by pulling out half a dozen of the strands across the material, leaving a space and pulling out half a dozen more. Repeat this until the width of border desired is obtained. With differently colored wools button-hole each edge of the threads with irregular stitches, fasten the threads together in little clusters with a couple of stitches with the wool, letting it run from one cluster to the next. Bright beads and sequins strung upon the woods and fastened in, shit and miss, add much to the appearance of the hanging, giving it quite an oriental look.

New Color Names.

If the latest additions to the nomenclature of fashionable colors be generally adopted by milliners and dressmakers ladies will be much puzzled when they come to choose their hats and gowns for early autumn wear. Thus it appears that manufacturers are offering to the wholesale buyers reds distinguished as sport, Cretan and Athenian. Golf and spiritism are new shades of blue, some exceedingly brilliant greens have been denominated the asparagus and the Erin, and silvery greys are to be known as aluminium and nickel. Grandmere is a lavender tint, and recent events in the States have made a distinction in yellows as dollar gold and McKinley. Josephat is hardly suggestive, but it means a grass green; apotheosis is a pink, and reramier is an orange.—London Daily Telegraph.

Superstitions of Miners.

In the gold mining districts of this country there is a superstition that the discoverers of great mines always come to violent ends, says The Idaho Messenger. It is said the belief is founded on the fact that the finders of forty of the richest mines in the world have died in this way, twelve being shot, three engulfed in their mines and the rest unaccountably disappearing. George H. Fryer of the Fryer Hill mine, committed suicide. Two years before his death he was worth a million, yet the authorities buried him. The discoverer of the Standard mine in California was killed by an avalanche; Colonel Storey was killed by the Indians; William Fairweather of the Alder Gulch mines came to his death through riotous living. The owner of the Homestake mine turned highwayman. He was shot dead. John Horner of the Horner mine, finding himself penniless, shot himself. "Doughnut Bill," "Old Eureka," and "Nine-mile Clarke" were killed in barroom rows, and Montana Plummer, who found one of the richest mines in the world, died on the gallows. "Dutch William," the discoverer of gold in Caribou, British Columbia, after whom the famous William Creek was named, died a pauper, and Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California, was a pensioner of the State some time before his death.

A Good Idea.

A large funnel that fits into the mouth of preserve jars will be found of great assistance to the housekeeper at this season of canning and preserving. With the aid of this funnel the jars are easily filled, and there is no fruit spoiled by the fruit being on the outside instead of the inside of the jars.

ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS

How to Tell What Cows Are Afflicted With the Disease.

H. P. Miller of Ohio says that tuberculosis is one of the most dangerous diseases to be found in the cow stable and one about which people know too little. This disease in cattle is identical with consumption in the human family and is transmissible from man to cattle and vice versa. The tuberculin test so generally used now for determining what animals may be diseased is based upon the knowledge that the disease is produced by bacteria, or by millions of them rather, and the theory that they produce disease by developing a poisonous substance in the system. The tuberculin used in making the test, is simply a beef broth solution of this bacterial toxine, secured by growing the bacilli in beef broth and straining out the bacilli through a procelain dish. It was found that a small amount of the tuberculin introduced into the circulation of a tuberculous cow induced fever, a rise of two degrees in temperature being considered indicative of the presence of the disease. The test is not infallible, but reasonably sure. The instruments used are a hypodermic syringe, and a thermometer for each ten cows, and an extra one to replace broken ones. The first day one man to each 20 cows and one man to keep the record are needed. The second day it requires one man to each ten cows to take the temperature. It requires accuracy, but no special skill. Temperatures have to be taken from six in the morning until twelve at night, each day. If the tuberculin test proves all that is claimed for it (there are some skeptics) the day is coming when all cows will be tested and the liability of families contracting consumption or other diseases from tubercukous cows will be lessened.—Dakota Field and Farm.

Scrofula is a word you don't quite understand, but if you talk with your doctor, he will tell you that it is generally believed to be due to the same cause which gives rise to Consumption. It appears mostly in those who are fat-starved and thin, usually in early life. A course of treatment of Scott's Emulsion with the Hypophosites wherever Scrofula manifests itself, will prevent the development of the disease. Let us send you a book. Free.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. LATEST GOLD NEWS.

Steamer Just Arrived at Seattle From Dyea.

ANOTHER RICH DISTRICT FOUND.

It is Sixty Miles North of Klondike and is Said to be the Richest Yet—One Man Who Has $160,000—Plenty of Food at Dawson City.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 22.—The steamer George E. Starr arrived at her dock to-day from Dyea and Skaguay and was met by a great crowd, it having been reported that several men from Klondike, having made their way to salt water overland, were on board. This report proved true, but the interest centred in the appearance of one passenger, Ed. Thorp, who was expected to come down on the Portland, and who is reported to have somewhere in the neighborhood of $130,000 in Klondike gold in his possession. Thorp and his companions talked, but it is impossible to get anything definite from them. Willis Thorp, the father of Ed Thorp, received a letter a few days ago on the Alki from his son, saying that he had $130,000 in gold, at least that is what Willis Thorp is alleged to have told his friends, but now he and his three companions on the Starr unite on only one point in telling their story, and that is that they have $20,000 between them.

RICHER THAN KLONDIKE.

A Strike Made on an Unnamed Creek Sixty Miles Above the Former Placers in the Yukon.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 21.—A strike that is credited with being fabulously rich has been made on an unnamed creek sixty miles above Klondike.

Forty-seven pounds of gold was taken from the discovery hole, and there has been a rush of the luckless ones from Klondike to the new diggings.

News of the discovery reached Juneau Aug. 7, in a letter written on June 22 by James O'Brien to W. H. Hindle.

O'Brien in his brief letter declares that six of the streams tributary to the Klondike have proven richer than the most sanguine had predicted, and that their output, with the new discovery, more than redeems the gold promises of the Klondike.

O'Brien says that the news of the find above Klondike had only reached Dawson, but that he saw one steamer pull out for the new diggings with 140 men on board. O'Brien predicted in his letter that food would be very scarce, and supplies that are being rushed will be welcomed at any cost. O'Brien bluntly declares that Adams' Creek is no good.

Hindle is interested in the mines with O'Brien, and says he is a reliable man. He testified his faith in the report of his partner by outfitting and leaving at once for the new district by way of Dyea and the Chilkoot. Hindle's letter rekindled the fires of interest in Juneau, and he will be followed by a large number of prospectors, who hesitated at the Alps-like gateway at the Lynn Canal. O'Brien says the creek on which the discoveries have been made is near Stewart River, where partially confirmed reports from Skaguay say other rich strikes have been made.

To Klondike by Iceboat.

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Ice yachting on the Yukon may be a feature of the Klondike rush. The steamer Navarro, which is billed to sail next Wednesday for St. Michael, will take in tow the river steamer Thomas Dwyer, in which it is proposed to make the trip up the Yukon.

The Dwyer only draws 18 inches of water, and can get over any of the sand bars in the river. In the event, however, that she should be caught in the ice the passengers will finish their trip to the Eldorado on iceboats.

Three Hudson River boats have been purchased by the promoters of the expedition, and it is intended to try this mode of travel if the river freezes before the Dwyer reaches Dawson.

Only seventy-five passengers will be booked on the Navarro, and they will start next Wednesday, according to the statements of the agents, even if she has not the full number, the purpose of the voyage being to carry a large consignment of provisions to St. Michael and Dawson.

A special correspondent of The Bulletin, writing from Juneau, Alaska, under date of Aug. 11, says that railroad communication between Juneau and Dawson will be one of the things of the near future. Next spring 5000 men will be at work, and the road will probably be completed before next fall. The proposed road is to start from the head of steamboat navigation in Taku River and run to Lake Teslin. Light draught steamboats will be operated from each end of the new road, and it will take four days to make the journey from Juneau to Dawson. There is a surveying party already in the field, consisting of W. A. Pratt of Wilmington, Del., chief engineer of the Yukon Mining, Trading & Transportation projected railroad; T. C. Jenney, assistant engineer; P. J. Hacker, promoter of the road, and A. E. Johnson, his assistant. Another road is being surveyed to start from Skagway Bay, crossing the White Pass. This road will be built by an English company.

PLENTY OF FOOD AT DAWSON CITY.

Eight Thousand Tons of Supplies There and More Going In.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 22.—The steamer Jewett, which left Portland in June for St. Michael, carrying a load of provisions for the Yukon trading posts, returned Friday to Gray's harbor to load Empire. Capt. Johnson says there has been a large amount of provisions sent in to Dawson City this summer.

When he left St. Michael there were 8000 tons of supplies at that point awaiting transportation up the river. The bulk of this was bound for Dawson City, very little being billed for other places. It has been shipped there mostly by trading and transportation companies, and, according to reports of the quantity of supplies en route, there is little danger of starvation among the miners during the winter.

From the number of vessels that have since landed at St. Michael with large consignments of freight it is probable that 8000 tons more are either on the way to Dawson City or will soon be forwarded. The facilities for carrying freight up from the river's mouth seem to be sufficient. From St. Micheal the supplies are loaded on barges and towed up the river on boats to the gold fields. The Jewett left St. Michael July 17. Capt. Johnson says when he departed there was very little gold then awaiting transportation from that point, nearly all having come down on the steamers Portland and Excelsior. But the prospects of a large quantity being sent out this month are very favorable.

The Holly brothers, Frank and Walter, of Polo, Ogle county, Ill., left Buckley, this county, a few days ago for a prospecting expedition into Mount Tacoma. Walter has returned, carrying the dead body of Frank. He had brought the body 35 miles through a jungle of fir trees and brush, and when he arrived at Buckley he was nearly dead. For two days and nights he had been trudging along in the forest with his dead brother, who was accidentally shot in the head with his own gun on Wednesday.

VICTORIA IS EXCITED.

One Man From the Stewart River Region Brought Down $160,000, All From His Own Labor.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 21.—The reported rich strikes on or near the headwaters of the Stewart River are a cause of great excitement here and while some, owing to the indefiniteness of the information, are inclined to question its reliability, the selfsame doubters are the first to act upon its probability.

The news that came in on the steamer George E. Starr yesterday added to their zeal. A small party of pioneer miners of the Stewart River had crossed the pass and taken the steamer at Skaguay for Seattle. One of the number brings with him no less than $160,000 in dust, the proceeds of his own labor only. He also reports that a party of Victoria miners have been quite as successful as he, and that millions in yellow gold will be coming down within the next few months. Other reports coming in on the Starr are to the effect that even the fabulous Klondike is now neglected, the miners rushing from there to the Stewart, where even larger fortunes are to be made in infinitely shorter time.

Clarence Berry's luck fades into comparative insignificance beside that of this later Croesus, who, according to present advices, made his pile in a few months.

The Stewart River has always been known as a waterway rich in alluvial deposits, and all the miners who have followed gold rumors from one Alaskan stream to another are unanimous that had it not been for the difficulty experienced in the past in getting in supplies, the Stewart River would offer prospectors a far more tempting field than the Yukon proper or any of its more southerly tributaries.

The Stewart, too, is very highly spoken of in Ogilvie's recent reports on the gold-bearing rivers of Alaska, and in the identical territory described as the scene of this late great strike the Government of the Dominion a few months ago received a proposition to lease a monopoly of the mining privileges. The proposal emanated from a number of retiring officers of the mounted police, who, during their two years' service in the North, had not been closing their eyes to the dips that suggested a fortune in the future. The scheme to gain for a private company the exclusive rights of the district was accompanied by a strong protest, and it consequently fell through.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

The members of the Peterboroughs are again warned that the date of the semi-finals may be announced any day and they should practice every night this week. The probabilities are that either Stouffville or Markham will be ordered to play here on Friday next or on the following Monday at the latest. If a semi-final game is not ordered a strong outside team will be brought here for an exhibition match immediately.

BASEBALL.

The Park Nine has been practicing hard and are in fine shape for their game against Cobourg at Jubilee Point on Wednesday next. It is too bad that Cobourg cannot be persuaded to send a team to Peterborough to play. Perhaps it can be arranged on Wednesday.

The game between the printers and the Park Nine on Friday next will be "a corker."

CRICKET.

It is expected that a team from Lindsay will be in Peterborough in the near future for a game.

The local Cricket club regrets to announce that the Montreal team will not be here as was announced. The Montrealers were going to give Peterborough a day on their way to or from Toronto, but at the last minute Toronto telegraphed them to the effect that a team could not be gotten together to meet them. Hence the trip was declared off.

The Peterborough club purposes going to Campbellford for a game this week.

THE WHEEL.

The champion Canadian professional tandem team, McLeod and Harley Davidson, have been engaged to pace T. B. McCarthy in the final heats of his heats against Jimmy Michael at the Island track, Toronto, next Wednesday evening. Michael, who is expected in that city on Sunday, will probably bring with him his crack triplet and a couple of tandem team.

The very latest bicycle invention is the breeches with the pneumatic seat. They were patented last week by William R. Isaacs of Philadelphia. You can blow the seat up with a tube just like a tire, and the happy result is that you can make yourself fit any kind of a saddle. Even if the latter have a surface of spikes it will accommodate itself to your shape.

MILLBROOK'S BICYCLE MEET.

Great preparations are being made in Millbrook for the bicycle meet which takes place in the driving park on Thursday, Aug. 23rd. The track is one-third of a mile, and has been prepared and is now in good condition. Prizes to the value of $175 will be awarded. The entries will be as follows:

1 mile novice—1 $20, 2 $10, 3 $5.
1 mile open—1 $20, 2 $10, 3 $5.
Boys' race, under 16—1 $10, 2 $5, 3 $3.
Half mile open, in heats, 2 and 3—1 $15, 2 $10.
2 mile handicap, open to Cavan and Millbrook—1 $12, 2 $6, 3 $3.
3 mile open, handicap—1 $12, 2 $6, 3 $3.
Consolation—1 $10, 2 $5.

Entries must be made to the secretary not later than Wednesday, Aug. 25th, at 1 p.m. Entrance fee 50 cents in each event. Millbrook band will be in attendance. Admission to grounds 10 cents.

The prizes are now on exhibition in the window of Messrs. Coombs & Burnham, and are undoubtedly the most valuable lot of prizes that have been offered in this district.

The secretary is already in receipt of a number of entries from outside places, and judging from the manner in which the committee is pushing the matter, it will certainly be a meet worth attending.

The secretary is Mr. Henry M Wood and Mr. Geo. A. Duncan is treasurer.

THE TRIGGER.

The attention of our local sports is called to the game laws, which protect killdeer and other kinds of plover until Sept. 15th. Meadow larks are also protected by the Insectivorous Birds' Act, and cannot be taken at any time without a special permit. Herons, cranes and bitterns are also protected by the same act.

THE COBOURG MEETING.

On Friday Kitty Carver won the 2.29 trot in a seven-heat race and Kinsa got second money and Statatum third. Lady Alexander, Nettie P., Wheel of Fortune, Marion J., Waxford, Jun., and J. P. B. also ran.

Ravenscroft won the second race in straight heats, Furioso second and Jimmy Skean third.

Master Fred won the three-quarter mile heat race, with Meadowbrook second and Chester third. Time, 1.20, 1.21.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

OAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

A DROP IN WHEAT.

But Still the Dollar Mark is Pretty Safe.

ALL EUROPE FEELS THE IMPULSE

France is Agitated, But Will Maintain the the Tax on Imported Wheat and Flour Great Britain Harvest Reports Very Favorable - Mark Lane Express Review.

London, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Paris says: "The rise in the price of bread is the cause of no little agitation. There is even talk of summoning a special session of the Chamber of Deputies to discuss the matter.

"At Marseilles the popular effervescence is much greater than here, and the Mayor of the city has issued a provisional scale of prices. The cause of the rise there is the scheme of a syndicate of wheat merchants to force the Government to reduce the wheat duties. The price has risen since last night. To-day the importers and millers at Marseilles had a long conference, and such is the popular feeling that the authorities are taking steps to prevent an outbreak."

Will Reduce Duty.

London, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Pall Mall Gazette from Paris, printed this afternoon, says: "There will be a reduction in the tax on imported wheat and flour. The reply of the Government to the representations on the subject says that the temporary scarcity of wheat in the French market is owing to the bad harvest, and that so soon as the American and Australian wheats arrive at French ports the situation will right itself."

Flour Rose at Marseilles.

Paris, Aug. 23.—Flour rose 50 centimes a sack at Marseilles on Saturday and a further rise is expected, though the impending arrivals from New York and Buenos Ayres are expected to check the rise. The agitation for the abolition of the duties on grain is spreading rapidly, and at Tarbes, Rodez and Cette there is much excitement on the subject.

The Figaro expresses the belief that the rise will not last long, as no scarcity is feared, adding that the Socialists will not succeed in their alarmist campaign, which they are alleged to have sprung for a political purpose.

The Harvest in Britain.

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the grain situation, says: "The wheat harvest is about half over, and reports continue to be fairly favorable, in spite of interruptions of many heavy showers and the general delay in carrying the wheat already cut.

"The foreign harvests are unfavorably reported. The latest advices from France, Austria-Hungary, Russia and Roumania are all more or less unfavorable."

Argentina Has Grain to Sell.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 23.—It is officially announced that a very large crop of grain is anticipated in the Argentine Republic, the grain under cultivation covering larger areas than ever before. The wool clip, it is further stated, will be heavy.

Visible Supply of Grain.

New York, Aug. 23.—The visible supply of grain statement, as compiled by the New York produce exchange, is as follows:

Wheat 16,729,000, decrease 497,000; corn 21,956,000, increase 3,449,000; oats 8,005,000, increase 1,325,000; rye 1,657,000, increase 139,000; barley 812,000, decrease 50,000.

AS FRENCHMEN SEE IT.

To Abolish the Duty Would Merely Enrich the Speculator and Not the Consumer.

New York, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Herald from Paris says: "There seems no reason to believe that the import duty on wheat will be taken off, even temporarily. There seems but one opinion, namely, that to abolish the duty would merely enrich the speculators, derange the equilibrium of the budget, work serious harm to the French cultivator, and bring not an iota of relief to the consumer. An official at the Ministry of Agriculture said: "In years of plenty the duty has not been able to make cultivation profitable. This year there is sure to be a big deficit in the crop. The growers will, therefore, be able to derive some benefit from the duty. This they can do without bread being forced up to famine prices, as the party clamoring for the abolition of the duty allege. Therefore, it is my personal opinion that there is not the most remote possibility of the Government removing or even reducing the import tax on grain."

The Temps publishes the following interview, unofficial, it is true, but nevertheless obtained from someone at the Ministry of Agriculture, where some idea of the views of M. Meline is sure to be had: "The wheat crops during the past few years were abundant. The market was overcrowded. Prices were low and quotations went down to 20f per quintal, and even to 18f, but the land was fertile, and the cultivators managed to get some little profit from the plentiful harvests. This year the conditions have been unfavorable. The crops have been bad everywhere in France and Europe generally. The variations of temperature, the heavy rains, hails and floods have simply devastated the fields. America—and we ought to be glad of it—has escaped these calamitous conditions, and by herself can furnish the markets of the Old World.

"What has been the result of wheat being scarce? Its price has gone up. If this is unfortunate for the consumer, the agriculturist, who, after all, deserves some attention, will be able to recover some recompense for his labor. The question of wheat cannot possibly be regarded as alarming nowadays.

"Then, again, the comment made in certain quarters is exaggerated. The prices, such as have been current during the past week, have often been obtained previously without the country starving, but serious damage would be done if the duties were removed even for a short period. This is why M. Viger has persuaded the General Council of the Loire to vote a desire that no modification shall be made in the import duties on foreign grain."

The Municipal Council voted a resolution to petition the Minister of Agriculture to remove the duty on flour should it prove inexpedient to abolish the duty on wheat.

M. Caplain, who is a recognized authority on all matters connected with the grain trade, said, however, that he did not think M. Meline would accede to the desire of the council.

The Municipal Council voted a resolution urging the Minister of Agriculture to use his prerogative and to reduce at once from 7 francs to 5 francs the import duty on wheat.

General Unloading in New York

New York, Aug. 23.—There was a lively season of general unloading by all classes of traders in the wheat pit to-day, which resulted in a net break of 2c a bushel from Saturday's official close and about 4c from the best curb price of Saturday. Transactions in the aggregate ran up to 14,000,000 bushels, and yet trading at times was dull to the point of stagnation. Throughout the first half hour the pit was as nervous and excited as at any time on the present movement. The large blocks of long wheat thrown into the market meeting counter-buying by enthusiastic bulls kept prices in a perfect whirl, frequently jumping spaces of 1-2c between sales. To make matters worse quotations coming in from Chicago showed that market to be wildly excited on see-saw jumps of a cent a bushel. The first trade in December here was made at 1.04. It then dropped sharply to 1.01 1-4, rushed back to 1.04 1-4, and then, settling down to 1.02, hung around that figure until near the close, when it fell to 1.01 1-2. September ranged from 1.03 to 1.06 3-4 and closed at 1.03 1-2. The French markets aided the bears. They made no response to Saturday's strength on this side, and closed only 10 to 50 points up on wheat and flour against 4 1-2 to 5d advance for the day at Liverpool. The talk about prospective reduction in the French duty was not credited on 'Change. Export trade was limited by the stiff holding of cash wheats here. No. 1 Northern being 8 to 8 1-2c over September, and No. 2 red 4 1-2c over. To-day's break has been the first serious check the bull movement has received in a week.

The Upward Rush Stopped.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The upward rush of the wheat market was stopped today. The September option was sold at high as 1.02 1-2 per bushel on the curb, but broke badly on 'Change under a perfect flood of realizing sales, declining to 95 in the first five minutes trading and closing at 96, a decline of 4 1-2 since Saturday. December also suffered, the closing price, 95 3-4, being 3 3-8 under Saturday's closing figures. Trading in corn and oats was on a mammoth scale and marked by frequent fluctuations; realizing was heavy in both markets. Corn declined 1-2 and oats 5-8.

Resume of Wintermute.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 23.—The Conservatives of North Essex will meet at the Opera House Saturday afternoon to select a candidate to oppose W. J. McKee at the next election for the Legislature. The city men will support Dr. Reaume, while the farmers are almost a unit in favor of George A. Wintermute. Wintermute has been offered the Patron nomination.

Bread Goes Up.

Montreal, Que., Aug 23 The price of bread in Montreal went up 2c a large loaf this morning. On Saturday it was thought that the advance would be held off until the first of the month, but the jump in wheat above the dollar mark and the subsequent advance of 25c a barrel in flour settled the matter today. Bread may go up still further, and another advance in prices may take place by Sept. 1. It would be difficult to give any idea of the extent of the present bull movement. Everything in the grain line is rushing upwards and just when a halt will be called speculators, millers, bakers and dealers are at a loss to know. Both Manitoba and Ontario flours are on the jump, and this is the direct influence on the price of bread.

THE INDIAN TROUBLE

Fighting is Going on and the Situation is Serious.

MAD MULLAH COLLECTING FORCES

It is Predicted That There Will be a Lengthy Campaign and Desperate Afridis Said to be Entering Khyber Pass - General News by Cable.

Simla, Aug. 23.—A large force of Afridis has just been reported to be advancing down the Khyber Pass, and the so-called Mad Mullah, or fanatical priest, who is inciting the natives of that territory against the British, is said to have collected the Mohammedans for an attack upon Michni and Shabkadur.

The Royal Irish Regiment and one of the representative native infantry, with a battery of mountain artillery, have been ordered to Kohat. Fighting is reported to be proceeding at Ali-Musjed between the Afridis and the British garrison at that place.

The Position is Serious.

London, Aug. 23.—An official despatch from Peshawur announces that the Afridis attacked Ali-Musjed this morning, and adds that they were attacking Fort Maud at 10.30 a.m. to-day. The enemy's line is a mile and a half long. Another body of Afridis, the despatch continues, is moving toward Kadam. All the Afridis are said to have joined in the uprising. The news contained in this official despatch is most important, probably meaning a protracted campaign and desperate fighting. A general revolt of the Afridis was what the Indian Government feared the most, and now it seems to have taken place.

Afridis are Attacking.

Peshawur, Aug. 23.—The Afridis began an attack upon Ali-Musjed at 8 o'clock this morning and upon Fort Maude shortly after 10. Both are garrisoned with Khyber native levies. The enemy is also entering Khyber Pass. General Westmacott has sent artillery to the mouth of the pass to shell them if necessary. The artillery was accompanied by the 9th Bengal Lancers.

Ameer Denies Responsibility.

Simla, Aug. 23.—The Government has received a written communication from the Ameer of Afghanistan, in which he denies all responsibility for the risings of the Mullah or fanatical priests of the different tribes.

There are persistent rumors here tonight that Fort Ali Musjed and Fort Maude, which were attacked this morning by the Afridis, have fallen into the hands of the enemy, but there is no official confirmation of these reports.

Ameer's Prompt Denial.

London, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Times from Simla says: The following official communique was issued to-night (Monday): "The Ameer has promptly replied to the letter in which the Indian Government called his attention to information received by it to the effect that Afghan subjects had joined Haddah Mullah. The Ameer distinctly denies the truth of the reports that Afghan regulars have joined the Mullah. He engages solemnly and personally, on behalf of General Gholam Haidar and the regular army, that no such act of hostility will ever be committed by them. He alleges that if tribesmen have joined at all they must have joined secretly, for they would not have dared to do so openly because of fear of him. He attributes the disturbance to the action of the Mullahs, especially Haddah Mullah, who in former years have excited his own people to rise against him in Afghanistan, and he denounces their conduct."

This is a most important pronouncement, and if published broadcast on the frontier may have a great effect upon the tribesmen.

Gen. Elles will endeavor to induce the Afridis to leave the hills and venture into the open, but it is feared they will cling to the various spurs running out toward Jamrud and Peshawur. This may delay their dispersal and they may become troublesome by demonstrations against the Kuki-Khel villages lying near the hills. Kohat and the Mohmand borders are still quiet.

SUSPICIOUS OF THE AMEER.

The Military Authorities Believe He is Playing a Crooked Game.

London, Aug. 23.—A special despatch from Simla says the belief prevails there that the Government in the official communique has suppressed a portion of the Ameer's reply, owing to a difference of opinion between Lord Elgin, the Viceroy, and the military authorities. Lord Elgin desires to act cautiously and to avoid an open rupture with the Ameer. The military authorities, on the other hand, are convinced that the Ameer is acting in bad faith, and they urge Lord Elgin to act quickly before the Ameer is able to make formidable military preparations.

The generally well-informed correspondent of The Times at Simla says nothing about this supposition, which is probably born of the feeling that the Ameer, although he disowns, does not disapprove of the doings of the tribesmen, while there is a further possibility of Russian intrigues in the background.

Curiously enough The Paris Memorial Diplomatique, which is supposed to have connections with Russian diplomacy, announced in its Sunday issue that the Ameer was preparing for the eventuality of war in any case.

The Afridis have always displayed a keener readiness for plunder than for fighting, and the fact that they have advanced to the attack of fortified posts for the protection of caravans traversing Khyber Pass, while under the pay of the Indian Government, indicates that some strong motive stimulates them. A last rallying point of the rising [illegible]

EDITORIAL NOTES.

SOME of the western papers ought to say that the youth who is in custody at Galt for the murder of Mrs. Orr is a Barnardo boy—whether it is true or not—just as a matter of habit.

THE last new disease provoked by the bicycle is photophobia, discovered by Dr. John Howard Payne, of Boston. The ordinary name for it is "bicycle eye," and "it produces reflex headache." According to some savants the wheel seems to be adding largely to the list of ills that flesh is heir to.

SOME very instructive and, so far as the United States are concerned, discouraging figures, are published in a British paper. They are, at the same time, not a little surprising. Few perhaps are aware that the United States vessels at present carry twelve per cent. of the total exports and imports of that country, and it is therefore evident that after a century of existence the United States are doing less than half the percentage of the shipping trade done by the old thirteen colonies before 1795. Meantime Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy have been increasing their carrying trade. An American publication notes this and endeavours ro minimize the force of the "blow" by saying :—

Of course England, France, Germany and Italy have been steadily increasing their shipping, but the people have been paying for it by subsidies. This year the 'Campania,' 'Majestic' and 'Teutonic' will receive some $350,000 each. The Peninsular and Oriental company will receive about half as much for each of four steamers, and the Canadian Pacific gets $100,000 for their three steamers. The arrangement kept in readiness for such ships in England, in India, and in Hong Kong or Esquimault, consists of breech-loaders in place of the previous muzzle-loaders. In the event of war breaking out each ship is to be supplied with twenty-six seamen gunners from the naval depots, in addition to a full complement of men from the Royal Naval Reserve.

The subsidized ships, in the matter of mails and admiralty reserves, form a very small portion of the British mercantile marine. The Americans, who have most rigid navigation laws in the interest of their shipping, will have to get some better explanation of the remarkable exhibit referred to than the subsidy plea. The tonnage receiving a subsidy is in. finitesimal by the side of the total tonnage of the ships flying the British ensign.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

And Taking Out the Yellow Metal in Paying Quantities Three Men Secured Eighteen Thousand Dollars in Three Months Others Miners Did Well in the District.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 23.—The next mining excitement will be on Peace River, in Northwest Territory. Mining has been carried on there in a slow way for years, but discoveries made this summer leave no room to doubt that an immense amount of gold will be taken out of that river and its tributaries during the next two years. Men who are now taking out gold in large quantities there are not trying to create a boom, but are quietly sending for their friends to come into the country and secure claims.

A. D. Kitchen, a prominent mining broker of this city, has just returned from British Columbia. At Vancouver he met a young man named Johnson, who had just come down from Peace River with his partner, bringing $18,000. A third partner was left at the mines. The two came out with part of the season's output to secure supplies for the winter. The money brought out was placed in a Vancouver bank. Part of it was drawn out for the purchase of supplies, which were at once shipped to Edmonton, Northwest Territory, whence they were to be sent to the mines by a large pack train.

The $18,000 brought out had been cleaned up by the three men in three months. They went to Peace River early in the spring, and Johnson started out in July. Johnson said that all the miners on Peace River were making a great deal of money with the crudest of appliances. Up to the time he left only pans and 12-foot sluices had been used. Most of the miners were not coming out this fall, because it was possible to purchase supplies at the trading posts of the Hudson Bay Company near the mouth of the river. Johnson told Mr. Kitchen that if he wanted gold all he had to do was to go to Peace River.

The Peace River country is reached most easily from Edmonton, which is 833 miles from Vancouver, being 191 miles north of Calgary on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Fort Chippewyan, on Athabasca Lake, at the mouth of Peace River, is reached by taking a stage from Edmonton to Athabasca landing, 40 miles, and thence down Athabasca River and lake by boat. Chippewyan is 465 miles from Edmonton. Steamboats go up the Peace River for a considerable distance. A number of its tributaries, including the Loon and Deer Rivers, are as rich as the main stream.

The Peace River rises in the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains, a little north of the centre of British Columbia. In the northern continuation of the same mountains rise the Klondike, Pelly, Stewart and other gold-bearing tributaries of the Yukon. There is this difference, that Peace River rises on the eastern slope of the mountain, while the Yukon's tributaries rise on the west side. Along Peace River on the north are the Reindeer or Caribou Mountains, which have been found this summer to be rich in gold-bearing quartz.

Mr. Kitchen found that other miners had recently arrived at Vancouver, bringing large amounts of gold from Peace River. He is accordingly arranging to organize a company which will put steamers on the Athabasca River and Lake and on Peace River next spring, and establish at least three trading posts.

THE GALT TRAGEDY.

A Great Deal of Interest Still Manifested—Crowds Visited the Orr Farm on Sunday.

Galt, Aug. 23.—A great deal of interest is still taken in the Orr murder case. On Sunday crowds could be seen making their way to the Orr farm. On Friday last Anthony Orr, in conversation with the doctors who made the post mortem examination, was told by one of the doctors that he believed the wounds were made by an ax head. When Mr. Orr went home he began searching in the lane, where it is believed Mrs. Orr was killed, and found among the chips which the boy Allison had raked together a broad-headed ax with dark spots and some hairs on it. The ax, Allison's overalls and other articles were taken to Toronto to-day to be examined by an expert analyst. It is reported that the sunbonnet which Mrs. Orr usually wore while attending to outdoor work was also found yesterday, about fifty yards from the house. There was a hole in the side of it.

at the British force will occupy Tirah Maidan, the summer headquarters of the Afridis and the Orakzais, from which point they could be kept under better control. The Afridis number about 20,000 first-class hill fighters. An anxious feature of the situation is that the Anglo-Indian army is largely recruited from the Afridis.

ARMENIANS ARE DESPERATE.

Turkish Promises of Reform a Dead Letter and They Will Act for Themselves.

Constantinople, Aug. 23.—The confessions of the two Armenians arrested on Saturday, and at whose residences bombs were found by the police, are said to have been prompted by the Turkish authorities. The prisoners are alleged to have confessed that they intended to use the bombs at the Russian and German Embassies. The circular letter received by the Ambassadors of the foreign powers from the Armenian Dashnakzutrum Committee appeals to the pity of the nations of Europe not to allow the Armenian nation to be annihilated, asserts that the Turkish promises of reform are a dead letter, and that in this extremity the Armenians are resolved to carry out what was foreshadowed by the occurrences of Aug. 26, 1896.

These steps, they further state, are the preliminaries of a plan, the very idea of which fills them with terror. They declare they will not cease to act until their demands, which are "sanctified by the blood of martyrs," are satisfied.

It was on Aug. 26, 1896, that the Armenian revolutionists made their determined attack upon the Ottoman Bank, invading that building with bombs and revolvers and killing a number of policemen on guard.

Salisbury's Proposal.

The Marquis of Salisbury has suggested that the powers co-operate in a scheme to enable Greece to guarantee the interest on a loan to pay off the Turkish indemnity by international control, if necessary, of a portion of the Hellenic revenues. The powers are considering this proposal.

Sidi Ali Indicates.

Paris, Aug. 23.—The Figaro to-day publishes a report to the effect that the Bey of Tunis, Sidi Ali, will shortly abdicate in favor of his son and take up his residence at Nice.

Sidi Ali, the Bey of Tunis, was born in 1817, and succeeded his brother, Sidi Mohammed-Es-Sadok, on Oct. 28, 1882. The heir presumptive to the throne has been Sidi Mohammed Taieb, who was born in 1821, and who is a younger brother of the actual Bey.

Spain Talks Wildly.

Madrid, Aug. 23.—The Duke of Tetuan, Minister for Foreign Affairs, declares that the only claim presented by the United States in connection with Cuba, being a demand for the payment of an indemnity to the family of Dr. Ricardo Ruiz, the American citizen who met his death in the jail of Guanabacoa under suspicious circumstances, is couched in pacific language. General Weyler, it is further announced, has not resigned, but the Government will shortly consider the results obtained by the campaign in Cuba.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Sales Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

Big Bass.

Mr. Jesse Scranton, presides over the drag saw in the new mill at Fenelon Falls, is a mighty fisherman, and seems to have the rare faculty of not letting the big fellows escape after they are hooked. He very seldom goes out without bringing some fish home with him, and a few mornings ago he returned from the other side of Cameron Lake with a string of bass, the two largest of which weighed together just twelve pounds.

Another Piano Swindle.

The Walkerton Telescope of last week contained the following: "Two or three weeks ago a stranger called on a Carlesa farmer and represented himself to be an agent for a large piano firm. The firm in order to more readily sell their goods promised to send a professor through the country to teach everybody how to play. He wanted some kind of a handy place to keep the piano. To this modest request the farmer readily consented. Then the agent informed him that in order that he might be able to get the piano insured it would be necessary to sign an order for the piano. This was promptly done, and the agent departed. A few days after two men drove up to the farmer's house with a piano, dumped it in, took their dinner and then proposed to the farmer that he should settle up. He was surprised, and protested that he had never agreed to buy the instrument. However, this order was produced, and there was nothing for it but to whack up. People would act wisely by dealing with men they know. The average travelling fakir is not to be relied on.

DEATH BY DROWNING.

Ernest Hayes, son of Mr. Jos. Hayes, of Mount Pleasant Meets Death at Parry Sound.

The EXAMINER'S Mount Pleasant correspondent writes: "We were sorry to hear last week of the death, by drowning, at Parry Sound, of Ernest, the only remaining son of Mr. Jos. Hayes. The unfortunate boy and two companions had gone out in a sail boat, resulting in the finding of the boat next morning but no tidings of its occupants. After long and arduous search the bodies were found not far from the shore. The remains of poor Ernest were brought by rail to Omemee where a large number of friends and relatives formed a cortege which conveyed them to their last resting place in the Presbyterian cemetery, just north of here. The melancholy event has cast a gloom over this village and neighbourhood, as Mr. Hayes only quite recently moved from this part. Ernest was a bright clever boy of fifteen. His parents, sister and relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of all of their many friends and acquaintances.

Caught a Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bushell and several friends have been camping for the past week at Plum Point, and have taken a few fine fish. Yesterday morning Frank had an experience that will probably never be duplicated. He had a very bright bait attached to his line, and the glitter attracted the notice of a hungry crane, which swooped down and swallowed the outfit and then attempted to fly away with it. Frank pulled on the line, and the pain seemed to enrage the great bird, as it turned and flew towards him, uttering a succession of loud squawks. Frank grasped his paddle firmly and when the crane came within reach he luckily managed to strike it on the head with sufficient force to kill it. It was one of the largest cranes ever killed in this vicinity, measuring four feet from tip of bill to toe, and six feet from tip to tip of wings.—Lindsay Post.

Building Another Bridge.

The contract for building the Pigeon Creek bridge on the boundary between Manvers and Ops townships, in Durham was let at a joint meeting of the committees of Victoria and Northumberland and Durham, at Lindsay last Friday. The Counties were represented by the Special Committee, Messrs. A. Ferguson, T. B. Carlaw, C. Sargent, J. Devit, Commissioner Sam Ferguson and Warden Preston. Tenders were opened from H. Henderson, Thorold, approaches and piers, $2,997; T. McQuade, Omemee, $3,000; McDermid & McDonald, Toronto, $3,010; J. Wood, superstructure, $2,537; Bear & Co., Doon, wood and iron superstructure, $300; E. Lewis, Hamilton, $2,920, for approaches and superstructure; R. Waddell, Trenton, steel superstructure, $250. On motion McDonald & McDermid's tender of $2,010 for approaches and piers was accepted; also R. Waddell's tender for $250 for steel superstructure, both tenders being the lowest in. S. E. Ferguson and J. Devit were appointed a sub-committee to confer with the engineer if necessary. It was arranged that Victoria county should pay all costs of building the bridge, and be reimbursed by the United Counties for half thereof.—Sentinel-Star.

ALMOST DROWNED.

A Canoe Upsets in the River With Mr. Harry Faint and a Companion in It.

Mr. Harry Faint, son of Mr. Wm. Faint, of the Ashburnham Woolen Mill, had a narrow escape from drowning last night.

The family are camping down the river near Stewart's Landing, and Harry with a companion only six years old, was out in a canoe on the water when the City of Peterborough passed with a scow load of wood attached. He ran the canoe up alongside the scow, and attempted to catch hold of the side to get a tow. The under draw, however, was too powerful for the light canoe, which quickly upset. Capt. Clare Calcutt jumped to the rescue and succeeded in saving the two lads, but their escape was a narrow one.

Harry Faint was almost drowned last year at exactly the same spot when attempting to do the same thing, and the two close calls for life that he has had should teach him not to be so venturesome on the water.

STONY LAKE NOTES.

A Big Wind Storm on Sunday—The Services During the Day.

Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of Port Hope, formerly of George street Methodist church, Peterborough, who is spending his holidays at Stony Lake, conducted the morning service last Sunday at the pavilion, Juniper Island. The attendance was very large. Before the service concluded a wind storm came up and many of the canoes had difficulty in getting home.

The evening services at Otter Island were conducted by Rev. W. J. Pady, formerly of the Park street Baptist church, Peterborough. The attendance was exceptionally good, the night being clear and the lake calm.

Messrs. W. J. Pady, E. Neilds and W. Fenton, of Toronto, and Albert Martin, of Peterborough, formed a party which has been camping at Otter Island for the last few days. The Toronto members wheeled from that city to McCracken's.

The hospitable doors of "Belle Chasse," Mr. Harry LeBrun's summer cottage, are closed for the season, the proprietor and his family returning to town last evening.

A party of young people from town, who have been holidaying at Blomfield's Island, have broken up camp for the season. The members were Mrs. Walter Patterson, Misses Mary and Phemie Patterson, Miss Edith Battisby, Miss M. Miller, Messrs. H. O. Fisk, Ed. Dawson, W. J. Thompson and W. Williamson. The presence of Mr. Fisk's steam launch, Libelulla, made the time pass very pleasantly.

FAMILY GATHERING

At the Residence of Mr. Jas. Kidd, Sr., in Dummer Township.

On the 18th of August, at the home of Mrs. Jas. Kidd, sr., in the Township of Dummer, occurred an event as unique in its character as it was pleasurable to its participants.

From the United States and various parts of Ontario, all the surviving members of a large family convened at the old home where they first saw the light and where their childhood days were passed.

The gathering was unique in that it was the first time in their history that all the members of the family were together in one place, the older of them having married and established homes of their own before the younger of them were born.

Those of the family who were present with their wives, husbands or children were: Mrs. Jas. Kidd, sr., mother of the family, who at the age of 77 years is still hale and hearty; Mrs. S. Fife, Otonabee; Mrs. J. Ferguson, Lakefield; Dr. P. E. Kidd, Brooklyn, N.Y.; W. Jas. Kidd, Warsaw; Dr. D. A. Kidd, Atwood; W. Jno. Kidd, Dummer; Mrs. O. G. Williamson, Omemee; Mrs. S. S. Kelly, Dummer, and Mrs. W. J. Campbell, Belleville, Ont.

THIS MORNING'S RUNAWAY.

A Horse Becomes Frightened at a Young Lady Riding a Bicycle on the Sidewalk.

The horse attached to the delivery cart of Mr. Geo. W. Powell, butcher, became frightened at a lady bicyclist who was riding past this morning, and ran away, damaging the cart to a considerable extent.

The horse was tied in front of the store, but as the young lady passed on her wheel directly under its nose, the animal reared and broke its tie rein.

Mr. Powell thinks that the police are derelict in not enforcing the bylaw regulating riding on the sidewalks in its application to the ladies as well as to the male riders. A large number of young gentlemen have been fined for riding on the sidewalks, but so far the young ladies have escaped, although they are on the walks continually.

POLICE COURT.

There Will be a Lot of Business for the Magistrate on Thursday.

Magistrate Dumble did not come down from the lakes this morning, as was expected, and a big docket of cases was laid over until Thursday by Mayor Yelland, who was on the bench.

George Pogue has laid a charge of assault against Andrew Dobbin, and Police Constable Adams has charges of a like character against the pair.

A hotelkeeper is charged with violating the statute covering the selling of liquor after hours. This is also laid over until Thursday, as is the abusive language case of Montgomery vs. Giroux. Wm. Taylor and Geo. Hardy were also up, charged with being disorderly.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars.—G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

THE MARK STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

The Morning and Evening Services Conducted by Rev. J. E. Moore.

Rev. Mr. Moore, of the Mark street Methodist church, chose for his subject Sunday morning Isaiah xxviii, 16th verse: "Christ, the corner stone." "Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, behold I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation; he that believeth shall not make haste."

Carelessness was one thing the adversary was leading people astray with. Wives, husbands and friends of every relationship may have many noble and grand traits of character, but may treat the one great matter of importance, viz., the saving of their souls, with the utmost carelessness.

God says, My people will not consider and think of the results of life.

Delusion, another thing that was leading many a one far from God and Heaven. Many and many people trust so much and are deluded by the facts that fine large churches, pipe organs and choirs are all that is wanted to help us along the pathway of life. These are all very nice and good, but many a one at the end of all this had to pray the jailer's prayer—What must I do to be saved?

In every church God has His own trusting believers, ready at any time to meet Him at the bar of justice.

Christ, the Corner Stone and Sure Foundation, the Great Sovereign of the World, Power, Boundless Love, suited and adapted for the millions of all classes of people.

Man was lost, ruined and helpless; none but God could interfere. A great struggle was going on while He looked out upon the vile wretched world in all its unrighteousness, and then looked upon His only Son, Jesus. What was to be done? Should this wickedness prevail, or should Christ die? Then we hear that great proclamation—"God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

God laid the foundation of the world to build its hopes upon. This is the faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation that Christ Jesus came into the world to seek and save the lost. For nearly 1900 years this great corner stone had been strengthening and sustaining the church.

Durability—Why do people put a stone foundation under their houses? Is it not that you intend it to stay there for ages? Storms may come, winds may blow, but if built on a good foundation they cannot prevail against it. Some of the older people of to-day who have been plodding along the way for years, have been pelted with the storms of ages, could stand upon this foundation and defy the devil with all his hosts of wrongdoings. See the wonderful pathway our Saviour trod from His childhood days until upon the cross. His enemies could blow out the candle of this life, but they could not destroy His love—"Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." When they had Him laid away in the tomb, they thought that was an end to all this, but their triumph was very short. Up from the grave He arose, with a mighty triumph o'er His foes. O death, where is thy sting, O grave, where is thy victory! Christ, the rock of our salvation. We may stand upon this Rock in a trembling way, but may God help us to remember that the Rock never trembles—it never shakes.

Rev. Mr. Moore concluded his sermon by singing a verse and chorus of "Anchor to the Rock."

The Graphic Guide Issued by "The Province" Publishing Company, B.C.

The EXAMINER has been favoured by the receipt of a copy of a "Map of the Klondyke," issued by "The Province," of Victoria, British Columbia. "The Province" is one of the most spirited and enterprising journals of the Pacific Coast, and, for the matter of that, of Canada, and the map mentioned is but a reflex of the enterprise that distinguishes the Pacific Province, and especially "The Province" itself.

The map is an elaborate production, mounted on strong cloth and printed in colours. It shows the various routes, existing and projected, to the gold fields, and associated with the map are full instructions to guide the auriferous maniac to the region where they keep good on ice for the adventurous and enterprising. This information gives minute details of the routes to the Klondyke, the placer, mining regulations, the nature and size of claims, forms of applications and grants for claims and also forms of assignment, etc. The accompanying pamphlet also gives full instructions as to routes and the supplies required for a trip to the Klondyke, details of the topography, physical features, climate, etc. The map is a most valuable assistant to the prospective as well as prospecting miners and the boast of the enterprising publishers is that its publication is not subsidized by either the Victoria Board of Trade or the Government of British Columbia. Any person contemplating a trip to the Klondyke will find the "Province" map an invaluable assistant and guide, and any who think of braving the dangers of the journey to the northern gold fields should have a copy of the "Province" Map of the Klondyke and gold bearing region of the Northwest Territories of Canada; Victoria, B.C. The Province Publishing Company, Victoria and Vancouver, B.C. Price 50 cents, paper, or $1.00, mounted on strong cloth.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The Association meeting on Thursday evening is called for the purpose of finding out the best ways by which to help young girls, so a cordial invitation is given to all who wish to join to come on Thursday. The membership fee is only 50c.

The classes to be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be under the supervision of an experienced instructor and should be of great value to all young women.

The cooking classes should also be largely attended, as they give the opportunity for thorough training in that branch of domestic science. Practical lessons in cooking will be given from the plain and economical to the more elaborate dishes required in superior and invalid cooking.

The Board have decided to keep the rooms open on Sunday afternoons for the use of any of the members not having homes in town.

The members will also be allowed the privilege of having the parlour for an evening when they may ask their friends.

The Board are very anxious that the work of the Association should go forwards therefore it is to be hoped that a great many will come on Thursday, when plans for the coming season will be made.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.

A Tramp Assaults a Little Girl Eight Years Old, Near Castleton, and is now Incarcerated in Cobourg.

A most despicable outrage was committed near Castleton on Thursday, August 12th. About six o'clock on the afternoon of that day, some little girls were at play in a drive shed about one and a half miles north-east of Castleton. Among them was the little daughter of Mr. W. R. May, a child about eight years of age. A dastardly scoundrel, Charles Osborne by name, an Englishman of 35 years of age, hailing from Ottawa, entered the building where the children were. He told them not to be afraid of him and catching the little May girl pulled her into his lap. The other children cried and ran to the house. Before help arrived, however, the inhuman perpetrator of this indecent assault had disappeared. The little child's dress and undergarments were badly torn. Fortunately, however, the scoundrel who committed this dastardly outrage, did not get off as easily as he at first supposed. On Saturday about 12 o'clock he was arrested on the telephone road between Vernonville and Grafton, and safely locked up by Constable Moore. The prisoner had a preliminary trial before Magistrate John Millar, and was remanded until Monday, when his trial took place and he was committed to gaol. Constable Moore safely escorted his prisoner to the county's refuge for such ignoble ruffians on Tuesday. Osborne, it appears, is one of the wandering, aimless band of "weary Willies" with which the country is infested, whose presence accounts in a large degree for the many petty robberies that are daily reported by the press, and renders it unsafe for children to be far from home alone. That such a dastardly act should be committed in broad daylight so near a dwelling seems well nigh incredible, and it is to be hoped that the vile perpetrator of the deed will suffer the full penalty of his crime. Such ruffians in human form should not be allowed to roam at large. Incarceration with hard labour is all they are fit for. Every day the tramp question becomes of greater moment, and should engage serious consideration of our municipal, provincial and federal law-makers.

[If the tramp element were treated elsewhere, and generally, as they are in Peterborough—made to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow—they would steer clear of their present haunts, as they have done with Peterborough since the stone crushing regime was inaugurated. ED. EXAMINER.

O. S. Doan, of Clinton, says not to go on suffering as he did for years with Salt Rheum, when a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure you.

A PROPOSED TUNNEL.

Some Engineers Who Want to Join England and Ireland.

Engineers are discussing plans for joining Great Britain and Ireland by a tunnel under the Irish channel. By making Ireland geographically a part of the United Kingdom it is said that the prosperity of the former country would be greatly increased, says The Boston Globe.

Mr. Fergusan Walker, who writes about the tunnel scheme, also gives some correct details of rival schemes for an Irish channel tunnel. Proposals have been made for annihilating the sea gap by erecting a causeway, stepping stones, bridges or submerged tube.

"The possibility of maintaining a causeway," says the writer, "strong enough to withstand the waves of the Atlantic is doubtful."

It is also his opinion that though the passing for vessels might be left in the centre, it would present a very dangerous piece of navigation in stormy weather.

Another idea for an artificial isthmus was propounded in 1894 by Mr. le Sueur. "The idea is the utilization in British waters of the energy of ocean currents for the purpose of the distribution of power light, by means of electricity, to centers of population at distances of hundreds of miles from its source."

The energy of the continuous current from the north is so great that it would bank the waters of the north Atlantic higher than the Irish channel, so as to give 50 times as great horsepower as Niagara."

A serious objection to the causeway is that it would leave the ports of Glasgow, Liverpool, Belfast and Dublin high and dry.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

Tally Sticks.

That tally sticks were at one time pretty general may be concluded from the derivation of the word score. In its original signification a "score" is a "scar," a cut made in a counting stick. So also a "tally" is derived from the French taille.

The Roman numerals are derived from scores. They were mere notches cut in wood originally. The V for five was a rude representation of the outspread hand, and the X in like manner symbolized all ten fingers; the IV. was a comparatively late innovation; originally the IV. was represented by four strokes, or notches as in clock dials.

The old Celtic alphabet—the Ogham writing—was of very similar and identical nature. It consisted of notches cut at the corner of a square stone, or else from a stem line. The letters B, L, F, S, N, are formed by cutting strokes at right angles to the stem line of the right hand, and the letters H, D, T, C, Q, by strokes at right angles to the left. Thus, a single stroke to the right is B, and to the left is H, two to the right is L, and the same number to the left is D. Three to one side is F, three to the other is T. Long strokes, numbering from one to five, cutting the stem diagonally, expressed M, G, Ng, St, R, and short strokes, numbering from one to five, cutting across the stem at right angles, give the vowels.

It is easy to see that the tally stick was used for numbers before the alphabet was thought of by our Celtic forefathers. Having proved the tally stick valuable for accounts, they applied it for writing messages on rods and memorials on tombs.

The old Runic staves for calendars were somewhat similar. Strange symbols were introduced to mark the several festivals, but the days were indicated by notches.—Chambers' Journal.

ONTARIO BEAT QUEBEC.

The Frenchmen Defeated at Cricket in Toronto by 125 Runs—Wadsworth's Great Bowling.

The interprovincial cricket match was finished on the University Lawn Saturday afternoon and resulted in a victory for Ontario by 261 runs to 136. Play was resumed Saturday morning in fine weather with Martin and Boyd at bat, and they ran up the score in good style before being separated. These two, with Lyon, did the best work with the willow on the second day, and with Wadsworth's splendid bowling, they had little difficulty in defeating the Lower Provincials. Gilbert and Philpotts alone remained any length of time at the wickets, and they did the most to raise Quebec's score to 87, or 125 behind Ontario's total. Wadsworth's performance with the ball during the two innings was a great one, 11 wickets for 47 runs.

BASEBALL RECORD.

FOUGHT HARD BUT LOST.

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 21.—Toronto fought hard for victory to-day. Irwin put in two pitchers against the locals, and, while the latter did not get as many hits as the visitors, their batting was more timely. The sportsome hitting of McMahon and Bottenus won the game for Wilkes-Barre. Score:

At Newark the Atlantic League game was forfeited to Hartford 9 to 0, after a row which threatened to become a riot. A decision by Umpire Charles Brady in the sixth innings, when the score stood 3 to 7 in favor of Hartford, so incensed the Newark rooters that it required the services of half a dozen policemen and ball players to get Brady safely away. One Newark man suffered a broken nose and a woman fainted during the excitement.

At Providence, Providence won from Syracuse at Rocky Point by batting Willis hard in streaks. Egan pitched a great game for Providence and held Syracuse down to three hits. Score:

DOTY IN THE AIR.

London, Aug. 21.—To-day's Canadian League game between the Guelphs and London was a walk over for London from the beginning. It was evidently an off day for Mr. Doty. Last week he mowed the Londons down at will. To-day he hit Williams twice and Gunther once with a pitched ball, and in the eighth innings forced in two runs. In the seventh innings, with two men out and the bases filled, Keenan cleared them with a fine three-bagger, to left, and scored on Slipp's single. Williams, the Londons' new catcher, acquitted himself well, and the team played first-class ball. Keenan's playing being the feature. Score:

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

On the live stock market yesterday there arrived 52 car loads, composed of 800 cattle, 1420 sheep and lambs and 1000 hogs. The market was noted for activity and firmness more than for any advance in prices. Thursday's quotations ruled, and all of good quality were bought up early in the day. There was a fair run of export cattle and prices ranged from $4 to $4.55 per cwt.

R. Ironsides bought 155 export cattle, averaging a little more than 1300 lbs. each, paying all the way from $4 to $4.55 per cwt.

T. Crawford (M.L.A.) & Co. bought 125 export cattle, paying from $4.12½ to $4.30 per cwt., and sold on commission 50 cattle that were consigned to them at prices ranging from $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt.

J. McDiarmid sold 14 export cattle, weighing 1300 lbs. each, at $4.50 per cwt.

R. McLaughlin sold 23 export steers at $4.40, which averaged 1240 lbs. each.

Bulls were scarce and prices ranged from $3.50 to $4.12½. Mr. C. Zeagman bought one weighing 1950 lbs. at $4.12½, and another weighing 1420 lbs. at $3.62½ per cwt.

Butchers' cattle in good demand and prices ranged from $2.50 to $3.65 per cwt. More good cattle wanted. William Levack bought 115 cattle, mixed butchers and export, ranging all the way from $3 to $4.12½ per cwt.

Crawford & Co. bought 10 heifers, averaging 1000 lbs., at $3.40 per cwt., and 3 choice heifers at $3.65 per cwt.

An active trade was done in stockers and light feeders, which were in good demand. Stockers, weighing 650 lbs. to 700 lbs. each, brought from $2.60 to $3.15 per cwt., and light feeders, weighing from 700 lbs. to 1000 lbs. each, brought $3.25 to $3.50, and a few choice steers sold as high as $3.60 per cwt.

W. Crealock bought 35, that weighed 700 lbs. to 1000 lbs. each, paying from $2.75 to $3.40 per cwt.

H. Austin sold 15 stockers, weighing 650 each, at $3 per cwt., and 6 heifers, weighing 640 each, at $2.60 per cwt. Crawford & Co. bought 27 steers, light feeders, at $3.40 per cwt., also 34 heifers for feeding purposes at $3 per cwt.

Milch cows were in fair demand at $25 to $40 each. There were about 20 on the market.

Calves brought from $3 to $6 each.

Sheep have been selling better. Some of the dealers wishing to fill out shipments caused a demand which resulted in a slight advance. Export ewes brought from $3 to $3.50 per cwt., bucks $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Large numbers of lambs were offered, which caused the market in the early part of the day to be dull, but after a time it strengthened and finished fairly well. Lambs sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt., or in other words were worth from $2.50 to $3.25.

The prices paid for hogs remain the same, but it looks as if there might be a drop at an early date.

R. Ironsides shipped 8 car loads of export cattle per C.P.R.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

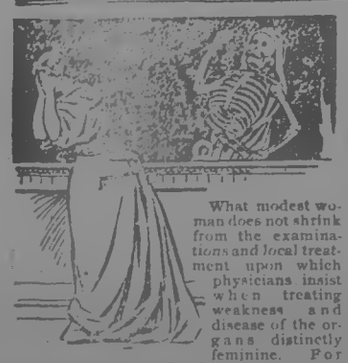
OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS



What modest woman does not shrink from the examinations and local treatment upon which physicians insist when treating weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. For this reason thousands of women go on suffering until torture rather than apply to a physician for help. It is safe to say that one half of the women in America suffer thus in silence. It is all unnecessary.

The reproductive organs of women are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all disease and weakness of those delicate organs. It fits a woman for the highest duties of her sex, wifehood and motherhood. If taken during the expectant period in makes baby's coming easy and safe and insures the health of the child. The "Favorite Prescription" is the discovery of a regularly graduated physician, an eminent and skilful specialist in diseases of women. Dr. Pierce is, and has been for thirty years, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. His "Favorite Prescription" does away with all necessity for distasteful examinations or local treatment. It corrects distressing and painful displacements and irregularities, and cures where doctors fail.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser not only tells you how to get well when you are ill, but how to stay well when you are well. It contains 1,008 pages and over 300 illustrations. Over a million women have a copy. A new edition is just out. The reader may have a paper-covered copy absolutely FREE, by sending 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y. If you prefer a fine French cloth binding, embossed, send 50 stamps.

VAGABONDAGE.

Bliss is gained by patience,
So the sages say;
Gentle heralds tell us
June is on her way.
I'll be here to greet her
When she comes in state,
Haven't learned "to labor";
Only just "to wait."

Waiting for the song birds,
Swinging in the trees;
Waiting for the butterflies;
Waiting for the bees.
I've no fear of troubles,
Such as haunt the great;
Haven't learned "to labor";
Only just "to wait."

WILLFUL EMILY.

"Don't, Miss Emily, dear, don't!" I urgently pleaded with the willful young beauty who has so impetuously been relieving her mind to certain matters resting somewhat heavily thereon. I was only housekeeper at the Hall, but from long and faithful service, and the fact that the girl who had just thrown herself in such careless grace at my feet had lost her mother when almost too young to remember her, I felt more privileged than perhaps my position otherwise would explain. Not a child of my very own could be nearer my heart than was the spoiled, lovely little mistress of Carlton Grange. The squire was too busy with his chase, his hounds and horses to spare much time to the treasure which in reality lay nearest his heart. To give her her own way, to see her always beautifully dressed at the head of his table, to view with proud eye the slight, graceful figure perched fearlessly upon some favorite horse, to allow no one to cross her from her infancy—here he considered the duties of a father ended, and certainly, so far as begetting a most ardent love between the two, it worked admirably, though, as to the real good of my lady, I am by no means sure.

"And why not?" she questioned in answer to my protest. "I don't love him I—I hate him."

She was speaking of her cousin Arthur, but as she finished, the pretty head, which had borne itself so defiantly, went down on my lap, and the burst of tears which followed disproved the truth of her assertion.

No one could have seen the two together and not acknowledge their fitness for each other. Although but cousins a second time removed, a faint likeness was perceptible, but Arthur's mouth indicated greater firmness, and the will which was so necessary in the encounters between the two. He was the only one who did not give up to Miss Emily, who sometimes thwarted her, but always so gently, so tenderly, yet so firmly, that I think herein lay the very secret of his charm. There was no regular engagement between them, but it was an understanding for all that, although half the young gentlemen in the county were contestants for the prize, but, save a little harmless coquetry, she gave them no encouragement.

I could but smile as I stroked her pretty golden-brown hair, while yet her head lay in my lap, at the very April shower which was all of grief my darling had ever known, for, ere I had quite finished my few words of comfort, applied I scarcely knew to what, she had once more sprung to her feet, and in a few moments I could hear her sweet voice carolling through the halls. Then under my window, I heard the imperative order to the groom: "Saddle Bess, Tom, and bring her round at once."

"She's hardly fit to ride, miss, this afternoon," the man respectfully answered. "She's skittish at the best of times, and she's been so long unused that I'm most afraid she'd prove too much for you."

"All the better," was the reckless answer. "Bring her round at once."

Glancing from my window as the voices reached my ear, I saw Mr. Arthur sauntering up the walk. He quickened his step a little as he overheard the discussion, saying, very quietly, as he approached:

"Surely, Emily, you will not be so rash as to mount Bess to-day? You must not think of such a thing."

The girl turned haughtily toward him, surveying him a moment in silence, then, as though remarks were unnecessary, turned again to the groom:

"Do as you are bid, Tom. I will now dress."

"Emily, for my sake!" I heard him say in a low tone, but the contest of the morning in which her will had been forced to bend, made her determined now.

"You are detaining me, Mr. Trafford," she answered. "I shall have barely time for my ride."

"You must not, Emily; indeed you must not. My uncle would not wish it, and in his absence I must prevent it."

The color flushed like a crimson rose into the girl's cheek.

"How dare you!" she exclaimed, stamping he little foot. "How dare you speak to me? If you have ever considered yourself the right it is cancelled from this moment. Heaven help the woman you would make your wife! She would be your slave. Give her my warmest sympathies, Mr. Trafford; I cannot offer my congratulations."

The young man's face flushed hotly, and he shrank from the words as from a blow, but he had no time to answer, for Miss Emily had already flown past him into the house, and I saw him turn and walk slowly to the stables.

In a few seconds more the groom brought the prancing animal, holding firmly to the bit while Miss Emily sprang lightly into the saddle. She seemed such a very feather to manage the spirited horse, yet I could not help the thrill of pride as I watched the tiny hands bring her into such quick subjection, and the straight, lithe young figure sitting her seat to such perfection.

The groom stood watching her anxiously down the avenue, but I was not surprised when she had once disappeared from view to see Mr. Arthur leap into the saddle and follow her unseen, he had determined to keep her in sight and I somehow felt safer to know she was in his charge. Cruel as had been her words, he loved her too well to heed them at such a time.

The afternoon slowly passed away. What was it that caused such a shadow of dread to creep over my heart? Somehow I could not shake it off. From time to time I would steal away from my other duties into my darling's room, where everything so reminded me of her, picking up the articles she had thrown round in her careless haste, and when all was in order, looking for something else to do to detain me in the spot. Yet I would not acknowledge the real extent and reason of my uneasiness, even to myself, until the sound of horses' hoofs rapidly nearing the house suddenly lifted the load I had unconsciously been carrying and brought me with almost a cry of thanksgiving to the window. Yes, there was my darling's blue habit fluttering in the breeze. She had returned unhurt, but the excitement must have been too great for her strength, for even from where I stood, I could but note the deathly pallor of her face, and hastened down to meet her.

Ere I reached her side I saw two of the men, in obedience to some hastily issued commands, spring into their saddles and ride rapidly down the avenue. Then in another moment Miss Emily lay almost fainting in my arms.

"Oh, Nanna," she exclaimed, "I have killed him, and he will never, never know how dearly I loved him."

From time to time low moans escaped her half-parted lips, and I could but contrast her with the bright, willful girl who had ridden off a few brief hours before so full of hope and happiness. And then, in broken words, she told the story. How, at a sudden turn in the road, she had caught sight of Mr. Arthur following her, and in very perverseness of spirit touched lightly with her whip the animal which needed restraint rather than urging, then turned her head in direction of the pits, a road at any time dangerous, but now, maddened by the touch of the whip, the mare had taken the bit between her teeth, and the little hands clenching the reins were powerless. Mr. Arthur saw her peril, and putting spurs to his horse in reckless defiance of harm to himself, had put him to the leap, endeavoring by leaving the road, to head her off and seize her rein. It was a race for life. A heap of stones lay upon the road. On one side there was barely room for a horse to pass. Could he reach that first, he might save her. There was no time to question. By an effort almost superhuman, he directed his horse to the pass, and seized the bridle which now lay powerless in her grasp. The mare swerved back, his own horse plunged, and, in some way, how, she could not tell, he lay beneath the maddened animal's feet, his head striking on the cruel stones. The shock had brought the mare to reason, which now stood still and trembling. But Arthur had saved her life by giving his.

I could but comfort the child the best I might, when outside came the tread of feet, and I knew they were bringing their sad burden home. Pressing a kiss on her forehead, I went forward to meet it, but as through my tears I bent to look over the dear face, I, too, almost fainted, though this time for joy, for the great brown eyes were wide open, and I could almost fancy smiling into mine.

The physicians gave us little hope at first, however, and it was pitiful to watch Miss Emily steal in and out of the room where he lay so white and still and suffering. All her old willfulness had gone now, and I could see how her heart was centred in him, but at last we knew the best and the worst. "Life would be spared, but Mr. Arthur would be a cripple for life."

"Through me, Nanna—all through me!" she moaned forth when she heard it. "How he must hate even to look at me!" But I had watched his gaze follow her too often not to know differently.

I was busy one day in his room (I think they scarcely knew I was there) when Arthur called her to his side.

"I want to say something to you, Emily," he began, "something which has been a long time on my mind. You must not reproach yourself for this. You must not let it interfere some day with giving your love to a man more worthy of it, and you must remember no one will rejoice more than I in your happiness."

For a moment she stood still, cheek flushing and paling; then she threw herself at his feet. "Oh, Arthur," she exclaimed, "will you not take me? Have you learned so to hate me that all the old love has gone?"

"Gone," he answered, stroking the bright hair. "Emily, can a man part with that which has become part of his life? But, my darling, I cannot consent to your tying your young, joyous life to mine."

"Arthur! Husband!" she whispered, softly; then I stole from the room, feeling my presence would not be missed, and sure my darling would win her cause. Nor do I think in the many happy years which since then have rolled along, leaving me an old woman now, either has ever regretted it. Once for a and the last time Miss Emily had her willful way.—N.Y. Ledger.

Herding Sheep Good for Consumptives

Another class of men who watch sheep are those who do it for their health. Dozens of men claim to have been cured of consumption simply by putting in several months at watching sheep. The work gives what is most required in the deadly disease: plenty of fresh air, moderate exercise, and employment that is not wearing on the brain, but is still enough to keep it occupied and prevent nervousness. Of course if a man has plenty of money he can get these things without herding sheep, but there are many men who need them badly who have no money, and all who have taken advantage of this knowledge have surely been benefited. A number of men who have taken up sheep herding have become so fascinated with it that they have stuck to it long after they have got over the trouble.—Providence Journal.

I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

 1897 ***

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. No other oil and no other medicine has ever been discovered which can take the place of Cod-liver Oil in all conditions of wasting. New remedies come, live their little day and die, but Cod-liver Oil remains the rock on which all hope for recovery must rest. When it is scientifically prepared, as in Scott's Emulsion, it checks the progress of the disease, the congestion and inflammation subside and the process of healing begins. There is the whole truth. LACROSSE.

A communication has been received from the secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association in answer to one from the local secretary asking for information as to whether there was time for an exhibition match before the semi finals. The letter speaks for itself and is appended :

INGERSOLL, Aug. 23rd, 1897.

Alf. Terrill, Esq., Secretary Peterborough L. C., Peterborough :

DEAR SIR,—The matter of playing off the semi-finals is entirely in the hands of the President. As I wired you from Toronto he ordered you to play with Stouffville. The last match, however, between Stouffville and Markham has since been protested and the Judicial Committee will likely meet this week to consider it. It will depend on that decision when you will be called upon to play, as you are drawn against the winners of the York district. You might have time to work in an exhibition match, but it would have to be done at once, as if Stouffville wins the protest you will be called upon to play them on very short notice.

I am,
Yours truly,
JAS. VANCE,
Sec. C. L. A.

Under the circumstances the Peterboroughs will not play an exhibition match, as there is not time to advertise it this week, and if announced for next week the date might clash with that of the semi-finals.

THE WHEEL.

A London shopkeeper was arrested for disposing of his wares in a novel manner. The shop was at a corner passed by thousands of cyclists in the day, and his game was to place a basket of crockery in front of the shop, where it was liable to be knocked over by wheelmen. As soon as a spill occurred the owner of the property would pounce upon the rider with threats of police interference unless the full price of damaged goods was at once paid over to him.

The 'fastest' times are made when no watches are held on the performance, as the 'largest' fish manage to drop from the hook just as they are being hauled out of the water.

Massachusetts has a state law which regulates bicycle riding, and prevents cities and towns from passing any regulations which would conflict with the state law. The limit of speed allowed by this state law is ten miles per hour.

Prof. R. C. Carpenter, of Cornell University, recently made a series of tests of chains and bicycles to find out the exact measure of power lost through friction, the stretching or lengthening of chains and the use of gearing in place of the chain. He found that high-grade chains can be made which do not change their form by wear sufficiently to affect the friction.

"Because a man rides a bicycle," says the L. A. W. Bulletin, "it doesn't follow that he should think bicycle, talk bicycle, read bicycle, and dream bicycle by night and by day, to the exclusion of everything else. A bicycle should be ridden as a diversion and a pastime, except by the few who wish to make a business of it, and they should join the professional ranks."

It is astonishing, says the Buffalo Express, what a sentiment exists, outside of the League of American Wheelmen, in favour of betting on bicycle races. Undoubtedly it is for the good of the sport that the gambling element is kept under foot in America, but once let the barriers down and what a rush there would be for a year or two. It is safe to predict that popular interest in cycle racing would increase tremendously, for a time. With the outgrowth of sure jobbery interest would as quickly flag, at least in the opinion of the majority of the more intelligent bicyclers. However, pool selling is steadily practised without serious detriment to the sport in some cycling countries. The American public loves speculation and cycle racing would afford a splendid medium. Why, the gamblers argue, should not a man back his favourite bicycle rider, as well as his favourite thoroughbred, or trotter or pacer. The gamblers believe in betting on cycle races as the only thing to keep up a live public interest in the sport and to draw a gate to the big events that will rival the attendance at the important horse races. They declare that cycle racing will inevitably lead to betting.

"If I were allowed to make book on the bicycle meet here next Tuesday, I would guarantee that the attendance would be greater and the interest more intense than ever before at the Buffalo Athletic Field," remarked a well-known peculiar to a reporter for the Express yesterday.

"Then you are not one of those who do not believe in betting on anything that can talk?" was the rejoinder.

The bookmaker laughed. "Of course," said he, "jobbery would be sure to be practiced after a time, but as an experiment I would be willing to take chances on the riders framing any dirty work at a meeting so near at hand. If betting was to be followed on the bicycle tracks as a business, the governing body of the wheelmen would of necessity be forced to adopt rules and regulations similar to those observed on the trotting and running tracks. They would have to be a counterpart of the jockey club as the source of all rulings and reciprocal relations would have to be maintained by tracks and riders. Mushroom officials at meets would have to give way to men who would make a profession of the business. With every precaution I do not see that there would be a great deal of room for crookedness. When a rider knew that eagle eyes were on his every movement, and that suspicion was likely to be followed by temporary or permanent suspension from the track, he would not be likely to risk his livelihood lightly.

"The public would be sure to be attracted. Suppose, for instance, there will be a handicap, as there will be on Tuesday, in which many local men are interested. Now, a handicap is supposed to be a race in which every man, slow or fast, has a chance. Say 25 men are entered. What a chance for a book! Each contestant will fancy his own chances, and if he be of a speculative turn of mind, want to lay a few dollars on his prospects. With that number of men in a race and the public's money to be counted on to create a comfortable percentage a layer would be able to offer good odds on nearly every contestant. A man winning in those circumstances would have an opportunity to make a tidy sum by his victory and the meet promoters would no longer be badgered to death raising money for big purses. When a man could lay $10 on his own chances of winning against say $200, $300 or $400, the amount of the prize would sink into comparative insignificance. And what racing would result! Put 20 or more men in a handicap, each one with a comfortable amount depending on his exertion, and do you not think that he would try a little harder to win than if the target in sight was some small diamond or a $75 purse? On such a race as that arranged for the big five on Tuesday auction sales could be sold before and during the race exactly as is done in heat racing on the trotting tracks. The prospect is very alluring."

The words of the speaker called up to mind some such scene as this: A room in a prominent hotel, a score or more of cycling enthusiasts, sitting or strolling about with diamonds flashing and pockets bulging with bank rolls. (It is a peculiarity of the genuine cycling enthusiast that he always flashes and bulges). Maj. Quimby, the veteran of the Grand Circuit, mounts a chair in a little wooden box in one corner of the big apartment and raises his well-known voice.

"Now, boys, what am I offered on the five-cornered match race? We'll sell out. What am I offered for first choice."

"Twenty-five dollars for Bald," shouts one chap, with three snake rings on each finger and the bosom of his shirt ablaze with a peck of bicycle diamonds that resemble pin heads in size.

That starts the ball rolling. Bald goes for $25. Kiser brings $20, Loughead, despite his brilliant victory at Philadelphia, which gave him the L. A. W. mile championship, brings but $15, while Tommy Cooper, who has been off form for some time, and Willie Sanger, who has achieved nothing notable on the circuit this season, are regulated to the field, going at $5. Many pools are sold at this rating and the business is adjourned to the race course.

All is excitement in the first heat. Bald watches Cooper for the elbow and Cooper watches Bald for the arm. Loughead is afraid that Kiser will run him off onto the grass and Kiser thinks that Loughead is riding wide. Unobserved and overlooked, Sanger mounts the bank and, shooting forth from the rear on the last turn, old Wooden Shoes takes the first heat amidst a tremendous sensation. A rush follows for the pool-box, which has a convenient place under the stand. Despite his win of the first heat Sanger is still despised. The field brings $25 against $5 for the Milwaukee man. Undoubtedly the crowd does not see in him the winner. Bald, who finishes second, is thought well of and is played in some pools at $25 even with the field.

The second heat is called. Bald starts a long sprint at the opening of the last lap and is never headed to the wire. That settles it in the estimation of the betting public. Those who bought the other riders in the early pooling now see their finish for the Bison clearly has the speed of the party. Pools are now sold with Bald at $25 and the field $15. In fact so brisk is the betting on the last heat-winner by those anxious to hedge that the price of the field is forced down to $5 before they are satisfied.

The deciding heat follows, for Bald again wins, although hard pushed by Kiser and Loughead. Tickets are cashed and the crowd turns its attention to the bookmakers for the next event.

Bicyclists are enquiring whether the Victoria Bicycle Club intends running the Peterborough annual fall road race under their auspices this year, as is rumoured. If the club does not take the matter up within the next few days, it is probable that a committee of unattached riders will make arrangements to run off the race.

ENRICHMENT OF GAS.

The Evils Attendant Upon the Use of Water Gas Dilated Upon.

The appended article on the enrichment of gas from the Hospital, an English scientific journal will be of interest to those using that illuminant :

It is well known that the "gas" supplied by the gas companies is much sophisticated, being often diluted to a large extent with water gas, a substance which is very poisonous, very cheap, and, from an illuminating point of view, very poor. When the gas companies came into existence people did not think of these things. "Gas" was thought to be the product of the destructive distillation of coal, refined no doubt, but with nothing added, and the Acts by which the companies are regulated merely provide on the one hand that it shall possess a certain illuminating power, and on the other that the amount of impurities that it contains shall not exceed a certain limit. Hence the present condition of affairs. If gas were used only for outdoor illumination it would not matter, but for the past fifty years the untutored British plumber has been engaged in stuffing our dwelling houses with leaky gas-pipes, and the poisonous nature of a great deal of our modern gas is a serious matter. It acts directly on the blood corpuscles, and in such a way that it is impossible to say where the mischief ends which is caused by the constant breathing of a gas-laden atmosphere. To add insult to injury we now find that this poisonous gas cheats our pockets as well as injuring our persons. As is well known the gas supplied to the metropolis is periodically tested at certain "testing stations," and if the gas were gas, as it used to be, it would no doubt arrive at the house of the consumer in the same condition as when it passed by the gas examiner. But then gas is not gas. Its illuminating power to a large extent arises from the vapour of certain hydrocarbons by which the diluted modern gas has been as the saying is, "enriched," or brought up to such a standard as will pass, and these vapours are apt to condense long before they arrive at the consumer. Hence the statement recently made by the chairman of the London County Council that "tests made with the portable photometer, although unrecognized by law, continue to show that a large amount of gas supplied at other than the testing stations is considerably below the statutory requirements of 16 candles," and the further statement of the chemist to the County Council that "the effect of the present system of enrichment is partial and confined to the proximity of the testing places." We not only get the poison but we fail to get the light.—Hospital.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. C. R. Courtney was in Cobourg on Friday.

Dr. Lawrason, who practised here a short time an then left, returned again a few days ago apparently to again reside in our town. We have two visits per week from Dr. Thompson, of Omemee.

Last week Mr. Walter McLean and Mrs. Wm. Marsh enjoyed a visit with friends in Lindsay and Mariposa.

Mr. A. P. McLean with his bicycle took a tour by way of Rochester, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Toronto. He biked it from Toronto to this village in about seven hours. A. P. has gone back to his duties in Peterborough after a two weeks' holiday.

The executors of the estate of the late Abraham Webster have advertised for sale his farm of 150 acres, situate adjacent to the village and at present worked by Mr. Jos. Fee.

Our popular tailor, Mr. Herb. McLean, has received a supply of fall suitings and announces that he will make suits so natty and low-priced that they will be as tempting as the nuggets of the Yukon.

We learn that Mr. J. D. Denny ex-teacher of our school, has accepted a position in the schools of Smith's Falls. Our best wishes accompany him.

Joseph Bland has rented the farm of Mr. John Best.

We are glad to be able to state that Mr. John Sutcliffe's recovery from the effects of a recent ocular operation is complete.

A few of our neighbours moved west on the excursion to Manitoba last week.

Mrs. Bourdon and Mrs. Geo. Ewing have returned to their homes in Toronto.

Messrs. C. McFarlane and Lou Best wheeled out from Peterborough on Friday evening.

The street commissioner has been making some improvements, but seems to have overlooked the fact that our town pump is in a deplorable condition. Our public house is gone, and many are the requests of cyclists who pass through for a quaff of some cooling beverage.

Mr. Wm. McIndoo, of Fresno, Cal., is the guest of his father, Mr. Matthew McIndoo.

Miss Nellie McLean is holidaying with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Stacey has again opened up school. We congratulate him on the splendid success of his pupils at the recent entrance and Public school leaving examinations.

The long swamp bridge on the middle road has been repaired. It seems to be strong enough now, and made secure by strong railings.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise! All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

CAREY, The Shoe Architect, SHOP—450 George Street.

Now we Have Set the Hammer Swinging

Big prices and fat monopolies must go. The People's Grocery Store is doing the business. The public know when they are well served and come in crowds to the store, 323 George street, where they get the good things to eat; nice people to wait upon them. You may smile when you see the piles of Boxes, Barrels, and packages of goods. Our lessor called this week to see us and was surprised to see the store packed with goods, and has intimated to us that he will extend our facilities for doing business. As a result the plumbers, painters and paperhangers are at work. A line of new shelving must go up as we have no place to display goods. All we want is a visit from the people. All are invited—rich and poor come and buy. Quoting prices is a mockery. We will give you the best and cheapest lines of Groceries, Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Spices, Hams, Bacon, Butter, Eggs, Lard, Poultry, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas and all kinds of provisions, &c. FALL OF FORT MAUDE

A Reverse for the British Forces in India.

KHYBER PASS IN REBEL HANDS

After a Desperate Fight the Afridis Captured and Burned the Fort—The Situation Admitted to be Very Serious—Sultan of Turkey Blamed for the Outbreak.

London, Aug. 24.—An official despatch to-day from Simla announces that Fort Maude, in the Khyber Pass, has been captured by the Afridis, after desperate fighting. The garrison, which was composed of native levies, known as the Khyber Rifles, retired with the loss of three men. The Afridis afterwards burned the fort. The fate of Fort Ali-Musjid, which was simultaneously attacked by the Afridis, is not known.

The British officer commanding at Jamrud moved a battery of artillery, escorted by the Fourth Dragoons, yesterday to the mouth of the Khyber Pass and shelled the enemy at a range of 3200 yards. The Afridis retired, but the battery returned to Jamrud, the officer in command deeming it inadvisable to enter the pass.

General Elles will begin a concerted movement against the insurgent tribesmen to-day.

Mir Bashir is a well-known frontier chief. In 1880, during a period of similar discontent, he proclaimed himself King of Tirah, and began to raise and drill an army. But he became unpopular through his imposition of taxes, and his influence gradually melted.

Burned the Sacred Books.

Bombay, Aug. 24.—The report that when the Mohmunds attacked Fort Shabkadr they burned all the sacred books of the Sikh Temple there has created the greatest indignation among the Sikhs throughout the provinces and has greatly incensed the Sikh troops on the frontier. The plague is increasing at Poonah.

The Bombay Gazette announces that three of the principal chiefs of Baluchistan, Sirdars Ghrattawhan, Ghomeshakhis and Yarmahomed, have been arrested. The arrest was made on the Mushkaf-Bolan mail train, upon which the chief had been induced to go to Quetta, in order to meet an agent of the Governor-General (Earl of Elgin), who had arrived there by special train shortly before. Sirdar Ghomeshakhis is a son-in-law of Sirarad Kahn, one of the most loyal chiefs of Baluchistan. All three of the Sirdars who have been made prisoners belong to the Sarawan division of Baluchistan, and are suspected of intriguing against the Government. They are known to have been disaffected for some time past. The arrests have caused a great sensation among the Mohammedans, and further important developments are expected.

Admitted Gravity of the Situation.

London, Aug. 24.—It is admitted even in official circles that the news from India is of the gravest description. The Afridis only form a part of the insurgents the British must put down. A letter from India, published in The Standard, emphasizes the belief that the Sultan of Turkey is at the back of the whole uprising. The writer says: "The average Mohammedan, even in British India, cannot distinguish between the Greeks and the other European nationalities. To him the Christians of Europe are all one people, and when he learns that the Sultan has been at war with Christians, whom he has utterly defeated, he understands that [illegible] an English defeat and ex[illegible]."

The afternoon papers to-day comment [illegible] upon the Marquis of Salisbury's [illegible] policy.

The St. James Gazette says: "The moral of the whole story is that we, who have fifty million Mohammedans in our Eastern Empire, have chosen to present ourselves to all the world as the ally of the Sultan, whom the majority of that creed look upon as their head in religious matters. If we had succeeded in inspiring real terror, the harm done might have been less, but what fear can be felt for a power which, after ringing warnings, is pulled up short by orders from St. Petersburg?"

The scene of the rising has the Khyber Pass for its centre. The plan of the British commanders is to draw the insurgents to the vicinity of Jamrud, which is strongly fortified, close to the Indian mouth of the pass, having Peshawur and Kohat for bases, and where the British number about 11,000 men. The policy of the Afridis is to tempt the British into the hills and spurs of the pass.

Fort Maude is a small stone fort, overlooking the road four miles up the pass from Jamrud.

Fort Ali Musjid is five and a half miles further up. There the pass is 40 miles wide.

Later Details.

Simla, Aug. 24.—Later details of the capture of Fort Maude show that the garrison of that place retired at 10.30 p.m. yesterday and that the fort was burned at 11 o'clock the same night. The garrison reached Col. Westmacott's relief column coming from Kohat at 11.30 p.m.

At the time Fort Maude was abandoned the Khyber Rifles, garrisoning Fort Jewangeera, were compelled to abandon that place.

The area of the active fighting is enlarging rapidly. The Afridis yesterday evening attacked with great determination the fortified post at Sudda, but were not successful in capturing it. Parochinar was attacked to-day. There are two English ladies with the garrison at Parochinar. The British military authorities have now mobilized 32,000 men for frontier operations, which, with the frontier garrisons, makes 42,000 men available for use against the insurgents.

UNEASINESS AT QUETTA.

Three Hundred Sepoys Massacred by the Afridi Rebels.

Peshawur, Aug. 24.—It is reported that a large number of Afridis, led by fanatical priests, attacked the Sepoys near Fort Ali-Musjid about noon yesterday, massacring 300, capturing their rifles and then proceeding in large force to make an attack upon the British garrison on the low range.

There is a very uneasy feeling in Quetta, where the troops are under orders to be in readiness to march to New Chaman, which is the extreme outpost of the Afghan frontier, southeast of Kandahar, and on the edge of the Registan desert, between the Provinces of Toba and Peshin.

Khyber Pass is swarming with Afridis, and it is feared the fall of Fort Maude has greatly encouraged the rebellious elements.

UNPARALLELED CHEEK.

The Rebels Have the Audacity to Suggest Terms of Settlement.

London, Aug. 24.—A despatch to The Times from Simla, dated Tuesday evening, says:

"The Afridis have not ventured upon active hostilities to-day, but have remained in the hills about Khaibar, where for the present they are practically safe from attack. Notoriously the vainest of the Pathan tribes, they had the audacity to suggest the terms under which they would agree to disperse to their homes. These were the withdrawal of our troops from Swat and from the Samana range, the surrender of all the Afridi women living within our border, and the revision of the salt regulations. They do not seem to realize that their rising must inevitably lead to a complete breaking down of their power as the dominant clan on the Peshawur frontier."

FAURE AT ST. PETERSBURG.

Boundless Enthusiasm, but No Mention of the Word Alliance.

London, Aug. 25.—The special despatches to The Times and other London morning papers all remark the spontaneity and the boundless character of the enthusiasm, quite unusual among the Russian people, which has been evoked by M. Faure's visit, in strong contrast to the reception tendered Emperor William.

Even the heavy rains have not prevented immense crowds from turning out to welcome the guest of Russia.

Emperor Nicholas and the Empress were present at last night's (Tuesday) dinner at the French Embassy. The menu was most artistically decorated with allegorical designs by Clairin. The Empress attached fiers to the handle of her fan to keep as a souvenir. She has quite lost her girlish look and is now a stately woman of magnificent presence. She wishes to attend the luncheon to be given on board the French warship Pothuau.

M. Faure's bed is the one which has been used successively by the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary and the Emperor William.

All the correspondents comment upon the fact that there was no mention of the word "Alliance" in the toasts at the banquet in the Peterhof. "Friendship" is still the keynote of all the official utterances and of the addresses presented to M. Faure.

The Paris correspondents describe the French press and people as delighted with the splendid reception tendered to M. Faure, but as unable to conceal their disappointment at there being no sealing of the hoped-for alliance.

TROUBLE IN A CHURCH.

Rev. R. E. Knowles of Stewarton Presbyterian Church Disagrees With Officials.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—There is trouble in Stewarton Presbyterian Church. A prominent lay officer and three members of session have resigned, and there are likely to be further developments. The cause of this state of affairs in want of harmony between the pastor, Rev. R. E. Knowles, and the resigned officer. Mr. Knowles was charged with making a statement personally affecting a prominent church officer, and he was called upon to substantiate it. His course in the matter was not satisfactory, hence the resignations.

A TUMBLE IN WHEAT

The Bulls Demoralized at the Eleventh Hour.

MARKET BROKE ALL RESTRAINTS

And December Wheat Went Down to 95 1-2 Cents in New York—A Break in Chicago Also, There Was an Improvement at the Close, However.

New York, Aug. 24. The disastrous result of operations by clique bulls was demonstrated in the actions of the wheat market to-day. Failing to secure the necessary assortment of bull news, these belated holders punctured the bull bubble and prices fell with a crash to a point over 8c a bushel below the top notch for the year. At the outset the bull leaders endeavored to arrest the threatened deluge by pointing out the comparative steadiness of Liverpool quotation and the frosty weather conditions in the northwest. For a time those influences had some effect, but the market was unmistakably too heavy, and soon broke through all restraints, reaching the lowest figure in the early afternoon, when December, after having opened at $1.00 1-2, sold at 95 1-2. Foreign houses operated on both sides, but were chiefly conspicuous as sellers, led by the Continent. A feature of the trading was the comparative heaviness of December, which widened out to a 2 1-2c discount under September at one time during the day. French cables were particularly weak, closing at 20 centimes to 1 franc net decline on wheat and 70 to 90 points lower on flour. The Liverpool decline for the day was 2 1-2d to 4 1-4d on futures, with spot wheat quoted firm at 1d to 2d advance. In the early forenoon selling was sharply arrested by talk of heavy export purchases, induced by the dip in prices. The news was followed by a quick rise of a cent a bushel, after which values again yielded to the pressure of long wheat, which continued more or less freely all the afternoon. Spring wheat reports were offset by reported enlarged offerings of new wheat in the southwest. The market closed unsettled at 5 3-4 to 6 1-8 net decline. Sales for the day reached nearly 17,000,000, giving some idea of the enormous dumping of long wheat. Some of the afternoon reports made export purchases upwards of 60 loads at New York and outports, but this could not all be confirmed. The range on September wheat was from 97 1-2 to 1.00, closing 97 3-4. December sold from 95 1-2 to 1.01 3-8, and closed at 95 3-4. No. 1 Northern New York was nominally worth 1.05 3-4, and No. 2 red 1.02 3-4.

Break of Five Cents in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Wheat broke 5c a bushel to-day, and closed within 3-4c of the lowest figure of the session. Weakness in Liverpool and selling here by Cudahy were largely responsible for the slump, although the market was in shape to break when Cudahy began a raid. The price was given no support, and standing stop loss orders were reached for over an hour after the decline was started. People with so-called pyramid trades and others with profits were in haste to get out. The market, however, was not broad.

Tendency Lower in London.

London, Aug. 24. The provincial corn markets to-day, in spite of the fact that wheat is higher than it has been in several years, show a general tendency of prices to recede. The farmers are somewhat disappointed at the failure to get the anticipated 40 shillings a quarter.

THERE IS A SHORTAGE.

People Who Should Know Say Europe's Needs Will be Great.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 24.—An extensive enquiry into European crop conditions, conducted by the Orange Judd syndicate of agricultural newspaper proprietors, including The American Agriculturist of New York, The Orange Judd Farmer of Chicago and The New England Homestead of Springfield, Mass., indicates that the food crop situation abroad is indeed grave. Estimates of Europe's (including England) needs of wheat imports range all the way from 300 to 400 million bushels. Europe's wheat crops for 1895, 1894 and 1893 averaged about 1,500,000,000 bushels. In the famine year of 1891 it was only 1,200,000,000. The impression is gaining ground that Europe's wheat crop this year is even less than in 1891. But this is not the worst of it. Europe usually produces as much rye as she does wheat. It is the bread grain of the masses. The rye crop of the principal European countries Russia, Germany, France, Austria, Bulgaria, Rotmania and Italy and the Low Countries and Sweden—has averaged about 1,200,000,000 bushels annually for 1896, 1895, 1894 and 1893. This season the rye crop of these countries cannot much exceed 875,000,000 bushels.

THE LAKE FISHERIES.

An English Syndicate With a Million Pounds Controls Canadian and U. S. Fishing Grounds.

London, Aug. 24. Mr. Edwin Corbin of Chicago has closed a deal amalgamating the United States and Canadian Lake Fisheries Companies, whereby the control of 20 companies passed into the hands of a British company, with £1,000,000 capital. Mr. Corbin sails for the United States next week, accompanied by a staff of British accountants to take over the business and initiate the consolidation.

Berry Pickers Missing.

West Superior, Wis., Aug. 24.—A party of eight men and women left last Friday in a small sailboat to go after berries along the south side of Lake Superior, intending to return Sunday. Nothing has been heard of them, but the captain of the steamer Gilbert reports passing a capsized sailboat a few miles out. Searching parties will go out this afternoon.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:

GENTLEMEN,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

CANADIANS AS CANADIANS.

The New York Sun with its intense hostility to everything British asserts that Canadians are a people without a country. The Sun says of Canadians:

"The Canadians are away from home. They are a people without a country. Their allegiance is to a country across the ocean. Love for their own land of the sort that men call patriotism they haven't got."

Don't you believe anything of the sort. Canadians have got a country, a country that they love, a country that they are bound to keep and bound to protect. We have protected it before against the people of the United States and we can and will do it again should occasion arise. We "owe allegiance, it is true, to a land across the ocean," or rather to the flag of that land, and it is an allegiance of love that is, thank heaven, heartily reciprocated. We are proud of the flag that flies in triumph over every clime and is lord paramount of the seas:

"You may mount on the wings of the mornin'
And "flop" round the world till you're dead;
But you won't get away from the tunes that they play
To the bloomin' old rag overhead."

And never before was Canadian national sentiment so active and ardent as it is now; and never before was the bond between Canada and the loins of the mother over the seas stronger, yet lighter, than it is now; and never before were the United States in greater concern over the relations of Canada and the Empire than they are to-day. The dignified law-makers of the United States stoop to petty parish politics to formulate laws specially designed to injure Canada, which they would not do if they did not fear our competition, and were not jealous of not only our material growth but of the solidification of our people, of the intensifying process of patriotic Canadian sentiment. O, Sun, of New York, you fatigue us. Go to. Read the following extracts as "specimen bricks" of the material side of Cadadian national spirit:

The Toronto Globe has struck the proper keynote when it declares that the fiscal policy of Canada should be decided irrespective of what the United States may do.—London News.

Let the United States Government do as it pleases; any solicitation on our part will not cause it to do otherwise. But let Canadians adopt a stiff policy of their own with regard to their lumber interests and stick to it.—St. Thomas Journal.

Canada is not a nation dependent on the good graces of any country for its existence. A persistent attempt is made by a certain section of the press and by some politicians in the United States to make believe to the contrary, but those who take stock in their arguments are bound to be misled. Canada's day of progress has arrived.—London Advertiser.

It is well that this point should be definitely understood, once for all. For years this bogey, the loss of the bonding privilege, has been threatened and the untutored mind has been impressed with the fact that the loss would fall on Canadians only. Sir William intimates that this loss would be shared, and more largely, by the Americans; that, metaphorically, they would be cutting off the nose to spite the face. That sort of retaliation the Canadians can stand, and the sooner there is a practical illustration of its beauties the better.—Kingston Whig.

Mr. Dana, of the New York Sun is in high glee because the Dingley Act contains a ten per cent. discriminating duty against the Canadian Pacific Railway. He scouts the idea that the clause was put in by accident or error, and calls it "a brilliant inspiration of wisdom and patriotism." He adds:—"Not until the Canadian Pacific ceases to be a military and commercial menace to us, and its country becomes a portion of the American Union, can it be placed upon a par with American railroads." If that is so we fear that the Canadian Pacific will forever have to remain out in the cold.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

THE Mail and Empire, which at one time justified the anti-British character of a high tariff by the expression—"so much the worse for British connection," in yesterday's issue gloats over the alleged fact of an American firm getting a contract for 20,000 tons of steel rails for an Irish electric railway. In comment it adds: "The truth is that the United States is ruling out all British productions, and is undertaking to displace British labour in Britain." They will have a nice time in doing it. Britons will hold their own against the world, as they have always done. British bottoms form the bulk of the mercantile fleets that enter the ports of the United States, and carry United States products to the rest of the world. If British ships were withdrawn from the ocean, our American cousins would have hard work to get across the herring pond. Britons don't seem to take the Mail and Empire's pessimistic and unpatriotic view of the situation. A country that can furnish a dozen of firms that can take and fill a contract for the construction of a dozen iron clads in as many weeks, has no reason to fear the competition of the United States in any direction.

There Was Some Hot Racing and Buffalo's Pet Flyer Was Beaten on His Own Ground.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 24. Four stars of the first magnitude in the cycling world, Kiser, Bald, Lougheed and Tom Cooper, competed for a $500 purse in the special invitation one mile race to-day and attracted a record breaking crowd to Buffalo Athletic Field. Most of the spectators were there to cheer for Eddie Bald, but they were compelled to witness his defeat by Earl Kiser, the speedy Dayton man, who won the two heats by desperate sprinting.

In the first heat Charles Werlick of Buffalo paced. Bald started the sprint from the rear on the last eighth, but Kiser and Lougheed passed him in the stretch, finishing in the order named, inches only apart. Cooper was a close fourth.

In the second heat, with W. F. Rose of Buffalo making the pace, it was a procession until the last half, with Lougheed, Bald and Kiser trailing. Here Bald went high on the banking and came like a flash, Lougheed taking Kiser up the hill. Bald getting the pole. He looked like a sure winner a few yards from the tape, but Kiser jumped in and beat him out by a wheel width, with Lougheed and Cooper close up.

A. A. Zimmerman rode an exhibition mile in 1.51 2-5.

Tom Cooper rode an exhibition half, paced by a tandem, in 55 seconds, and then Irving A. Powell of New York covered the same distance in 52 4-5 seconds, making a new amateur record for this track. The summary:

RICHEST PLUM OF THE TURF.

L'Allouette Lands the Great Futurity After a Scorching Race Other Sporting News

New York, Aug. 24. The unexpected happened at Sheepshead Bay to-day, and the filly L'Alouette of the Thompson string won the Futurity with something to spare and her backers were happy, for although her victory was a surprise, she was coupled in the betting with her stable mates, Gibraltar and The Huguenot. As the stable was the favorite in the race, the ring suffered. The other unexpected thing was the running of Lydian, who got the place. The track was in anything but satisfactory condition, the heavy rain of last night and this morning having turned it into soft mud, which had dried out sufficiently to make the going heavy and sticky when the race was run. Not more than 12,000 were present when the bugle called the 18 starters for the richest stake of the year to the post. It was not long before they were on their way up past the grand stand, the Thompson trio showing the way, the Daly pair coming next, the Keene pair next, and the others in their order on the card. Then there was a short talk to the jockeys by the starter, and they were lined up for the journey. It was a fine start for all but one, Precious being left standing still in the first break, to the great surprise of his owner and most of the old race-goers. Grand Sachem and Amazonian were quickest on their feet, with Ethel and Cock Robin close up. L'Alouette next, and the others not far away. Nearly every one of the youngsters was in his stride and there was little shifting of positions as the lot swept down the chute toward the main track. So close together were they at the first furlong that a dozen were not more than heads apart. At the quarter pole the line of the advancers was almost like that of a cavalry charge. They rushed past the post with Cock Robin, L'Alouette, Gibraltar, Gala Day, Howland, Ethel, Plaudit and Lydian heads apart, and short ones at that, in the front rank, while the others were almost tipped upon them in the second column. Around the turn they rushed and were but a quarter from home and still Cock Robin led, but Martin was urging him and he was beginning to falter. Right at his throat was L'Alouette, her gray on much better than her owner had any idea she could, and right at her tail was Gibraltar's head, and Gala Day was pegging along at his heels, but the boys were driving the colts, while Clawson was sitting still waiting for the final rush, which was bound to come. Sloane dug his heels into Ethel's side and he went past the others like a flash, and poked his nose into first place, while his stable companion, Cock Robin, with his left shot, fell back rapidly to the rear. Chase also got to work at once to ride a finish with Sloane, but Ethel's effort was his last, for a furlong from home Clawson had got his and was drawing away, when a new competitor loomed up in the despised outsider, Lydian, who had come from the rear under the vigorous urging of Thorpe, and with Sloane on Ethel, a head behind, was making a hard bid for the stakes. The distance was a little too short, however, and as L'Alouette passed the wire, Lydian was at her tail, a head in front of Ethel, who was a head in front of Plaudit, while the others were strung out through a sixteenth of a mile. Summary:

First race, 5 furlongs Trilla, 110 (Hennessy), 30 to 1, 1; Halpin, 110 (Sims), 3 to 1, 2; Yankee Sam, 110 (Scherrer), 2 to 1, 3. Time 1.02 1-5. Beckman, First Fruit, Hindoomet, Libanus, Julius Cæsar, Henry Crawford, Ieon and Ella Daly also ran.

Second race, 1 1-16 miles, selling—Song and Dance, 103 (Hewitt), 20 to 1, 1; Ben Eder, 110 (Sims), 5 to 1, 2; Premier, 116 (Tarsh), 8 to 1, 3. Time 1.50 2-5. Maurice, Souffle, Rifle, Arbuckle, Orion and Faston also ran.

Third race, Hall Handicap, 6 furlongs—Ornament, 110 (Clayton), 8 to 1, 1; Cleophus, 117 (Sims) 5 to 1, 2; Voter, 127 (Sloan), 6 to 5, 3. Time 1.14 2-5. Hastings, Rondo and St. Nicholas II. also ran.

Fourth race, Futurity, about 6 furlongs—L'Alouette, by Kingfisher—Juliette, 115 (Clawson), 2 to 1, 1; Lydian, 115 (Thorpe), 20 to 1, 2; Ethel, 115 (Sloan), 3 to 1, 3. Time 1.11. Plaudit, Demagogue, Central Trust, Gala Day, Hand Set, Gibraltar, Huguenot, Howland, Henares, Cock Robin, Grand Sachem, Amazon, Ruby Lips, Arquebus and Precious also ran and finished as named.

Fifth race, 7 furlongs Good Times, 109 (H. Martin), 4 to 1, 1; Peat, 115 (Williams), 2 to 1, 2; J. A. Gray, 115 (Tarsh), 3 to 1, 3. Time 1.28 1-5. Wolhurst, Cavalero and Brandywine also ran.

Sixth race, 1¼ miles, hurdle, selling—Forget, 148 (English), 6 to 5, 1; Flushing, 140 (Slack), 8 to 5, 2. San Joaquin, 146 (Mara), 4 to 1, 3. Time 2.53. Beaufort also ran.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 18 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

RIGHT FROM YUKON

Mr. D. McArthur Has Spent Twenty Years There.

HE HAS JUST REACHED WINNIPEG

Has Made a Fortune, But Intends Going Back in the Spring—Fears Some People Will Suffer—Claims Which Averaged Two Thousand Dollars a Day.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—(Special)—D. McArthur, who has spent twenty years in the Yukon country, and left there on June 23, arrived in the city this morning. He brings a sufficient sum with him to maintain him the rest of his life, but will return in the spring to the Klondike. He knew of claims averaging over $2000 a day. Speaking of the crowds now going into the camps Mr. McArthur is apprehensive that there will be a scarcity of food later in the winter, and when it will be impossible to relieve the distress. In their mad haste to get into the country many are going poorly provided with supplies.

Mr. McArthur was emphatic in his opinion as to the recent changes of the mining regulations, and is convinced that as soon as the authorities realize the conditions of the country they will restore many of the old regulations. The change that meets with the greatest opposition is that reducing the width of claims. One hundred feet, he says, is too limited to control water for "washing," and too narrow to permit of working claims.

AN AWFUL DAY'S WORK.

None But Hardy Men Need Try the Klondike by Way of the Chilkoot Pass

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 24.—Robert Monerieff, a member of the last Selkirk party destined for Klondike, who sailed from Victoria, B.C., on July 25, writing from Sheep Camp, on the Chilkoot Pass, on Aug. 5, says: "We arrived here last night, after the hardest day's work I have ever done. We packed about 200 miles each from the foot of the canyon, which is about six miles, over one of the worst roads in the world. We started at six o'clock in the morning, and made one trip and got back to where we started at one p.m., and then back again with the other hundred pounds, arriving at 9 o'clock just seven. We expect to reach Lake Lindeman in four days. That will be seven days across the pass with 200 pounds each. Billy Watters, a handy and experienced packer in other parts of Canada, says he would not carry the rest of the stuff over for $100 per pound. So you may know how bad it is. We are paying Indians 22 cents per pound to take the rest of our stuff over, and perhaps we will not be able to get them even at that. It has been raining here for four days. Many people are selling their outfits, because they cannot get it over the pass. About March 15 is the time to start, when the stuff can be taken in on sleds. We expect to reach Dawson City by September 1. Excepting for the very hardiest men the trip via the route we came is killing."

Monerieff is known as a thoroughly reliable man, and the news received from there already should be a warning to all. It is the belief in Winnipeg that the men leaving via Edmonton will not see the Klondike for away on in next season.

TO OPEN THE TRAIL.

Miners Destroyed a Bridge in Order to Have it Rebuilt in Better Shape.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 24.—With the arrival of the steamer Rosalie from Skaguay and Dyea comes the news that the town organization of Skaguay, under the leadership of A. J. McKinney, has taken definite action to open the trail. On the arrival of the collier Williamette none of the passengers were allowed to take their baggage until the entire cargo had been placed high and dry on the beach, then the individual holdings were segregated. It was seen at once that to get over the trail was impossible. A miners' meeting was convened, at which it was decided to declare the trail closed. The miners put their action into immediate effect by tearing out several crosspieces of the bridge across the Skaguay River. Then about 700 citizens went to work on the trail, and the following day their number was increased to 1000. They had about 50 pounds of giant powder and a small quantity of dynamite and expected in four days after the sailing of the Rosalie to re-open the trail in a greatly improved condition. The dangerous places where many horses have been lost will be fixed up with scantling, and the marshy portions will be corduroyed. This action will result in many prospectors getting through to the mines who would otherwise have been blocked all winter. The condition of affairs at the lakes is about the same as reported last week.

Stopping the Fools.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 24.—The schooner Moonlight was stopped as she was preparing to leave the harbor in tow of the tug Coleman. She had a big deck load of freight listed to port, and in her hold were sixty passengers whom Inspector Brandt considered, under the circumstances, had little chance of ever seeing the Yukon. The inspector ordered the deck load removed and suitable provision made for the safety of the passengers. Strict regulations will be enforced to prevent the overcrowding of vessels leaving for the north.

A TERRIBLE TIME!

A Port Hope Lady Undergoes a trying experience, from which she is at last freed by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

This is Home Talk From Home People.

Mr. F. J. Armstrong, one of Port Hope's best known citizens, speaks as follows:—"My wife has had a terrible time with her heart for the last fifteen months.

The pains were intense, and she had a smothering feeling together with shortness of breath, weakness and general debility. Medicine seemed to do her no good, and we had about given up trying when she started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which she got at Deyell's Drug Store. They have toned her up wonderfully.

She is stronger to-day than she has been for months, thanks to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I am sure there can be no better remedy from their remarkable effects in Mrs. Armstrong's case."

Laxa Liver Pills cure constipation and sick headache. 25 cents. All Drug Stores. 188

Mr. Weymouth's Blue Spectacles.

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 20.—C. M. Weymouth writes from Lake Linderman that in his opinion Dyea will become famous as a horse market for the reason that horses cannot stand the usage there longer than a few days, when their hoofs, regardless of heavy shoes, become so broken as to entirely incapacitate them for any use. Mr. Weymouth gives the opinion that not one in ten of those who are now at Dyea and Skaguay and en route will be able to cross the divide this year.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Playing the Baby.

Chicago police magistrates may be as bad as people say they are, but there is at least one of them that has got sense. A policeman arrested a man for carrying a baby on a bicycle before him, and the magistrate said the policeman did right. It always give prudent people a chill to see a man scorching round the corners on a wheel with a poor little helpless baby perched up on the handle bars before him. If the machine came to grief the man might save himself, but you shiver to think what would happen to the baby.

PAKENHAM—GRAYDON.

An interesting event took place this afternoon, at half-past two, at the residence of Mr. Edward Pakenham, No. 33 Manning Avenue, when his eldest daughter, Miss Fannie, was united in marriage to Mr. John Graydon, a wealthy contractor and a most prominent citizen of Scarboro' and also warden of Peel county.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, of which congregation the bride was a member. The parlours were beautifully decorated with cut flowers for the occasion.

The bride was costumed in cream crepon, as was also the bridesmaid, her sister, Miss Maud Pakenham. The groom was assisted by Mr. Frank Pakenham, brother of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a recherche wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Graydon left to take the 4.10 p.m. C.P.R. train for the west for a bridal trip, to include Detroit and other American cities.

A large number of friends were present from Trenton, Streetsville, Campbellford, Toronto and Brighton.

MCNAUGHTON—MONTGOMERY.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. J. P. Cunningham, when his sister in law, Miss Mary McNaughton, daughter of the late James McNaughton, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Montgomery, of town.

The bridesmaid was Miss Lizzie Kennedy, and the groom was supported by Mr. John Brownlee. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. T. Dykeman, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church.

FIRE NEAR CENTREVILLE.

Mr. John Lightfoot's Barns Destroyed by Fire. Started by Lightning.

Last night about two o'clock, the barns and outbuildings of Mr. John Lightfoot, on the Gravel Road, one concession north of Centreville, were fired by lightning. Two barns, stables, and all the usual outbuildings were destroyed, together with all the contents, consisting of farm implements and practically all this season's crop. The late hour at which the fire occurred, together with the absence of help, prevented the saving of the contents. Mr. Lightfoot himself is absent in the Northwest, whither he went on Wednesday the 18 h. He is entitled and will receive general sympathy in his loss. It is probable that the loss is partially covered by insurance.

DISTINGUISHED PARTY OF G. T. R. OFFICIALS.

SIR CHARLES RIVERS WILSON AND LADY WILSON VISIT PETERBOROUGH.

A Special Train Brings the Party to Town—All the Chief Officials of the Grand Trunk Participate in the Visit.

A special train containing three official coaches arrived in Peterborough from Toronto via Port Hope yesterday afternoon about four o'clock.

The coaches, which were most sumptuously fitted up, were occupied by a party of the head officers of the Grand Trunk Railway, composed of Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, President of the G.T.R., and his wife, Lady Violet Rivers; C. M. Hays, General Manager; F. H. McGuigan, General Superintendent; Geo. B. Reeve, General Traffic Manager; W. E. Davis, General Passenger and Ticket Agent; Geo. T. Bell, Assistant General Passenger and Ticket Agent; Joseph Hobson, Chief Engineer; W. R. Tiffin, Superintendent; and Mr. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent.

It is seldom that so distinguished a party of railroad magnates visits Peterborough and it is to be regretted that word was not received of their intended arrival in order that a fitting reception might have been given them. No better time could have been chosen in which to draw attention to the matter of market day cheap fares for the town. All the chief officers of the road were in the party.

The train was taken on through to the new Auburn bridge, which was inspected, after which the party left to visit Haliburton, Midland, Parry Sound and the Muskoka Lakes.

PETERBOROUGH'S LABOUR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

A Whole Day of Athletic Sports—To be Held on the P.A.A.A. Grounds.

Peterborough will hold a demonstration on Labour Day, September 6th, and enthusiasts in athletics will witness a fine programme of sports.

In the morning on the P.A.A.A. grounds, Ashburnham, the Park Nine of town will play against the crack baseball nine from Bowmanville, and in the afternoon the Lacrosse Club on the same grounds will play against either the Tecumsehs, of Toronto, the Twin Citys, of Waterloo-Berlin, or the Dufferins of Orangeville. The secretary is corresponding with all of these clubs, and one of the three will be brought here for a game. All of the teams are so well known that comment concerning the excellence of their play is unneeded.

The 57th Battalion Band will be in attendance, and a big crowd is expected in from the surrounding country and the neighbouring villages and towns. Single fares have been arranged on the railways.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

The membership competition among the members of the Y. M. C. A., which began last month, closed a few days ago.

Mr. Evy Hall was successful in securing a sufficient number to get the prize.

The building is visited by scores of young men every evening enquiring about membership and inspecting the gymnasium and baths. Now is the time to join.

The plan for the lockers is now open at the secretary's office, and members will do well to secure their lockers early.

Much depends on a young man's surroundings. This is expressed in a recent issue of "Men," the Y. M. C. A. organ for America:

"One evening spent in the smoking room of some club or steamer is usually sufficient to befoul a young man's mind for life. Stories which he will at some time be willing to give his right hand to eradicate from his mind, will fix themselves in his memory and breed filth. Disgusted as he may be with them, he cannot shake them off. The deliberate exposure to such contagion is suicidal to the honour and manhood of man."

Fresh Fruit Arriving Daily.

RICHARDSON, Canadian passenger agent, north-west corner King and Yonge street Toronto.

AN ALLEGED FORGER.

William Ross is Arrested on a Very Grave Charge.

William Ross, a well-known Peterborough man, was before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with forging the name of the Hamilton Bridge Company to a Bank of Montreal cheque made out in his own favour for $16.00. The cheque, it is alleged, was given to Mr. J. D. Craig, furniture dealer, George street, and a portion of the proceeds given in payment for a lounge which was purchased. The forgery was detected at the Bank.

As the new bridge at Auburn was erected by the Hamilton Bridge Company, a number of their cheques were cashed in town by their employees.

The police have been on the lookout for Ross for some time, but he evaded them. He was captured yesterday in Port Hope by the police of that town and this morning was remanded until to morrow by the magistrate.

WAS HE A SOMNAMBULIST?

Nocturnal Undress Parade of an Old Man.

Last night about ten o'clock two gentleman walking on Weller street were surprised, if not startled, by the appearance in the middle of the street of an old man with a long flowing beard, and dressed only in a short gray shirt. He was prancing down the middle of the street in a most eccentric manner. He was watched along Weller street till he turned off upon Park street, just before the rain began to fall. The gentlemen thought the old man was a somnambulist but it is probable that he was an eccentric old man whose peculiarities of action and bizarre appearance have earned for him the title of "Prince Michael, of the Flying Roll" and procured him an interview with the police magistrate.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY EXHIBITION.

The Annual Exhibition To-morrow Afternoon and Evening.

The public is urged to remember that the annual exhibition of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society takes place in the Market Hall, George street, to morrow afternoon and evening. There is a large list of entries and everything points to a most successful exhibition. The public should liberally patronize the exhibition and encourage the directors. If for no other reason, for gratitude, for it is to the Horticultural Society that the people owe the maintenance in a manner excelled nowhere on this continent, of that beautiful pleasure resort, Victoria Park. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance. The Fire Brigade Band will be present in the evening.

That Stony Lake trip to-morrow will please you. Last of season. Round Trip 75c. G.T.R and Str. Sunbeam Regular morning train.

EXAMINATION RESULTS.

Of the Third and Fourth Forms, Formerly Known as the Junior and Senior Leaving.

Subjoined appears the results of the third and fourth form examinations and commercial diploma examination in the High Schools of Ontario.

For convenience sake all candidates passing in the subjects of Form III or Form IV, whether under the regulations of 1893, or the revised regulations of 1896, are classified for publication under the one heading of Form III or Form IV. The lists indicate also on what papers of Form III or Form IV the partial matriculants have passed. Owing to the meagreness of the information concerning previous examinations submitted to the department by the candidates in their applications, it has been found impossible, with a few exceptions, to publish lists of the honours won by matriculants. Such honours will be awarded candidates on the submission of the necessary information. It is, however, indicated in what subjects of Form IV each candidate has passed.

Unsuccessful candidates for junior or senior leaving standing will be allowed to take the same options in 1898 as previously selected. This privilege is granted only to those who were candidates in 1897 or in a previous year for junior or senior leaving certificates.

Candidates for partial matriculation will forward the junior or senior leaving certificates to the department for endorsation in the subjects passed in these examinations.

List of the marks of the unsuccessful candidates in the various form examinations will be forwarded before September 1st to the Principals of the High School centres and the Public School Inspectors in the cases of the other centres. Certificates will follow to the same addresses in about two weeks. Candidates need not, therefore, apply to the Education Department for either marks or certificates.

Unsuccessful candidates should consult the Principal of the school after receiving their marks, before making "appeals." In no case will appeals be accepted by the Education Department after September 20th.

The House of Commons

is a term applied to the legislative bodies of various Colonies of the British Empire, and we all know that this name was adopted in due respect and deference to the original British House of Commons at Westminster.

The members of the British Parliament have set forth a fiat to the world by specially selecting for their use the celebrated brand of Scotch Whiskey, viz., the House of Commons Blend, manufactured by Messrs. James Buchanan & Co., of Glasgow, Leith and London.

By the recent appointment of Messrs. Lawrence A. Wilson & Co., of Montreal, as their agents, Messrs. Buchanan & Co. have have carried into effect a long cherished desire, and Canadian Connoisseurs will now find themselves in a position to obtain their favourite Scotch everywhere.

LOCAL LEGAL.

Vacation Court Judgments on a Habeas Corpus Case—High Court of Justice, Before MacMahon, J.

Reg. v. Murray.—Judgment on motion to discharge prisoner on return of writ of habeas corpus and certiorari in aid thereof. The prisoner, James T. Murray, alias Patrick Conlon, on the first day of July last, was committed by R. S. Davidson, a Justice of the Peace for the County of Peterborough, for trial for attempting to steal a pocket handkerchief and 70 cents from Martha True. The prisoner was subsequently brought before the Judge of the County Court and on consenting to be tried without a jury was tried and convicted on July 28, and sentenced to three months imprisonment in the common gaol at hard labour. The learned Judge is of opinion that, had the trial and conviction of the prisoner taken place on July 1 (Dominion Day), which by R. S. C., ch. 1, sec. 26 is a holiday, and therefore dies non juridicus, the prisoner must have been discharged from custody; Morrison v. Manley, 1 Dowl. N S. 773; Kenworthy v. Peppiat 4 B. and Ad. 288; Harrison v. Smith 9 B & C. 233, and American cases. The preliminary investigation and warrant of commitment were nullities, and had a motion been made for discharge while in custody the prisoner must have been discharged, which would, however, be of little avail, as not having been tried he could have been rearrested. It is not as if he had been tried and convicted for an offence under "summary convictions act" on a dies non. The illegality of the preliminary investigation or warrant of commitment being a nullity, it is in this case, does not affect the subsequent trial and conviction by the Judge under the "speedy trials act." On arraignment the prisoner elected to be tried without a jury and pleaded not guilty, so that all the requirements of the criminal code were met. Motion refused and writ of habeas corpus superseded. O'Connell (Peterborough) for prisoner. Dymond for the Crown.

LAMBETH CONFERENCE ENCYCLICAL LETTER.

ISSUED BY THE BISHOPS WHO WERE IN ATTENDANCE.

It Deals with the Various Subjects which were Under Discussion—Interesting Remarks on the Letter by a Local Clergyman.

The great conference of Bishops in connection with the Anglican Church from all over the world at Lambeth terminated about the beginning of this month, and the Bishops have issued an Encyclical Letter upon the various subjects under discussion. This will be followed by further publications containing the resolutions passed, and the reports of the various committees.

It is a most interesting and promising feature of the Bishop's letter that they do not put denominational, nor even doctrinal, matters in the forefront, but deliberately "begin with the questions that affect moral conduct, inasmuch as moral conduct is made by our Lord the test of the reality of religious life."

Following these remarks, come their Lordships' utterances upon temperance, purity, sanctity of marriage, which "present themselves under the double aspect of justice between man and man and sympathy with human needs." The Bishops "think it their duty to press the great principle of the brotherhood of man, and to urge the importance of bringing that principle to bear on all the relations between those who are connected by the tie of a common employment." For International Arbitration there is a strong plea. "Arbitration in place of war saves the honour of the nations concerned, and yet determines the questions at issue with completeness."

Of ecclesiastical questions the foremost was the question of a more compacted organization of the Anglican Communion, which includes the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. The American Church opposes anything like a primacy of the See of Canterbury, and the English bishops wisely abstained from pressing the matter.

A SUBJECT OF MORE GENERAL INTEREST

is "The Critical Study of the Bible," upon which a brave and truth-loving pronouncement is made. "The critical study of the Bible by competent scholars is essential to the maintenance in the Church of a healthy faith. That faith is already in serious danger which refuses to face questions that may be raised either on the authority or the genuineness of any part of the Scriptures that have come down to us." "A faith which is always or often attended by a secret fear that we dare not enquire lest enquiry should lead us to results inconsistent with what we believe, is already infected with a disease which may soon destroy it." An absolutely boundless field is opened to the critics, the Bishops only appealing for what by most if not all English critics is observed, viz., reverence, confidence and patience.

On the Book of Common Prayer the Bishops' language is conservative, and unfavourable to change in the interests of any party or school of thought within the Church. On the other hand they look to greater latitude in the authorization of special forms of service for use on special occasions, since "no book can supply every possible need of worshippers in every variation of local circumstances."

After sundry remarks on Theological Study, the duty of the Church to the Colonies, and other subjects, the Bishops came to the question of the Unity of the Church. A committee has been appointed to open correspondence with a view to establish a clearer understanding and closer relations with the churches of the East. Friendly relations are to be cultivated with the Unitas Fratrum (the Moravian Brethren) and the Scandanavian Church. "We recommend that committees of Bishops be appointed everywhere to watch for and originate opportunities of united prayer and mutual conference between representatives of different Christian bodies."

The subject of Foreign Missions is fully dealt with by the Bishops, and warm sympathy is expressed with various reforming movements on the continent of Europe, in Mexico and Brazil. Altogether the Lambeth Encyclical of the Conference of 1897 is a notable document, and we shall anticipate with much interest the publication of the reports of the various committees.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

ODDFELLOWS EXCURSION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I was very sorry and very much surprised to see an article in your valued paper last evening, copied from a Rochester paper, publishing the conduct of two men who went on the Oddfellows' excursion to Rochester, which to my mind reflects discredit to the Oddfellows, by the way that it is worded, and also detrimental to their annual excursion.

If our American cousins desire to make sport of us as Canadians, I consider it no credit to you or any other citizen of our town to publish it. It would have been better to have let the article go for what it was worth.

If two toughs see fit to attend the Oddfellows excursion, they're just as likely to attend a church or Sunday school excursion and act no better. Therefore we do not feel responsible for any such actions, but feel hurt that you should show so little respect to your fellow citizens.

I did not attend the excursion myself, but on inquiry I can get no information of any two men described as they, but on the other hand every one that I have met were well pleased and delighted, and saw nothing to lead them to believe that anything of the kind ever occurred.

Yours truly,
JAS. EDGECUMBE,
Chairman of the Excursion Committee.
Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F.

[As Mr. Edgecumbe remarks the two individuals referred to might have acted in exactly the same manner if they had attended a church or Sunday school picnic. It would have reflected no discredit on such institutions and therefore none can possibly be reflected on the I.O.O.F., an Order whose main object of organization is for the advancement of such principles as tend to most benefit mankind. As to the veracity of the statement there can be no doubt, as the story was told by one of the participants in the affair to many of the citizens, who spoke of the matter to the EXAMINER before the article referred to was published.

DR. FOWLER'S EXT. OF WILD STRAWBERRY

BABY WAS CURED.

DEAR SIRS,—I can highly recommend Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It cured my baby of diarrhœa after all other means failed. We have great praise. It is excellent for all bowel complaints.

MRS. CHAS. BOTT, Harlow, Ont.

THE HEAD MASTER

THE FIRST SOD TURNED.

Mr. John Bergin, Q. C., Officiated at the Important Function Which His Brother Promoted Till His Death.

Cornwall, Aug. 23.—The first sod on the New York and Ottawa Railway was turned to-day by Mr. John Bergin, Q. C., brother of the late Dr. Bergin, M. P. for Stormont, who was the chief promoter of the scheme, which he devoted his entire capital and energy to, but death called him before he saw the fruits of his labor.

Mayor Nulhern opened the proceedings by paying a tribute to the late member. They were there consecrating what the late Dr. Bergin left unfinished owing to his death. He hoped the bridge, which will be built from the Canadian to the American shore, would cement the chain of friendship between the two countries.

Mr. Parker, the principal American promoter, followed. He promised the road would be pushed on as fast as money and men could do it, and he hoped with a good open fall that the work would be completed by Christmas.

Mr. J. G. Snetsinger, M. P., William Mack, ex-M. L. A., R. A. Pringle, D. B. Mackennan and others spoke briefly. After cheers for the Queen and the President of the United States the gathering dispersed.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fitonly for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

Machinery in Tall Buildings.

American enterprise in the erection of big buildings for business purposes has become known the world over. Twenty-five-storey structures have ceased to be startling wonders to inhabitants of the large cities of the United States, and "sky-scrapers" of even more commanding heights are the talk of many prospective builders. For the engineer these piles of stone and metal hold varied and important interests. From the beginning of their foundations his services are indispensable, and after completion the maze of machinery which they hold continues to require them, for advice as well as management. Like the modern ocean steamship, the large business building of the present day harbors, deep down, out of sight of all but the operating force, a magazine of power of which the proportions are but vaguely guessed at by the multitude above. Boilers, engines, dynamos and pumps there are in bewildering numbers, supplying heat, light and power to the upper regions through miles of pipe and wire; humming blowers and exhaust fans both supply and abstract air through many-branched ducts for ventilation purposes, and ice and refrigerating machines, too, often must have a place, all helping to make up a machinery equipment of magnificent extent. One measure of this—perhaps as good a one as can be given—is the money value of the outfit. In one building, a hotel structure, now going up in the city of New York, the cost of the steam power, heating and ventilating plant will be in the neighborhood of $250,000, or about £50,000, while that of the electric lighting installation will figure up to even more, $300,000, or about £60,000.—Cassier's Magazine.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

TORONTO'S FAST FIELDING.

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 23.—The game between Wilkes-Barre and Toronto was a battle of pitchers. Dineen, however, got the best support. The visitors took the lead in the fourth inning on Atherton's errors and Freeman's three-bagger. The Wilkes Barres could not score after the first inning. In the second McMahon was knocked insensible by a pitched ball. He was carried off the field and doctors say he is in a precarious condition. The ball struck him back of the right ear. Score:

Wilkes Barre	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	1	7	2
Toronto	0 0 0 2 0 0 1 0 x	3	6	1

THE OTHER GAMES.

At Buffalo—The Bisons showed the Scrantons how to do it, whitling by a score of 10 to 1. Double players were a feature of the game. Both Barry and Greenager put up remarkable plays in the infield. Score:

Buffalo	1 2 1 3 1 1 1 0 *	10	11	1

Batteries—Davies, Grey and Zahner, Johnson and Gunson.

At Providence—Syracuse batsmen had an interesting time with Hudson's pitching. It certainly was more interesting for them than for the home partisans. They were able to crack out hits hard and freely, and they netted five runs, while the Providence men only once up to the eighth inning managed to find an opening through which a hit could be sent safely. In the eighth a couple of singles, a base on balls and a couple of errors on sharp plays permitted Providence to score two runs. Markley pitched in fine form for Syracuse and had dashing support. Score:

Syracuse	0 0 3 0 1 1 0 0 *	5	12	3

Batteries—Hodson and Dixon; Malarkey and Ryan.

At Springfield—Springfield and Montreal played a doubleheader and broke even. The visitors batted Mains out of the box in the first game by piling up four earned runs in the second innings. Dolan went in and shut out the Canadians for the rest of the game. In the second game Mains did well for four innings, then went up in the air again, and he' to be taken out after two runs had been earned in the seventh and the bases were full with no one out. Korwan went in and retired the side without another run, but the Ponies were unable to bat out the game. Score:

DOUBLE HEADERS IN NATIONAL.

At New York—The Indians were in the lead in their half of the sixth inning when the rain began to fall. Tebeau wanted to stop, but Brodie said no, and the Giants tied the score on their return at bat. In the seventh the Clevelands got two more runs and it looked as though it was all over but bases on balls by Powell, a hit and some more bases by Young, who was substituted for Powell, followed by a wild pitch, gave the Giants three runs and the game. The game was featureless. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
New York	0 0 0 2 0 3 3 —	8	10	4
Cleveland	3 0 2 0 0 0 2 —	7	12	2

Batteries—Meekin and Wilson; Powell, Young and Zimmer.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn won two games from Pittsburg. One was a postponed game from the last trip. In the first Hawley was easy, while Payne kept his opponents' hits well scattered.

The second game was a pitcher's battle. Padden's fall after catching Jones' fly in the third innings, gave the run that won the game. Umpire Hurst was struck in the left temple with a foul tip from Donovan's bat in the fifth innings of the second. He fell like a log and for a time it was feared that he was seriously injured, but he recovered after 15 minutes. Score:

Batteries—Kennedy and A. Smith; Hughey and Sugden.

At Boston—The Bostons climbed two more rounds of the pennant ladder by winning both games from Louisville, the first of their series here. The first game was a slow, sleepy and lifeless one. Stafford and Dolan played wretched ball and their errors gave the Bostons all the runs they made. A fine catch by Clarke, a fine catch by Allen and a foul catch by Bergen were the only features. In the second game Boston opened on Clarke and pounded him unmercifully throughout the game. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
First game—
Boston	0 2 1 0 1 0 0 0 x	4	6	1

GREAT GAME—HAMS WON.

Hamilton, Aug. 23.—(Special.)—The Hamilton baseball team played a great game here to-day with the Londons. It was close and exciting. McGinnis and Johnson pitched well. London got the bases full in the seventh, with only one out, but they were retired without scoring by a clever double play. The score was:

Hamilton	2 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 *	3

M'KINLEY ON THE BOOM.

The President Rejoices at the Return of Prosperity and Gives Credit to the Republican Party.

New York, Aug. 23.—A despatch to The Journal from Hotel Champlain, New York, says: "President McKinley stated to a Journal reporter that it should be a source of pleasure to every American citizen to know that there was a return of prosperity to the country.

"The cause of the present boom in the west," he said, "is undoubtedly due in a great measure to the large crops and high prices caused by the failure of crops in other countries. But the fact that prosperity has set in in the east cannot be accounted for in any other way than by the wise policy of the Republican party in restoring a protective tariff. The present boom is not spasmodic, but will continue to increase, and not only the manufacturers but the people generally will soon realize that it is only with a protective tariff and sound financial principles that the country will be prosperous and remain in that condition. With the restoration of confidence will come a restoration of prosperity."

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

A Conference at Which Nothing Definite Was Arranged—Probability of an Agreement.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23.—The conference between the miners' officials and the Executive Committee of the coal operators began at 11 o'clock this morning. President Ratchford arrived in Pittsburg at 9 o'clock and said: "The statement that I had refused a conference is not correct. I am here now at the request of Mr Dolan. We will agree to the operators' proposition if they will pay 69 cents. It must be 69 cents or the strike will be continued until the demands are granted.

The conference ended at noon, after an agreement had been made for a general conference of operators and the miners' officials at 2 o'clock.

Probability of an Agreement.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23. The conference between the operators and miners adjourned shortly after 11 o'clock without having reached an agreement. Another conference is to be held to-morrow morning. President Ratchford of the Miners' Association said to-night that it is not unlikely that an agreement will be reached at to-morrow morning's meeting.

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

Hunter Street, Peterborough.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

"If any of ye know just cause or impediment why these two persons should not be joined together in Holy Matrimony, ye are to declare it, or forever after hold your peace." If physicians obeyed this solemn admonition in the marriage ceremony and protested with the honest and scientific reasons in the possession half of the unhappiness, sickness and death in the world would cease to exist. The man or woman who has developed symptoms of that dread disease consumption should not marry until cured. Consumption should bar the way to wedded life. It is a crime to transmit to future generations the death-dealing germs in the blood of the consumptive.

Many physicians pronounce consumption an incurable disease. In this they are mistaken as thousands will testify. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It corrects all disorders of the digestion. It promptly improves the appetite and makes it keen and hearty. It fills the blood with the tissue-building elements of the food, and acting directly upon the lungs, drives out all impurities and disease germs. It makes rich, pure blood, builds new, firm, healthy flesh, and strong, springy muscles. It soothes and invigorates the nerves. Thousands have testified to their permanent recovery from consumption through its use, after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. Druggists sell it and nothing else is "just as good."

There cannot be too many good, practical books in a home. Dr Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a good practical book for husbands, wives, mothers, daughters and sons. Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth binding, 50 stamps.

THERE IS A WORD.

There is a word 'tis written on the sky—
When some far meteor flashes on the night
Its all resplendent autograph of light:
We hear it as the wind goes rushing by.

A lonely bird with all untiring will,
Rising and sinking on our vision's line,
Translates it for us—or a mighty pine,
Shaking its plumes upon a distant hill.

An ominous cloud on hurrying dark and dense;
A wild flower straying in a forest nook;
The silver glitter of a mountain brook;
All these pronounce it to the mortal sense.

There is a word beloved of bond or free—
Nature's first gift and latest—Liberty.

—ADA IDDINGS-GALE.

THE BIG BLUE STEER.

The talk around the camp-fire turned upon the decadence of the range cattle business. Various theories had been broached, but Robert, the oracle, dissented from them all, and gave the following explanation:

"What ails cow-punching nowadays ain't the low price of cattle, for the best times we ever had on the range was ten years before steers went skyrocketing up to $75. And it is not settlers nor wire fences, though both are bad enough, and ought to be forbid by law. But this is the fellow that is responsible for everything," and Robert held up in the firelight a tobacco package showing the figure of a Durham bull.

"When stockmen began to grade up their herds," he continued, "they began to take the wind all out of their business, and the short horned, short-limbed, short-winded cattle that are raised now can't outrun a three-legged bronco nor go through a three-wire fence. When I first came into the range the stock was all Texan and Mexican, and their wind was as long as their horns. You could calculate that every thunderstorm would start a stampede, and I've known 'em to run forty miles without letting up.

"No, sir," he retorted to my expression of mild doubt: "I couldn't possibly do it for less. Why, boy, you don't know anything about real live cattle. Any school girl can handle stock now. Ask Scotty."

"Right you are," said Scotty, taking up the word; "you should have been with us down in the Panhandle 15 years ago. It used to take a grain-fed horse to get near enough a cow to see her brand. Those were the days. Did I ever tell you about the big blue steer? He was a daisy, and cost the outfit more than $1000.

"About the first year I worked down there, we noticed him on the beef-gather, fat and fine, and we took him in. He stayed in the herd quietly enough for several days; but one morning, after a dark night, he was missing, and we did not see him again until we rounded up the same range for beef again in the following year.

"That time we got him half way to the railroad, when he led a stampede that scattered the herd and cost us near a week of hard work to gather them.

"Every year for five years we found that steer on the same range, and started him out. After his bad character was established, each time that he got away the foreman would say: 'Shoot him on sight;' but we never did see him again until the following season, and then we would have another try at him.

"On those days we had a trail to the railroad which crossed a corner of the Indian reservation. It was against the regulations, but by giving them a fat cow occasionally we were allowed to use it, and saved a long drive around the reserve and 48 hours to the stock yards. One year some zabot went through with an infected herd, and several head died on the reservation. If the Indians had known it in time, I suppose they would have scalped the outfit. Anyhow, we happened to be the next party through, and they opened fire on us and scattered our stock. The big blue got back to his old hillside as usual. After that we drove to the railroad on the long trail. The Indians were pretty mean for a few years and claimed every hoof of stock found over the line. Some of the boys would want to take a pop at the rascals, but the foreman would always say, 'we're in the stock business exclusively. The Indian business is a good thing, but the two won't go together. You let them alone.'

"About the sixth year that we found the big blue and started him out, we got caught in a bad storm when within 20 miles of the railroad. I remember that night mighty well. We had a lively time, and the whole force was out all night, but we got through safely and did not lose a steer. Next day we laid over. The trail was soft from the heavy rain, and we were short-handed on account of sending three men to help out Ranger Jones, who was just ahead on the trail and had lost his horse herd.

"Our stock grazed all day and bedded down early. At sundown it looked like they were settled for the night. There were about 900 beeves in the bunch, and only five men and the cook to handle them. The foreman was with me on first relief. As we rode slowly around the herd, turning back the few stragglers that were still fussing, we noticed the big blue looking for a soft spot to lie down. With a jab of his glossy black horn, he invited first-comers to make way and not to crowd him. He must have been nine years old by that time, and was the biggest ox I ever saw. It is not the least use to tell you about the spread of his horns, because you never will believe it unless you see them, and you never will see them unless you go down to Texas and look them up in the statehouse.

"Well, that evening, with everything so peaceful and a cloudless sky, with the bunch only one day's drive from the railroad, it looked like we had a dead cinch on the big blue. 'It's the greatest wonder on earth,' I said to the foreman, 'that he didn't get away in the storm last night.'

"'Oh, he's too fat and lazy this year to do much running, I guess,' replied the foreman. 'But every man must keep his eye on him to-morrow. When we get in sight of the cattle pens he will try to pull out.'

"The big blue steer did not wait for a sight of the cattle pens. That night the second relief was the cook and a sooner. When they turned out and we turned in, every beef was lying down, but I had hardly smoked my night horse and rolled up in my blankets, when, with a crash of interfering horns, every beef was on foot. There seemed to come an instant's pause and silence, then, with a rush and a roar, the whole herd was heading toward the Indian reservation.

"'Every man to the saddle,' bellowed the foreman, springing up, 'and shoot that big blue steer on sight!'

"If there had been two men on guard instead of a sooner and a slush, the herd might possibly have been headed—but I don't know. They had rested up all day and now they were off for a record. By the time the men in camp could get under way the beeves were three miles ahead, and we never sighted them for five hours. They left a broad, plain trail in the softened ground, which we followed at as lively a pace as the horses could stand up to. About daylight we overtook the stragglers. We were now in the reservation, with the trail still heading away over the rolling prairie in nearly a straight line. All but two men had exhausted their mounts and fallen behind. For near two hours longer we urged our tired horses on, and at last, 60 miles from last night's camping ground, we tracked the herd right smack into a big corral, with a big padlock on the gate and a big, grinning buck Indian sitting on each gate post.

"After a big talk with the Indians at their village near by, the foreman got their demands for trespass reduced from $20 a head down to $1.50. Then they opened the gates and counted 760 head. Those fellows made us hold the stock two days on the reservation while they sent off and cashed the cheque. The scrape cost about $1000 in money and a week's time in getting back to the railroad. As I tell you, the bunch ran 60 miles without letting up, and they were pretty fresh at the end.

"The big blue? No, he was not in the corral, and I never saw him again.

"How do I know that his horns are in the Texas Capitol? Well, I don't exactly know it, but I know they ought to be, for they were the finest, biggest, blackest, longest horns ever worn by a Texas steer."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Ads. in 1692.

Houghton went the rounds of all professions, he himself announcing that he would first induce to advertise counsellors and attorneys, then surgeons and gardeners, lawyers, schools and wood-mongers, brokers, coaches and carriers in the order named. As a result of his industry and perseverence we find that a motley collection of articles was advertised in subsequent issues of his paper. Among these may be mentioned oxguts, hoops, onions, pictures, feathers, quilts, gherkins, masks, leather, painted sticks, sweet soap, Scotch coals and a host of other articles. It is evident that, owing to the efforts of Houghton, an appreciation of the benefits of newspaper advertising was beginning to become general. In fact, the advent and the work of Houghton mark an era in the evolution of newspaper advertising. The style he introduced was cumbersome and artificial, but he impressed on his contemporaries the great usefulness of the newspaper as an advertising medium. The advertising of the next century—the eighteenth—bears the impress of his work. Curiously enough, it did not make much improvement on his methods. It remained for the nineteenth century to advance the art to a higher plane.—Oscar Herzberg, in Lippincott's.

I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

Where Shells Are Still Money.

Persons who have traveled in Oriental countries have frequently encountered shell money. Many Americans have brought specimens of it home with them as souvenirs. Investigations by the director of the United States mint show that in many parts of Asia and Africa cowries, or small shells, are still used as a medium of exchange for small values. The cowrie in Siam is the smallest unit of value. It would take about 107 cowries to make one American cent. At the mint in Bangkok the range of values is as follows: Eight hundred cowries equal 1 fuang, 2 fuangs equal 1 salung, 4 salungs equal 1 bat or teal, and 1 bat or teal equals about 61 cents of United States money. In Siam 219 or 220 cowries are reckoned equal to 1 penny sterling.—New York Times.

ECZEMA ON HANDS

Completely Covered, and Between the Fingers Skin Perfectly Raw.

Husband Had to Dress and Undress Her Like a Baby.

Physicians' Medicines Drove Her Almost Crazy.

Hears of CUTICURA. Husband Goes Twenty Miles for It.

First Application Gives Perfect Ease in Five Minutes, and a Night's Sound Sleep.

My hands were completely covered with Eczema, and between my fingers the skin was perfectly raw. I had to sit with both hands held up, and away from the fire. My husband had to dress and undress me like a baby. I tried the best physicians, but their medicines gave me no relief, and drove me almost crazy. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, although my home was twenty miles to get them. As soon as they came back, I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first application gave me perfect ease, and I slept soundly all that night. Before I commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES I could get no ease night or day. I could not bear to get warm, it would put me in a rage of itching. I always keep CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house now, and recommend them to everybody, because of their wonderful effect. Yours gratefully,

Mr. Main is getting along with his building contract nicely, the new brick residence on Mark and Elizabeth streets. It will improve that part of the town very much, as the vacant lot was looking shabby with weeds before he commenced operations on Wednesday.

Complaints are made that we have no railroad accommodation for passengers nearer town than Nassau, going to Lakefield. We think we should have one train a day each way at least. Why not, G.T.R. manager.

Before the Board opened President Drummond asked that the salesmen ascertain from their makers what benefit was received from the visits of the instructor. The makers would soon be leaving or changing at the close of the season and this should be attended to at once.

Secretary Galvin emphasized Mr. Drummond's remarks, stating that the Board wanted to know exactly what was thought of the present instructer. The communications in this respect would be considered as strictly private.

Mr. Cook opened at 9c., and Mr. Brower raised to 9¼. Mr. Cook went to 9⅜, and Mr. Wm. Cluxton raised to 9½, Mr. Bromer raising to 9⅝, and Mr. Cooke going a sixteenth better. Mr. Whitton offered 9¾. Mr. Brower went a sixteenth better, and Mr Rollins went to 9⅞. Mr. Brower offered 9 15 16, and Mr. Rollins 10; Mr. Brower again raised a sixteenth and was capped in time by Mr. Rollins, who offered 10⅛, and took Shearer, Westwood, Norwood, Myrtle, Cedardale, Ormonde, Maple Leaf and Melrose Abbey.

Mr. Whitton reopened the bidding by offering 7⅛. Mr. Cook rose to 9 15-16, and Mr. Fitzgerald to 10c. Mr. Cook then offered 10 1 16, and named Keene, Peterborough, Benefort and Daisy D, which accepted, and Lakefield and Pine Grove refused.

Mr. Whitten reopened at 9 3 4, and Mr. Fitzgerald went to 7-8, Mr. Whiten raising to 15-16 and Mr. Fitzgerald going 10 cents, and calling Lakeview, Trewern, Central Smith and Lang, which accepted. Pine Grove and Lakefield refused.

Mr. Wrighton started the bidding again by offering 9 3-4 for further selections. Mr. Whitten went to 9 7 8 and Mr. Wrighton to 9 15-16, naming Warminster, which accepted, and Warsaw, Mount Pleasant and Fleetwood, which refused.

Mr. Whitton offered 9 3-4 for selections, and Mr. Wrighton went an eighth better, and named Warsaw, Missing Link, Lakefield and Mount Pleasant, all of which refused.

Mr. Whitton offered 9 7 8, naming Kendal and Orono, which accepted, and Fleetwood, Blackstock, Darlington Union and Campbellford, which refused.

Mr. Cook offered 10 1 16c for Pontypool, which was accepted.

Darlington Union sold to Mr. Whitton at 9 7-8.

Robertson's Mixed Floor and House Paints still lead all other makes in giving perfect satisfaction. They are never sticky, nor do they peel off, but dry hard, bright and glossy. If they require thinning use only the oil sold by the agents. Poor oil, as well as poor paints, never dry satisfactorily and will not wear. Robertson's Paints that were used two years ago, look better to-day than other paints used this year. 2aw-w

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

CAREY, The Shoe Architect, SHOP—450 George Street.

Big prices and fat monopolies must go. The People's Grocery Store is doing the business. The public know when they are well served and come in crowds to the store, 323 George street, where they get the good things to eat; nice people to wait upon them. Our lessor called this week to see us and was surprised to see the store packed with goods, and has intimated to us that he will extend our facilities for doing business. As a result the plumbers, painters and paperhangers are at work. A line of new shelving must go up as we have no place to display goods. All we want is a visit from the people. All are invited—rich and poor come and buy. Quoting prices is a mockery. AN ASSASSIN'S WORK

The President of Uruguay Shot Down in the Street

DURING A FETE IN MONTEVIDEO

While the People Were Celebrating Independence, Joy the Tragedy Was Enacted—The Assassin Captured—Political Dissatisfaction at the Bottom of the Trouble.

Montevideo, Aug. 25.—During a national fete, which was held here to-day, President J. Idiarte Borda was shot and killed by an assassin, who used a revolver.

Senor J. Idiarte Borda was elected President of Uruguay for the term extending from March, 1894, to 1898.

The fete at which he was assassinated was being held in celebration of the independence of Uruguay, which was declared on Aug. 25, 1825.

The assassin is a youth named Arredondo.

President Borda died almost immediately after he was shot. Senor Curtas, president of the Senate, has assumed the presidency of the Republic ad interim.

Washington Not Surprised.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—The assassination of President Borda of Uruguay was not altogether a surprise to officials here who have watched the recent outbreaks in Uruguay. This is the second attempt on the President's life, the former being made by a crazy student named Revecca. The last mail advices received here showed that the revolution had broken out afresh, the peace delegates from the insurgents having given up the hope of securing peace, and withdrawn to the Argentine Republic. Further agitation was occasioned by the reports that the Government receipts had shrunk $1,000,000 during the year as a result of the revolution. The last issue of The Montevideo Times received here states that the President remained away from the state house in evident fear of his life. At the same time a "colorado," or junta of those seeking to overthrow the Government, had established active operations at the capital. The assassination of the President will doubtless bring the country to a revolutionary crisis, which has long been impending. The revolution thus far has been confined to the country districts, where several extensive engagements had been fought, the Government forces securing the advantage.

There is no Uruguayan representative in Washington.

TORONTO MAN DROWNED.

J. Chapman, Jr., Lost His Life and M. B. Jackson, Jr., Had a Narrow Escape While Bathing.

Sutton, Ont., Aug. 25.—A sad accident occurred to-day at the Sand Islands, off the southeast corner of Georgina Island, Lake Simcoe. Messrs. George A. Chapman, jr., and M. B. Jackson, jr., of Toronto, who have been visiting at Jackson's Point since Saturday, were bathing off a sailboat. Mr. Chapman exclaimed that he was seized with cramps. Mr. Jackson endeavored to swim t ohim, but the heavy sea running proved too strong for him, and he then turned and, reaching the boat, tried to hoist the sail and reach his friend. Unfortunately, the boat capsized, throwing Mr. Jackson into the water.

Some Indians, whose attention in some way had been called, then came out and righted the boat and picked up Mr. Jackson, but by this time all trace of Mr. Chapman had disappeared.

The body has not at the time of writing been recovered. Young Mr. Jackson, who was completely exhausted, was taken back by the Indians to his boarding house on the mainland.

Toronto, Aug. 26.

The young man mentioned in the above despatch as being drowned is an only son of Mr. George A. Chapman, formerly manager of the Belle Ewart Ice Company, who resides at 46 Maple avenue, Rosedale. He and Mr. Jackson, who also lives in Rosedale, left last Saturday for Jackson's Point, intending to return on Tuesday, but the drowned young man telegraphed his father that he did not feel well and would remain at Jackson's Point until Thursday. His father was apprised of the sad accident about 10 o'clock last night, and at once made arrangements to leave this morning for the scene of the accident with Constable Williams to search for the body. The young man was 22 years of age and was employed with his father in the grain business. He was in delicate health, his heart being weak, and it is thought by his parents that this had something to do with the accident, as he was a good swimmer.

IT IS WAR TO THE KNIFE.

Coal Operators Decide to Call Off Their Committees and Fight the Battle Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 25.—Representatives of all the coal operators in the Pittsburg district met at the Monongahela House to-day and adopted the following resolution:

"Inasmuch as the efforts we have made to bring this strike to an end have failed, and that now there is no possibility of a settlement on the lines of conciliation and arbitration, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we have no course left open but to continue the struggle along the lines that may appear to be most productive of the results desired in the interests of miner and operator alike.

"Resolved, That we discharge all committees and adjourn sine die."

WHEAT RALLIED YESTERDAY.

Bulls and Bears Had a Tussle, and After a Dip the Cereal Rose to 98 3-4 Cents.

New York, Aug. 25. — There was a pause in the downward movement of wheat prices to-day, and at the best point of the session a rise of 4c a bushel from yesterday's close, but still 3 1-2c under the highest figure of the year on December. The market started out with bulls in control, and a spirited competition for wheat between local shorts and Continental houses. Prices run up to 98 on this bulge, against 95 3-4 last night, but on a succeeding cloud of selling orders on realizing and short account dipped to 96 1-4, from which it rose steadily, reaching 99 3-4 in the early afternoon on good all-around buying, led by Chicago. Cable news was bearish with the single exception of Liverpool, which, after opening 3d lower, rallied 1 1-4d to 1 1-2d, and then easing off slightly closed at 2 1-2d to 2 3-4d less from last night. Paris markets opened and closed lower, the final figures being 35 to 37 points off on wheat, and 65 centimes to 1 franc lower on flour. Antwerp was 1 point lower for the day, and Berlin unofficially 8 marks lower, so that with the exception of early foreign buying and the Liverpool rally to-day's European cable news was detrimental to confidence on the bull side. Near the close the market was firmly sustained by rumors that exporters had picked up something like 800,000 bushels at New York and outports to-day. Final figures for the day were at 2 3-4c to 3c advance over last night. Sentiment after change was rather partial to the bull side of the idea that prices have had a sharp enough break to shake out a great lot of burdensome long wheat, allowing the market to rest on a healthy basis again. Total transactions to-day were upwards to 14,000,000 bushels. At the close No. 1 Northern New York was quoted nominally at 1.09 3-4 f.o.b. afloat. The corn market was active and higher, with wheat gaining 7-8c to 1c for the day. September ranged from 33 3-4 to 34 7-8, and closed at 34 5-8. The range on September wheat was from 98 to 1.01 1-2, closing 1.00 3-4. December sold from 96 1-4 to 99 3-4, and closed at 98 1-2. On the curb December sold up to 99 1-4.

Twenty Women Killed.

Madrid, Aug. 25.—Twenty women were killed to-day owing to an accident to an apparatus used for raising water at Moncada, Province of Valencia, on the Moncada River.

BOY FELL INTO A WELL.

He Was Nearly Exhausted When the Neighbors Fished Him Out.

Chatham, Aug. 25.—An almost miraculous escape from drowning occurred yesterday evening. The 3-year-old son of Hiram Winegarden fell into six feet of water at the bottom of a 30-foot well. The child was a long time in the water clinging to a projecting brick and roaring lustily. Mr. Houston, passing within reach of the cries, saw the exhausted youngster still feebly holding on to the brick. No ladder was to be had, but he lowered a pole with a small nail near the end, and managed to hook the nail in the boy's coat under the arm, and kept the boy's head above water until the neighbors with a rope fished him out.

General Strike of Cloak Makers.

New York, Aug. 25.—The general strike of the cloakmakers of this city and vicinity has been ordered. The 12,000 cloakmakers in the Brotherhood will be called out to-morrow. More than 5000 went out this afternoon.

Three Men Instantly Killed

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 23.—Three men were instantly killed and eight injured by the explosion of a boiler at the brick yard of W. R. Halliday to-day. Those dead are Riley Bradley, engineer; Gideon Ricks, Henry Schiller. All the killed and injured were negroes, except Schiller. None of the injured will die. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Williams Says It Was Blood.

New York, Aug. 23.—Professor R. A. Witthaus says the stains on articles found in the Woodside cottage, in which Guldensuppe is supposed to have been murdered, were made by human blood.

Will Build a Railroad Through the White Pass.

SURVEYORS ARE NOW AT WORK

They Expect to Finish in Two Weeks, and it is Hoped That the Railroad Will be Completed Next Year, Giving a Good Route to the Klondike Gold Fields.

Skaguay, Alaska, Aug. 17, via Seattle, Wash., Aug. 25. A civil engineer of Juneau, C. E. Garthside, and six assistants are now surveying the White Pass in the interest of an English syndicate, which intends to run a railroad from Skaguay, the entrance to the pass, to Taku Arm, a distance of 68 miles, and eventually to the Hootalinqua River, 110 miles. E. A. Bellinghurst of Victoria is one of the principal promoters of the scheme. This road, when completed, will form the shortest and quickest route to the Yukon country, and it is the intention of the company to build wharves and warehouses at Skaguay.

The highest altitude of the road will be at the summit of the White Pass, 2000 feet. The summit is about 20 miles from Skaguay. The surveying party has been at work since July 28, and expects to have the survey completed in two weeks. They are now 12 miles up the river. Although the exact cost cannot be estimated, it is known that the road will cost more per mile than other railroads, but as the trail is the natural outlet from the Yukon, the promoters expect to reap large returns.

The present trail over the pass used so much at present by in-going miners was cut by this company with the idea of diverting the travel from Dyea and the Chilcoot trail, and they made an attempt to prevent professional packers from charging more than 15 cents a pound. In this, however, they were unsuccessful, as the rate is now 30 cents.

Mr. Garthside states that it will be impossible for more than one-quarter of the people now on the trail to reach the Klondike this year. Work on the railroad will be commenced in the spring, and the road to Taku will probably be completed in seven months from then.

Skaguay is destined to be a large town, and should the railroad become an assured fact it will distance Juneau as an outfitting and general commercial point. Many of the Juneau merchants have opened branch stores here already. The great majority of people arriving cannot possibly get down the river this year, and those of them who already realize this fact are locating lots in Skaguay and starting to build. In a year the town will undoubtedly contain 2500 or 5000 inhabitants. The various paths and trails leading through the forest have been christened, and the infant town has a Broadway and several avenues.

The White Pass in its present condition is practicable for the entire distance to Lake Bennett, and a man without a pack can go over it in 24 hours. Pack animals can traverse it with a load of 150 pounds, and it seems to be the better trail for those who have brought horses with them.

For the miners who have no horses, the Chilcoot Pass comes preferable.

Frank Slavin, the pugilist, is reported to have been the first man to emerge at the Taku. His outfit, however, was badly broken up by the packers, and he refused to pay for its transportation.

OVERLAND TO THE YUKON.

Controller Fred White is Anxious to Get His Police Party Away.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—Mr. Fred White, Controller of the Northwest Mounted Police, is making every effort to secure the immediate leaving of a party of police, who are to make the overland trip to the Yukon from Edmonton, and it is probable that they will be on the trail by this day week.

The party will consist of five men and an officer, but it is doubted both here and at Regina if they will be able to get through before winter.

The route as far as St. John, or Fort Nelson, will be comparatively easy, but after that the difficulties will arise. From Toad River to Black River Rapids the route is said to be immensely difficult, canyons, rapids and a six hundred-foot deep valley combining to form what Dr. Dawson has stigmatized as the worst piece of river he ever saw.

Advices from Edmonton state that numbers of people have gone through in that direction.

An Enormous Output of Coal.

According to statistics prepared by The Engineering and Mining Journal, the output of bituminous coal in the United States during 1896 reached a total of 141,770,000 short tons, (2000 pounds), showing a gain over 1895 of 4,371,752 tons. On the other hand, there was a decrease of 6,782,057 short tons in the anthracite production. The total coal production was, therefore, 193,351,027 tons, and the total decrease as compared with 1895, was 2,410,305 tons. The production of coke showed a gain of 445,276 tons, chiefly due to the activity of the iron and steel trade in the earlier part of the year.

Scurvy Can Be Avoided.

Nansen's expedition places scurvy, the much-dreaded disease to the explorers and military expeditions, in a new light. Dr. Torup, of Christiania, had reached the conclusion that scurvy must arise from poisoning, due to the development, in badly preserved meat and fish of matter allied in the so-called ptomaines. This view led to the careful selection of the food in Nansen's equipment. The results have confirmed Dr. Torup's theory, showing that scurvy can be easily avoided and leading to the hope that a more complete investigation will be made.

Quackery is always discovering remedies which will act upon the germs of disease directly and kill them. But no discovery has ever yet been approved by doctors which will cure consumption that way. Germs can only be killed by making the body strong enough to overcome them, and the early use of such a remedy as Scott's Emulsion is one of the helps. In the daily warfare man keeps up, he wins best, who is provided with the needed strength, such as Scott's Emulsion supplies.

AS TO MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

ALTHOUGH as a rule, municipal ownership and management of public works, such as water, gas and electrical works, is unsatisfactory to the verge of failure, yet there are rare exceptions. The often-quoted city of Glasgow is one; and the good town of Welland another example of corporate bodies restraining the impulse to interference with the expert management of works such as those mentioned, and by consequence, almost, examples of successful ownership. Reference is made particularly to the waterworks system put in and owned by the town of Welland. The works were put in several years ago under the superintendence of Mr. William Kennedy, C. E., and they are now a source of revenue, and give a complete and excellent service to the town. From an engineering point of view and in excellence of construction, and, therefore, of operation, the works are in every way satisfactory. They cost some fifty thousand dollars and the interest charge of $2,000 per year, and $800 for sinking fund, are met from revenue after deducting expenses of management, maintenance, etc. Besides, the hydrant service, consisting of thirty hydrants costs virtually nothing, for the town is not charged with it. Practically, therefore, roughly speaking, the Welland system of waterworks, with all expenses paid, putting hydrants at $35 each, yields a net profit of nearly $3,500, and the officials—the town treasurer and superintendent of the works hope—and past experience seems to justify their expectations, that in a few years the profits from their waterworks will pay the entire cost of their Public Schools and the town's share of the High School. This satisfactory condition, actual and prospective, is due in part to the fact of the expenses of management and maintenance being reduced to a minimum (about $600 or $700 per year) and very largely to the town wisely allowing the engineer in charge a free hand and wisely refraining from interference with him in the discharge of his duties. This condition is hardly conceivable in some towns that we know of, and unless this can be secured the municipal ownership of waterworks is sure to result in failure.

Welland is certainly to be congratulated upon getting into the same class as Glasgow in the matter of water works management, and the common sense of her representatives in leaving a matter requiring expert knowledge to an expert is worthy of great praise. Her experiment with civic water works is no longer an experiment. Its success has disarmed the opposition of those who at one time were its enemies, and what is vastly better, the health of the town is so greatly improved by the general use of good water that a case of a zymotic disease is as rare as a four-leaf clover.

NO GROUND OF ATTACK.

The Conservative managers of Ontario have issued a programme containing a long list of vague promises, but it will be difficult to get the public to endorse their "paper."

The only plank of their platform that is really consistent from their point of view is the cry "It is time for a change"—a case of the wish being father to the thought. The Conservatives cannot attack the Liberal Government of Ontario on the score of its record of administration. The record of the Government is impregnable and compared with it the record of the Opposition for the same period is as a rush light to the king of day. The St. Thomas Journal thus summarizes Hon. Mr. Ross' remarks on the subject:—In his speech at the banquet in honour of Hon. A. S. Hardy, at Brantford, Hon. G. W. Ross made some pertinent remarks regarding this demand for a change. He pointed out that the Liberal governments of Ontario have spent $70,000,000 in public works in twenty-five years and he fearlessly dared the Opposition to show that a dollar has been spent corruptly or dishonestly. Year after year this challenge has been made in the Legislature and in its public accounts committee, on the public platform and through the press, but it has never been answered. The Liberals have subsidized over three thousand miles of railway and not a dollar of those subsidies has gone, with the approval or knowledge of the Government, otherwise than to the construction and maintenance of the railway for which it was intended. Likewise, it was pointed out that while bridges have been built by the score, even by the hundred, there is not a Curran bridge among them, nor has there been a whisper of scandal in connection with the expenditure of $8,000,000 on public works, including the parliament buildings. Mr. Ross further said:

"I want the leader of the Opposition to go over the record of this Government for twenty-five years—in the administration of justice, of public works and of the treasury—and place his hand upon a single transaction that indicates want of capacity or want of business power."

The Ontario Government has been religiously close-fisted in its care of the public money, so much so that it is impossible for the Opposition to point to an instance where money has been squandered. Not even has this been the case in the matter of public works, and particularly in the erection of the new parliament buildings. The late Hon. C. F. Fraser was a terror to contractors; he demanded vouchers for every cent spent and set a face of flint against any attempt to grab money by the "extras" that are generally so fruitful in the case of large erections of this kind.

The Conservative party cry for a change, but they want a change only for the sake of a change.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

WITH wheat at or near the dollar mark, and 10 cents plus for cheese, the farmer begins to see a little break in the clouds.

KLONDICITIS, as suggested by one of our correspondents, seems to be quite a proper term for the disease that is at present afflicting so many.

IF Sir Wilfrid Laurier should accept all the invitations that are showered upon him to open agricultural exhibitions, he will be as busy this fall as he was last summer in Britain.

THE EXAMINER has received a copy of "The Westminster," a paper published under Presbyterian auspices. With it is amalgamated that sterling religious publication, the Presbyterian, and "The Westminster" becomes a magazine-newspaper, claiming to "combine the solidity of the magazine with the freshness of the newspaper." And a glance at its very interesting contents seems to amply justify this claim, and attest its merit to the general and loyal support of the great Presbyterian Church in Canada. A special department, "The Religious World," deals in a liberal and kindly spirit with the interests of other denominations, and must serve a noble purpose in promoting the spirit of catholicity that should animate all those who serve God, though in differing ways, under the One who is "our Master, even Christ." "The Westminster" seems to reflect the religious spirit of the age, while, at the same time, it is true to the interests of the branch of the Christian Church whose welfare it specially exists to advance.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favor.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

OFFICERS ON LEAVE

Ordered to Join Their Regiments in India at Once.

A GRAVE CRISIS HAS TO BE FACED

Report of Massacre of Sepoys Not Confirmed
Afghan Ameer Swears Fealty to the British Cause Price George to Visit Canada—Cruelty of the Turks—Cable News.

Simla, Aug. 25.—All the British army officers on leave of absence have been ordered to rejoin their regiments immediately.

It is officially announced to-day that Fort Ali-Musjid, in the Khyber Pass, was evacuated, after eleven of the garrison, composed of Khyber Rifles (native levies) had deserted. No news has been received of the remainder of the garrison, and there is no confirmation of the report that the Afridis have massacred three hundred of the force. Ali Musjid was afterwards burned by the enemy.

Fort Jehangera, which has been occupied by the Afridis, is only a tower and not of much importance.

A force of 4000 Afridis has advanced to Lukarai, twelve miles from Fort Bara, which is southeast of Jumrud. General Elles will attempt to cut off the retreat of the enemy.

The insurgents are reported to be short of food and ammunition.

Ameer Swears Friendship.

Simla, Aug. 25.—The British agent at Cabul reports that the Ameer held a convention of chiefs on the 17th inst. and read the protest of Lord Elgin, the Indian Viceroy, against the complicity of Afghan subjects in the outbreaks of the Indian tribes on the frontier, and then read his own reply to it, following this with a solemn declaration, attested by an oath, that he would always maintain friendly relations with the British Government.

A GRAVE CRISIS

With Which the Government of India Will Have to Grapple.

Bombay, Aug. 25, 11 p.m.—The latest despatches received from the front indicate that the situation on the frontier is getting worse. It is evident that the Indian Government must face a grave crisis, involving heavy expenditures, and probably great loss of life.

The Government is confronted with the following state of affairs: Khyber Pass has fallen into the hands of the Afridis; the posts in Kurram Valley are threatened by the powerful tribe of the Orakzais; the Mohmund tribesmen are meditating a renewal of hostilities around Fort Shabkadr, while thousands of troops are engaged in crushing the revolt in the valley, and two large brigades are holding the Tochi Valley.

Mahud Maziris are again restless. The authorities are convinced that Fort Ali-Musjid could only have fallen after desperate fighting, as the native garrison of Khyber Rifles, grand fighters, was made up of men who rendered valuable assistance in the Black Mountain expedition of 1888.

The fall of the fort is a very serious blow, for it isolates Fort Lundi-Kotal, which is at the extreme end of Khyber Pass, garrisoned by 300 rifles, and necessitates the prompt re-conquest of the pass. This is certain to prove a most formidable task, of which the British troops had a foretaste on Monday, when a boyd of artillery, cavalry and infantry left Fort Bara, south of Peshawur, in order to repel the Afridis, who were then advancing down the Bazi Valley. The troops returned early in the morning and reported that many of their men had dropped out from want of water, none being provided along the route, while the Afridis, although shelled by the British, maintained their position on the heights, threatening the loyal village of Kadam and the British position at Fort Jamrud, at the mouth of the pass.

The wildest excitement prevails among the Hindoo traders at Bana, on the Kurram River. It is rumored that 7000 Wazirs intend to swoop down there to-night, sack the town and massacre the inhabitants. The Mullah and his emissaries, especially those from the Afghan Governor of Khost, are actively stirring up the Waziris, who are also affected by the disloyal attitude of the Kurram tribes, and emboldened by the knowledge that the garrison at Bana is very weak.

There is one ground for satisfaction in the fact that, except in a few instances, the Afridis' levies remain loyal in the face of temptation to join their kinsmen, as was so conspicuously the case at Fort Maude.

Somewhat more hopeful intelligence comes from the Swat Valley, where the Ponerwals have opened up peace negotiations. The authorities expect that this will have a widespread influence, especially if it is followed up by submission.

FAURE AND RUSSIA.

A March Past of Troops and a Luncheon and Love Feast.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—The Czar, Czarina and President Faure and their respective suites witness the march past of 50,000 troops at the Krasno Selo camp to-day. The spectacle was most imposing. As the Imperial Guard passed the grand stand, the Czar cried: "Thank you, my men."

At the luncheon which followed President Faure toasted the Czar and Czarina and the Russian army, to which he said he brought the greetings of his countrymen.

The Czar replied by toasting "Our Friends of The Valiant French Army."

Both bands were honored standing and the Marseillaise and the Russian Hymn were played.

France and the Price of Wheat.

Paris, Aug. 25. Premier Meline, addressing the delegates to the General Council of the Department of the Seine, and the municipality of Paris, to-day, on the rise in the price of wheat, declared he would submit the question to the cabinet, stating that he would not hesitate to reduce the tariff if the rise was genuine and not speculative.

POWERS IN A TANGLE.

Germany Opposes Salisbury's Proposal and is Supported by Austria.

Constantinople, Aug. 25. The question of the peace settlement between Greece and Turkey has become the subject of negotiations direct between the European Cabinets. Germany objects to the Marquis of Salisbury's proposal that Greece should be asked to state precisely what means she possesses for paying the indemnity, and insists upon the signing of the peace preliminaries as already framed. Austria partly shares Germany's views and Italy will adhere to Germany's policy if the powers agree upon it. Russia and France are inclined to support the Marquis of Salisbury.

HORRIBLE CRUELTIES.

An Armenian Whipped Unmercifully and Sent on Rack and Tortured.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Petite Republique despatch from Constantinople says:

The prisons are crowded with Armenians and Turkish Liberals, who have been arrested on suspicion. On Sunday last eighty of these prisoners were placed in the subterranean dungeons of Galata.

The Armenian who exploded a bomb in the Turkish Government offices has been tortured and whipped until he was covered with blood, and the soles of his feet have been burned. Yet he refused to confess.

The situation in the provinces is horrible. Six soldiers at Toschkssebia outraged some nuns and cut off the hands and feet of two of them. They tied the others to trees and abandoned them.

DEARNESS OF BREAD

Is a Matter That is at Present Causing Uneasiness in England.

London, Aug. 25.—Prospective dearness in the price of bread is causing uneasiness here. Already some of the London bakers have put on an extra half-penny a loaf, and it is expected the rest will quickly follow their example. Mark Lane has advanced in sympathy with New York, and millers will advance prices with Mark Lane, and the local bakers with the millers. The only Londoner who will suffer is the bread consumer, and that, of course, means everybody in London.

On Exchange yesterday wheat was from 5d to 6d dearer than a week ago, and the probabilities pointed to no immediate fall. Flour was 4d dearer on the week. The official report, which is not given to extravagant flights of fancy, describes the market as "excited." Such a phrase from such a source is significant.

The corn market at Liverpool Tuesday was marked by great excitement, values rapidly moving upward. Eight shillings per 100 pounds was passed during the session. American cablegrams of a disappointing character caused a slight reaction towards the close, but the final rates showed a very substantial rise on the day for spot parcels; for moderate quantities changing hands a further advance of from 3d to 4d per cental was established. Up to Saturday the stocks in warehouse at Liverpool showed a decrease of 7000 tons.

KRUGER'S OMINOUS SPEECH.

The Boers Will Not Acknowledge the Suzerainty of Great Britain.

Pretoria, South African Republic, Aug. 25.—At a meeting of the Volksraad to-day President Kruger delivered a speech which is likely to cause the greatest excitement in Great Britain. During the course of his remarks the President said that the relations between Great Britain and the South African Republic were regulated at the convention of 1884. He added that in the convention of November, 1881, a reference to the suzerainty of Great Britain did not appear, but that in the next convention, that of 1884, not a single word appeared bearing precisely upon that point, and since then the suzerainty had ceased to exist.

This did not do away with the fact that the South African Republic and the whole nation recognized the convention, and would endeavor to maintain it entirely, but they could not recognize the suzerainty of Great Britain, because it was entirely opposed to that convention. They wished to maintain friendly relations with the whole world, and in this way race hatred would gradually disappear. Wherever love dwelt, said the President in conclusion, the blessing of God would follow.

President Kruger's remarks were greeted with loud applause.

WHOLESALE LYNCHING.

Six Men Swung Into Eternity by an Enraged Mob—The Lynched Men are Negroes.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 25.—If the report which reached here to-day should be true, a wholesale lynching, which, for the number of men put to death without process of law, has probably never been paralleled in the annals of crime, has taken place in Cleburne County, where, according to the report, six men were swung into eternity last night by a maddened and enraged mob of citizens of that county. One negro, guilty of criminal assault, was burned in his own home by a posse of deputy sheriffs in Drew County Sunday night and Tuesday morning the lifeless body of a negro murderer was found dangling from a railroad trestle near Pine Bluff. Last night six of the murderer's companions were taken to jail at Rison, and to-day comes the report that the entire half-dozen were lynched last night. All efforts to verify this report have so far proved futile, but there are reasons to believe that it is true.

A terrible riot occurred at a negro picnic near Kendall, on Saturday. There was much drunkenness among the negroes and two white men were attacked and terribly cut by a mob of the picnickers. One of these men, S. T. Johnson, a very prominent white man, died of his wounds. The white citizens became enraged at the negroes and took matters in their own hands and the two ringleaders in the riot were arrested and turned over to the mob. Quick work was made of one of them, but the other escaped, after being shot several times. Not satisfied, the enraged citizens began searching for other members of the rioters of the picnic party and six more were gathered in.

They were arrested at daylight and the officers started with them to jail at Rison, the county seat. The report that the sextuple lynching has already occurred reaches here through passengers arriving from Pine Bluff, which place is only a short distance from the scene of excitement.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Mr. W. H. Law, C.E., Handsomely Remembered by His Friends.

Last evening a number of the employees of the Bridge Works waited upon Mr. W. H. Law, the late Managing Director, at his residence, and presented him with the following

ADDRESS:

To Wm. H. Law, Esq., C. E.

The employees of the Central Bridge and Engineering Company, Limited, upon the severance of your connection with the works, desire to avail themselves of this opportunity of expressing to you their keen appreciation of the kindness received from you in the past. Those of us who have been connected with your works since their inception in the town of Peterborough, over fifteen years ago, fully realize the amount of ability and perseverance required to place these works in a position to successfully compete with the long established bridge firms of Canada, and in their own particular line, to occupy a place second to none, as shown by the important works recently completed by the company.

We join in wishing you and Mrs. Law all possible success and prosperity in the future, and beg that you will accept these slight memorials of our esteem and regard.

Signed on behalf of the employees.

GEO. BAKER, A. CRAIG,
J. DAYNARD, WM. FOSTER, jr.,
JOHN GLENN, F HAMILTON,
R ROBSON, C STEVENS,
C. DAWSON, THOS. JEVONS,
W. J. FRANCIS.

Peterborough, Ont., Aug. 25, '97.

The mementoes mentioned consist of a splendid gold watch chain and locket, with monogram, combining the letters, W. H. L., and on the obverse a suitable inscription. The gift to Mrs. Law is a beautiful gold ring set with a solitaire diamond.

Mr. Law in reply to the address said that though it was entirely unexpected, he, as well as Mrs. Law, fully and heartily appreciated it. He was the more gratified because he had in the address evidence that some success had attended the efforts he had made to make the position of the employees as pleasant as possible. He appreciated the kind words of the address as much as he did the beautiful gifts, and although his connection with the employees was severed for the present, he assured them that if it was ever in his power, and he hoped it would be in the near future, to give work to any that sought it, it would give him the greatest pleasure to do so. Mr. Law concluded by again thanking the deputation, for himself and Mrs. Law, for their much valued address and beautiful presents.

Mr. Law is at present engaged in connection with several patents he holds for England, Canada and the United States, and employs his leisure in connection with others.

THE BREWERY PICNIC.

The Yearly "Sunday Out" of the Employees of Calcutt's Brewery.

Yesterday was a great day for the employees of Calcutt's Brewery. It was the annual picnic and excursion, and about 200 of their friends joined them in a delightful day at Jubilee Point. The steamer City of Peterborough took down the crowd, and Butcher's orchestra on board furnished excellent music for dancing en-route and on the grounds. Everything passed off pleasantly and the enjoyment of the day had a vim and spontaniety —as it were a "bead" as lively as rises on the lager brewed at the establishment of the employees.

THE BASEBALL BOUT.

The baseball match between Cobourg and Peterborough was fast and interesting from start to finish and kept the spectators on pins and needless from start to finish. Both teams are young, but play the game with professional exactness if not skill. The game was free from kicking, and the umpire's decisions were accepted in true sportsman spirit. Sheridan knocked out a base run in the first innings. J. Casserley for Cobourg made a homer off Miller in the third, when a few hits were bunched, helped by an error—tallying four runs. Miller was hard to find and most of the hits were scattered. Good fast fielding on both sides. Harrington's 2nd base, put up a star game, as also did Cassidy, 2nd base for the Park Nine. The home team won out by the following score:

A PETERBOROUGH-TORONTO BRIDAL.

Marriage of Miss Charlotte Rogers, of Toronto, and Dr. C. S. McKee, of Bailliboro.

A very pretty wedding in which Peterborough is greatly interested took place in Toronto yesterday, when Dr. Charles Sears McKee, of Bailliboro, son of Mr. John McKee, town, led to the matrimonial altar Miss Charlotte Rogers, daughter of Capt. W. D. Rogers, 310 Bathurst street.

The ceremony was performed at 6.30 p.m. by Rev. Mr. Bowers, assisted by Rev. Dr. Turnbull.

The bride was charming in a gown of organdy over white silk, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Bertha Rogers, the bride's sister, assisted the bride, gowned in organdy over yellow silk and carried a shower bouquet of Marechal Neil roses. Two little neices of the bride were maids of honour. The groom was supported by Mr. G. Sutherland Forsythe, of Toronto.

The spacious parlours were beautifully decorated with palms, maiden hair ferns, roses and the fragrant bloom of the lathyrus odorata.

The ceremony was performed under a large floral bell woven of asters, smilax, etc.

Among those present were guests from Buffalo, Brantford, Peterborough, (including, of course, Mr. and Mrs. McKee, and Master Harry) Walkerton and other towns and cities. The array of bridal presents was unusually fine.

At the conclusion of the wedding breakfast Dr. and Mrs. McKee took train for the east. They will take up residence in Bailliboro.

Dr. McKee is a clever and energetic young practitioner, and Mrs. McKee was a general favourite in the social circles of the city. The many friends of the family wish for and predict for them a prosperous and happy wedded life.

NORWOOD BRIDAL BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. W. A. F. Campbell and Miss Emma J. Pearce.

A perfectly pretty wedding yesterday stirred the pretty village of Norwood to its social depths. "Ousemore Place," the handsome home of Mr. J. P. Pearce ex-warden of the county, was the scene, and the principals were Mr. Pearce's eldest daughter, Emma J., and Mr. William Arthur Fraser Campbell, Norwood's popular young barrister.

The ceremony was celebrated in the drawing room of "Ousemore," which was darkened, artificially lighted, elaborately and beautifully decorated and converted for the occasion into a veritable floral bower — smilax, blooming flowers and ferns being the chief materials. The bridal pair stood under a magnificent floral bell swinging in the alcove of the drawing room.

The solemn ceremony was performed by Rev. Jas. Anderson, formerly of Norwood, assisted by Rev. J. A. McCamus, of Norwood.

The bride, who was "given to be married" by her father, was gowned in flesh coloured silk, trimmed with chiffon, the bodice ornamented with lappels of pearl passementerie; she wore the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of Mareschal Neil roses. She was attended by Miss Minnie Anderson, daughter of the officiating minister, who was dressed in cream silk, trimmed with lace and chiffon, and her bouquet was of pink roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a ring set with three exquisite rayed opals, and to the bride's maid an opal solitaire ring. Mr. W. A. Stratton, Peterborough, performed the duties of best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the usual felicitations called for by the occasion were extended, and the wedding guests, who consisted principally of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, repaired to the lawns, where the wedding breakfast was very prettily served on small tables, that of the bride beautifully brightened with smilax and roses. The bride received a large number of fine presents.

The following is a list of the guests presents:—Mr and Mrs W H Gordon, Belleville; Mr and Mrs J Vandervoort, Stirling; Mr and Mrs J W Pearce, Miss Bessie Pearce, Miss Jennie Pearce, Miss Hattie Pearce and Mr F S Pearce, Marmora; Mr and Mrs John Brown, Rockdale; Dr and Mrs Jeffs, Havelock; Mrs Mark Scott, Preneveau; Mr D Wilson, Mrs T Pearce, Miss Ada Pearce, Mr N Pearce, Miss Fowler and Mr and Mrs J Campbell, Toronto; Mr A A Cox, Mr and Mrs Hugh Bertram, Miss Mary Stratton, Miss Edmunds and R E Birdsall, Peterborough; Dr S W Clarke, Millbrook; Capt and Mrs Birdsall, Birdsall; Mrs and Miss Butterfield, Miss Lily M Scott, Miss E Waters, Dr Ford and Mr and Mrs D Fraser, Norwood; Dr and Mrs H B Gee and Miss Mildred Gee, Rochester; Miss K Bentley, Marmora; Rev and Mrs J A McCamus, Norwood; Mr W A Stratton, Peterborough; Miss Frances Pettigrew, Norwood; Mrs. N. B. Gould, and Miss Norma Gould, Port Hope; Mr F J Code, Norwood; Mrs A N Dafoe, Rochester.

After the wedding the happy pair were escorted to the C.P.R. station, where they embarked on the train for Toronto, the Mackinac route and points west, and on their return will take up residence in Norwood. The bride's going away dress was of green cloth with hat to match. Both Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are very highly esteemed and respected. He is a rapidly rising barrister, son of Mr. John Campbell, formerly of the Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, and the bride is a favourite in her home. They enter the marriage estate under the happiest auspices, and are assured of a happy wedded life if the cordial good wishes of their hosts of friends are but half realized.

OUR LOCAL RIFLEMEN.

Getting in their Work in Toronto in "Good Shape."

The riflemen from Peterborough attending the meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association are doing pretty fine work, the amount of the spoil captured by them in the shape of prizes for two days being nearly $50.

In the first day's shooting in the Gilmour match, Capt. Dennistoun brought down a prize of $4, and Staff-Sergeant Bartlett, one of $3. In the Scurry match, Capt. Dennistoun was first in the list with a prize of $5. In the Canada Club match Staff-Capt. Bartlett "got on to" the canvass for $5, and Private G. Fitzgerald took $3 worth of shooting out of his innings.

In the second day's shooting in the Gordon match Capt. Dennistoun stood well at the top with a $5 prize, and Private Fitzgerald was not far of with a tally of $4. In the Corporation match Staff-Sergt. Bartlett took in $3, and Capt. Dennistoun another $3. In the Macdonald match, Private D. Cameron got on for $5, Private Fitzgerald for $4, and Private T. Ritchie for $3.

VANDALISM IN ASHBURNHAM.

Rough Play With Lacrosse Club Material.

The lacrosse grounds and sheds are subject to very disastrous usuage by hoodlums. The lacrosse grounds which were put in a firstclass state of repair at the first of the season by the club at an expense of over $50, will soon be in as bad a condition as in the spring, unless some severe measures are taken to put a stop to this state of affairs. Boards are being continually knocked off the fences and taken away and sheds broken into. A pair of goal sticks have been taken which, if not returned at once, and the parties are found out, will lead to serious trouble.

It hardly seems fair that the lacrosse club should be put to the expense of $75 or $100 every year just through the devilment of a lot of boys or, something more serious, of a number of older people. The matter has gone as far now as is intended and an example will be made of the first person caught in any way damaging the property. The grounds are as private as far as such things are concerned as a private house. Damage has been done to such an extent as to warrant the severest measures possible.

If it is at all possible to learn who has the goal sticks, whether men or boys, arrests will follow. In case they are returned at once no action will be taken.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

As the Markham-Stouffville protest has not yet been decided, Peterborough has been ordered to play off the semi-finals with Orillia, and the team of that town will be here on Tuesday next, the return match being played in Orillia on the following Monday. As the team which scores the greatest number of goals in both games is the winner, the match here will be most exciting. When Orillia was here in July, three juniors were on the team, and when they come with their full strength on Tuesday, the game ought to be very evenly contested, although the Peterboroughs are in such good shape from constant practice that they should undoubtedly win the series. President Craig, of the C.L.A., will referee the match. A big excursion will be run from Peterborough to Orillia, to enable the citizens to see the return match there on September 6th.

The big Labour Day lacrosse match here will have to be postponed on account of this new arrangement.

CRICKET.

A practical cricket match was played on the Nicholl's Park oval yesterday between teams nominally representing the town and Ashburnham. The other eleven won according to the following score:

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Geo. Lewis.

Mrs. George Lewis, a respected resident, passed away at the residence of her son, Mr. David Lewis, No. 272 Water street, this morning, at the age of 67 years. Mrs. Lewis was a native of Ireland and came to Canada about half a century ago. She first resided at Port Hope, afterwards—about forty years ago—she removed to Baillieboro, where she resided till two years ago when she removed to Peterborough. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and worshipped at St. Andrew's.

The deceased was highly esteemed and had a large circle of friends in both town and South Monaghan, who will learn of her death with deep regret. The funeral takes place from her late residence, 272 Water street, on Friday, August 27th, at one o'clock.

DIED IN FLORIDA.

Death of a Well-known Peterborough Lady.

The following from the Catholic Record refers to a lady well known in Peterborough:

MRS. DENIS G. DONAGHUE, FLORIDA.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Mrs. D. G. Donaghue, in the fortieth year of her age, at San Antonia, Florida, on July 28.

When the sad news reached the friends of the deceased in the parishes of Lindsay, Emily and Belleville, many were the expressions of regret at her sudden departure, and of heartfelt sympathy for the loss sustained by her devoted husband and dear young family, now bereft of a loving wife and fond mother.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Scully of Emily, and a niece of Father Mackey of Belleville. After taking the common school course, she attended the convent at Peterborough for some time, and in 1882 was married to Mr. D. G. Donaghue, a respectable young farmer of Emily township. From the marriage was born seven children, the eldest of whom is thirteen.

Mr. Donaghue having been troubled with rheumatism for some years, decided to quit farming a few years ago, and thinking that a warmer climate would be more congenial to his condition, he lately purchased a small fruit farm in Florida, whither the family moved six months ago.

The deceased lady was a practical Catholic—always ready to die—charitable to a fault, ever eager to relieve distress. Although apparently strong, she had for some weeks previous to her death, been troubled with weak spells occasionally, which she regarded as a premonition of sudden death; and so it proved, she died of heart failure.

The funeral obsequies were conducted by Rev. Father Benedict, and the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass offered for the repose of her soul.—R. I. P.

ARE YOU OFF FOR THE KLONDYKE?

Here's What You'll Need for the Journey—Information as to Routes and Supplies Required.

Klondicitis takes the place of appendicitis as a popular form of disease, and as there is no preventive known, it only remains to see the ailment through its various stages as well as possible.

In view of so many contemplating a trip to the gold fields of the Arctic circle the following directions are submitted. They are taken from the text attached to the excellent map of the Klondyke, published by the "Province" Publishing Company, Victoria, B.C., reference to which was made in yesterday's EXAMINER:—

AS TO RATES.

Indications point to the fact that of all the passes available this year the White Pass and Taku are the best. Chilkoot seems to have been the favourite, but the writer thinks unwisely. However, it is best for the miner to make his own choice.

Next year when travel commences, prospectors should leave the decision as to route until arrival in Vancouver or Victoria, where latest information can be gained.

Next year also the Taku and Stikine routes will each be much improved, and doubtless will become the permanent entrances, but until the most complete information is to hand, it would be unwise to ask the Government to open any particular route at the expense of what may prove to be a better one.

WHEN TO GO.

Undoubtedly the best time to leave Victoria or Vancouver is the first of March. This will enable the miner to make his overland journey before the snow thaws, or the ice on lake and river breaks up. Journeying by sled is simple and easy when compared with the pack train and the boat, and much less expensive, of course. When the other routes to the south are opened up and good roads are the rule a prospector could get through any time of year, but the early spring will still be the best time.

IF POSSIBLE, A PETERBOROUGH CANOE.

Total cost, $250 or $350.

[If the list is as correct in other respects as we know it to be in recommending a Peterborough canoe, it may be relied upon as a safe guide.]

The foregoing list is large and formidable, and there is no denying will weigh nearly 1,2 pounds, but where two or three join hands, the weight and cost per head will be reduced—and better be "sure than sorry."

Materials for boat building are not included, as later reports may show them unnecessary, and several firms propose placing boats on.

If these outfits are bought in either Vancouver or Victoria, of course no duties will be levied. If, however, the miner listens to the voice of the American charmer, and buys his outfit in the United States, (San Francisco, Puget Sound or Juneau) his outfit will cost him all the way from $80 to $150 extra for duty, which would simply be money thrown away. Goods are now almost as cheap in Vancouver and Victoria as in Montreal, and in many cases cheaper than in Puget Sound.

The best way is on arrival in either of the British Columbia cities mentioned, to go to a general outfitter's who can supply everything, from sugar to blankets, and a stove to a rifle. A quotation obtained from two or three will determine which is cheapest. Papers in the United States have tried to induce outfitting in their towns by circulating stories to the effect that there is "no entry to the gold fields but through American territory, where difficulties as to customs would cause expense and annoyance."

The three great river routes to the gold fields are—the Yukon, the Porcupine, and the Stickine and these three rivers are by special treaty free for ever alike to British and Americans. But our American cousins are too shrewd to imperil their admittance to our mines by making things unpleasant.

CLIMATE AND PRODUCTIONS.

The common opinion is that the districts bearing gold in the N.W. Territory are barren and covered with almost perpetual snow. On the contrary, between almost every range of hills, are fertile valleys, abundantly watered, and capable of sustaining small herds of cattle, the bunch grass being good. Official reports, extending over a number of years, show that potatoes, turnips, green stuff and barley can be ripened nearly as far north as the Arctic Circle, and wheat as far north as latitude 60°.

It must not be forgotten that the Chinook winds of the coast reach these districts whilst the Cassiar and Cariboo gold fields are not so favourably situated.

When compared with the unhealthy climates of southern gold mining districts, and the terrible hardships encountered in Australia from heat and drought, the Canadian Northwest, with its wonderful healthiness, and the plentifulness of water, game and fish, stands unequalled.

THE CRAZE FOR GOLD.

A Little Moralysing on the Matter.

The craze is nowadays for gold. What will gold buy? Sensible men stop to consider. Let us v dicate our title to the name by doing likewise, and when we say likewise we mean likewise. Gold then will buy cigars, whiskey, silks, pleasures, and all that goes to make a full stomach and a fine exterior. But what is that after all to the mine which we might discover in our mental interior which is ten thousand times more delightful if we had the "rare" inclination so to do. Everything palls upon the taste except the spirit of chivalry and of virtue. Pleasure in the light of these exceeds in sensuous delight all that shining gold can ever bring. Leave gold to gamblers and let us renew the heart. This renewal does not mean that we must at once become Christians or Mohammedans or any other such as these. But it does mean that virtue is its own reward and that true happiness is only where sincerity, sweetness, chivalry and purity are our daily meat and drink.—COM.

Constantinople, Aug. 24. The Turkish Government now proposes that the Sultan's troops shall occupy Volo and Larissa and the country in the rear of these places until the Greek war indemnity is paid, immediately withdrawing the troops south of this line on the signing of the treaty of peace. The Marquis of Salisbury, however, maintains his opposition to the Turkish occupation of the towns mentioned, especially of Larissa.

Housekeeping.

If a woman is in good health there is no more beautiful employment than housework. Generally speaking there is no happier woman in the world. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the most modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures safely, permanently.

I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There arrived on the live stock market yesterday 57 car loads of stock, composed of 1100 cattle, 720 sheep and lambs, 75 calves and 800 hogs.

Considering that it was Tuesday, this was a light run, and there being a good demand for export cattle to fill space already taken, all good cattle of that class were bought up early in the day, in fact, in all classes there was a strong market for good stuff.

Prices in the main remained much the same as on Friday last with a few exceptions of some extra fine picked lots. The bulk of the exporters sold at prices ranging from $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt., and two loads went as high as $4.75 and another $5 per cwt.; but these were extra fine heavy cattle and were purchased to fill space. These prices must not be regarded as ruling the market by any means.

R. Ironsides bought 20 cattle, weighing 1423 lbs. each, at $5 per cwt.

D. O'Leary sold to A. McIntosh 20 extra good cattle, weighing 1355 lbs. each, at $4.75 per cwt.

J. & J. W. Dunn bought from P. Foster 40 cattle, averaging 1390 lbs. each, at $4.75 per cwt., less $10 on the lot, and one car load, weighing 1228 lbs. each, at $4.40 per cwt.

T. Crawford (M.L.A.) & Co. sold one load exporters at $4.45 per cwt., and bought one load, weighing 1200 lbs., at $4 per cwt.

Prices for butchers' cattle ranged from $2.90 to $3.25 for inferior, and $3.25 to $3.50 for medium, and $3.75 to $4 per cwt. for picked lots of choice cattle.

William Levack bought 170 cattle, mixed butchers' and exporters, ranging from $2.90 to $3.25 per cwt.

W. E. Maloy of Thetford, Ont., sold 14 butchers' cattle, weighing 950 lbs. each, for $500 for the lot.

J. Rountree bought 22 cattle, mixed heifers, cows and steers, at $3.50 per cwt., also one load of light butchers' at $3 per cwt.

S. Halligan bought 23 butchers' cattle, weighing 1050 lbs. each, at $3.40 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle sold readily, especially the better grades. Feeders and stockers were in good demand and buyers were on hand from Illinois and Buffalo.

C. Zeagman bought 10 heavy feeders, weighing 1080 lbs., at $3.80 per cwt.

J. Rountree bought one load of heavy feeders at $3.90 per cwt.

Crawford & Co. bought one lot of steers, light feeders, weighing 800 lbs., at $3.30 per cwt., and a bunch of heifers, for stockers, weighing 750 lbs. each, at $2.90 per cwt.

T. Holden sold 21 stockers, weighing 667 lbs. each, at $3.05 per cwt.

C. Zeagman bought 15 stockers, weighing 750 lbs. each, at $3.25 per cwt.

Bulls were in good demand, with few on the market. C. Zeagman is prepared to pay $4 per cwt. for first-class heavy ones. He bought two light ones, weighing 1300 lbs. each, at $3.50 per cwt.

There were only about 12 milch cows on the market. Prices ranged from $25 to $40 each. More good ones are wanted.

Calves sold at $3 to $6 each, according to quality.

Sheep were in fair demand, export ewes selling at $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt. Bucks at $2.50 to $3 per cwt. Lambs sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt., or, in other words, from $2.50 to $3.50 each, according to weight and quality.

The prices for hogs were a little lower, and $5.87½ was the highest price paid for the best, with a probability of still lower prices.

A Sidereal Clock.

The sidereal clock at Greenwich Observatory is in an underground room, called the magnetic basement, where it ticks its seconds as prescribed by the "clock stars." This reference to the "clock stars"—fixed stars, slightly over 200 in number, which are used in determining sidereal time brings up the transit circle, the most important instrument in the observatory, and one of the most interesting. It consists of a large telescope, the outside of which is not unlike a great cannon, as it is of solid iron. It is supported by trunnions, which allows the telescope to be elevated or depressed, to point north or south, and to make a complete revolution, but never to diverge from the north and south line. The magnifying power of this instrument is not very great, but its field of view is large, so that it admits plenty light, for it is not intended as a searcher after or for gazing at celestial bodies, but for noting the exact time the stars and planets pass south and north of Greenwich. Upon looking through this telescope is noted what seems to be a vertical row of iron bars placed at equal distances from each other. They are, however, spider's webs, the centre one passing through the focus of the object glass, being the meridian line. By observing the time the "clock stars" pass over these web lines or "wires," as they are called, is sidereal time regulated. The adjustment of the instrument has to be extremely accurate in order to obviate error, too much sunshine even affecting the instrument.—Mining and Scientific Press.

Olive Oil Treatment.

Instead of having recourse to applications of tincture of arnica, spirits of camphor, and to strong compression of the swelling in the treatment of fight bruises, Dr. Auger prefers the use of olive oil, both in children and in adults. He applies the oil freely to the contused parts, and rubs the latter lightly with a rag, absorbent cotton, or with the fingers, and covers the bruise with a compress saturated with olive oil. The author claims that this treatment gives immediate relief to the patient, and that the formation of a bloody protuberance is often prevented; while excoriations and superficial wounds, which may be present, heal very rapidly.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The woman who wears an armor of good health protects herself against almost all the ordinary ills and troubles that beset her sex. The woman who takes proper care of the health of her womanly self, who is careful that the organs that constitute womanhood are always well and strong, will be happy in her wifehood and capable in her motherhood.

The best and most-used of all medicines for women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly upon the delicate feminine organism. It makes it strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares a woman for her greatest mission, motherhood. It does away with the usual discomforts of the expectant period. It insures the health of baby and makes its advent easy and almost painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its wonderful virtues. More of it is sold than of all other medicines for this purpose combined. Women who want to know more about it should write to its discoverer, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

"The best doctors in Kansas City told me that unless I went to the hospital and had an operation performed I could not live," writes Miss Brookie Galloway, of Wilder, Johnson Co., Kans. "I had ulceration and weakness, and each month I would get down in bed and suffer severely for twenty-four hours. I could not keep anything on my stomach for five minutes at a time. I have taken four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and am now well. I owe it all to your medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it to any suffering as I did."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a safe, sure, speedy and permanent cure for constipation. They never gripe. One is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers.

BASEBALL RECORD.

BUFFALO GOT 1 HIT AND NO RUNS.

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—The Buffalo players were as little children in the hands of Pitcher Gillen of Scranton to-day. He toyed with them and wound up with the cleanest shut-out of the year and the record as far as base hits were concerned. Barry was the only Bison to hit the ball safely, and he did it but once. Brown pitched a good game, too, but the Miners managed to hit him when hits meant runs. Score:

Scranton .. .. 1 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—3	6	2

Batteries—Brown and Zahner; Gillen and Boyd.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Brooklyn, Aug. 24.—Both Killen and Fisher were hit hard in to-day's contest. The Pirates, however, were unable to bunch their hits when men were on bases, thus allowing the Brooklyns to make it three straight. The teams will close the series Wednesday with a double-header. Score:

Brooklyn .. .. 2 0 2 4 0 2 0 0 *—10	13	1

Batteries—Fisher and A. Smith; Burrill, Killen and Sugden.

At Washington—Washington lost by a string of errors, following a badly misjudged ball by Brown. Had he reached the ball no score would have been made in the fifth. As it was, Cincinnati had no difficulty in winning out. Attendance 3,000. Score:

Washington . .. 1 3 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—6	14	6
Cincinnati .. .. 1 0 5 0 2 0 1 0 *—9	12	2

At Philadelphia, Philadelphia took two games from St. Louis, the first through errors of the Browns in the first innings and the second by bunching hits. Lally was injured by a pitched ball in the first game. Murphy then went in to catch and Douglass went to left field. Hart was relieved by Southoff in the second innings. In the second game Cooley was put out of the game for disputing the umpire's decision. Geier took his place. Score:

At Baltimore the Orioles managed to win the first and tie the second. In the first game the visitors could not hit Hoffer. In the second Pond was put in to do the twirling, but after two home runs and four singles was replaced by Amole in the fourth, who held the visitors down to one single. Game called end of eighth innings on account of darkness. Scores:

LONDON WAS EASY.

Guelph, Aug. 24.—Guelph had a comparatively easy time with London this afternoon. Moore and Congalton, who are both sick, were replaced by Dark and Doty. Jordan pitched a great game, only four hits being made off him, three of which were made in the third innings. Kershaw pitched well, but at times his support was ragged. Deedon had two new men in the game—Meek, first baseman, and Walsh, centre field—but neither seemed to add much strength to the team. Busse made a home run in the eighth, letting in another run. McElroy's stop and Shepard's catches of foul flys were the features of the game. Score:

PRICE, 35c. Beware of Imitations

MEASURING THE EARTH.

A Gigantic Scheme Inaugurated to Accomplish the Object.

Preparations are under way in London for the most gigantic undertaking in the way of a survey ever attempted. It is proposed to measure the earth. Now, it only needs a glance at one of the humble imitations of this terrestrial sphere to see that it is no light task. It involves the expenditure of millions. It means continuous scientific research for a period the length of which no one can tell.

Scientific men are considering the plan with the deepest interest. It is a strange fact that the more the problem of the formation of the earth is studied by savans the more is the belief that the earth is not round credited. This may seem like a ridiculous statement, but such authorities as Prof. A. Fowler, one of the leading members of the Royal Astronomical Society, is firmly of this belief, and he represents a host of others of equal prominence.

The longest arc at present known is 89 degrees and 32 minutes. The southern termination of this arc, which means one of those lines you see drawn in a semi-circle on a map, is Staro-Nekrassowka, in latitude 45 degrees 28 minutes 2.8 seconds. This termination is marked by a pyramid of cast iron which rests on a cube seven feet wide, bearing an inscription showing what the monument really is. The northernmost limit of this arc is at Hammerfest, in Norway. Another monument is there. The column and pedestal are of granite, and at the top, on a bronze base, is a terrestrial globe of copper, bearing the following inscription:

"The northern termination of the arc of meridian of 25 degrees 20 minutes from the Arctic Ocean to the River Danube, through Norway, Sweden and Russia, which, according to the orders of His Majesty King Oscar I. and the Emperors Alexander I. and Nicholas I., and by uninterrupted labors from 1816 to 1852, was measured by the geometers of the three nations."

When the present arc was completed it was celebrated as the conclusion of the greatest undertaking of the sort ever carried to completion. Therefore how much greater is the present plan, for it contemplates the measurement of an arc of 105 degrees.

The probabilities are that the carrying out of the latest plan will not take nearly a century and a half. The knowledge which is already ours will accelerate action.

A FINE PAINTING.

Life Guards' Portrait of Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar.

A beautiful portrait of Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, painted by Miss Florence Marks, has just been presented to the First Life Guards of England. The Prince was at one time a colonel in the Guards, and the portrait, which is an excellent likeness, is highly prized by the officers. Prince Edward was a prominent figure in the celebration of the Queen's Jubilee. He filled the function of a field marshal. When the Prince was in the army he served many years as Colonel of the Guards—a position which is regarded as one of the most honorable in the service. He is by no means a tinsel soldier. He served with the Grenadier Guards in the Crimean war and took part in the actions of Alma, Balaclava Inkerman and Sebastopol. He was in command of the Home District from 1870 to 1876, and commanded the southern district from 1878 to 1884. From 1885 to 1890 he commanded the forces in Ireland. Prince Edward is a cousin of the reigning Grand Duke Carl Alexander of Saxe-Weimar. He was born Oct. 11, 1823, and is the son of the late Duke Bernhard. His rank in the British army at the present time is Major General. The Prince married an English lady, the daughter of the fifth Duke of Richmond, and although he is a German by birth, he is English in all other respects. The portrait which was presented to the first regiment of the Life Guards was displayed during the Jubilee at the Victorian Era Exhibition in Earl's Court.

There's no question about it. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. This a proven by its wonderful cures of blood diseases.

Over a Year.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more that any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

Aeolian Harp as a Weather Cock.

Professor Carl Barus has put the Aeolian harp to a scientific use. He finds that the sound made by the wind whistling across a fine wire varied with the velocity of the wind, and he also found that the velocity of the wind may be computed from the pitch of the note observed in the case of a given temperature of the air. By the aid of special microphonic attachments, sounds could be conveyed through a substance so as to be isolated from other noises at the place of exposure. By the use of a number of wires the direction of the wind could be determined.—Invention.

DISEASE CONQUERED.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS GAIN ANOTHER GREAT VICTORY.

A Reporter's Searching Investigation Into a Case at Orangeville—The Claims Made on Behalf of This Medicine Fully Borne Out —Greatest Healing Medicine of the Age.

From the Orangeville Sun.

In a cosy little house on Margaret street in this town, lives Mr. John Garrity, his wife and family. They are indeed a happy family, although a few years ago a sadder household would be hard to find. Their happiness was not occasioned by the sudden obtaining of a fortune, but of something much more precious—the restoration to health of a wife and mother when everyone whispered that she must die. Our reporter heard of Mrs. Garrity's illness and cure, and for the benefit of our readers investigated the case; what he learned is well worth repeating. A few years ago Mr. Garrity kept a well-known hotel at Cheltenham and was known far and wide for his kindness and hospitality; his wife, too, was noted for her amiability. However, she was stricken with a peculiar sickness, her health failed rapidly, and from one hundred and forty seven pounds her weight became reduced to ninety-five pounds. Fainting spells became frequent, and a continual pain in the back of the head almost drove her frantic. Physicians were in attendance, but the doctors all said there was no hope. Mrs. Garrity saw death staring her in the face, and the thought of leaving her little children caused her much sadness. She was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but thought that they could not possibly do her any good when physicians had failed to alleviate her sufferings. Hoping, however, almost against hope, she procured a supply, and wonderful to relate, she had not been taking Pink Pills long when the dreadful symptoms of her illness began to pass away, and to-day she is the picture of health. A few months ago Mr. Garrity and family removed to Orangeville, and in conversation with our representative Mrs. Garrity said: "I cannot find words to express my thankfulness for what Dr. William's Pink Pills have done for me. Why, it is almost miraculous. I wish that everyone who is suffering as I was will hear of this remedy. We always keep a box of the Pink Pills in the house.

The Foresters' excursion will take place per steamer Sunbeam on Monday, Sept. 6th, to Stony Lake. It is a long time since the members of Court Lakefield, No. 43, have held an excursion, so it is likely that there will be a large turnout of the members, with their wives, families and friends. The tickets are being put at a very low figure, and being held on Labour Day, a national holiday, it should attract a large crowd.

The Golden City is still carrying good crowds up the Lakes yet, although the cold weather of the past week brought down a great many.

The Golden City is running this week in connection with the noon train; next week she will go up in the morning and return in the evening.

Mr. G. A. Strickland has had his steam yacht enlarged by adding 12 feet to its length. He intends to take it to the Klondyke, where he expects to go with a party of young Englishmen.

On Saturday Mr. John Hull's horse ran away on Charlotte street, while delivering a load of flour to Webster. It threw out the driver and gave him a kick on the side, and at the corner of Burnham and Charlotte streets it smashed the rig and harness and ran off to its stable. In its mad career it nearly ran over two ladies.

One of our local fishermen, (a knight of the hammer and tongs) while fly-fishing below the dam the other night with two other sports, had his line entangled, which was promptly released by one of the other sports. After fishing about half an hour, and finding the fish were not biting, he prepared to go home, and on reeling up his line found that his companions had snipped off hook and fly. They had had the fun of seeing him throw his line on the water for about half an hour without a hook! If he could have reached them at the time there would have been some fun.

Miss Balsdon, of Rat Portage, is visiting her grandfather, Mr. George Rowe.

Miss Flossie Wade, of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Ethel Cox.

The annual Fall Fair will be held at Lakefield on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16th and 17th. It is expected that the number of entries will be greater and the attractions better than in any previous year. This is the first fall fair to be held in this section, and we expect a large turnout.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The weather is delightful here the past few days and the farmers are very busy harvesting. Everything is looking splendid, especially the roots.

Fishing is excellent around here at present and a great many bass and lunge are being captured. Minnows are the favourite bait for bass fishing.

The camping season is little on the decline now, and quite a number are leaving Stony Lake for their respective homes. There are a great many who spend the whole month of September in the lakes here, but during July and August we notice the largest number.

The following are registered at the South Beach Hotel:—A. L. Eddy, Mr. A. Bradley, Col. Dickson, of Elmira, N.Y.

The guests at the "Lakeview" this week are:—Messrs. George Jenney, Fred Farber, F. J. Schwabb, Bert Brown, E. O. Graham, L. H. Whitbeck, Chas. H. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bartholomey, son and daughter, all of Rochester, N.Y.

THE DEATH OF BORDA

It Was a Carefully Planned Assassination.

PRESIDENT LEFT THE CATHEDRAL

And When But a Few Steps From the Door Arredondo Fired Two Shots—The Wounded Man Fell Into the Arms of the Bishop—Great Uproar.

New York, Aug. 26.—A despatch to The Herald from Montevideo via Buenos Ayres gives these details of the assassination of President Idiarte Borda:

Montevideo was in gala attire in celebration of the independence of Uruguay, which was proclaimed on Aug. 25, 1825. The day, according to the programme which had been mapped out, was one replete with festivities and feasts.

Of the official ceremonies, the singing of the Te Deum was the most impressive. President Borda had gone to the Cathedral, attended by a military escort, the members of his Cabinet, and diplomatic representatives from other countries. His party started to leave the Cathedral about 15 minutes after 3 o'clock. Hundreds had gathered in front of the Cathedral and the President was well received as he passed out the door. He had walked only a few steps when Arredondo stepped forward out of the crowd and fired a pistol.

Before anyone could stop him he had fired two shots at the President. The first bullet went wide, but the second struck President Borda in the left breast. He fell backward into the arms of Bishop Soler and sank to the ground. For an instant there was an awful silence; then a frightful uproar. The crowd poured forward with cries and shouts, and while Arredondo was seized by several soldiers, the other troops were thrown into line to keep the crowd from trampling upon the prostrate body of the President.

Sharp cries for "Order" from the officers were unheeded and, as the crowd continued to push and struggle, the officers, impelled by the belief that the lives of other officials were in danger, gave an order to force the crowd back. The soldiers attacked the crowd with bayonets and finally drove it back after many had been wounded and several killed.

The President, still breathing feebly, was then removed under military guard to the city palace, where he died in a few minutes. The body was then wrapped in the flag of Uruguay and removed to his late home.

When shot down the President was on his way to review a body of troops which would have closed the exercises of the day proper. Great excitement was caused all over the city by the assassination. Following the assassination, and while the immediate members of the President's official family were still bending over him where he had fallen, there was a forward movement of the crowd which had gathered, and, in order to protect the dying President, his military escort attacked the crowd and succeeded in driving it back; only after many persons had been wounded and several killed.

The assassin is Avelino Arredondo, an officer in the Uruguayan army. He is a Uruguayan and only 27 years old. Now that Uruguay's chief is dead he is calm, and declares that he is content with his action. Arredondo, who is now in prison under close guard, declares that his crime was not inspired by anything more than a personal hatred for the President. He had, he said, no accomplices, and is willing to take upon himself all the consequences of the deed.

As the Ministry ceases to hold office on the death of a President, Senor Cuestas, President of the Uruguayan Senate, who has assumed the Presidency of the Republic ad interim, has appointed General Perez to be Minister for War.

The city is quiet, but fighting continues in the country.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Minister Stuart at Montevideo has cabled the State Department an official announcement of the assassination of President Borda of Uruguay.

Secretary Sherman sent the following despatch to Minister Stuart:

"Express deep abhorrence of the President and people of the United States at assassination of President Borda, and their sympathy with his countrymen in their affliction."

HAD TO CARRY THE UNION JACK.

Americans Presumed to Think the Stars and Stripes sufficient for a March in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 27.

Among the visitors by the steamer Chippewa yesterday afternoon were the St. Louis Post, No. 13, of the Grand Army of the Republic, who have been at Buffalo taking part in the demonstration.

On their arrival at the Yonge-street wharf they formed in line, and headed by their band and the Stars and Stripes, marched up Yonge street, 150 strong.

Their discourtesy, to put it in the mildest form, led to strong expressions by the spectators. At Queen and Yonge streets Policeman Stewart stepped to the head of the procession and informed the members that before going further they must get a Union Jack and carry it in the procession. Such was the ruling of a city bylaw. The Americans were indignant, but the officer was imperturbable, and into Simpson's one of them went, and when he came out he carried a large Union Jack. None of the visitors would carry the flag, so a boy was hired, and up Yonge-street the procession passed, along College street and into the Queen's Park, where the Parliament Buildings and Armouries were visited. They returned by the afternoon boat to Lewiston.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

About a Dozen Passengers Get Left—Lectures to be Given at the Experimental Farm.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—About a dozen of passengers were left standing on the platform of the C. P. R. this forenoon as the west-bound express steamed out of the depot. They were having their baggage checked. For some unknown reason the train left without them. Some of them had their wives on the train without tickets, and there were other seperations of friends and tickets.

Cameron, McCullough of Ottawa goes to the Yukon to be stenographer to the gold commissioner there.

Owing to the fact that lessons in cooking are not yet organized at the Normal School the ladies as well as the gentlemen will go to the Experimental Farm on Monday. A new departure this session will be the series of lectures at the farm. The school and the Province of Ontario will profit greatly through the interest of the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who has arranged for a full course of lectures at the farm, and Hon. G. W. Ross, who has decided that the expenses of the students going to and from the farm shall be paid by the Educational Department.

An Order-in-Council was passed yesterday dismissing the superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm in Nova Scotia.

THEY WANT OUR FLOUR

Argentine Republic Sending Urgent Orders and a Good Business is Likely to be Done.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—Five of the leading cities of the Argentine Republic are in need of Canadian flour, and want it shipped with all possible despatch. A Manitoba miller has been applied to in most urgent terms by a large concern in the far south, who are ready to handle large supplies for the entire country. It is likely that a good business will be done and the trade between the Dominion and the republic given a marked impetus. This order by Argentina of Canadian flour was considered as a very important fact on 'Change to-day coming just at this time.

A LITTLE LATE IN THE DAY.

Schooner Down From the Yukon With Some Rather Stale News

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 26. The schooner J. M. Colman, which left St. Michael's, the mouth of the Yukon, July 28, was spoken last night off Race Rocks. The Colman brings four passengers who have been in the Klondike and left Dawson City July 17. They are Charles H. Metcalf, Detroit, Mich.; B. E. Jones, Berkeley, California, assayer for the Alaska Commercial Company at Dawson; C. B. and Z. B. Patrick, brothers, from Humboldt, California.

All tell stories of the richness of the Klondike. Bonanza and Eldorado Creek, but say very few clean-ups have been made since early summer. When the Colman left St. Michael's about 12 men were waiting to come on the steamer Portland, and another steamer with passengers was expected down the river before the Portland's sailing time. The men waiting at St. Michael's all had from $5000 to $15,000, but no phenomenal strikes were reported by them. Mr. Jones said the amount of gold that will come down this fall will not be so great as estimated in some quarters. "I should say," he said, "there will be about 175 men down on the Portland and Excelsior, and a fair average to each man would not exceed $10,000."

WOMEN TOOK A HAND.

Wives and Daughters of Striking Miners Jeer the Men Going to Work.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 26.—The wives and daughters of the striking miners at De Armitt's Oak Hill mines, near Turtle Creek, took a prominent part to-day in the demonstration against the working miners. A dozen or more women gathered at the camp and, with flags and banners, marched along the roads leading towards the Tipple this morning. On their way they met a number of miners going to the pit and they greeted them with yells and jeers. They derided the miners who were working and ridiculed them in a manner which caused many of them to hang their heads in shame.

WHEAT IS AGAIN UP.

But Corn Occupied the Most Attention Yesterday.

VERY HEAVY SALES WERE MADE

A Tip From Chicago Set the New York Operators in a Flutter and Corn Broke Loose—Early September Frost Will Do Much Harm in the West

New York, Aug. 26.—The speculative attraction in grain circles to-day was the corn market. The rush was surrounded from start to finish by a large crowd of brokers, most of whom were bulls, and had buying orders which ran the total day's business up to 880,000 bushels. A tip had been given out that corn was good for a big price in the next few weeks, and the investment buying on this and other influences was a feature of the day. Many of the biggest operators are now interested in corn. Word came from Chicago that the corn ring there would not hold the crowd of traders who were trying to execute orders. The country is interested in the predicted boom and bought freely to-day. When wheat sold off in the afternoon, corn broke loose from its higher price compartment and had a little bulge on its own hook. Crop news is unmistakably gloomy. The frost season is near at hand, and from all accounts the grain is so far behind its average growth at this time of the year that, even with the most favorable weather from now, it will enter the danger period at a disadvantage. To-day's news was exceptionally bullish. Nebraska and Kansas complained of drouth. Iowa has suffered from cool weather and wired that frost earlier than Sept. 10 would do immense damage. The Price Current filled out the list by predicting that the crop is likely to be somewhat short of the year's probable distribution. First prices to-day on September were 35 3-4c against 34 5-8c last night. The level then shifted to 35 1-2c, and, after reaching 36 3-8c in the afternoon, closed firm at 36c, or 1 1-4c to 1 3-8c higher than last night. Cables were stronger.

The wheat market had rather a wild opening, but cooled off in half an hour and was without important development for the balance of the day. An early scare among September shorts furnished about the only sensational feature. The violent gyrations in that option around the opening affected the whole list. It opened strong at $1.02, flared up to $1.03 3-4, with scarcely a breathing spell, and then drifted for the remainder of the day, touching $1.01 7-8 at the close. Total sales were 7,935,000 bushels. December closed at 99c, after having sold at $1.00 1-2 earlier in the day. As compared with last night, the day closed with a net advance of 1-2c to 1 1-8c a bushel. Export trade was disappointing, only a few loads being reported. On the curb further pressure was brought to bear on the market and December broke to 97 7-8c.

Another Boost in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Wheat eclipsed the top-notch prices of the present bull campaign to-day. The September option reached $1.03 1-2 and Dec. 99c. After exceedingly wild fluctuations, September closed at 98 7-8c and Dec. at 93 7-8c, advances of 2 1-8c and 5 8c respectively. The flurry in September was but the result of another turn of the screws by the bull clique, while in December the advance was caused by bullish cables and crop news. Corn was the most active market on the floor, and showed 1 1-4c to 1 3-8c advance at the close. Oats advanced about 3-8c and provisions 15c to 20c.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

The Terrible Fate That Overtook Leonard J. Grimshaw of London.

London, Ont., Aug. 26.—Leonard J. Grimshaw, a machinist, employed by E. Leonard & Sons, was scalded from head to foot this morning at Watson's box factory, Bathurst-street. He was immediately taken to the city hospital, where he died at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The cap of the drip attached to the pipe used to conduct steam from the boiler to the engine blew out a short time after the engine was started. Grimshaw was standing right under the drip at the time and was covered by the condensed steam, to catch which the drip is built. The force of the explosion sent the machinist into a hole about ten feet away from the engine, and severely shocked the fireman, who was in another part of the room. Grimshaw was about 27 years of age and married.

JAPAN AND HAWAII.

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—The steamer Mariposa arrived to-day from Sydney, via Honolulu, with the following Hawaiian advices:

The Hawaiian Government has not yet received an answer from Japan regarding the offer to refer the immigration trouble to arbitration. There is no change in the situation here.

"The Hawaiian Star, commenting upon the admission of the Japanese that in case of trouble all the Japanese in Honolulu were to meet at a certain point, says:

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THERE is said to be more smallpox in Montreal. Are our boards of health and officials taking the proper precautions? In nothing like this dreadful disease does the homely and truthful motto so forcibly apply —Prevention is better than cure—and easier, too.

WHY is it that "when" according to a common saying, "wheat advances bread advances, and when wheat falls bread remains stationary." It is probably due to bakers, like other mortals, having a great deal of human nature about them.

THE well-known evangelist, Mr. D. L. Moody, in a recent address told his hearers that "every theological student in the land ought to work on a newspaper for at least a year to study human nature and gain knowledge impossible to obtain in the seminary or college. That's the trouble with preachers. They don't know the men to whom they are preaching; they haven't knowledge of human nature." This wouldn't work at all. The knowledge which a preacher would thus gain would make him so down upon human nature that he would be tempted to eliminate the element of charity from his sermons and adopt the tactics of an oratorical slugger. In no other occupation is the seamy side of human nature so persistently exposed as newspaper work. While it reveals many excellencies of the human character, it lays bare the "little" side of that character like an open book. If newspaper men were to publish all they know about people, to expose the petty foibles and the moral crookedness of the lights of society their buildings would be pulled down about their ears. That newspaper men do not become hopelessly cynical and soured is because they have a good deal of the angelic in their natures, not because of the knowledge they gain of the little weaknesses of mortals. Mr. Moody is, however, right in the inference his remark leads one to draw. The way some preachers dissect human nature makes the newspaper man smile at the confiding absurdity of his deductions.

VALUABLE VARIETIES OF WINTER WHEAT.

Reports of Successful Winter Wheat Experiments From 231 Ontario Farms.

There will likely be about 800,000 acres sown with winter wheat in Ontario within the next month. It is very important, therefore, that winter wheat growers take every available means to secure those varieties which are likely to give the best results. By experiments conducted within the past eight years at the Ontario Agricultural College with 152 varieties of winter wheat, it is found that there is a great variation in the comparative yields of grain produced by the different varieties. It is also found that the varieties which have given good average results in the experiments conducted at the College for a few years in succession have usually given good satisfaction throughout Ontario. This fact has been determined by the results of co-operative experiments conducted throughout the province during each of the past five years in connection with the experimental work at the College. From seven to nine varieties have been selected each year for sending out to ex-students of the Agricultural College, and to other interested and progressive farmers throughout Ontario, who have expressed their desire to join in the co-operative experimental work, and have written for the necessary material.

In the autumn of 1896 seven varieties of winter wheat were selected for distribution and were divided into three sets with three varieties in each, the Dawson's Golden Chaff being used throughout as a basis by which the results of all the varieties could be compared with one another. We have received 231 full and satisfactory reports of carefully conducted winter wheat experiments for 1897. This number is more than double that of any previous year. These reports come from 35 counties, 19 of which are situated east, and 16 west of Guelph.

The following table gives the comparative results of straw and grain per acre of the winter wheat varieties tested during the season on 231 farms:

	Straw per acre. (tons).	Grain per acre. (bu. 60 lbs.)
Dawson's Golden Chaff	2.2	33.9
Stewart's Champion	2.4	33.7
Early Red Clawson	2.1	31.3
Pride of Genesee	2.2	21.0
Early Genesee Giant	2.1	30.6
Siberian	2.3	29.6
Poole	1.8	27.0

As none except the 231 good reports of successfully conducted experiments have been used in the proceeding summary of results, the table should be of great value and worthy of the thoughtful attention of wheat growers in Ontario. Much credit is due to the careful experimenters who sent us the reports of the tests made on their own farms.

CONCLUSIONS.

1. In the average yield of winter wheat per acre, the Dawson's Golden Chaff stood highest among eleven varieties tested over Ontario in 1893, nine varieties in 1894, nine varieties in 1895, nine varieties in 1896, and seven varieties in 1897; also among fifty-three varieties grown at the Agricultural College for six years in succession.

2. Three varieties of winter wheat have been tested over Ontario for four years in succession, with the following average yields of grain per acre: Dawson's Golden Chaff, 32½ bushels; Early Red Clawson, 29 1-3 bushels; and Early Genesee Giant, 29 1 20 bushels.

3. Dawson's Golden Chaff was the most popular variety with the experimenters in each of the past four years.

4. In the co operative experiments for 1897, Stewart's Champion, Pride of Genesee, Dawson's Golden Chaff, and Siberian made the best appearance in the spring.

5. Dawson's Golden Chaff and Early Genesee Giant possessed the strongest, and the Pride of Genesee and Siberian the weakest straw in 1897.

6. The Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Stewart's Champion were the least, and the Pride of Genesee and the Early Genesee Giant were the most affected by rust.

7. The Stewart's Champion and the Pride of Genesee produced the greatest length of straw.

8. The Early Red Clawson and the Dawson's Golden Chaff were the first to mature and the Early Genesee Giant and the Stewart's Champion were the last to mature.

9. The Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Stewart's Champion produced the plumpest grain, and the Siberian and Poole the most shruken grain.

10. The counties of Grey, Middlesex and Huron furnished the largest number of successful winter wheat reports in 1897.

11. The experimenters have taken much interest in the work, as shown by the many favourable comments given in the reports, the following being an example: "Co-operative experiments should be located in conspicuous places as object lessons. My experiment with winter wheat was near the road, where 200 to 300 rigs passed daily. The visitations to the plots were very numerous. The remarks by passers by and the comparisons made would fill a volume. The experiment actually became the leading topic of the village talk for some time previous to harvesting. Thus many object lessons were learned by every day observers. I have taken a good deal of pains with the experiment, but feel well re-paid."

The following leading varieties of winter wheat will be distributed this year for co-operative experiments in Ontario:

Set 1. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Early Genesee Giant and Early Red Clawson.

Set. 2. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Pride of Genesee and Poole.

Set 3. Dawson's Golden Chaff, New Columbia and Imperial Amber.

Any person wishing to conduct careful experiments with one of these sets should apply to the Experimentalist, Agricultural College, Guelph, for the desired set and one-half pound of each variety, together with instruction for testing, and the blank form on which to report will be furnished free of cost to his address. The supply of some of the varieties is limited, but we will be enabled to furnish a large number with this seed before the supply is exhausted.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favor.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS; we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

GREEK INDEMNITY.

Lord Salisbury Makes a New Suggestion.

BRITAIN, FRANCE AND RUSSIA

To Guarantee It, the Other Powers Having the Option of Coming in The Situation in India Still Serious Disarmament of the Afridis Demanded Cable News.

Constantinople, Aug. 26. Lord Salisbury has taken a fresh and important proposal in the matter of the settlement of the indemnity due Turkey from Greece. He suggests that Great Britain, France and Russia jointly guarantee the indemnity loan and control certain revenues set apart for the purpose of meeting this obligation. He invites the other powers to participate in the guarantee if they choose to do so.

AFRIDIS LOST HEAVILY.

Only After the Most Desperate Fighting Did They Enter the Fort.

Simla, Aug. 26.—The Afridis attacked Fort Lundi Kotal Tuesday. The garrison held its own until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when, after sharp fighting, in which the native commander of the garrison was killed, while gallantly leading his men, the enemy gained an entrance. The fight was continued two hours inside the fortification by the Khyber Rifles in the towers at the angles of the fort, which was strongly built of stone. The Afridis lost heavily before they finally captured the place. They looted the fort, capturing a quantity of supplies, and then burned the structure. The fact that no news has been received of the fate of the garrison leads to the belief here that they succeeded in making terms before they surrendered.

The weekly caravan from Cabul, which usually encamps under the walls of Lundi-Kotal, sought places of refuge in a neighboring village.

The news is confirmed here that the Orakzais have risen and cut telegraphic communication with all of the garrisons and posts of Kurram Valley.

A message from the Queen to the Viceroy was read, as follows:

"I am grieved at the loss of my brave officers and men. I trust that the wounded are doing well. It is most gratifying to me to see how well my troops have behaved. The conduct of all of my troops has been admirable. (Signed), Victoria."

The message was read at all the parades of the troops at the front and was received with cheers and enthusiasm.

The Rascals Must be Disarmed.

London, Aug. 27.—A despatch to The Times from Simla says: "The success of the Afridis in closing Khyber Pass compels a re-consideration of the whole border question. Under the existing agreement, the Afridis in return for liberal subsidies, undertook to keep the pass open, to furnish men for the Khyber Rifles, and to resist attacks without aid. The demands upon our military resources for Tochi Malakand, Kohat, etc., prevented our sending a force to meet the sudden raid on the pass. The punishment of this breach of faith of the Afridis is justified, while it is absolutely necessary for the future safety of the frontier that they be dispersed and disarmed. No such success as they have temporarily gained has ever before been recorded on the northwest border. The Government is bound in common prudence to mobilize a force at Peshawur strong enough to traverse the whole country south and the Khyber Pass from end to end. The policy of disarmament has never been attempted heretofore with the Pathan tribes, but it must now be introduced, as there is ample evidence that the Afridis are largely armed with breech-loading rifles, and recent experiences show the danger to the frontier from masses of armed tribesmen, nominally under the political influence of the British Government."

A LITTLE MORE REASSURING.

It May Not be Necessary to Send Troops From England.

London, Aug. 26. The important news that the Ameer has sworn fidelity to Great Britain and read the despatches which have passed between Cabul and Simla at an open public meeting has a reassuring effect both in India and here, as tending to remove any doubt of his loyalty. Enquiries at the India Office late last night elicited the information that the question of sending troops from England remains open, as it is believed that the forces already on the frontier will prove sufficient.

The Standard this morning takes the Government to task for having left Khyber Pass without British troops. It says: "The whole scheme of protecting the pass has collapsed like a house of cards. As the pass has been kept open, however, for sixteen years by Lee rifles, it is rather late to complain of the system. The Afridis must now be called to account for closing it. No doubt the subsidy will be called in after a severe punishment has been administered, and the borderland and the pass will be absorbed."

A Coup at Quetta.

Quetta, Baluchistan, Aug. 26. The British agent held a durbar here yesterday which was attended by the leading chiefs. He addressed them in a friendly tone, but warned them sternly of the consequence of disobedience. It is believed that these prompt measures have frustrated serious designs. One of the three principal chiefs arrested Tuesday on the arrival of the Mushkaf-Botan mail train, upon which they had been induced to come here to meet the British agent, was liberated to-day on certain terms. He is one of the most influential chiefs of the Sarawans, who have been known to be disaffected for some time.

TWENTY-ONE DROWNED.

Chinese Steamer Caught in a Typhoon and Wrecked.

London, Aug. 26. A special despatch from Shanghai says that the steamer Cheang Hy-Eteng, Capt. Scott, bound from Penang, or Areca Island, in the Strait of Malacca, off the west coast of the Malay Peninsula, for Japan, foundered in a typhoon.

Of the 32 members of the ship's company 21 were drowned. Capt. Scott, in the vessel sank, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. The eleven survivors experienced the most terrible suffering from exposure in open boats for five days, under the intense rays of a tropical sun and with no water.

THE NILE EXPEDITION.

Four British Gunboats Have Got Past the Fourth Cataract.

Cairo, Aug. 26.—It is reported here that four gunboats belonging to the Anglo-Egyptian expedition for the reconquest of the Soudan have already passed the fourth cataract of the Nile, beyond Merawi, and that the passage was effected much more easily than had been expected. One of the boats has reached Abu Hamed, now the extreme southern point of the British advance. It is thought quite possible that a dash will be made for Berber, beyond the fifth cataract, shortly.

Faure Dispenses Decorations.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—President Faure has conferred grand crosses of the Legion of Honor upon the Grand Duke Cyril of Russia, and the Ministers of Court, Marine, Justice and Ways and Communications, and has created the Mayors of St. Petersburg and Moscow grand officers of the Legion of Honor. In addition, the President has distributed broadcast the minor degrees of the order.

The Czar's mention of the "allied nations" at the luncheon on board the Pothuau has attracted attention as being the first occasion upon which an alliance between Russia and France has been officially mentioned. The toast of the Czar was in reply to that of President Faure, who, toasting the Czar and Czarina, welcomed them on board the French warship and thanked them for the splendid hospitality extended to the French visitors. M. Faure also referred to the great part the French and Russian sailors took in the foundation of the intimate friendship between the two nations, adding, "they have brought outstretched hands closer together, and have enabled two united and allied nations, who are inspired by the same idea of civilization, law and justice, to come together in a loyal and most sincere embrace."

The Leave Taking.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—The Czar, Czarina and President Faure and suite left Peterhoff at noon aboard the Alexandria. They proceeded to Cronstadt, where the party boarded the Imperial yacht Standard, which hoisted the Imperial and Presidential flags, and fired twenty-one guns. The band played the Marseillaise. The party then visited the French vessels. Afterward President Faure proceeded to the Pothuau, where half an hour later he was joined by the Russian Imperial party, accompanied by a number of Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses. A fine, drizzling rain marred the proceedings. Luncheon followed. The meal was served on the pavilion on the quarter-deck. The decorations consisted of flowers and flags. About seventy persons were present. The Czarina occupied a position of honor in the centre between the Czar and President Faure. When the Czar toasted President Faure he rose in a solemn manner, paused a moment, looking at the Czarina and M. Faure, and then in a firm voice read his message of welcome. The entire party after-

Russian Vessel Lost.

London, Aug. 26. A despatch received here says that the British steamer Cora Coro, from Callao, via Valparaiso, for New York, before reported ashore in the English Narrows, Straits of Magellan, is a total loss.

Greece Can Furnish Security.

London, Aug. 26.—A despatch to The Standard from Athens says the Greek Government is prepared to furnish full guarantees for the due payment of interest on any loan destined for the liquidation of Thessaly.

Anarchists Threaten Revenge.

London, Aug. 27.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from San Sebastian says that the Spanish Government has learned that at a secret Anarchist meeting in London it was resolved to revenge the execution of Angiolillo, the assassin of Canovas del Castillo, by an attempt upon the life of the Queen Regent of Spain. Twenty of the ablest Barcelona detectives, it is reported, have been detailed to protect the Queen Regent.

Meline and the Socialists.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Premier Meline, replying to-day to a deputation of Paris Socialists, said that the agitation for a reduction of duties on cereals existed only in Paris, Marseilles and other large towns, and was visibly a political manoeuvre, which would aggravate instead of alleviating the situation, and merely encourage bull speculation.

Cholera Among British Troops.

London, Aug. 26. A special despatch from Bombay says that cholera has broken out in the Northamptonshire Regiment.

A Marvel of the Age!

It is Equalled if not Surpassed by Another Marvel.

Peterborough People Talk About the New Conqueror of Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Jas. Sloan, well-know employee of the Canadian General Electric Company, who resides at 451 Stewart street, Peterborough, Ont., says:—"I have been seriously afflicted for the last three years with severe pains in my back, caused undoubtedly by wrong action of the kidneys. Headaches, sleeplessness, dizziness and kindred kidney troubles also had their share in adding to my misery.

All the remedies I took did me no good until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Lynch's Drug Store. To put it in a few words I can say without hesitation that it only took two boxes to make a complete cure.

I am very grateful to this remedy for rescuing me from the painful and distressing afflictions which had troubled me for such a long time.

The specific and direct action of Doan's Kidney Pills on the kidneys always restores them to healthy natural action, thus curing all diseases arising from disorder of the kidneys, bladder or urinary organs.

Backache, weak back, diabetes, Bright's disease, gravel, etc., all yield readily to Doan's Pills. Full directions with each box. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists. 196

Yesterday's Excursion.

An excursion was run from town to McCracken's Landing via G. T. R. to Lakefield and steamer Sunbeam yesterday, under the auspices of the officers and teachers of the George street Methodist Sunday school. It proved to be a delightful day on the lake and the trip was greatly enjoyed by the two hundred excursionists who patronized it.

Wrinkles in Letter Writing.

Good form of writing notes and letters has been changed considerably. You must no longer have a margin at either side of your page, nor divide what you have to say into paragraphs, but write it continuously. You mustn't write on each side of the sheet, one after the other, just as they come. Use the front page first and then turn it over and fill up the back. If you still have something to say, attack the other side of the front page, writing crosswise from top to bottom and so on down, filling both the inside pages. This is, according to an eminent authority, considered to be "the nicest way among the nicest people." That settles it. Neither must you date your letter at the upper right hand corner any more. Put it at the lower left hand corner at the bottom of the letter. Write it all out. The economy of time and space implied by the use of figures is offensive to good society. In an informal note, however, you will be permitted to express the year in figure, but the day of the month never.

Boys' extra heavy Wide Ribbed Black Hose, double knee, heel and toe, fast black. Grafton's special price for this week 15c.

RUNAWAY AT CHEMONG.

Miss Brophy Henry and Dr. Drain Badly Shaken Up.

An exciting runaway occurred at Chemong yesterday, when just as a Gladstone containing the Misses Henry, Dr. Drain and Mr. Thos. Henry, was being driven into the Park, the horse ran away, throwing Miss Brophy Henry and Dr. Drain out. The former unfortunately fell out with such force upon her head as to render her unconscious, necessitating her being taken into the hotel. Dr. Drain was also badly shaken up.

The party remained at the Park for the night in Mr. Myles Henry's cottage, as it was thought best not to move the ladies again after such a shock.

SPANISH FRAUD.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There was brought to our attention a clever fraud, which we fear from appearances is being practised on not a few Canadians in our midst.

Relatives of parties alleged to have lost their lives during the Cuban rebellion and to have left valuable property are communicated with, and after various preliminaries, are asked for certain sums of money on quite plausible pretexts.

In the case in question our client was in the act of procuring a draft on London for £172 sterling, when Mr. John Crane, of the Ontario Bank, very kindly suggested an investigation.

Upon obtaining some similar correspondence with another individual it transpired that a huge fraud was being perpetrated.

We understand that a stranger was here last summer preparing the ground for this deep laid scheme. Lest others may blunder through being too reticent in such matters we hasten to notify those interested to beware.

Yours truly,
ROGER & BENNETT.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—It is estimated that the foreign delegates to the recent Epworth League convention took home with them 50,000 Canadian coppers as mementos of their sojourn in Toronto.

—Rev. W. J. Crothers, when preaching at Napanee, said there were three things a man should do—talk up his church, talk up his town, and talk up his country. The man who does not do this should get out.

—Reports collected from every state in the Union show that the present number of tramps in the United States is over 336,000. New York state heads the list with 110,000, Illinois coming next with 88,000.

—Mr. Jerry Fitzgerald, of Otonabee, had a narrow escape yesterday of losing a number of valuable cattle. The animals obtained an illicit admittance to his grain bins, and the consequence was that a vet. had to be summoned.

—The Government has issued instructions to the effect that this year no foreigners will be allowed to shoot in Canada until they have paid their license fee. Heretofore sportsmen were allowed to start shooting at the beginning of the season, and to pay their fee when convenient.

—The Ontario statutes for 1897 in the amendment to the Municipal Act, provide that all nominations at municipal elections shall be in writing. This will do away with all nonsence and fooling at such meetings. Often the elector will nominate another for fun or mischief, and the one so nominated will return the compliment to get even. The amendment is looked upon as a good move by those best competent to judge.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Driver Hagarman has removed his family from Peterborough to Lindsay, as he is now running out of the latter town.

Mr. Ralph Clarke, driver on the Haliburton train, left for Rochester yesterday to spend a week's holidays. Driver Geo. Nursey is relieving him.

Railway men are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the fall fleet of grain vessels at the Midland elevator. One vessel arrived last week carrying 128,000 bushels of corn, the largest cargo ever unloaded in that harbor.

We understand that instructions have been issued by the Grand Trunk management to have four or five new sidings put in at Lindsay, to accommodate the rapidly-increasing traffic passing through that place. Of late the room has become so restricted that it has been impossible to keep a supply of coaches there, sufficient to serve the needs of the east and west bound trains, but the new sidings will give the required room, and also greatly facilitate the marshalling of freights.

The "run off" on the I. B. & O. R. R. on Saturday morning last was more serious than at first reported. The passenger engine and seven loaded cars left the track and toppled off into the ditch, but fortunately the train hands saw the danger and escaped by jumping in time. While the wreck was being cleared the steam lorry carried passengers and perishable freight to the junction. This morning the line was repaired sufficiently to permit of the passage of the freight engine "Mary Ann," but it will be some days before the rolling stock can be replaced on the rails.—Lindsay Post.

CLEVERLY CONCOCTED SPANISH SWINDLE.

"CASTLES IN SPAIN" FOR THE OVER-CONFIDING.

Cunning Scheme of Spanish Sharpers—Missing Relations, Heiresses' Big Fortunes, and a Request for Money for Expenses, the Media of Fraud.

A communication in another column under the heading "Spanish Fraud," refers to a cleverly worked scheme of a Spanish rascal, or rascals, to supply to the credulous materials for the erection of "Castles in Spain," the ultimate object being the extraction of money from the deluded under roseate pretexts of immense gains.

For some time it has been suspected that persons in this vicinity have been subjected to the operations of these rascals, and a circumstance that occurred yesterday shows how closely these swindlers came to making a comfortable haul of nearly a thousand dollars.

It appears that certain Spaniards have been corresponding with persons in this vicinity. By some means—to be suggested later on—they gained some knowledge of of persons who had missing relatives. It was usually girls who, by some romantic hocus-pocus process of the Spanish swindlers, became married to rich Spaniards and then made their way to Cuba, get mixed up in the everlasting revolution going on in that happy island, and on their deathbed, and in their last moments confide their beautiful and darling daughter—generally bearing the name of Cicely—to the care of the victim in Peterborough, who would be informed that, that the daughter of their missing female relative, the heiress of the was entrusted to his care and he was entitled to a liberal share of the large fortune of the poor orphan, in case he took her under his care. A formidable copy of the will and proof of probate, bristling with red tape and seals as big as saucers would be forwarded to the kind uncle. The charitable gentleman who conducts the correspondence was at the death bed of the deceased and promised to have his wishes carried out. Then comes a long story of how the Spanish Samaritan shark took the poor girl to Spain and bought her mourning, etc., spent money in settling her worldly affairs, and in saving her fortune for the Spanish government, to which by virtue of the father being a rebel it was forfeited. Then comes the critical part of the scheme; a demand is made for money to be sent to pay the expenses mentioned, and to pay the cost of the journey of the beautiful Spanish orphan niece to her dear and kind uncle in Peterborough.

A gentleman living in Lakefield, it appears, has a missing sister, of whom he has long lost trace, living, it was supposed, somewhere in the United States. The correspondence mentioned asserted that the long-lost sister had married a Spaniard, and that there was a lovely daughter name Cicely, who would be left an orphan by her father's death, and whom the father, on his death bed, confided to the care of her uncle who was to have a share of her immense fortune if he took charge of her. The correspondence, of course, focused in due time, upon a demand of £172 ($850) to cover expenses such as those mentioned. So in the Lakefield man's case, that he was firmly convinced that the correspondence was bona fide and that the "lovely Spanish-Canadian girl, Cicely," was in reality his neice, with the fortune attributed to her.

Accordingly Mr. ——— came to town yesterday and consulted his solicitors as to the modus operandi of sending a draft for the amount mentioned. He actually purchased a draft for $850 at the Ontario Bank and was on the point of leaving when Mr. John Crane, having a knowledge that similar correspondence had been received by a prominent Peterborough business man, investigation led to the fact which seems to be beyond dispute, that the whole affair was a "fake" and that Mr. ——— was on the point of being swindled. It took very little persuasion to convince him of this, and as a consequence the draft was not sent, and Mr. Crane has the consciousness of having been instrumental in keeping $850 of good Canadian money from the maw of the Spanish shark, although the lovely niece Cicily is left pining and unprotected in distant Spain.

The EXAMINER has in its poesession the correspondence with the gentleman mentioned, who, having no missing relative, was suspicious and prolonged the correspondence under legal advice, to draw the rascal out, and the clever manner in which the web was spun would deceive almost any person who had relatives, of whom he had lost trace.

Another gentleman in town was swindled, it is supposed, by the same Castilian gentleman, though it was on a different but equally cunning "lay," and the amount of money he sent on a wild goose chase was smaller.

The beginning of the swindle referred to is traced to the presence of a Spaniard who made his headquarters at the Huffman House about a year ago, and who then, it is supposed, by the aid of some local confederate, gained the information upon which he has since acted.

The particulars of the case are given so much in detail in order to put others on their guard. However it seems useless to give warnings, for there will always be found those whose credulity runs away with their common sense. A safe way is to avoid such easy schemes of gaining wealth and to remember it is wise in such cases to "pay on sight" only—that is on the evidence of those one knows and can trust.

CAPT. JACK'S POPULAPITY.

He is Presented With an Address Written on Birch Bark by the Watt-Froats Camp.

The up trip of the steamer North Star was pleasantly varied last evening by the presentation of a handsome bouqet and an illuminated address to Captain John Martin by the members of the Watt-Froats party which has just broken up camp at Oak Orchard.

Mr. Arthur Lang read the address as follows:

Mr. J. Martin, Captain "North Star."

SIR,—We, the members of the "Watt's its name] Froats" camp, take this opportunity of expressing to you our great pleasure at the uniform kindness you have shown us during our stay at Oak Orchard. We venture to say that not a single day of our three weeks stay has not seen your boat stop at our camp. Inexperienced canoemen have caused you an infinite amount of trouble, the wind being of course to blame. The extraordinary amount of provisions and baggage has caused you to say "that no other camp ever had so much stuff put off." We accept the remark in sweet indifference. The capacity of the "Star" has been nearly exhausted by a single canoe-load, and we consider that your remarks disparaging to our skill as canoeists and packers to be decidedly out of place. We accept this remark in sweet contempt. But we consider it a great slight to our camp that you put one of its members off at the wrong place. We attribute it all to your absentmindedness, you being occupied otherwise at the same time with the fair six. Considering that it is your only offense we graciously pardon you, and ask you to accept the accompanying bouquet as a slight reminder of your many kindnesses to us.

Signed on behalf of the camp.
JOHN WATT,
Commodore.

Miss Ida Watt, of Cobourg, then presented Captain Martin with a magnificent bouquet.

Captain Jack was taken completely aback by the presentation and for the first time in his life his customary sang froid was conspicuous by its absence. He soon recovered however, and made a witty speech thanking the party for their remembrance of him and laying the blame for any little errors on the bright eyes of the lady campers down the river who patronized his boat so freely during the summer.

The address was something most unique in its way being a double scroll of birch-bark most beautifully ornamented with pressed maidenhair ferns and ribbons. Captain Martin is indeed lucky to be the recipient of so pretty a memento.

The camp was composed this year of Mr. and Mrs. John Watt, sr., Mr. John Watt, jr., Miss M. A. Watt, Miss Maggie Watt, Mr. R. P. Watt, of Peterborough; Miss Ida Watt, of Cobourg, Mr. M. Froats, Misses Minnie, Maggie and Louisa Froats, Mr. A. Laing, Mr. Geo. Milne, Miss Ada Gillespie and Mr. H. Gillespie.

PETERBOROUGH CRICKETERS.

They Won From Lindsay Yesterday by Twenty-Three Runs.

In a closely-contested game of cricket yesterday afternoon on the Nicholls Park oval, Peterborough succeeded in defeating Lindsay by 23 runs.

Peterborough went to bat first, the feature of the innings being the stand for 36 made by Sam Ray and Dave Rogers. Ray's 25 was very nicely put together. For Lindsay the only man to make double figures was Geo. Little, who batted out 11. In Peterborough's second innings Dave Rogers made fifteen in fine form and Montgomery ran up eleven. Dr. Young's twenty was the result of excellent form. J. Short made double figures for Lindsay.

Callaghan's bowling was very effective, and Peterborough envies Lindsay the possession of so fine a cricketer.

A GOOD EXHIBITION OF FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

FLOWER SHOW OF THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Hardly up to the Mark of Former Years—A Rather Smaller Display and Lighter Attendance of Visitors—The Prize Winners.

To say that the annual exhibition of the Horticultural Society, held yesterday afternoon and evening, was not quite up to the mark of former years is by no means disparagement; for, considering the wetness of the season and other causes the display of flowers was very creditable and worthy of the admiration it received from the visitors. In some kinds of flowers the display could not have been surpassed, while in others the effect of two much rain was evident in a certain bedraggled condition of a few of the exhibits.

The bulk of the exhibits was confined to a few enthusiastic floriculturists.

In the purely professional class Mr. Frank Mason and Mr. Frank Wise had the field to themselves, with fine displays. The former exhibited hand and table bouquets and the honours were evenly divided between his exhibit and that of Mr. Wise, each winning a red ticket. Mr. Mason had a fine display of seedling foliage plants, and Mr. Wise had a similar display.

Among the amateur exhibitors, Mr. J. Cobb had a grand exhibit, but owing to the accident he met with on Dominion Day, he was unable to give as much attention to his flowers or his display would have been larger. He showed fine collections of greenhouse plants and begonias, a very complete collection, (Mrs. Cobb's special department.) Besides he had a display of pinks, zinnias, petunas, gladioli, verbenas, gaillardia picta, dahlias, etc.

Mr. James Head was the largest individual exhibitor. Including large collections he had about sixty exhibits, covering almost the whole range of the classes and almost every variety of flower grown in this climate. His collection was most elaborate, and the frequency with which his name appears in the prize list gives evidence of the quality of his exhibits.

Rev. H. Symonds was a considerable and successful exhibitor, his sweet peas being worthy of admiration. Mrs. B. Cooney, Ashburnham, had her usual splendid collection of flowers. Mr. Macfarlane Wilson was also amongst the exhibitors and Mr. Mr. Percy Hamilton, another familiar name, contributed a splendid square yard of cut flowers, as well as other exhibits. Mr. H. Nesbit was also a liberal exhibitor both in fruits and cut flowers. Mr. Jos. Giles had a fine collection of fruits, though altogether the fruit display was somewhat meagre. Miss Alice Mills, Miss Laura Davidson, Miss Mamie Hamilton and Mr. John McClelland, were large and successful exhibitors and Mr. Thos. Warne, Mr. Jas. Long, Mr. Jas. Telford and Mrs. John Cox were also creditable exhibitors.

It is to be regretted that the public patronage was not more liberally bestowed. There is nothing more delightful to witness than the magnificent results of the painstaking and patient culture of flowers one sees at this exhibition. The heart that that is not touched and sweetened by the sight of flowers comes into the same category as the "man that hath not music in his soul."

All persons love flowers, with rare exception, and it is the duty of the public to encourage their cultivation and hearten exhibitors by liberal patronage of our exhibitions. It is true that very many who can always be trusted to swell the attendance at exhibitions are absent from town at the summer resorts, but the absence of many persons who were in town and could have been present at the exhibition was regretfully noted.

The judging of the floral exhibits was done by Mr. A. J. M. Watkins, superintendent of the Horticultural Gardens, Toronto. He is an enthusiastic florist, and his over a quarter of a century's experience as caretaker of the gardens has given him a special knowledge that well qualifies him for being a judge. His decisions last night were generally very satisfactory and in this regard the directors are to congratulated upon securing his services.

The presence of the Fire Brigade Band, with their excellent music, added very greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

LACROSSE.

The members of the lacrosse team are practising every evening for the great semi-final game with Orillia on the P. A. A. A. Grounds on Tuesday afternoon next. President Craig, of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, will referee the match, and two other officials of the Association will act as umpires. These precautions show that the game is considered to be one on which great importance depends. The Peterboroughs are in it to win the championship and are going to leave no stone unturned to do it.

THE TURF.

Master Fred, the Peterborough racing horse, won the half mile race at Orangeville yesterday from a big field. He ran in third place the first heat, but won the next two heats. The time was .52.

THE WHEEL.

At a bicycle meet held in Millbrook yesterday the following events were run off:

Half-mile, open—1, C. W. Richardson, Toronto; 2, Milt. Walker, Peterborough. Time, 1 13 2-5.

Two-mile handicap, open to Cavan and Millbrook—1, A. Russell, Millbrook; 2, H. Duncan, Millbrook. Time, not given.

Boys' race, under 16—1, M. S. Haughton, Lindsay; 2, J. Duncan, Collingwood; 3, Stephens, Port Hope. Time, 2.38 1-5.

One mile, open—1, C. W. Richardson, Toronto; 2, Powers, Toronto; 3, Milt. Walker, Peterborough. Time, 2.30.

One mile, novice—1, H. Monsel, Port Hope; 2, H. Duncan, Millbrook; 3, M. S. Houghton, Lindsay. Time, 2.40 5-6.

Three-mile, open, handicap—1, J. Powers, Toronto; 2, M. S. Houghton, Lindsay. Time, 8.30.

Great enthusiasm was displayed in this meet, which was evident from the fact that in some of the events there were as many as a dozen entries. Richardson, of Toronto, an old Millbrook boy, delighted his old friends by his dexterity on the wheel, and at the end of the events he kindly rode an exhibition mile, but owing to a considerable wind did not ride up to his old standard. He made it in 2.25. T. Houghton, Lindsay, was referee, and W. A. Runnals, of Port Hope, was C.W.A. official timekeeper.

The finishes between Richardson, of Toronto, and Milt. Walker, Peterborough, were very close and exciting, but the Toronto man, having the pole, was able to swing the Peterborough man so far out as to prevent him winning.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

THE GRAND ARMY PARADE.

Forty-Five Thousand Men Marched in Procession for Nearly Six Hours An Inspiring Sight.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25. Forty-five thousand men, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, marched to-day through streets swathed in flags and bunting, receiving the ovations of a half million people, whose gratitude and admiration was evinced in every way that human devotion can find public expression.

The President of the Union they fought to save, the chosen representative of a reunited people, himself their comrade, was at their head.

When the line of the great procession moved at 10:30 o'clock this morning the sun was shining and the sky had not a cloud. The threatening conditions of the early morning had all passed, and the rainstorm of the night left as its legacy a clear, bracing air, that was like a tonic to the marching men.

Through streets packed with one of the most loyal American crowds that ever assembled to do honor to the nation's heroes, the procession moved for five hours and forty-two minutes.

Under a gigantic arch of welcome, fashioned as a monogram G. A. R., under a massive triumphal arch, resembling polished granite, and under an arch radiant with bunting, erected by the colored people, the soldiers marched to the living shield, composed of 2000 children from the schools of Buffalo, who sang national anthems as the procession wheeled before it, and moved on to the reviewing stand. Along the route of march one hundred girls, dressed in the colors of the flag, scattered flowers in the path of the soldiers.

President McKinley rode in a carriage at the head of the procession and waved his hat to the cheering, applauding crowd. At the reviewing stand he took his position, with Commander-in-Chief Clarkson and Governor Black, and the headquarters staff passed in review.

Of all the throng reviewing the procession no one person was more enthusiastic, more generous in treatment, or more affected by the sights than President McKinley. For six long hours, with his hand on his hat, continually uncovering to the national colors or the salute of the veterans, the President watched the army of proud veterans march by. It was certainly a column to inspire admiration. Such men as Secretary of War Alger, General Lew Wallace and General John Palmer walked side by side with the negro or the decrepid pensioner, whom they had to assist. When the review was over the President, tired though he was, expressed no regret but only pleasure.

Speaking of the parade, President McKinley said: "Even to a veteran the sight was a most surprising, as well as inspiring, one. It is too bad that every child in the country could not see it, for it would surely inspire patriotism and implant all the good qualities that go to make up the American citizen. I had never supposed until to-day that so many brave survivors of the war were capable of following martial music through city streets. Such a display of patriotic courage cannot fail to be of benefit to the entire country."

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

BASEBALL RECORD.

TORONTO POUNDED HARPER.

Scranton, Aug. 25. For three innings in to-day's game, matters moved along at a lively pace, and the indications were for a good contest. In the fourth, however, Toronto began to pound Harper and the Miners' infield went to pieces. Maguire at third and Boyd at first did not seem to be able to stop or hold anything, and the Canadians had a walkover. Williams pitched good ball. He was relieved by Straley when the game was a sure thing. Score:

Toronto	0 0 0 2 5 3 0 1 0—11

PONIES BEAT THE STARS.

Springfield, Aug. 25.—Springfield and Syracuse started out to play a double-header to-day, but a heavy shower stopped the first game in the ninth innings and the second was postponed until to-morrow on account of wet grounds. It was a pitcher's battle in which Korwan won, because he had better support in critical places. In the first half of the ninth Earl struck out and there were two strikes on Shaw, when rain stopped the game, and at the end of 30 minutes it was still raining. The score:

	R. H. E.
Syracuse	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 —2 5 3

Batteries Korwan and Duncan; Maharky and Shaw.

At Buffalo The heads won the first game of their present series with Wilkes-Barre. German pitched a really good game for him, his second attempt in a Buffalo uniform. Old Pop Wise put up a grand game on second for Buffalo and his work was more than anything else won the victory. Score:

	R. H. E.
Buffalo	1 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 x—4 8 1

Batteries German and Zanner; Patton and Diggins.

At Providence With the score 3 to 1, and the home team apparently certain of victory, the Montreals struck a streak of batting in the seventh innings to-day and it was a great exhibition of fireworks. The visitors swatted the ball cleanly and hard. In the seventh inning 14 men went to bat, made seven singles, one double and a home run and scored nine runs. Score:

	R. H. E.
Providence	0 0 2 0 0 1 0 0 0—3 5 1
Montreal	0 0 1 0 0 0 9 0 x—10 12 2

Batteries Braun and Dixon; McFarlan and McNamara.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Washington The Red Stockings could not hit McJames, while Ehret was not difficult for the Senators. The game was neither lively nor interesting. Score:

	R. H. E.

Batteries McJames and Maguire; Ehret and Vaughn.

At Philadelphia Philadelphia made it three straights from St. Louis. Orth kept the visitors' hits scattered, while Carsey was hit connectedly and for a number of extra bases. Score:

	R. H. E.
Philadelphia	2 0 0 0 1 1 3 0 1—8 12 0
St. Louis	0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—2 11 2

Batteries Orth and McFarland; Carsey and Murphy.

At Baltimore The champions took the last of the series from Chicago in a game of no especial interest. Pond's pitching was the feature. Score:

	R. H. E.
Baltimore	0 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 *—3 6 1
Chicago	0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 1—2 4 1

Batteries Pond and Robinson; Thornton and Donohue.

At New York Rain stopped the first game, but in the second the Giants proved the better mud horses, and shut out the Indians. The water from the recent rains had backed up until it covered nearly the whole outfield, and a ground rule allowing two bases on hits into the pond was established. Seymour pitched a good game. The features were the playing of Childs and Donnelly, and a fread water catch by McCreery. Score:

	R. H. E.

Batteries Seymour and Wilson; Young and Zimmer.

At Brooklyn—The Brooklyns and Pittsburgs started out to play two games this afternoon, but failed, as it took from 2 till 6 o'clock to play the first game. At one time rain delayed the contest one hour and forty minutes, and it was then finished by mutual consent. The Brooklyns won by their heavy hitting. Score:

	R. H. E.
Brooklyn	2 0 0 0 0 5 3 4 1—16 18 3
Pittsburg	2 0 0 0 2 1 0 1 —6 13 2

At Boston Boston and Louisville played two games, and in the first the home team had a picnic with Fraser, batting him almost at will. In the second game the tables were turned, and at the close the Bostons found themselves shut out for the second time on the home grounds this season. Score:

First Game—	R. H. E.
Boston	0 1 8 1 1 2 2 2 *—17 14 2

HAMS WON IN 10 INNINGS.

Hamilton, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—The Hamilton base ball team made lots of runs, hits and errors in its 10 innings' game with the Maple Leafs of Guelph to-day. Had Doty, the Guelph twirler, been less wild, the visitors would have won. The score:

	R. H. E.
Hamilton	3 6 0 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 13 13 6
Guelph	0 3 0 0 0 3 0 5 1 0—12 17 8

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 16 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

MICHAEL IN TORONTO.

The Little Wonder Beat McCarthy, But the Latter Took the First Heat in Fast Time.

Toronto, Aug. 26.

All wheeldom turned out to see the big race between Michael and McCarthy. Fully 2500 spectators were at the Island last night. Besides the big race there was an invitation race, and a novice event run off in heats. In the first heat of the matched race McCarthy established a new American competition paced record, and within 2-5 of a second of the world's professional mark. When Michael and McCarthy made their appearance they made a great contrast, McCarthy standing 6 feet and Michael 5 feet 3 inches.

In the first mile heat of the matched race, McCarthy had the pole. He was paced by a quad for the first three laps and a tandem cleverly picked him up for the finish. Michael was carried out by a triplet for the first three laps and a quad for the last lap. McCarthy caught his pacers first and set a good clip for Michael and his triplet, leading them all the way, and when McLeod and Davidson, on the tandem, picked him up he was a sixth of a mile ahead, and won by that distance, making a new record for America.

The second heat of the matched race started, after some dispute as regards the distance. The program called for nine and Shafer, Michael's manager, wanted it a two-mile heat, but, after some kicking, Referee Brown justly ordered Shafer to send his rider out for a mile. Here Shafer showed that he knew the game, for when he saw that McCarthy had by far the fastest pacers, his orders to his wonder was to take McCarthy's quad, which he did, cutting in on him at the start. When McCarthy saw this he tacked on to Michael's triplet and they slowed up, so he had to jump for his own machine again. When he was picked up by the tandem, it was too late, for Michael had caught the foreign quad and was carried over the tape an easy winner.

The final heat, two miles, of the Michael-McCarthy race, was ridden off and was easily won by the Welshman. Michael kept well up to his pacers, while McCarthy got somewhat mixed, and the little wonder finished alone. McCarthy had the misfortune to lose the services of his quad by the breaking of the chain.

At the conclusion of the program Michael, paced by a triplet and quad, tried to lower McCarthy's record, but did not get within five seconds of it, his time being 1.58 3-5. McCarthy's pacers were Westbrook, Dunbar, Bonk and Greatrix on the quad and Davidson and McLeod on the tandem. Michael's quad was manned by Calahan, Pierce, Leonard and Walsh, and the triplet had up Stone, Blatchford and Bainbridge.

WELL BEGUN IS HALF DONE

Start wash day with good soap, pure soap; that's half the battle won.

SURPRISE SOAP is made especially for washing clothes; makes them clean and fresh and sweet, with little rubbing.

It's best for this and every use.

Don't forget the name SURPRISE.

"Why didn't you keep to your own side of the road

You Blooming Idiot."

Well, perhaps it was my fault, but never mind, I have a pot of "Quickcure" in my house and it will cure our bruises before we get home. You never saw anything like the way it will heal a cut or a bruise of any kind, and for sprains and strains it is—well, it is just "out of sight."

HENRY IEVERS, L.D.S., Quebec, writes:

"One of my children sprained her ankle, which became much swollen and discoloured. Some 'Quickcure' was spread on linen, and applied; the pain ceased at once, the swelling was gone the next day, and on the fourth day she walked to school as usual. I have also proved it to be a wonderful remedy for cuts and bruises.

She says:—I was troubled with constipation for many years, in fact it was my only enemy and was very distressing.

I tried a great many pills and patent medicines but received no relief until I tried SLOAN'S INDIAN Tonic; it helped me at once and affected a complete cure. I have recommended it to a great many people and believe in every case it has given satisfaction.

Every spring I procure it from Mr. Phin, our druggist here, and think it is an ideal blood purifier and system tonic.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

A consumptive hopes and hopes, but a time comes when hope ends, and the black shadow of despair forecasts the coming of death. Thousands of doctors say that consumption is incurable. Thousands of consumptives believe that there is "nothing much the trouble and that there is no need to bother with medicine." Both are wrong. Consumption is the most deadly of diseases but it is distinctly curable. It has its inception, like all other wasting diseases, in disorders of the digestive organs, and the first step towards its cure must be the relief of these disorders.

Ninety-eight per cent of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands of consumptives have testified to their complete and permanent recovery through its use, after they were given up by the doctors and all hope was gone. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes assimilation perfect, fills the blood with the life giving elements that build up new, firm and healthy tissues, and acting directly upon the lungs drives out all disease germs. It is a specific for all lingering, bronchial, throat and lung affections.

"I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia" writes Geo H. Slater, Esq., of Yates City, Knox Co. Ills., "for the last two years. I got a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and took it as you directed. It did me so much good I am going to get another bottle and take it. It is the best medicine in the world for those who have stomach trouble. I have recommended it to several already."

The best medical book ever published in any language is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Over 680 000 copies of this book have been sold for $1 50 each. It contains 1,008 pages and 300 illustrations. It gives suggestions for treatment of all ailments. There are also prescriptions. This valuable book in paper binding, may now be had FREE for the asking. Send 21 one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo N. Y., to pay the cost of mailing only. If fine cloth binding is desired, send 50 one-cent stamps.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 25.—At the Cheese Board to-day 400 white and 350 colored cheese were boarded; 300 white and 350 colored sold at 10c.

Peterboro', Ont., Aug. 25. At the cheese sales here to-day about 4400 colored cheese were offered, being the first half of August make. The prices paid were quite a surprise to the salesmen. McCargar Co.'s purchase of 1250 boxes at 10⅜c established the board price so firmly that it was a difficult matter for other buyers to get salesmen to accept lower figures. Cook followed by taking nearly 700 at 10 1-16c; Hodgson Co., 500 at 10c; Wrighton, 400 to 500 at 9 15-16c; Whitton, 400 at 9⅝c. Several other factories had good offers, but would not accept buyers' quit offerings, as the salesmen firmly held out for more. The board adjourned for two weeks, leaving about 1200 boxes unsold. Buyers present: Cluxton, Brown, Fitzgerald, Whitton, Wrighton, Madden, Rolston and Cook.

Picton, Ont., Aug. 25. At our Cheese Board to-day 14 factories boarded 820 cheese, all colored; 310 boxes sold at 9 13-16c.

Stirling, Ont., Aug. 25.—Cheese boarded, 485 white and 60 colored. Sales: Whitton, 100 at 9⅝c; McCargar, 125 at 9⅝c; balance unsold; board meets again Sept. 1.

Bidding brisk, but salesmen didn't know what to ask, since the market has been rising so of late; nine buyers present.

THE KING OF SIAM

How Chulalongkorn I. Looks in English Costume.

This stylish gentleman, thus portrayed in European clothes, photographed as above in Colombo, Ceylon, on his tours around the world, rules at home about 5,000,000 people. In 1892 France acquired a big piece of Siamese territory, taking, in fact, 110,000 square miles, and leaving 200,000 to Siam. The capital is Bangkok. The army is small; the navy has for its largest ship the armed cruiser yacht on which the King is seeing the world. Foreigners control almost all of Siam's trade. Important exports are rice and teak wood. The country has a few bits of railway and nearly 2000 miles of telegraph.

The King's toilet is by no means always European. The following glimpse of him at court is furnished by The London Sketch, which also publishes the above picture: "The palace is a masterpiece of architecture. It is an Italian structure, with the high and imposing native Siamese roof. It was typical of the Siamese that the rain should come in there; they understand the paradox of the best of the produce of Europe in brains, but maintenance and repair are quite beyond them. It is so with their European buildings, it is so with their warships, it is so with their big guns, and their little. They have enough and to spare of all these, but not one is in a state fit to be used. I had come mostly from curiosity. I like the Siamese as Siamese; their hospitality is offered with open hand and cordially, and I wish on earth has hospitality been more abused. While we stood chatting a lady-dapper figure with black sparkling eyes, flat Mongolian face, iron-gray, closely cropped hair, a tunic of white satin with gold embroidery, satin slippers, white silk hose, and what looked like a pair of white satin bloomers on, although it was only the Siamese pinning tucked between the legs and tied behind in the orthodox Siamese fashion, came striding in from a far corner, leading with one hand a lively little son, and with the other one of his favorite little daughters. I had seen him before, and recognized the King of Siam in his most eminent role in the part of a good and affectionate father; and, looking more closely around, I saw that it was a reception by the King of the accredited representatives from the courts of Europe." The King speaks English.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

For Sore Feet.

A powder recommended for tender feet requires 87 parts of pulverized soapstone; ten parts of starch and three parts of salicylic acid.

A bath of warm water and sea salt is good to relieve swollen feet, especially if they are rubbed with diluted alcohol after bathing.

If you have to stand on your feet a good deal it will help them from getting sore to change the shoes during the day, as it rests the feet.

A lotion for corns calls for one scruple of extract of cannabis, one ounce of collodion and one drachm of borate of sodium. Apply frequently and after a time the hard part of the corn may be taken out.

To Make a Greek Lamp.

Here is the way to make what is popularly known as a Greek lamp: Break the bottom off a goblet and suspend the "bowl" in a pretty netted basket-like holder that may have ribbons or fancy colored cords tied in the edges, with pretty bows by which to hang it up. Get a small triangle of tin and put tiny corks over each point, so the tin will float. There must be a small hole in the tin through which a tiny wick, no larger than a cord, passes. Pour the goblet bowl half full of water, with a spoonful of violet water in it, and then add a little oil. A tiny shaded light will be the result, and a faint perfume will pervade the room.

Puny and Fretful Baby.

This is now quite unnecessary! Like others, you may have your baby fat, laughing and happy, if you give it Scott's Emulsion Babies take it like cream.

Over a Year.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more that any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

On a High Wheel.

A high wheel is now very rarely seen. But one does appear occasionally, and sometimes one in perfect trim. Such a wheel, full nickel-plated, was seen the other day in Ninth street. The rider, in white flannels throughout, maintained his equilibrium perfectly, and as easily to the slow crossing of Broadway as anywhere else. There happened to come up Broadway at the same time a man on a safety, who turned into Ninth street just ahead of the man on the big wheel. They rode away over the smooth asphalt only about ten feet apart, and the high wheel did not suffer in the contrast.—New York Sun.

How to Tighten Your Spokes.

The spokes in a bicycle wheel should not be allowed to come loose. They should be tested frequently by picking with the fingers. One can always tell whether the spoke is taut or loose by the sound it gives out. The spokes may be tightened with a monkey wrench, turning the nipple to the left, screwing it down on the spoke, being careful, however, that the end does not project far enough through the rim to puncture the tire.

* 1871 *

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

* 1897 *

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

An August Argument...

Dull times in a store are expensive. We long ago determined to skip that sort of expense. Wants there always are. Then stocks need adjusting--May be we lose money but taking September losses in August is as broad as it is long to us—and to you it is infinitely better, because we hand you the goods while you have ample using time ahead.

To-Day

And for the days coming we offer Headwear at prices that are as unusual as frost in August:—

Choice of Fine Dress Straw Hats—the identical styles that started this season, at 75c and $1.00, now 25c.

Outing Caps 5c to 25c, worth double.

10 styles in lightweight Fedoras and Soft Hats (Fur)—made to be sold for $2.00 and $2.50, now $1.25.

A large lot of Summer Stiff Hats are marked for a good bye, at $1.50 cash, worth from $2.00 to $2.50.

Fresh and foremost we offer the New Fall Stiff Hat, in Black and Brown—block issued on Aug. 1st. Get one—$2.25.

A RACY LETTER FROM BUCKHORN.

Special Correspondence to The Examiner.

BUCKHORN, Aug. 25th, 1897.

As the sunbeams gladdened the horizon, and the balmy breezes poured forth their ozone on this health-improving metropolis, our peaceful citizens who were among the early risers, and had strolled forth to enjoy the blessings thus lavishly by Nature bestowed, were somewhat surprised to find that the city had been invaded by a party—which it was afterwards learned had driven out from Peterborough.

No one knew the hour of their arrival or whither they were going, and although your correspondent was "up with the lark" he was as deeply in the dark to the visitors as the average citizen. The early and unexpected appearance of the distinguished-looking party soon set the whole town agog. The gentleman who claims to have a patent right on fresh arrivals, averred that they were nothing out of the common, and belong to the every day class who visit our shores on pleasure bent or in search of gold galore. Another who rejoices in the honour of being the oldest inhabitant, asserted that at least two of the party were prominent members of the trans-Atlantic scientific association now meeting in Toronto, who had escaped for a day or two so investigate our undoubtedly rich mineral deposits in the interests of some foreign capitalists.

The early appearance of the visitors and their reticence as to the object of their visit and point of destination, brought many of our most esteemed citizens to a well known place of rendezvous, and our patent right friend and the oldest inhabitant were hard hard driven to maintain their reputations as authorities on fresh arrivals, when another party which arrived some hours later from Peterborough, informed the wiseacres that at least three of the distinguished visitors were well-known and prominent citizens of Peterborough, being none other than the inexorable chairman of the Sewerage Committee, the genial Town Engineer, who by the way, owing to his handsome presence and amiability, was mistaken for a popular local politician, and the affable and popular host of the Grand Central. As to the identity of the other gentlemen of the party a good deal of doubt exists.

He examined critically the huge rock in front of the Hotel Eastwood, and when your correspondent asked if he saw anything in it, he smiled complacently, which could readily be interpreted to mean yes or no, as it suits you.

After partaking of the superfluous hospitality of Brother Eastwood, the party enjoyed an hour's fishing on the lake, where the "local politician" succeeded in capturing a fish that tipped the beam at 14 lbs 9 1-2 oz. He had already captured, unawares, of course, the hearts of some of our handsome "village maidens." At high noon the party took their departure in a northerly direction, and as they appeared to have had sufficient provisions and dynamite to reach Klondyke, if they were so inclined, we do not anticipate their early return.

Our patent right philosopher claims that the object of their visit was for the purpose of getting pointers on the latest improved method of over-head sewerage, while our sage, the oldest inhabitant, maintains that they are out for the purpose of learning the best method of making good roads as practiced by the Provincial Government. Others believe they are largely interested in timber and mining speculations, while there are still others that think they know a thing or two, look wise and shake their heads and say that one of the party is out with a view of feeling the pulse of the horny-handed sons of toil with an eye on higher honours. Time will tell.

SCHOOL OPENS

Wednesday, Sept. 1st.

Does the Boy Need A Suit?

Come and Find a Suit for Him at

GOUGH BROS.

Fix him up for School while our Great Building Sale lasts. How we sell Boys' Fine Clothing at such prices and keep on buying and increasing our premises is a wonder to all but US.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and It's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Sult. Read and reflect;

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come,
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS. will bring all your trade.

Boys' Boots and Shoes, Boys' Hats and Caps, Boys' Underwear, Boys' Hosiery, Boys' Collars, Boys' Handkerchiefs, Boys' Neckties, Boys' Braces, &c. Everything he'll want, from a Suit to a Shirt, strong and good

TRIBESMEN WHIPPED

Heavy Loss Inflicted by Gen. Riggs' Troops.

THE REBELS CAME DOWN AT NIGHT

Captured and Burned a Village Near Kohat and Were Punished General Low Says There are Sufficient Troops on the Frontier to Put Down the Afridis.

London, Aug. 27. -- A special from Simla says that the Daulatzai tribe of Afridis, near Kohat, descended from the hills in strong force during Thursday night and attacked and captured the Village of Ubland, setting fire to the buildings, nearly all of which were destroyed. General Briggs, commanding the forces at Kohat, having heard of the Afridis' plans, had prepared a force and went out on Friday morning and attacked the enemy. After sharp fighting, the Afridis were driven back to the hills with heavy losses. The British loss consisted of one Sepoy killed and a native officer and two Sepoys wounded.

The Daily Graphic to-day publishes an interview with General Sir Robert Low, who commanded the Chitral relief expedition in 1895, in which General Low is quoted as saying:

"We have enough troops there to restore order and recapture Khyber very quickly; but it would be unwise to move for three weeks yet, if it can be helped, until the climate is healthier and transportation arrangements can be made There will probably be serious fighting, but the Afridis must be cowed, and Tirah must be occupied and a good military road made to that place. It is not worth while to garrison the Khyber Pass with our own troops."

General Low does not think the Sultan has anything to do with the rising. He believes it is possible that the Ameer was ignorant of the tribes' intention, but feels certain that General Gholam Haidar, commander of the Ameer's troops in East Afghanistan, was not. General Gholam Haidar, he says, is the biggest fanatic in Asia. General Low thinks the freedom of the press in India is largely responsible for the trouble, and opposes the subsidizing of the tribes, which he declares is always a sign of weakness.

Straight Answers Demanded.

Bombay, Aug. 27. -In the second letter sent by the Indian Government to the Ameer of Afghanistan, with reference to the complicity of Afghan subjects in the outbreaks of the Indian tribes on the frontier, the Government requests that specific answers be given to certain specific questions, and that generalities be avoided.

Proposal to Starve Them Out.

London, Aug. 27.—It is probable that, pending offensive operations by the Government forces, a blockade will be enforced against the Afridis and Orakzais, who are largely dependent upon India for their food supplies. This, it is believed, would tend to compel them to come to terms. The military authorities suggest, that, after the tribes have been punished, the occupation of a single fort (illegible) Chitral, in the Bazar Valley, would bind the Afridis hand and foot forever, since they would be obliged to pass under the walls of that fort every six months, when migrating from the valleys to the hills or vice versa.

Expected Attack on Jamrud.

London, Aug. 28.—The latest frontier news is that the Afridis are meditating a night attack upon Jamrud, where everything is in readiness to meet them. It is also reported that a large and threatening gathering of the Orakzais has taken place near Fort Gulistan, on the Samana range. The commandant at Chaman has asked for reinforcements. The weather is extremely hot.

Details of the Fight.

London, Aug. 28.—The Times' Simla correspondent cites as an instance of the lack of cohesion in the frontier tribes' plans, the fact that while the Afridis have dispersed to their homes, the Orakzais have begun to move. A party of the latter crossed the Ublan Pass, six miles from Kohat, and attacked the Mahmudzai post, which was held by a company of native infantry and the border militia, General Riggs, commander at Cohat, issued from that place with a field battery and two companies of Scots fusiliers and native infantry. The Orakzais retired to the Ublan ridge, where they were shelled by the battery. The infantry then stormed and captured the ridge for several hours, but as the tribesmen were in full retreat, the force withdrew to the plain.

Col. Richardson, with a flying column at Hangu, learned yesterday (Thursday) that a post on the Samana Range was being attacked. He at once sent a force of native infantry and a section of a mountain battery to reinforce the Samana garrison. -t reports are to the effect that firing has been heard in the direction of the post, so there is little doubt that this attack will be repelled, as was the one at Ublan.

This rising, the correspondent says, emphasizes the necessity of having a large force, with a view of attacking Tirah. Three columns, of probably two brigades each, are being organized, and other operations on the frontier are being postponed meanwhile.

So far only six Sepoys from Landikotal have arrived at Jamrud. They reported that they had been disarmed and it is believed, therefore, that the 250 members of the Landikotal rifles have been disarmed by the attacking Afridis.

The Trouble is Spreading.

Quetta, Baluchistan, Aug. 27.—The anxiety experienced here over the rumors that the uprising of the tribesmen of the frontier will extend to this district was increased to-day by the discovery that the telegraph line through the Bolan Pass has been cut. The Bolan Pass is a defile in the Mountains of Baluchistan, consisting of a succession of ravines of about 55 miles in length on the route from the lower Indus to the tableland of Afghanistan. The greatest elevation is 5793 feet. The Bolan River rises in this pass 4494 feet above the level of the sea.

The Mad Mullah Commanded.

London, Aug. 27.—A despatch from Bombay says that the Mad Mullah of Haddah commanded the Afridis, who have just captured the British forts in the Khyber Pass, which the natives will now keep sealed up.

SPAIN WILL DO HER DUTY.

The New Premier Intimates That the U. S. Will Not Control Cuba.

Madrid, Aug. 27. General Azcarraga, the Spanish Premier, at the Cabinet Council, over which he presided last night, declared the Government would follow in the footsteps of the late Premier, Senor Canovas del Castillo. He announced that the Government had full confidence in Captain-General Weyler's political and military conduct of affairs in Cuba. Personally the Premier was aware that the insurrection in Cuba was approaching an end, and if the United States made any demonstration, he remarked, which he hoped would not be the case, Spain would do her duty. The Premier closed his speech by appealing for the good will of all Conservatives.

THUNDERER ON WHEAT

The Era of Better Prices is Coming, So The Times Thinks.

London, Aug. 28.—The Times, in an editorial article on the wheat question, expresses the opinion that the era of better prices is coming, the long period of depression, caused by the constant additional acreage of wheat rendered possible by the extension of railways into new countries and the enormous increase of the tonnage of steamships, having come to an end for the present. The area of accessible virgin soil is much reduced, the article says, and until the railways in Argentina and other wheat countries shall have been extended a pause in the increase of production may be anticipated.

A Change Talked Of.

London, August 28.—The Manchester Guardian publishes the forumlation announcement that a transfer is imminent of the control of British protectorates from the Foreign Office to the Colonial Office.

Two Swiss Guides Killed.

Berne, Aug. 27. Two guides were killed and an Austrian tourist was seriously injured recently while attempting the ascent of the Jungfrau, by being thrown over a precipice by the collapse of a snow cornice.

Dynamite Outrage in Ireland.

Dublin, Aug. 27.—The Postoffice at Lanesborough, County Longford, was dynamited at 2 o'clock this morning. The front of the building was destroyed, but nobody was injured.

Going to Explode Bombs.

Constantinople, Aug. 27.—The Turkish Ambassador at Vienna, Mahmoud Nedim Bey, telegraphs that a number of persons are proceeding to Constantinople for the purpose of causing bomb explosions. It is announced that there were eleven Armenians concerned in the recent bomb outrages here. Of this number one man has committed suicide and eight men have been arrested.

Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice of Canada; Mr. Swanson.

Welcome to the Premier.

When the R. M. S. Labrador hove in sight at 7.40 p. m. the cannons boomed out a loud welcome from Father Point, and the brilliantly-illuminated houses, bonfires and fireworks shown by the inhabitants of that place, was a very effective sight from the deck of the Labrador, as well as from the steam tender Rhoda. The Rhoda also ran to Pockets. The latter was crowded with the elite from shore and also carried the British mail officer, Mr. Walmsley, the pilot for the steamer, the press reporters and Hon. Charles Langelier, Mr. Carrol, M. P. for Kamouraska, Mr. Auguste Tellier, M. L. A. and mayor of Rimouski, and Mr. John McWilliams, mayor of Father Point. The two latter gentlemen on arrival along side of the Labrador proceeded to the large saloon of the steamer, where they shook hands with Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, and read addresses of welcome, Mr. Tellier one from the citizens of Rimouski, and Mr. McWilliams from those of Father Point. Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier were evidently deeply touched by the unexpected honor shown them so far down the St. Lawrence.

Sir Wilfrid replied to the two addresses in his usual happy vein. Bouquets of flowers were presented to Lady Laurier by Mrs. Nowlan Pollsie and Miss Eva Lawson of Father Point, and by Mr. Tellier, son of the mayor of Rimouski.

The Premier and Lady Laurier are the very picture of health.

When the tender was approaching the Labrador, and when leaving it the crowd on deck cheered the Premier again and again. The large saloon of the Labrador was crowded to overflowing while the addresses were being presented.

MILLIONS FOR THE FARMERS.

From Four to Five Hundred Million Dollars More Than Last Year.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Assistant-Secretary Brigham of the Agricultural Department to-day expressed the opinion that the American farmers this year would receive in the aggregate from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 in excess of that received last year for their wheat. "This seems like a vast sum, but statistics sustain the claim."

Colonel Brigham also predicted that the increase in the price of farm produce would benefit the laboring element.

TRAMPS BROKE UP A WEDDING.

Drove the Guests Out and Ate Up the Good Things Provided.

Holgate, O., Aug. 27.—Fifteen tramps surprised and captured the farm house of John P. Williams last evening. Miss Williams and Frank Collins were to have been married. The tramps drove the family and guests out, devoured the bridal supper, and ransacked the house. All valuables were taken, even to a coat of Mr. Williams that contained the marriage license. The wedding was postponed and the guests formed a posse and are now in pursuit of the tramps.

One Way to Call Him Off.

Canea, Island of Crete, Aug. 27.—The insurgents on Wednesday last fired on Djevad Pasha, the commander of Turkish forces in Crete, while he was outside of Suda, compelling him to abandon his intention of visiting the Fortress of Izzeddeen.

Canadian

In every respect the Canadian Order of Foresters is a representative national society. Its work is confined to Canada, yet it protects and guards its members in whatever part of the world they may reside. It insures its members for $500, $1000, $1500 or $2000 at rates running from 35c. to $2 monthly according to age and amount. Sick benefits are also available at low rates. For nearly 20 years the Canadian

Order of Foresters has maintained a splendid record for prompt payment of claims, and its securely invested surplus funds exceed $550,000.00. The easy payments, ample security and favorable rates render it the duty of every careful and provident man to insure his life for the benefit of his dependents, and the many advantages offered should guide him to insure in the Canadian Order of

BETTER TIMES.

There is a decided improvement and looking up in "times," which seems to be a popular way of expressing the commercial condition of the country. Business confidence seems to be reviving—merchants place orders more freely, and in manufacturing circles especially, in some cases important establishments are busier than they have been for many months. The heart of the farmer rejoices—the Northwest farmer in dollar prices for wheat and the Ontario dairy farmer in cheese at 10 cents plus. There is a brisk demand for Canadian flour for South America, and on every side there is evidence of the improved condition of the farming industry. And farming prosperity is the foundation and corner stone of all other industry—only let that prosper and everything else booms.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ottawa Journal, Independent, says, —"Both Conservative and Liberals can afford to join heartily in the welcome home to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The city is not receiving him as a Liberal but as the prime minister of the country who has borne himself creditably abroad as a representative."

The sunny side of the hedge, the "sunny ways" of Liberalism seem to have a fine effect on the crops and prices. Whether the Liberals being in power causes the good times or not, we have the improvement all the same and it is just as pleasant as though we Liberals were directly responsible. We have so many blessings to thank Liberal rule for that additional blessings follow by virtue of the contagion of example.

Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived in Canada to-day and the triumphal gress made by the popular Canadian Premier through Great Britain and Europe will be continued. He received a grand reception at Rimouski and Quebec en route and an ovation at Montreal. The enthusiastic admiration felt by the great party Sir Wilfrid leads is shared to a large extent by all Canadians irrespective of party, and all feel proud of a Canadian Premier who has represented Canada abroad this year with so much success and distinction.

The Montreal Gazette claims credit, for the Conservative party, of the "idea" of the denunciation of the commercial treaties, the fast Atlantic service and the cold storage arrangements. That's exactly the case. Our good Conservative Government had grand ideas but it failed to carry them out. By contrast the Liberal Government doesn't boast of great "ideas" but it does these things. The difference between good intentions and good deeds constitute the contrast between the Conservative Government in the last few years of its life, and the present live Liberal Government.

The Dingley tariff advocates in the United States are, for political purposes, booming the high taxation machine as the cause of the good times. But are the times good there? Peterborough gentlemen who have recently visited Detroit and Buffalo—two typical cities as to commercial indications—say that the universal popular complaint is of dull times and lack of employment for labour. In Buffalo this condition is serious. A few days ago a band of 500 or 600 Poles and Hungarians marched in procession to the mayor's office and demanded work, bread or blood. That's the usual way. The blessings of a high tariff are more ornamental and mythical than actual. The politician helps the monopolist to put the taxation pistol to the consumers's head, and then blandly tells the overburdened taxpayer that if he only knew it he is in a state of rampant and riotous prosperity.

TRADE IN CANADA.

Activity Showing Itself in all the Provinces—Collections Moderately Good.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 27.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says :—

While there is as yet no special increase of activity in the general trade movement at Montreal, there is some improvement of demand noted in certain leading lines, and it is patent that a feeling of hopefulness in the future is already growing. The wholesale warehouses have been visited by a fair number of buyers during the past week or so, some of them from quite distant points, and though large purchases have been the exception, still a fair aggregate of business is reported. The fall millinery openings, fixed for about the 7th September, are expected to attract buyers to the city in fair numbers, and it is expected business will receive some fresh impulse during the next few weeks. The tendency to advance in several leading lines is also accepted as a favourable feature.

Collections as a whole are reported moderately good, and there is an absence of noteworthy failures. The cold, wet weather of the past two or three weeks has been rather a misfortune for the country, as grain that has been cut has suffered to some extent. Dairying interests are, however, prosperous, both cheese and butter showing appreciable advance in values, and exports of the former continue active. The money market shows no change, and ample supplies of call funds are available at 3½.

General wholesale is fairly active in Toronto. Orders for fall drygoods are coming in freely, and shipments for Manitoba and the west are large. The good crops and high prices are having a beneficial effect. Confidence has returned and dealers are greatly encouraged with the outlook. There is some improvement in groceries, with an advance of ⅛c in granulated sugars, which is jobbing at 4¼c to 4 9-16c per lb. Ceylon and Japan teas are firmer with good demand. The trade in iron and hardware is satisfactory, and the movement in leather is increasing. Payments are reported as good, and they are likely to be better when grain moves more freely.

The wheat crop of Ontario is worth millions more to farmers this year, in consequence of the bountiful supply and comparatively high range of prices. Farmers should take advantage of these high prices, and sell at least a good portion of their wheat. This is the time to sell. It is a mistake to carry over crops from year to year.

Money is easy at 3½ to 4 per cent on call, and prime paper is discounted at 6 per cent.

In consequence of the bright outlook and high prices for wheat in Manitoba, the demand for Northwest land shares has increased, and the stock is particularly strong. Much higher prices are talked of for the week. Freehold also is much higher. Canada Permanent Loan, Dominion Savings, Hamilton Provident, Western Canada, Canada Landed, and London & Ontario are in fair demand.

Failures for the week were 24, against 33 for the some week of last year.

The Use of Lactated Food Means Life and Health for Baby.

Notwithstanding the warnings of able physicians, many mothers persist in using arrowroot, cornstarch and similar farinaceous foods for their little ones. Such preparations have but little food value, and in the hot weather are often sources of danger, as the starches they contain undergo fermentation in the digestive canal and frequently bring on diarrhœa and dysentery.

The baby's good health can only be maintained when it is fed on life-giving Lactated Food. In the past, thousands of mothers have declared that Lactated Food saved their children from death.

No other food sold in Canada has such a bright record with mothers as Lactated Food. The little ones relish it and quickly grow strong and vigorous. The purity of Lactated Food makes it the most nutritious and most easily digested. No sick, frail and puny babies when Lactated Food is made the daily diet. Try it, mothers, during the present month; it means life and health for your child.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Ottawa, Sept. 9th, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Co., Ltd., Ottawa:—

Gentlemen,—I hardly know how best to express my appreciation of your valuable rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline. My son Gordon, who is 9 years old, has been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism for the past two years; was so bad at times that he had to be carried about on a mattrass; was attended by two city doctors apparently without the slightest benefit; spent 10 days at Caledonia Springs, came home with no marked improvement; took three bottles of a Homeopathic remedy now being extensively advertised, which did not relieve him in the least. I was beginning to give up all hope of his recovery, when by chance I mentioned the case to a friend who strongly advised me to give Phrenoline a trial.

I did so, with the result that when my boy had taken only half a bottle he was able to get on his bicycle and ride like any other boy around the block.

I certainly feel that I cannot say too much in praise of your medicine, and shall do all I can to make known its value to others.

Yours very sincerely,

GREAT HEAP OF GOLD

Three and a Half Tons of the Yellow Metal

BROUGHT DOWN ON THE PORTLAND

Quarter of a Cord Piled Up and Guarded—The Steamer Would Have Brought Six Million Dollars' Worth, But the Company Was Afraid to Risk So Much.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 27.—"There is no use in anyone attempting to exaggerate the richness of these Klondike diggings," writes Captain Clarence Cox, master of the well-known sealing schooner Triumph, under date of Ounalaska, July 28, in a letter which his wife has just received. "The las steamer that came down the river had 100 passengers, and the least that any one of them brought with him was $10,000, and he was a boy but 18.. One man had $100,000 in dust and he had only been in the country for a year. They all average between $50,000 and $100,000 each."

This is the latest and most authentic report concerning the treasure steamer Portland, now due on her last voyage of the year from St. Michael's with those who have made fortunes on the Klondike or the Stewart, and are coming back to civilization to spend the winter amid more congenial surroundings.

That the news in the sealer's letter is not itself an exaggeration is borne out by Archie Shelp, who had himself seen the yellow millions, and arrived in Juneau just before the City of Topeka sailed for this port. He had left Dawson City on July 30 last, accompanied by two fellow-miners, named McKay and Kid Birch, the latter being the fortune hunter who had given his name to Birch Creek. They reached Dyea, having crossed the Chilkoot Pass, on the 18th day of the present month, just 18 days from Dawson City, and in time to add their word of advice to the volumes that are being written, urging inrushing prospectors not to try the mountains until spring.

$3,500,000 in a Heap.

Shelp says that when he and his companions left Dawson three and a half tons of gold, valued most conservatively at upward of two millions, was stacked up to await shipment on the river steamer. The last boat down, which was to connect with the Portland for her present trip, had a similar amount. Her cargo would have totalled six million dollars in value had it not seemed unsafe to risk so large an amount of treasure on any single trip. The treasure remaining for later transportation down was, when Shelp left Dawson, piled up and under guard. It measured a trifle over a quarter of a cord, and it took Shelp more than two hours to get his sack from the heap after he had decided not to go down the river, but to cross the mountains instead. Shelp is authority for the statement that the Portland, on her present trip has more than three and a half tons of gold on board, while there is still awaiting shipment a greater amount still.

Eldorado Creek is being mined to the top of the mountain on bench claims by rockers, and since the last report was sent out from that region one claim alone on the creek had yielded its owners $100,000, which sum, with what he had taken out previously, quite satisfies him. He has handed the claim to his partners, with his good wishes, packed the gold in sacks for shipment and taken passage for Puget Sound and home.

Bonanza Creek has also fully proved itself rich, having been staked from source to outlet, and paying good wages to every person on it. Workers for wages are still scarce at Dawson City at $15 a day, which rate is certain to continue throughout the entire winter. Not a bench claim was located, according to Shelp, until July 4, yet William Kerr has a claim already worth $60,000, and there are many others equally fortunately situated. The first spring arrivals will undoubtedly get rich claims, but only very few of those now on the road from Dyea and Skaguay will see the waters of the Yukon before spring.

Forest Fires and Mosquitoes.

William Kerr, writing down from Dawson for supplies before he made his fortunate location, says: "It is next to impossible to go out prospecting at this time of the year, as the woods are all on fire and mosquitoes as thick as the hair on a dog's back." Then, after dealing with business matters, he says: "I never saw so much gold dust in all my life as there is floating around this town. Harry Ashe takes in from $2000 a day and upwards over the bar, and God only knows what he reaps at the gambling tables. The last steamer that left here took, on a rough calculation, three and a half tons of pure gold, and the most of the mines had then been in operation only about six months. They say that the claims were only prospected. They are nearly all shut down now, as they cannot work them except in the winter, so that the output next spring will be simply enormous.

"Dick Lowe is worth $100,000 to-day. Oscar Ashby and Billy Leek could sell for $150,000. Sam Matthews is going out in a few days with a good stake. An old fellow, Razoo Bill's partner, who chopped wood around Juneau, has been offered $60,000 and refused it for his claim. Cornelius Edwards sold out for $55,000."

One big, muscular man, who has had experience in the most mining camps in the Pacific States, says that it is nothing short of madness for any one to go in via Dyea and Skaguay this fall, and estimates that of those who are there now not one per cent. will "make it" this winter. "And," he added, "I know, for I have been 14 miles up the Skaguay trail, and, though packing is almost second nature to me, I preferred to turn back, selling my outfit at a loss, to risking my life by continuing the trip."

On the other hand there is a story of one man, who, having reached Lake Linderman, returned to Skaguay in 14 hours, en route to Juneau, to settle some business matters, and who was returning by the same route, expecting to reach Lake Linderman again by the time the other members of his party had completed the building of their boats.

Rumors are current that a new chain of lakes has been discovered on the Skaguay route, but confirmation seems difficult to obtain, it being freely stated, however, that the new discovery will result in this route being more patronized than that by way of Dyea.

The Alaska Miner contains two or three columns on the little incident at Skaguay in which the Danube figured, taking up the cudgels on behalf of Messrs. Coleman, Hammond and Jones, and intimating that the steamer would be libelled on her next appearance in Alaskan waters. The ground upon which proceedings will be taken is that the ship illegally sold liquor over her bar while within the territorial waters of Alaska; second, that she discharged her cargo at a point (Skaguay) not mentioned in her papers, which provided for the debarkation of her passengers and cargo at Dyea. It is held that Inspector Smith could not give the permission upon which Captain Meyer discharged his passengers and cargo.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Paine's Celery Compound Conquers After Years of Failures With Other Medicines.

Mrs. G. H. Parker, of Winona, Ont., was for eighteen years a complete martyr to neuralgia, that cruel and merciless tormentor of thousands of old and young in Canada. During her long years of agony she had the services of some of the best medical men, and consumed any quantity of patent medicines, but all failed failed to drive off the tyrant that was making life a burden. At last she was persuaded to test the power and virtue of Paine's Celery Compound, and the happy results that rewarded her faith are described in the following letter:

"I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia for nearly eighteen years; these sufferings at times were so bad that words would fail to describe them. After having tried every known remedy and different physicians, and receiving no help, I was persuaded to try your Paine's Celery Compound, which I have been using for the past four months. I am happy to say that I am now a different woman and completely cured. I can recommend your Paine's Celery Compound to all my friends, for it has been worth hundreds of dollars to me."

TRIO OF ACCIDENTS.

Mrs. John Shanahan Fell Down Stairs Yesterday and was Badly Shaken up.

Mrs. Shanahan, widow of the late John Shanahan, whilst acting as sick nurse at the residence of Mr. John Halpin, missed her footing and fell down the stairs last evening, receiving a bad shaking up and a number of flesh wounds. Dr. King is attending her at St. Joseph's Hospital, whither she was removed.

An employee at the Canadian General Electric Works, named Munchall, and hailing from Johannesburg, South Africa, had his finger badly crushed yesterday in a punching machine.

Mr. Wm. Davidson, Dickson street, fell from his bicycle on Thursday last and fractured his collar bone. He will be confined to his residence for some time.

HORSE THIEVES AGAIN.

Mr John M. Walsh is the Last Victim of the Scoundrels.

On Thursday night last a fine young blood colt was stolen from the premises of Mr. John M. Walsh, in Douro, just opposite the Maple Leaf cheese factory.

The animal had been used all day on the binder and was turned out in the lot in question in the evening, and in the morning there was no trace of it. Mr. Walsh at first thought that the horse had strayed, but later on in the day learned that Mr. James Lahey, on the next farm, had missed a bridle from his stable the same night.

Enquiry revealed the fact that a rough looking young stranger has been seen in the vicinity several times during the day, and at about four o'clock in the afternoon had been seen to disappear in an adjoining swamp. These circumstances led Mr. Walsh to the belief that the stranger was responsible for the disappearance of his horse, and he put the case in the hands of the police to-day.

The animal was a three-year-old light bay, with a white star on the forehead and a little white on both hind feet. He is part blood and a fine rangy colt.

Just about this time last year Mr. Walsh's brother lost a fine colt, but although the animal was traced to a local stable, the police never made anything out of the case.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The lengthening of the runs of the Grand Trunk system for the train crews is not meeting with the approval of the men, the chief objection being the strain on their nerves especially those of their engineers and firemen, from the constant shaking up they get while travelling over the rails.

Mr. C. S. Proctor, Travelling Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk, was in town this morning.

The Grand Trunk is putting on a special train between Peterborough and Toronto on the mornings of the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th Sept It will leave Peterborough at 6.40 a.m. arriving at the Fair at 9.55. Returning it will leave Toronto at 8 p.m.

ANOTHER BIG BOON FOR PETERBOROUGH.

THE DICKSON COMPANY TO RESUME ACTIVE OPERATIONS.

A Vigourous Campaign on Their Cavendish Limits—The Logs to be Sawed in Lakefield and Peterborough.

The Dickson Company is completing arrangements for resumption of vigourous work on the Cavendish limits, which have reverted to them from the Howrys. Two shanties will be set up for the sheltering of about 160 men and a corresponding number of teams that will be employed. It is contemplated to make a cut of from six to eight million feet of logs, which will be run down and cut into lumber at Lakefield and Peterborough.

This will be a direct and distinct benefit to both places, which both will appreciate, and the consequent employment of labour will be welcomed to many, whose enforced idleness has too long continued through no fault of their own. Ever since the Dickson Company ceased active operations the want of employment has been severely felt, both by the working classes and by the merchants, who were less directly but as effectively affected.

One great mistake made by the Howrys is felt to have been their failure to have their logs manufactured in Peterborough. If they had done so, there are many who think that the failure that followed their lumbering operations might have long been deferred, or if not altogether averted.

The news that the Dickson Company are about to resume work on something like the old scale will be welcomed by all who are interested in the benefit of the townspeople and the advance of the town's interests.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

To Mr. W. H. Crowe at Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mr. W. H. Crowe, of Johannesburg South Africa, is evidently quite as popular there as he was when a resident of Peterborough, as he was recently presented with an address and a ring by the members of the firm with which he has been employed and the staff over which he has been foreman.

The address was worded as follows:

JOHANNESBURG, July 17th, 1897.

To Wm. H. Crowe, Esq.:

The members of the firm of Oates, Stein & Co. and their employees, on the occasion of the dissolution of the company, desire to express to you their sincere appreciation of the manner in which you have performed the onerous duties devolving upon you in your capacity of general foreman and to return their cordial thanks for your attentive interest in the welfare of the company and your kindly consideration for the workmen under your control. As a slight testimony of their united esteem and regard, and as a memento of the many pleasant days spent together, we beg your acceptance of the accompanying ring and earnestly hope that your future may be a most successful one, and that in whatever business you may engage your relations with your fellow workmen may be distinguished by the same good feeling and universal respect that has characterized your connection with the above company.

Signed for the firm of Oates, Stein & Co.:

P. J. OATES,
E. STEIN,
ALFRED DAWE.

Signed for the employees:

GEO. BRIGHT,
H. T. HOPE,
T. MCKENZIE.

The ring was a beautiful and very heavy one with Masonic emblem set with magnificent diamonds. The gold came from the Robinson gold mine, situated in Johannesburg, and the diamonds were procured from the "Kimberly Diamond Fields." The address is beautifully illuminated and nicely written, with a heavy frame made of native wood and carved with Masonic emblems.

In commenting on the affair the Johannesburg Star says:—On Saturday evening Mr. W. H. Crowe, late foreman of the firm of Oates, Stein & Co., was the recipient of a handsome gold ring bearing Masonic emblems, together with a nicely framed illuminated address expressing their sincere appreciation of the manner in which he has performed the onerous duties developing upon him as foreman and conveying their cordial thanks for his attentive interest in the welfare of the company, and his kindly consideration for the workmen under his control."

A ROYAL VISIT TO CANADA.

Premier Laurier's Distinguished Guests

The Duke and Duchess of York have, it is said, accepted the invitation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier of Canada, to pay the Dominion a state visit next spring on their way to Australia. There can be no doubt that they will receive a royal welcome on landing in Canada, and their journey across the continent will be a royal progress. If Canada can possibly treat them more royally than Great Britain treated Canada's premier, she will endeavour to do so. There never was a time of such pride in the Empire as the present, and the people of Greater Britain are as anxious to display it as the people of the mother country. The visit of their Royal Highnesses will be regarded as one in which homage to the throne is invited on the part of Australia and Canada, and these great dominions will yield it right loyally and gladly. The Duke has always been held in high regard for his unassuming, manly character. When in Canada before, as a young sailor, he was entertained as a prince seeking pleasure on a holiday off from work on board ship, and our games and sports and lighter social functions were relied upon to amuse him. Next year as the heir of the throne, seeking knowledge of the empire he will some day reign over, he will meet all our statesmen and dignitaries and be made acquainted with the resources of the Dominion and aspirations of its people. The Duchess of York, who is an English princess, born and bred in England, has made herself one of the most popular of the members of the royal family since her marriage. Canadians will joyfully greet and receive their future queen, the first to visit Canada.—Witness.

ASHBURNHAM BREVITIES.

Interesting Bits of Information from Peterborough's Fifth Ward—Floral Sunday.

The Ashburnham Public School will reopen on Wednesday, Sept. 1, at nine o'clock, when it is hoped every pupil will be present, as the classes will be organized for work at once. Pupils absent at the beginning of the term interfere with their own progress and with the progress of the school.

Next Sunday, Aug. 29th, is to be "Floral Sunday" in Mark street Methodist church. In the morning Mr. Yooseph, of Persia, will speak. The evening service will be conducted by the popular pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore.

The pupils of Ashburnham Public School who passed the recent entrance examination can get their certificates by applying to the Principal. Of the candidates who wrote at Peterborough, pupils of this school stood first in reading, writing paper and history. They also stood first, equal with others, in writing book and spelling, and took second place in composition. In physiology one pupil took 59, and the prize winners got only 61 and 60—being only slightly ahead.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE.

EXCELLENT AND IMPORTANT EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION.

It Makes Practical Men and Women—Fits Them Well for the Actualities of Business Life—Practice Supersedes Mere Theory.

Of the excellent educational advantages possessed by the town of Peterborough none is more important or more effective in its special sphere than the Peterborough Business College, which is conducted, and excellently conducted, in the well-equipped rooms in the Bank of Commerce block, corner of Hunter and Water streets, by Messrs. W. Pringle and W. C. McCrea, two painstaking and thoroughly qualified exponents of up-to-date business methods.

Their qualifications have been subjected to the severest practical test, that of experience. During the two years they have conducted the business in its present fine quarters, the success that has attended their work is the best kind of testimony to the practical value of its character. The students the college has turned out have met with so marked a degree of success in actual business employment that the public confidence in the value of the Peterborough Business College as a centre of business training has grown very strong, as shown by the circumstance that the last winter term was the most successful in the history of the college, the number of students being greatly in excess of any previous period. The success achieved by the students who have secured their business education at this college is a striking and valuable testimony to the excellence of the methods employed and the care exercised in their application to the individual needs and capacity of the student.

Ladies, especially, the problem of whose ability for self support is daily receiving favourable solution, experience great success in the domain of office work after having taken a course in this college, and numerous positions in offices in this town are most satisfactorily filled by lady-graduates of the Peterborough Business College. And the same general statement applies to the male graduates. Every department of the college is thoroughly equipped, and the most thorough and practical instruction is given in shorthand, type writing, banking, penmanship, book-keeping, and everything that pertains to the practical arena of the business world. Before they are sent out, students are subjected to a strict examination, and the diplomas issued to successful students represent not mere length of attendance, as is frequently the case in other colleges, and are therefore to be regarded as veritable certificates of expert qualification for filling the position sought by virtue of such a diploma.

The advantages of such an institution in our midst is two fold. It gives the aspiring student an excellent and convenient opportunity of qualifying himself for business pursuits, and it furnishes our professional and business men with employees trained in the latest business methods, and with an aptitude and celerity of service so requisite in this age of rush and hurry.

The course in the Peterborough Business College is not long—the methods being so excellent that a boy or girl equipped with the foundation of a good public school education can be speedily trained in the specialties that fit him or her for practical business employment. Neither is the course expensive, and almost any parent can afford to give his boy or girl the benefit of a business training. Besides if it is not desired to fit a child for regular business pursuits, a course in the Peterborough Business College gives a training that will come useful in every walk of life.

The Peterborough Business College is earnestly commended to the people as one of the best institutions of its kind in the province, and citizens are urged to consult their own interests, as well as display a proper local patriotism by patronizing a home institution which imparts better instruction than nine tenths of the other outside Business Colleges with more sounding pretenses.

The night school classes that are conducted during eight months of the year are a valuable adjunct to the Peterborough Business College, permitting those whose hours of daylight are fully occupied to obtain the educational advantages, which circumstances prevented them from enjoying in earlier life.

O. S. Doan, of Clinton, says not to go on suffering as he did for years with Salt Rheum, when a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure you.

Robertson's Mixed Floor and House Paints still lead all other makes in giving perfect satisfaction. They are never sticky, nor do they peel off, but dry hard, bright and glossy. If they require thinning use only the oil sold by the agents. Poor oil, as well as poor paints, never dry satisfactorily and will not wear. Robertson's Paints that were used two years ago, look better to-day than other paints used this year. 2aw-w

A BRAVE RESCUE.

Miss Donna Coulter Plunged Into the River Thursday and Saved the Life of Little Herbie Begg.

The appended item from the Lindsay Post refers to the heroic action of a daughter of Dr. Coulter, formerly of Peterborough:

A very brave action was performed Thursday afternoon at Lindsay by Miss Donna Coulter, granddaughter of Squire McDonnell. Perhaps 20 or 30 persons, including a number of children were standing about the wharf awaiting the arrival of the steamer Greyhound, and noticing a couple of girl friends in the crowd she ran down from the residence close by to meet them. When she reached the wharf one of the girls called her attention to the queer actions of a boy in the water, thinking he was swimming, but Miss Coulter, realizing on the instant that the lad was drowning, immediately leaped into the river and swam out to his rescue. The boy was then sinking, his hands only being above the service, and when he felt that aid was coming, he grasped Miss Coulter with desperate energy, but she retained her presence of mind and soon had him on shore; then she took the boy in her arms and carried him up the steep hill to her grandfather's house, where he was rolled in blankets and given warm drinks. In the meantime it was discovered that the little fellow was Herbie B. Begg, the five-year-old son of Mr. J. B. Begg, proprietor of the Lindsay soda water works, and a messenger was sent for the parents. When they arrived they found their son almost recovered from the effects of his nearly fatal bath, and it is needless to add that their expressions of gratitude to his preserver were most fervent. The rescue was a gallant act, and it is to be hoped that it will be suitably recognized by the presentation to Miss Coulter of a Royal Humane Society medal.

The Cartridge Exploded.

On Tuesday of last week while Mr. John Tedford, of Burleigh, was in the act of placing a cartridge in his rifle, through some unknown cause it exploded, the powder flying back covering his face and eyes. The accident caused him a great deal of pain, the eyes being very much inflamed. With care the doctors hope that his eyesight will be saved. He had a very narrow escape and one which he will not forget for some time.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

MACRAE ARRAIGNED.

Detective Murray Brought the Prisoner to St. Catharines and He Has Been Committed for Trial.

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 26.—A. M. MacRae, the alleged defaulter, embezzler and forger, who was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Security Loan and Savings Company of this city, arrived in the city Wednesday at midnight, having been brought from New York city by Detective Murray.

This morning he was taken before Magistrate Comfort and given a preliminary hearing, Crown Attorney Brennan prosecuted, and Mr. Smellie of Toronto looked after MacRae's interest. There were four charges against the prisoner for forging the name of John Reilly to a cheque for $2310.16; for uttering the said cheque; for the forgery of Reilly's name to a cheque of $1704.02, and for embezzling the sum of $4100 of the funds of the company. The evidence was dead against the prisoner, who sat with bowed head in the dock, and no defence whatever was made. The magistrate therefore committed him to stand his trial on three of the charges, the last charge not being pressed by the Crown. MacRae will likely be tried before Judge Collier on Saturday.

TORTURED AND HELPLESS.

Rheumatism has Hordes of Victims, and is no Respecter of Persons—South American Rheumatic Cure Resists his Cruel Grasp and Heals the Wounds he Inflicts—Relief in Six Hours.

Geo. W. Platt, Manager "World's" Newspaper Agency, Toronto, says:—"I am at a loss for words to express my feelings of sincere gratitude and thankfulness for what South American Rheumatic Cure has done for me. As a result of exposure I was taken with a severe attack of rheumatic fever which affected both my knees. I suffered pain almost beyond human endurance. Having heard of marvellous cures by South American Rheumatic Cure, I gave it a trial. After taking three doses the pain entirely left me, and in three days I left my bed. Now every trace of my rheumatism has disappeared." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Spanish-American Commerce.

London, Aug. 26.—The Standard's correspondent at San Sebastian says: "I learn that Spain has often intimated her willingness to make considerable reductions in the contemplated West Indian tariffs in order to develop the trade of Cuba with the United States, and was willing to negotiate a reciprocity treaty, when the Dingley bill came into force. But the United States Government received her advances coldly because it wanted the Cuban question settled first. Indeed, Spain is now aware that American diplomacy will soon raise other and more important issues before any commercial questions are likely to be mooted."

The Heir of Craven Christened.

London, Aug. 27.—The Daily Mail announces that the Archbishop of York baptised the heir of the Earl of Craven at Binley Church, Warwickshire, yesterday, the child being named George William Bradley. The sponsors were Mrs. Bradley Martin, Charles Craven and Miss Poste.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

TIMBER REGULATIONS.

Ontario Ministers Yesterday Discussed the Proposals of the Lumbermen as to Pine Logs.

Toronto, Aug. 27.

A full meeting of the Ontario Cabinet took place at the Council Room, Parliament Buildings, yesterday morning, all the members of the Government having returned to the city.

We understand that the special object of the meeting was the discussion of the resolution passed at the lumbermen's meeting on the 12th inst., asking the Government to pass timber regulations requiring that all pine logs cut upon the Crown domain in the Province of Ontario shall be manufactured in Canada, and that this shall hereafter be a condition of the renewal of timber licenses. The subject was pretty fully gone into, but was allowed to stand for further discussion, and to give all parties an opportunity of laying their arguments before the Council.

OHIO SCIENTISTS MAD.

They Came Over to Join the British Association Here and Claim They Were Badly Treated.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 26. Four Ohio scientists have returned in anger from the congress of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto. They are Dr. William Clark of Berea, Ohio, famous for his discoveries of fossil fishes; Prof. E. M. Comstock, the naturalist, of Case School of Applied Sciences; Prof. Frederick Wright of Oberlin, who has a national reputation as an authority upon the glacial period in North America, and Prof. D. C. Miller of Case School, whose experiments with the X rays have attracted widespread attention. They complain that they were completely snubbed by the members of the association and were made so uncomfortable that they started for home before the convention was two days old.

BURGLARS AT BOWMANVILLE.

The Mason Company's Store Entered and some Goods Carried Off.

Bowmanville, Aug. 26.—The large dry goods and grocery stores of the Mason Company were burglariously entered last night through the rear or south end of the buildings. The bars across the window were bent so as to admit the body of a small man. Then the door was opened, and free entrance was secured to the several departments. A large quantity of men's clothing, underwear, boots and shoes, ties and two valises were taken. The night watchman on duty saw no one in the buildings after the establishment was closed at 6.30 p. m.

The burglar or burglars were apparently not professional, but no clue has yet been obtained to the culprits.

PRINCE LUIGI'S TRIUMPH.

The Italian Scion of Royalty Has Been at the Top of Mount St. Elias.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 26.—The expedition of Prince Luigi of Savoy to the summit of Mount St. Elias has fixed once for all the altitude of Mount St. Elias at 18,120 feet. The expedition has also shown that the mountain was never a volcano. The Prince named a newly-discovered glacier "Colombo."

A Canadian Woman Missing.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—Catharine Lisk, 35 years of age, is reported missing by Margaret Carr, who keeps a boarding house on Sixth-street. Miss Lisk came here from Pinkerton, Ont., where she has relatives living. Miss Carr says Miss Lisk was a little queer. She had been looking for work daily for some time, but would never remain out in the evening, having a sort of hallucination that someone was constantly following her. For this reason Miss Carr fears something has happened her.

Another Postponement for Allison.

Galt, Ont., Aug. 26.—It is announced that the Crown has requested an enlargement until Friday, September 3, for the preliminary hearing of Allison, the supposed murderer of Mrs. Orr.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Lady Cured After Seventeen Years' Affliction with Disorders Peculiar to Her Sex by Dodd's Kidney Pills—Other Unfortunates Can be Cured as Well as She.

Toronto, Aug. 16—The publication of the letter of Mrs. Reany, of Ashland, Wis., concerning her cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills after 10 years of sickness, has awakened wide-spread interest amongst the women of Canada. It is truly marvellous that a woman afflicted as long as she was, who had tried all the remedies within her reach and all the doctors could do for her should be cured by so simple and easily accessible a remedy as these pills. What they did for her they will do for other women suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex.

The Solar Corona.

During the eclipse of the sun last summer a party of Russian observers in Finland succeeded in getting ten photographs of the solar corona, which have been combined in a picture recently published in Nature. An enormously long streamer of light extends northwestwardly from the sun to a length of more than 2,000,000 miles, or about nine times the distance of the moon from the earth.

From maps and papers extending back 230 years Dr. Herman Wabser finds that the lakes in the canton of Zurich have greatly diminished in number and size. The forest area has been reduced but little, but the vineyard area has steadily increased.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prize Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

Over a Year.

"I have been troubled with sick headache for over a year. Lately I have used Laxa Liver Pills, and find that they help me more that any other medicine I have ever taken. They are an excellent pill, causing no pain or griping, and leaving no after ill effects."

MORGAN AND JIM HILL

Are Scheming to Get Control of the Trans-Pacific Carrying Trade Japanese Allies With Them.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—The Inter-Ocean, in commenting upon the recent advance in the securities of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, gives currency to the report that the J. P. Morgan interest, which is now in full control of the Northern Pacific, and the James J. Hill party, which owns the Great Northern Railway system, are now in possession of options representing the controlling interests in the Great Western. This, it is said, will perfect a formidable combination, which will minimize the competition in the carrying trade of the northwest.

The Chicago Great Western will give the Northern Pacific-Great Northern interests its own line from St. Paul to Chicago.

It is proposed by the new combination to make an attempt to control the trans-Pacific carrying trade by means of an alliance already perfected and in operation with the Nippon Gusen Kaisha, or Japan Mail Steamship Company, which has the largest fleet and the second largest tonnage rating of any steamship company in the world.

In joining this alliance, the Nippon Gusen Kaisha Company brings to its partners a monopoly of the interior and coasting trade of Japan and China, and places in service connecting lines of steamships to compete for the Indian, Australian, Hawaiian and Northern Asiatic trade, with the object of diverting to the United States route the English and Continental European traffic for India and Asia which has heretofore gone via the Capetown or Suez Canal routes.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

Love's young dream is one that fills the heart with intensest joy. Sometimes the happy dream is realized. Frequently, it is not. In many cases loving young couples fall short of true married happiness because of the ill-health of the young wife. A woman who is tortured by pains due to weakness and disease of the organs that are distinctly feminine, cannot be an amiable and helpful wife. Troubles of this nature rack the nerves with pain and sap the strength. Under their malign influence the most amiable and helpful disposition will become soured. The wife that promised to be a cheerful, capable and willing helpmate surprises her husband by proving a sickly, nervous, fretful and helpless invalid. This unfortunate outcome of "Love's young dream" may be prevented or remedied by resorting to the right medicine for troubles of this nature.

The right medicine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Over 90,000 women have said so in unsolicited letters to its discoverer Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. The "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation and soothes pain. It relieves the strain upon the nerves. It prepares for motherhood and insures the health of the child. All medicine dealers sell it.

"I take pleasure," writes Mrs. Jessie Fulfer, of Eulogy, Bosque Co., Texas, "in writing you again. I am in better health than I have been in six years. I think your medicine is the best in the world. I hope every woman who is afflicted as I was will take it. Your 'Favorite Prescription' has saved my life. I was not able to get up when I was sick until I began to take your medicine. I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me. You can use my statement as you like."

Constipation is the all-embracing cause of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe.

THE HOUSE FLY.

The Life History of This Ubiquitous Nuisance of the Housewife.

It must always be borne in mind that the great majority of insects exist in three distinct forms. First, the larva, hatched from the egg. This is the growing stage, in which all actual increase in size takes place. Larvæ are familiar to us in the forms of caterpillars, cutworms, grubs, fruit-tree borers, maggots and the like. The second stage is, usually, a resting stage, enduring, in various insects, from a few days to several months. The insect is then a pupa inclosed in a shell, often with an outer envelope called a cocoon. It is incapable of motion or taking food. The third stage is that of the perfect insect, in which, except in the case of a few degraded forms, such as lice, fleas, bedbugs, etc., it is endowed with wings, either two or four, has six legs, never more or less, and is furnished with more or less conspicuous antennæ or feelers on the front of the head. These transformations are the greatest peculiarity of insect life.

The house fly, and all true flies and gnats, belong to the single order (Diptera), in which the wings are only two in number. The young are called maggots, wigglers, thread worms, bots, etc., and are mostly scavengers.

The true house fly (musca domestica) breeds chiefly in horse manure, on which the fly drops her eggs while it is moist. The eggs hatch in from five to ten hours, and the maggots grow with proportionate rapidity, feeding upon the substance on which they are laid. They are, when full-grown, fat, white larvæ, nearly one-half inch in length. At the end of four or five days the maggots cease to feed, the skin hardens, contracts somewhat, and turns brown, forming itself a pupa shell, inside of which the legs, wings and other members of the perfect fly develop. Five or six days later a round lid is pushed off from this hard case, and the neat and trim and highly specialized fly emerges, and, after a few minutes, floats off with the air in search of sweets and other refined food. It is quite long-lived, and each female is capable of laying from one to two hundred eggs. The sexes are superficially much alike, except that the males are rather more slender than their partners. They are of a grayish black color, sparsely bristled, with hemispherical red brown eyes occupying the greater portion of their head. The antennæ are short, stout and bristly, and the beak terminates in a pair of fleshy lips, formed for imbibing liquids. This species is incapable of biting, but a less abundant fly of very similar appearance and larval habits has a pointed beak with which it can puncture the skin of man or animals and draw blood. As insects never really grow after they grow their wings, it will be seen that flies of different sizes must be different species, and not the different ages of the same species.

The various gnats, including the mosquitoes, are in the same order of the two-winged insects with flies, but their life histories are very diverse. Like the house fly, however, they are mostly troublesome in their perfect state, and more or less beneficial while growing.

Name Picnic Cakes.

Cookies.—Beat together thoroughly one egg and three cups of sugar; then mix or chop together five cups of flour, one cup of butter and one teaspoonful of soda, add half a cup of milk, and lastly put in the beaten sugar and egg. Flavor with a teaspoonful of essence of lemon or vanilla, or with a tablespoonful of caraway seeds. Roll out moderately thin and bake.

Jumbles.—Beat together until well creamed three cups of sugar and two cups of butter, add three eggs, well beaten, nine cups of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, two of cream of tartar, and a grated nutmeg. After they are cut out ready for cooking, wet the top with water and sprinkle with granulated sugar.

Ginger Snaps.—Cream together half a pound of butter and one pint of sugar, add one pint of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of ground ginger, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one and a half teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one nutmeg grated, one and a half pounds of sifted flour. Beat the mixture thoroughly, roll out thin and bake.

Molasses Cookies.—Two cupfuls of molasses, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of butter, one cupful of milk, two eggs, half a teaspoonful of saleratus. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs well beaten, then the molasses, milk and saleratus, and lastly stir in flour enough to make it stiff enough to drop on tins.

Hermits.—Cream together a cupful of butter and a cupful of sugar; then add three well-beaten eggs, one cupful of chopped raisins, one cupful of currants, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of soda, flour enough to stir in with a spoon as stiff as possible. Drop teaspoonfuls of the mixture upon greased tins and bake till brown.

Drop Cakes.—Cream three-quarters of a pound of sugar with a half a pound of butter; add five eggs with the whites and yolks beaten separately, a teaspoonful of vanilla essence, and lastly a pound of flour. Drop on pans and bake in a quick oven.

Canterbury Cakes.—Mix together one pound of flour and half a pound of butter, then stir in one pound of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, one tablespoonful of cloves, two tablespoonfuls of nutmeg and mace. Mix the whole into a paste by means of three well-beaten eggs. Roll it out thin, cut it into cookies, and ice with sugar or chocolate icing.

Walnut Macaroons.—Pound fine a cupful of walnut meats, add one cupful of sugar, one large spoonful of flour and two well-beaten eggs. Mix the whole thoroughly, then drop on tin sheets and bake in a quick oven.—Home Magazine.

How to Wash Lace.

It is a very great mistake to keep choice lace for years without washing. Many women believe that it is ruined by soap and water, and will keep some cherished length for years and years, turning yellow with age, and rotting with the dust it has accumulated till it really drops to pieces. And all the time it is so easy to preserve it by keeping it clean. Squeeze the lace—do not rub it—carefully in lukewarm soapsuds in which a little borax has been dissolved—say half a teaspoonful of borax to a quart of suds—and afterwards rinse it several times in clear water. Wrap a large bottle closely in white flannel, and sew tightly over the flannel a piece of soft cotton. Then wind the lace about the bottle, taking care that it lies flat, without wrinkles; carefully pick out any loops that may require it with a pin, and stand the bottle in the air to dry. Do not stand it in the hot sun, and do not dry it by a fire. If it is desired to give the lace the yellow appearance usually associated with old specimens, wait until it is quite dry, dip a soft handkerchief in a cup of black coffee and sop it as with a sponge. Then dry again as before.

HAND IN HAND.

Health and Happiness go Hand-in-Hand —With Stomach and Nerves all out of Sorts, Health and Happiness are Unknown.

Frank A. Gathols, Cornwall, Ont.: "I was for several years a great sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia and nervousness. I took many remedies without any relief. I saw South American Nervine advertised. I procured a bottle, and I can truthfully say it is the best medicine I ever used, and I strongly recommend it to anyone suffering as I did. A few doses wonderfully helped me, and two bottles have made a new man of me." It cures by direct action on the nerve centres. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A Base Deceiver.

Nellie—Have you seen Clara lately, since she got married?

Jennie—Yes, I met her the other day.

"Is she happy?"

"No, she isn't."

"Didn't she love him when she married him?"

"No. She married him because he kept an ice cream parlor, and he basely deceived her a few weeks later by selling out and starting a livery stable."

"The wretch!"—Tammany Times.

Right Off the Leather.

"I wonder if Queen Victoria has sampled that old tokay which the Emperor of Austria sent her?"

"They say tokay has the flavor of old leather."

"That so? Well, I may get the tokay flavor to-night."

"How so?"

"I'm going up to ask old Bullion for his daughter. He's a kicker, you know."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

courses and strength of such a power as the British Indian Government, and how hopeless is the struggle against it. That lesson has had to be learned by all the mountain tribes of British India at the cost of much loss and suffering. And the Waziris, the Afridis, the Bonerwals, and the rest of these Pathan peoples who have on account of their pugnacity, been, without their own consent, adopted as subjects, will learn it only after severe punishment like the rest. As the British advance their frontier further and further into the ridges of the Himalayas the task of subjugating the mountain tribes becomes greater owing to the more difficult character of the country.

THE WHEEL.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says :—"A chainless wheel is on exhibition in this city and the makers of it declare it is the model of the bicycles they will place on the market next season. The principle of this particular wheel is that of the spur wheel and reciprocating lever arrangement. The most noticeable difference between it and other chainless wheels is the location of the spur wheel. This is in the middle of the frame and is enclosed in what is said to be an hermetically sealed case. The inventor declares that in his wheel the motion which is lost in connection with the beveled gear mechanism is saved. Neither this construction nor any other of the numerous chainless wheels of which models have been shown, and in which power is transmitted by air, sweet oil, flexible rods and nearly every other means, is likely to disturb trade in the recognized model of to-day, or to cause manufacturers who have stocks of chain wheels on hand to loose sleep. Inventors, however, continue to turn out new forms of chainless wheels, and some day one of them may hit upon the right device. Until then it is foolish, apparently, for manufacturers to labour under the delusion that the public is hankering so much for something new that it is eager to pay $125 for a wheel which is harder to drive than one which can be purchased for $75 at the most."

ANGLING.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. E. Doxstader, of Albany, and Mrs. Ida Wright, Chicago, were fishing in Eel Bay, Thousand Islands. Suddenly one of the trolling poles bent almost double under a heavy strain. The catch was drawn almost to the gunwale, when the monster fish dived under the boat. Mr. Doxstader failed to give line, and the boat was overturned quicker than a flash. Mrs. Doxstader was struck on the head by the boat and went to the bottom. Her husband fortunately was able to reach her at once, and she soon recovered when at the surface. No help was near, or in sight, and Mr. Doxstader, dragging the boat behind him, with the two women clinging to it, swam for Hemlock Island, a quarter of a mile away. When he reached the shore he was so weak he could hardly stand, and the ladies were half dead from fright and exhaustion. The boat was baled out and the party started back for Thousand Island Park, where they are passing the summer. The fish got the tackle.

FLOUR OVER $1 A POUND.

Sixty Dollars for a Fifty Pound Sack in the Yukon Country—Many Discouraged Prospectors.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 21, via Seattle, Aug. 27. The latest news from the north still confirms all previous statements regarding the in-going Yukoners, their success and failures in getting over the trails. At Skaguay there is found a glutted condition, no progress being made in going over the summit by what is known as the White Pass, it having proved a complete failure this year. There are now between 1000 and 2,000 persons camped along the trail between Salt Water and up five or six miles.

They will remain there eating their supplies until spring, or until they make up their minds either to go over to Dyea or return to Juneau or the States. Many have already sold out and abandoned the trip altogether, some gladly taking 10 per cent. of the original cost of their outfits, and leaving that part of the country. Those who started via Dyea and the Chilkoot Pass are getting along very well, since the Indians are charging at present only 35 cents per pound for packing from Salt Water to the lakes. Under present conditions it is expected that all who are now on that trail will safely reach Klondike before winter sets in.

Advices from the interior under date of July 24 are a repetition of what has been said before as to the richness of the diggings that have been worked up to that date; also that some less valuable finds have been made near Stewart River. High prices and wages remain as heretofore reported.

According to recent news from Yukon, water has been scarce for hydraulic purposes, but better arrangements will be provided for these operations next year.

Flour is still selling in the interior for $60 per sack of 50 pounds, and like prices are asked for other staple articles.

Miners who were employed in mines near Juneau and who went to the Yukon River have had their places all filled by recent arrivals, so that now there is no special demand for labor here, and it will be worse than folly for a man to come to Juneau expecting to get work during the winter months. He should be provided with money enough to take care of himself until spring.

The weather has continued favorable for those on the trail, and altogether it has been an exceptionally fine season for outdoor operations and a comparatively mild winter is expected.

SKETCH OF THE RISINGS OF THE RESTLESS MOUNTAINEERS.

A Little Insight Into the Details of the Frontier Risings.

The telegraphic despatches furnish rather meagre details of the vigorous fighting now in progress on the northern frontier of India. There has been several risings, and the following sketch will give a clearer idea of the state of affairs there.

The first outbreak was that in the valley of the the Tochi, a river which joins the Kuram river at a point about forty miles above the confluence of the latter with the Indus. The Tochi river forms the northern boundary of Waziristan, a province which was made a part of British India only in 1893. The Kuram river valley is a part of the same country, inhabited by the same tribes, all of whom are called Waziris, though the lower portion of it has been long a part of the British India province of Peshawar. It is believed that the Kuram valley tribes have joined the rising of their Tochi Valley brethren. Waziristan is about one hundred and twenty miles as the crow flies south-east of Peshawar. The second rising took place in the Malakand Pass, which is on the route from Peshawar by the Swat river valley to Chitral, which was the scene of war a couple of years ago. The Swat river is a tributary of the Landee river, which in turn flows in the Cabul river about ten or fifteen miles south-east of Peshawar. The Malakand Pass is at the entrance of the Swat valley, about forty-five miles north-east from Peshawar. Its inhabitants are a Pathan people, the tribe which has being called the Bonerwals. But they have been joined by numerous tribes, and it has been charged by sepoys in the service of the Ameer of Afghanistan. They have suffered some terrible defeats at the hands of the British under Sir Bindon Blood, and it is believed are, or were, about ready to send in their submission.

It is feared, however, that, like the Waziris of the Tochi valley, they will have been encouraged to remain in revolt by the temporary successes of the third rising which has since taken place in the Khyber Pass. This is by far the most serious of the three rising. The Khyber Pass leads from the valley in which Peshawar is situated through the range of mountains which separates the Peshawar valley from the plateau which extends along the Cabul river northward to Jelalabad in Afghanistan. Through the pass and along the plateau the British have constructed the only good military road leading from India to Cabul. The Afridis, who inhabit the surrounding country have hitherto always been friendly toward the British, who in their wars with Afghanistan have always depended upon the Afridis to hold the pass for them. They are very numerous and warlike people, and from them are recruited some of the of the army of Punjab. Men of this tribe formed part of the small British expedition up the Tochi valley which was attacked by the Waziris, and the Afridi sepoys were amongst the most gallant of that splendid little company of native soldiers, who, carrying their white officers, all of whom had been killed or wounded, fought its way back against overwhelming odds till met by a rescuing column. The Khyber Pass forts seem all to have been entrusted to Afridi garrisons commanded by native officers. These forts have been taken and the fate of their garrisons unknown. It may be that the Afridis have deserted or surrendered the forts to their brethren and joined the rising. It is reported, however, that the Afridis in the regular army commanded by British officers have so far all proved true to their salt. In considering the causes of these risings it must first of all be remembered that five years ago all the valleys in which the revolts have taken place were beyond the Indian boundary.

It was only in 1893, in an agreement with the Ameer that Chitral, Bajaur, Swat, Waziristan and the Kuram valley were included within the British sphere of influence. It must not be forgotten, either, that the tribes inhabiting these provinces have always been semi-independent, only acknowledging the suzerainty of the Ameer of Cabul, when an Ameer to enforce his claims ruled at Cabul. The Afridis were recognized by the British as virtually independent and trusted as allies. It is not improbable that the victories of the Sultan in Europe have been taken advantage of by the Mohammedan priests to rouse the fanatical tribes against the British. Their business is war, and the young men are always eager for the excitement of battle and the personal reputation and position which may be gained in war. The country is one of towering, precipitous mountains, with valleys between, connected by narrow, rugged and steep passes, in which the roads and paths generally run around the shoulder of a mountain or through a gorge cut by a river. Knowing every foot of their own country, as they do, accustomed to mountain warfare among themselves, they understand perfectly the advantages they possess in warfare against the British. They are not able to appreciate the re-

STRONG AND ENERGETIC ENOUGH

Baby Mass of Sores

Face Like a Slice of Raw Beef. Cried Night and Day. Would Rub Scratch and Scream.

Moisture from Sores so Great Changed Clothes 12 Times a Day. Hands Tied for Five Months.

After One Application of CUTICURA Child Slept. Cured Without a Soar.

My baby, when one year old (photograph herewith), broke out all over with a rash.

He was a mass of sores. You could not put your finger on him anywhere there was not a sore. His face looked like a slice of fresh beef, and he cried night and day. He would rub, scratch, and scream. The doctor called and left some powder to put on him, but it did no good. It would take two to hold him, and one to put medicine on him. We had to hold him sometimes an hour or two before we could get him quieted down. All said that they never saw such a face or body on any baby as on him. I had to cut the sleeves out of his clothes, and put gauze underwear on him to keep him cool. I had to keep pieces of soft cloth around his neck, it was so wet with moisture from the sores, and had to change the cloths sometimes ten or twelve times a day. I had to tie his hands tight in a cloth, night and day, for five months. My sister had used CUTICURA, and I began to use it and was surprised at the result. After only one application, he lay down and slept as he had not for a month, poor little fellow. After I had used CUTICURA REMEDIES a day he was glad to have me wash and dress him. He has not a sear on him now, and is as fair and his flesh is as soft as any baby just born. He was absolutely cured in three months by one cake CUTICURA SOAP, two boxes CUTICURA (ointment), and one-half bottle CUTICURA RESOLVENT.

Does the Boy Need A Suit?

Come and Find a Suit for Him at

GOUGH BROS.

Fix him up for School while our Great Building Sale lasts. How we sell Boys' Fine Clothing at such prices and keep on buying and increasing our premises is a wonder to all but US.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect ;

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night."—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with never a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come.
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS. will bring all your trade.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Besieged by Interviewers on Arrival at Quebec.

TALKS ON DIFFERENT SUBJECTS.

Says That Capital and Population Will Flow to This Country, and Canada Has Entered on a New Era as a Result of the Liberal Government's Policy.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier are again on Canadian soil. The Premier was met down the river by a large number of persons who were on board the steamer Druid, and the crowd was increased when the Premier reached the Queen's wharf.

Sir Wilfrid is the picture of health, and being asked for an interview, said: "First, let me say something regarding the jubilee procession. It was a sight never to be forgotten, and was a marvelous revelation of magnificence of the British Empire, and a striking tribute to the personal popularity of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. Throughout, it was a wonderful sight, but I think it was the most impressive portion of it was the service at St. Paul's. I think it was an index to the English character, and a credit to the English Nation, that the consumating ceremony of that day should have been the public thanksgiving to Almighty God for the prosperity of the nation. It was truly a great spectacle to see Queen Victoria, the dignitaries of state, the representatives of the army and navy and the great men of the nation all there under the canopy of Heaven, in the face of that grand cathedral, offering their thanks to the Creator for His mercies.

"The naval review was a spectacle of an altogether different character, and yet it was most impressive to see all the strength of the greatest navy in the world displayed, from the biggest man-of-war to the tiniest torpedo boat. It was a sight never to be forgotten, and made one feel that if there is any one thing more than another that exhibits the strength of the British Empire, it is a marine display with all the sea forces exhibited in this manner."

Then, turning his attentio to matters of supreme importance to Canada, Sir Wilfrid entered upon a discussion of the position held by the Dominion in Europe, the importance of the denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties, and the stupidity of those who argue that these actions on the part of Great Britain will not materially assist Canada. "Canada is now beginning an entirely new career," he said, "not only in England, but in the whole Continent of Europe. The denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties, as made at the request of Canada and the other self governing colonies, has without doubt created a profound impression throughout the Continent, and unless I am greatly mistaken, we shall, I anticipate, see a great flow of both capital and population to Canada in the next few years. And yet it is but two or three years ago that the English Government, through Lord Ripon, refused to consider the denunciation of such treaties."

"May I ask how you account for the change in front, Sir Wilfrid?"

"The answer is not far to seek. I attribute the change to the attitude taken by the Canadian Government at the last session and the tariff legislation then adopted by the Dominion. By our action, England was placed in the position of having either to advance or recede, and she advanced to meet us in the manner which we desired. There can be no doubt as to the advantages which Canada will gain from the denunciation of these treaties, the greatest, undoubtedly, being increased fiscal independence for us as a nation. These treaties were in the way of any fiscal arrangements which we could have made with the sister colonies or even with foreign nations, because the moment any such arrangement had been made Germany and Belgium would have stepped forward and claimed the same advantages without giving anything in return. Canada found this out repeatedly during the twelve months prior to the Jubilee, when the Government was quite able to see how its policy was limited by the existence of these treaties, when it had opportunities to act in a manner which would have been for the good of Canada. Now we are free."

"Can you tell us whether the arrangements in connection with the fast service are proceeding satisfactorily, Sir Wilfrid?"

"Yes, I have every reason to believe that the Canadian Atlantic fast steamship service is absolutely assured, and that it will be in operation before two years from now. Mr. Peterson has had to overcome many difficulties, as a man with a new idea always has to, but I have every reason to convince me that he has successfully overcome them all."

Speaking of his trip to France, the Premier, who modestly declined to say one word concerning his triumphal tour through the country, gave his opinion concerning the attitude of the French people towards Canada as follows:

"The French people have always been very friendly in their disposition towards Canadians, and are now still more so, but I am sorry to say that Canada is not as well-known to Frenchmen as it ought to be, and, perhaps, I may cherish the hope that my visit to France may have dispelled a few of the false notions which may have existed prior to that time."

"You visited other countries besides England and France, did you not?"

"Yes, while I was on the Continent we went to Switzerland and Italy."

Sir Wilfrid was evidently bearing in mind the conditions of the interview, which he laid down, for he stopped, smiled genially, and, then, softening the least little bit, concluded by saying: "Of all the people I met while I was in Europe, and I met many—but it would take up too much time to give you my impressions of all of them—there are three personalities which stand out clearly and vividly in my mind's eye to-day. It is impossible to fully appreciate the wonderful impression inculcated by these three illustrious personages. I refer to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, the Right Honorable Mr. Gladstone and His Holiness Pope Leo XIII."

KEROSENE AND DEATH.

Mother and Daughter Burned to a Crisp Owing to the Common Cause.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 29.—Marie, the 14-year old daughter of Mrs. Frances Valdes of Port Tampa City, went to the kitchen to start a fire this afternoon. She poured on kerosene and instantly there was an explosion, followed by the girl's agonizing cries as she ran from the room on fire. Mrs. Valdes at once went to her daughter's assistance. While she was attempting to extinguish the flames her own clothes caught fire. Both were burned to a crisp. The house caught fire and was destroyed.

JONES HAS IT CORNERED.

Bought Up All the Coal in Sight When He Saw the Trouble Coming.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—By the end of next week all the coal in the Monongahela River will practically be in the hands of one firm. When the present strike began the firm of John H. Jones & Co. quietly bought coal everywhere they could, at prices which now seem very cheap. They have been keeping this coal and now practically control the coal trade in this vicinity.

When seen to-day Mr. Jones admitted that the firm had more than 500,000 tons. Enquiries among other coal firms developed the fact that there was very little coal outside of that held by Jones & Co. and that that firm would be able to get its own prices. To-day it was asking 9 1-2c per bushel for run of mine and 10 1-2c for lump coal. This is an advance of 2c over yesterday.

Condolence From the Queen.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Ogden Goelet has received messages of condolence from Queen Victoria, the Prince and Princess of Wales and many other persons in Great Britain. The Mayflower, on board of which Mr. Goelet died, will sail for New York about the middle of next week with the body of the deceased.

Young Woman Burned to Death

Walkerton, Ont., Aug. 29.—A very sad accident occurred here last night, by which a fine young girl, 17 years of age, eldest daughter of Rev. William Tindall, lost her life. She was sewing in her father's office when the lid of the desk fell down on the lamp, breaking it and spilling the contents over her clothing. In an instant she was enveloped in flames, and was so badly burned that she died in a few hours.

HURLED HIGH IN AIR.

Carriage Containing Five People Struck by a Train Outside Buffalo—One Man Was Killed.

Buffalo, Aug. 29.—An Erie passenger train travelling at the rate of 65 miles an hour struck a carriage containing five people at a level crossing just outside the city limits to-night. The carriage and its occupants were hurled high in the air and how any of them escaped instant death is a mystery. Melville H. Valentine was dead when picked up. The other occupants of the vehicle, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Welder, their little son Eddie, and George Cole were badly injured. It is likely that all will die. The party had been in the country for the day and had halted at the crossing to let a freight train pass by. They did not see the passenger train coming in an opposite direction until too late to escape it.

WINNIPEG NOTES.

Members of the British Association Tendered a Reception.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—The members of the British Association who reached here yesterday were tendered a reception at the Manitoba Hotel on Saturday evening. Addresses of welcome were made by Hon. Thomas Greenway and Mayor McCreedy, and replies by Sir John Evans and Lord Kelvin. Sir Thomas Taylor occupied the chair. A large number of citizens were present.

LATEST FROM INDIA

The Situation on the Frontier Somewhat Ugly.

SOME TREACHERY DISCOVERED.

Khyber Rifles Had to be Disarmed Several British Officers Wounded—Col. Gordon Moving Forward With a Well Equipped Force—Wires on Quetta Route Cut

Bombay, Aug. 29.—Little fresh news has been received here from the frontier. An attack has been made on Shinwaris, in the Samana Range, but the attacking force was repulsed, losing five killed and many wounded. There is considerable excitement among the tribes along the Bolan route to Quetta, and the telegraph wires have been again cut. It is reported that the tribesmen are gathering near the Zaarat Sanatawan, and much anxiety is felt regarding the safety of the ladies and children there, as the railway officials are asking for military protection for their people. If the route is considered safe the ladies and children at the sanitarium will be brought away, but otherwise troops will be sent from Quetta to protect them.

The column under Col. Gordon, which was despatched to the Samana Range today, is composed entirely of native troops, and is fully equipped with medical commissariat and transport service. It has orders to force the Khaibar Pass, if necessary.

Rumors are current tending to throw doubts upon the genuineness of the Ameer's reply to the Viceroy of India regarding the complicity of Afghan officials in the uprising.

The disarming of the Khyber Rifles, which formed a part of the garrison at Jamrud, was a complete surprise, but the orders were obeyed without trouble.

Much individual firing into the camp at Jamrud has taken place, as many as one hundred stray shots having been fired at the outposts in a single night. Some of these shots were fired at so short a range that three native officers who were on watch were killed. It speaks well for the discipline and obedience maintained in the camp that not a single shot was fired in reply. The hot weather is extremely trying, but the health and spirits of the troops are good. Fears are expressed of the fall of Rustam, northwest of Mardan, the whole district being in the hands of the enemy. Gen. Wodehouse has gone from Mardan to Hustam, where the force, which now numbers 2000 men, with two guns, will be strengthened.

DUE TO TREACHERY.

Capture of Fort Lundi Kotal Was Simply a Hand Over From the Garrison.

Simla, Aug. 29.—A strong column of native troops and the Royal Irish Regiment, with four guns, under command of Col. Richardson, has started for the relief of the Korum Valley forts, and another force has been sent to the assistance of the Shinwari Garrison.

It has developed that the capture of Fort Lundi-Kotal was accomplished through treachery, and that the original reports, that a fight lasting two hours took place within the walls of the fort, is unfounded. The 350 Khyber Rifles who were stationed there belonged to various clans, and included a number of men from the Peshawur Valley. After fighting of a desultory nature, some of the Shinwaris dropped from the walls and fled to their homes. The Afridis on the walls soon began to exchange greetings with the besiegers of the fort, whereupon the gates were opened from the inside and the enemy poured in. Some of the defenders fled and others remained and fraternized with the besiegers. The Peshawurs were disarmed. Six of these were held as prisoners and the remainder, to the number of 30, were allowed to go free. It was this news which led to the disarming of a portion of the garrison at Jamrud.

It is believed that the Khyber Rifles, garrisoning the forts in the Khyber Pass, acted in a similar manner.

Orakzai Have Risen.

Bombay, Aug. 29.—The fighting now seems to be centered along the Samana range, and this tends to prove that a general uprising of the Orakzais has taken place. It is probable that some of the small outposts will prove untenable, but it is believed that forts Gulistan and Lockhart are quite strong enough to resist the attack of the enemy, both being garrisoned by Sikhs under British officers. The disarming of the Khyber Rifles is a loss of good fighters, but greater security is felt because of this action and at the welcome news that the Afridis are suffering from such a lack of provisions as will delay a general uprising and enable ample preparations to be made to suppress the revolt.

Verdict of Wilful Murder.

Whitewood, N.W.T., Aug. 24.—Dr. Allingham, coroner of Broadview, held an inquest yesterday at Kapsovar on the body of Andrew Grey, who was killed on Saturday with an ax by his son Andrew. A verdict of wilful murder was rendered.

VICTORIA CHEESE BOARD.

1,700 Boxes Offered—Salesmen Wanted 10 1-8c. as Paid in Peterborough the Day Previous but the Buyers Refused.

Lindsay Post.

When the salesmen for the various factories selling on the Lindsay Board reached town Thursday mornidg and heard the cheering news that 10⅛c. had been paid at Peterborough the day previous, they waxed merry at the prospect of receiving a similar price, and decided they would not sell for less. Buyers Whitton, Fitzgerald, Wrighton and Flavelle declared that the state of the market would not warrant such a price being paid, and it took a long time to convince the salesmen that their hopes of 10c or better could not be realized.

THE DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Mr. T. C. Carlow, of Warkworth, addressed the meeting relative to the advantages likely to accrue by having the next meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association held in Lindsay. The date would be shortly after the municipal elections. It would be necessary to establish a local membership of at least 200. The most noted speakers on outter and cheese topics in America would be present, and the discussions should prove of vast benefit to the armers of the district.

Mr. Flavelle said he was very much in favour of the proposition; the Lindsay board, which started with 700 boxes, now boarded about 1,700, and he felt that if arrangements could be made to have the Association meet here the patrons of the various factories, and the farmers generally, would receive vast benefit from the discussions. No doubt the town council would gladly do its share towards entertaining the visitors.

Mayor Smyth assured Mr. Carlow that the council would do all in its power to secure the meeting for Lindsay, and would not be afraid to incur a little expense.

It was then moved by Mr. Edward Thurston, seconded by Mr. Thos. Calvert, that the county of Peterborough invite the Eastern Dairymen's Association to hold its next meeting in Lindsay.—Carried.

HOW THE BIDDING WENT.

The following factories boarded the number of boxes placed opposite t

Star	103
Lorneville	60
Cameron	100
Dunsford	77
Mariposa	76
Derryville	55
Cambray	90

Mr. Fitzgerald started the ball rolling by offering 9c for the board; Mr. Whitton went an eighth better for selections; Mr. Wrighton offered 9¼c and Mr. Fitzgerald jumped to 9⅜c, which was bettered by Mr. Flavelle, who offered 9½c. Mr. Fitzgerald then called 9 9-16, Mr. Flavelle, 9⅝c, Fitzgerald 9⅝c, Mr. Flavelle 9 13 16c, and named Red Rock, Cameron, Dunsford, and a dozen others, only the former accepting.

Mr. Whitton then offered 9⅞ and called seven factories, all refusing but Lorneville.

Mr. Fitzgerald took up Mr. Whitton's bid and called off a number of factories, but without success.

President Robertson pointed out that Victoria cheese was a first-class article, and should command as high a figure as was paid at Peterborough the previous day.

Mr. Whitton said he had purchased over 700 boxes at Peterborough at the price he had offered the Victoria factories. The price had been "jumped up" at Peterborough by a couple of excited buyers, who were probably sorry for their action later on.

It was then proposed that the board should adjourn for one week, but some of the salesmen manifested a desire to receive fresh offers, and bidding resumed, Mr. Flavelle offering 9⅝c for further selections. Mr. Whitton raised to 9¾c, and called a number of factories, but all refused; he then offered 9⅞c and took Reaboro, Omemee, Maple Leaf and Pine Grove—545 boxes in all, including Lorneville.

Mr. Fitzgerald offered 9 7-8c and took Star, Mariposa, Camoray, Bobcaygeon and North Ops.

Mr. Flavelle offered 9½c for balance of the board, and Mr. Whitton raised to 9⅝c without takers.

It was then decided to allow factories to sell off the board.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

STAR POINTER IS KING

Paced a Mile at Boston in Less Than Two Minutes on Saturday.

Readville, Mass., Aug. 28.—The most wonderful thing that has occurred since horses were first driven to sulky happened at Readville Park to-day. Star Pointer, the bay pacer that has been winning high honors on the last two seasons, outdid himself and all his rivals by stepping the first mile faster than ever made in harness. Gallantly timed, the trial was in 1.59½, not one watch of the hundreds outside of the stand caught it any slower.

This most marvelous feat of the century in horse circles was witnessed by about 5000 people, whose enthusiasm knew no bounds when they realized that a new king of the sulky had appeared and the long-coveted two-minute goal was reached at last.

One of the remarkable things about this record-smashing performance that eclipses all previous efforts of its kind is that it was entirely unexpected, even by the most sanguine admirer of Star Pointer. The course over which he went has not been at its best since the Grand Circuit meeting on Monday, and Joe Patchen's mile yesterday in 2.02 was considered a very creditable one.

The experts agreed that the chestnut could beat this under similar conditions, and Star Pointer was favored with perfect weather for his assault on time's strongest hold. The temperature was several degrees higher than at any time before this week, and there was scarcely a suspicion of wind to stir the air in the picturesque valley at the foot of the Blue Hills, where the track is located.

In order to take full advantage of the favorable conditions, it was arranged to have Star Pointer make his attempt pretty early in the afternoon. There was a lot of racing to hold the attention of the eager throng that awaited the appearance of the famous horse, who was owned in Boston last year.

"Are you ready?" Frank Walker asked in his stentorian tone, and the man in the sulky nodded.

"Go!" shouted the strong-lunged starter, and the click of the watches could be heard on all sides as the great battle with the scythe-bearer began. Those who snapped at the first furlong caught it in 15 seconds, an even two-minute clip, and when the flying sulky was at the quarter most of the outsiders made it 29¾ seconds to that point.

The official time was a fraction slower, but that did not matter. Up the back stretch the strong, steady stroke carried the Tennessee cyclone at about the same rate, and he was at the half in .59¾. That stirred the crowd, but there were doubts whether the horse could live at such a clip. In answer to the skeptics, Star Pointer made a fresh spurt round the upper turn, and the amazed spectators saw watches register 1.29 to the three-quarters.

Not an apparent falter was there in the lightning stride at which he set out on his difficult errand. At the distance a comfortable margin remained, and before the excited multitude had time to realize the merit of the wonderful struggle in progress it was over, and Star Pointer had reached the goal.

An instant later the pent-up enthusiasm broke loose, for those who did not register the time had someone close beside who had caught the mile, and everybody knew that the two-minute performer was no longer a myth.

Star Pointer is a bay stallion of solid color, bred in Tennessee and foaled in 1889. His sire, Brown Hal, held the race record for pacers when he won a heat at Cleveland in 2.12¼, the very year that his great son won first saw the light. Sweepstakes, the dam of the new champion, is already noted through her colt foal, Hal Pointer, the greatest campaigner of his day, and one of the record-smashers of 1892, when the bike sulky came out. The younger product of this wonderful mare got his early training from H. F. Geers, who also brought out Hal Pointer. He attracted attention as soon as he began training, and retired with an unbeaten race career at the close of 1895.

BASEBALL RECORD.

PONIES BEAT THE LEADERS.

Springfield, Aug. 28.—Springfield won a slugging match from the leaders to-day, in which Staley was batted out of the box in six innings, and Norton was hit even harder. The visitors made nearly as many hits, but sharp fielding kept the score down. Wagner made a home run with the bases full in the third. Norton hit the first batter up in the eighth. The next four batsmen and Brouthers a home run, cinching the game. Score:

Springfield	0 0 0 1 4 2 0 0 0—7

BUFFALO EVENED UP.

At Providence: Buffalo evened accounts with Providence in the game at Rocky Point to-day, and won by a margin of 7 to 3. The home team had a new arrangement of the infield, with O'Brien, from the Washingtons, on second base, and it fulfilled expectations; but the Greys could not win, because the Buffalos had the good fortune to make their hits with men on bases. Errors by the usually steady Boyce gave them a start, and practically turned the tide of victory. Score:

Providence	0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0 0—3	9	4
Buffalo	3 0 0 3 0 0 1 0 *—7	6	1

THE OTHER SATURDAY GAMES.

At Wilkes-Barre—Montreal was easy for Wilkes-Barre. Montreal played a lifeless game, and made costly errors, while Becker was hit hard and often. Odwell was very effective, and allowed only one man to reach third base. Score 10 to 0.

At Scranton—Mullarky was better than Harper in a pitchers' battle. Three bases on balls and a wild pitch gave the Stars all four of their runs. Three of the Miners four hits were made in the seventh inning, when one run was earned. Score 4 to 2.

At Providence—Providence and Buffalo played a snappy and far more interesting game than the score indicates. Egan was in magnificent form, and the visitors were unable to find him to any extent, and it was not till the last innings that one of them got past first base. Providence won 6 to 0.

STEAMER PORTLAND

Has Just Arrived Down From the Yukon Country.

BROUGHT A NUMBER OF MINERS

Surveyor Ogilvie Estimates That Sixty Million Dollars Will be Taken From the Klondike in the Next Three Years at the Present Rate of Production.

Port Angeles, Wash., Aug. 29. — The steamer Portland arrived here from St. Michael's, at the north of the Yukon River, last night. She brought a number of miners from the Klondike district. The rich claims on Eldorado Creek, they aver, are about 140.

Mr. Ogilvie estimates that at the rate those 140 claims are now producing, and considering ground yet to be worked, in the next three years will aggregate about $10,000,000. To this must be added the favorable possibilities of new gulches and the development of claims already found but not opened so as to permit of greatest production. There have been other rich strikes on Stuart River, Hunker, Henderson and Indian Creeks, but none of these is as rich as claims on Eldorado and Bonanza Creeks. Until the wonderful discoveries of Klondike were made ground worth ten cents to pan with one, two or three feet of pay dirt were considered very good for the Yukon, and miners made fair money with rockers and sluices. This year miners are passing entirely over ground of this richness in their search for sand and gravel that will pay like that of the Klondike discoveries.

Up to date none of the claims show any signs of exhaustion, and scarcely a dozen are more than well opened. Everyone has large areas of ground to be worked. He says it is impossible to make anything like an accurate estimate of the probable yield of the mines. The ground it not at all even in richness, and the width of pay-streaks varies greatly.

The most important news from St. Michael's is that the Yukon River steamers left there two weeks ago for their last trip up the Yukon. It was not certain that they would reach Dawson this fall, in which event passengers who left the Sound on the steamer Portland as early as July 25 would only reach Circle City before navigation closes. This makes it certain that hundreds of miners who have left the Sound and California since Aug. 1 for St. Michael's will have to winter there. At least they can scarcely get started up the Yukon before the river freezes over solid.

All vessels touching at St. Michael's this summer have had great difficulty in keeping their crews, who have caught the gold fever very soon after arriving. One schooner from Victoria was entirely deserted, and her crew, from captain to cook, started up the river for Klondike. The crew of the schooner J. M. Coleman endeavored to desert also, but the attempt was discovered in time, and by the display of firearms the men were compelled to remain on duty. The masters of the schooners Jewett and Coleman and the carpenter of the Sander were paid off at St. Michael's and departed at once for Dawson. Every vessel from St. Michael's has come away short-handed. The Portland lost several of her crew, but was able to obtain new men by paying high wages.

White Pass Trail is Terrible.

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Thomas Magee, who is en route to the Klondike gold fields with a party of San Franciscoans, writes the Associated Press from Lake Bennett, B. C., under date of Aug. 15, confirming previous reports of the terrible condition of the White Pass trail from Skaguay, and relating the almost insurmountable difficulties to be encountered by the gold hunters who prefer that route to the more formidable Chilkoot Pass. Mr. Magee thinks that the majority of the crowd now at Skaguay and Dyea will have to abandon all hope of getting into the Yukon country this year, and is certain that late-comers have no chance of doing so.

PORTLAND REACHES SEATTLE.

She Carried Only Thirteen Miners and $515,000 in Gold Dust—Delayed by a Storm.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 29. The steamer Portland arrived here at 3 a.m. to-day. She carried thirteen miners, each of whom brought only a small part of his stake. The total amount of dust on the vessel is perhaps $575,000. The Portland was delayed by the failure of the P. B. Weare to arrive at St. Michael's and by a storm on the North Pacific Ocean.

The miners on board, with the amount of their total mining profits, part of which was brought with them, are as follows: F. Rowans $50,000, Jim Bell $45,000, Joe Goldsmith $35,000, M. W. Powers $35,000, W. W. Caldwell $35,000, W. Oler Jones $30,000, C. K. Zilly $25,000, F. W. Cobb $25,000, W. Zahn $15,000, A. Buckley $10,000, M. S. Lansing $15,000, B. W. Farnham $15,000, M. R. Cumler $15,000.

FOOD IS GETTING SCARCE

And It Looks as if Many of the Klondike Miners Would Starve—Mr. Ogilvie's Mission to Ottawa.

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—W. A. Ryan, one of the special correspondents of the Associated Press en route to the Yukon gold fields, writes from St. Michael's, under date of Aug. 15, to the effect that there is grave danger of a famine on the Klondike this winter. According to all reports received from the upper country, it will be impossible to find sufficient food at Dawson City to support the population already dependent upon that base of supplies. E. T. Lyng, local agent of the Alaskan Commercial Company at St. Michael's, declares that there are already over two thousand idle men in Dawson, and new parties are arriving every day via Chilkoot Pass, while the total amount of freight landed there this year will not exceed four thousand tons, of which not more than three-fourths is provisions. Miners returning from Klondike, who left there in July, report that the food was running very low then, and it was disposed of as fast as discharged from the steamers. Old-timers realize the situation and predict distress and death as a result of the Klondike craze.

William Ogilvie, Dominion Land Surveyor, who has been making topographical surveys of British possessions along the Klondike, has been recalled by the Government for consultation as to important matters affecting new gold fields, and is now en route to Ottawa via San Francisco. He will make a report, embodying suggestions for new mining laws, governing the sale of liquor and taking wood for fuel, etc. He made a census of the production of the new fields and found twenty-three claims produced $826,000, and says that $70,000,000 is no exaggerated estimate of the amount that will be produced by 180 claims on Bonanza, Hunkers and Eldorado in three years.

LORD AND LADY MOUNT ROYAL

Have Arrived in Montreal His Lordship Said to Prefer the Canadian End of the Title—A Brief Visit.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Lord and Lady Strathcona and Mount Royal arrived home to-day, but his lordship told The World that his stay in Canada would be very short. He says that, although appreciating the high honor, he is still Donald Smith to the people of Canada. As for the title, it is understood that his lordship prefers the Canadian, viz., Lord Mount Royal. He did not, of course, say why he made this flying visit, but it is understood Petersen, Tait & Co. want a modification of the terms, if not an increase of subsidy, of some other concession. However, Lord Mount Royal added: "I do not think any serious hitch has taken place, and I believe that all the money required will be forthcoming. I hope that in the time specified the first two ships will be ready for the service, and steamers equally as good as the Lucania, making 500 knots a day, will mean a great deal to Canada.

"Have not the admiralty made some objections?"

"I am informed that the admiralty authorities, after looking into the plans, have found them to meet their requirements."

A prisoner named William Pritchard took poison yesterday at the House of Refuge and died soon after.

Others Fall—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favor.

SUBJECT TO VERY SEVERE NERVOUS HEADACHES

Gives an account of her rescue from the constant torture.

Mrs. A. E. Enright, 454 Lisgar street, Ottawa, Ont., spoke as follows to our reporter. "I have for a long time been subject to very severe nervous headaches, and was also affected by general nervous prostration. My rest at night was much broken, and I arose in the morning almost as tired as when I went to bed.

I have taken a number of medicines which did not help me to any great extent. I am thankful to say, however, that I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using them for a few days became very much better.

Now I am free from nervousness; the headaches have disappeared; I sleep well, and arise in the morning refreshed and reinvigorated for the duties of the day. I am better in every way, and think that aside from being the best heart and nerve remedy I ever used, that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as a general systematic tonic excel any other medicine in existence.

PRINCE BISMARCK TALKS.

He Says Britain is Acting Foolishly in South Africa Praises the Pope.

Rome, Aug. 28.—The Tribune publishes an interview with Prince Bismarck, in which the ex-Chancellor declares that the British Government is acting foolishly in South Africa, forgetting the lesson taught it by the Dutch in the Transvaal. He thinks, however, that the Government of the Cape should be British rather than Dutch.

Prince Bismarck expressed admiration for the endeavors made by the Pope to solve the social question, adding: "Formerly the social question could be solved by the police, but now it requires the military."

Throat lined with Ulcers

A Young Lady Cured of Long Standing Catarrh and Catarrhal Sore Throat by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Miss Anna A. Howey, of Eden, Ont., says that she suffered from Catarrh for ten years, used a number of remedies advertised, but was always disappointed in the result.

Last fall she suffered intense pain in her head and her throat was lined with ulcers. The doctors called it Catarrhal Sore Throat, but did not cure it. She saw that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure was being highly recommended, so procured a box from C. Thomson, druggist, Tilsonburg, Ont., and commenced its use. Soon the ulcers cleared away from her throat, the pain in her head ceased. She says that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure does not cause distress or sneezing when being used, and is the most effective catarrh remedy she ever tried.

Mr. J. D. Phillips, a Justice of the Peace, declares that he knows Miss Howey and her mother, and can vouch for the truthfulness of her statements.

ADA FRASER'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Drowned in the Little Lake on Tuesday.

BODY FOUND SATURDAY.

A Passing Steamer Probably Disturbed the Remains.

THE GRIEF-STRIKEN PARENTS.

The Theory is That She was Walking on the Shore of the Little Lake Cemetery and Becoming Dizzy Fell Into the Water and Was Drowned Before She Recovered Consciousness.

Peterborough was stirred to its innermost depths on Saturday evening last when the startling rumour was noised abroad that the body of a young lady had been discovered in the river and when the statement was circulated that the corpse had been recognized and identified as Miss Ada Fraser, daughter of John Fraser, business was almost entirely suspended. Later on in the evening when it was established beyond doubt that the rumour was but too true, the sympathy of the entire town went out to the bereaved parents and a marked depression was noticeable in the faces of the many who sought to obtain definite information regarding the most deplorable accident.

It seems that on Saturday evening at about half past seven o'clock Mr. Bert Herridge was paddling up the river in a canoe followed by another in which were Messrs. Walter Patterson and Jas. Reid. The first canoe had just been portaged at the locks and the second was approaching the little platform, where the canoes are landed preparatory to being taken up the rollers, when all three men saw an object being over the side dam just above them. In the twilight they at first thought it was a stump and then the carcass of an animal, as it hovered on the brink, but as the suction of the water finally drew it over the dam, they saw to their horror that it was the body of a woman. Patterson and Reid immediately pushed off in the canoe and as they reached the floating body Reid swung the canoe around, whilst his companion first seized the hair and then the clothing of the unfortunate girl.

The body was soon on the landing stage, when Mr. Reid telephoned for Mr. Belleghem, the undertaker, with whom he is employed, and the remains were quickly transferred to the latter's establishment. The police were also notified.

The face and abdoman were badly swollen, the former being also somewhat disfigured by a bruise on the forehead. A resemblance to Miss Fraser was immediately noticed, the green bicycling suit being recognized, but as mortification immediately set in obliterating the distinctive features, it was hoped against hope that a mistake had been made in the identification. Mr. Foord, caretaker of the cemetery, however, when in the waggon and having reason to suspect that it was none other than the young lady mentioned he was in a position to assert positively after viewing the remains that it was indeed Miss Fraser.

SAW THE BODY

Mr. Foord's suspicion was based on facts which are told in a few words.

On Tuesday morning last at about half past eight o'clock he noticed that a lady's bicycle had been left standing between two pine trees just in front of his office. He had been working there just a few minutes before and had not seen it. He is exact as to the time because both he and one of the men had been engaged in removing a small standpipe just across the roadway at eight o'clock when there was no bicycle in sight. Shortly afterwards when Mr. Foord went into his office his wife came up from the basement to shake out some mats at the door, and as she left the room distinctly remembers glancing at the clock, and seeing that it was

HALF PAST EIGHT.

She also saw the wheel when she was shaking out the mats.

Nothing was thought of the circumstance at the time, as the place being a convenient one to leave a bicycle, is often utilized in this manner, the spot being greatly frequented by young ladies who desire any early spin over the beautiful paths and afterwards rest on the shady shores of the lake, leaving their wheels where they will be sure to be safe under the caretaker's eye.

Again noticing the bicycle in the afternoon, Mr. Foord wondered to himself what had become of the owner, and on seeing it in the same place next morning, his wonder was still greater, although he did not for a moment attach any particular importance to the incident. As the children were playing with the wheel that afternoon, and he was afraid that it might be broken, he removed it to one of the sheds, thinking that when the owner did turn up, it could easily be found.

Later on in the week the caretaker asked some of the bicycle dealers in town to take a run down to the cemetery and if possible, and on Saturday he mentioned the matter to the EXAMINER, and an item appeared in that evening's issue of the paper asking for a claimant for the wheel.

Mr. John Fraser, formerly in the employ of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., who now conducts a store on the corner of Aylmer and Townsend streets, saw the paragraph in THE EXAMINER, and, as he was just becoming uneasy about his daughter, Ada, who had left home Tuesday morning for a ride and whom he had just learned had not gone into the country to visit relatives, as was supposed, he sent his son Jack down to the cemetery to see the wheel.

Mr. Foord, who is a friend of the family, knew the boy when he came and, after hearing his story, directed him, with a great fear at his heart, to the shed. The lad burst out crying as soon as he saw it, recognizing it at once as belonging to his sister. He refused to take the wheel away, stating that the sight of it would DRIVE HIS MOTHER FRANTIC.

This was at seven o'clock, but the boy was evidently afraid to go home and confirm the awful suspicion, which by this time was racking the minds of his parents.

The facts of the case spread over the town with amazing rapidity and hundreds gathered in front of Mr. Belleghem's establishment, but only a few of those who were acquainted with Miss Fraser were admitted for purposes of identification, Mr. Foord being one of the number, and having the above stated circumstances in his mind his recognition of the remains was immediate.

Messrs. W. B. Bamford and D. J. Lundy were delegated to break the awful news to the parents, and when just at the gate were joined in their sad mission by Mr. Foord. Such information would be sufficient to unman any parent, and its effect upon Mr. Fraser, who has been ill for over a year, and upon his wife, who has also been unwell for some time, was

INDESCRIBABLY HEARTRENDING.

Mr. Fraser accompanied Mr. Foord in his buggy to Mr. Belleghem's, where all that remained of his beautiful daughter was now blackened and decomposed almost beyond recognition, but the parent eye in an instant was able to claim the body, and the few spectators present withdrew to leave the father alone with his dead. When he had somewhat recovered from the shock, Mr. Fraser stated that on Tuesday morning his daughter appeared unusually bright, although she had been rather unwell during the past week. After breakfast she had stated her intention of taking a ride on her wheel, saying she would be back in time for dinner. As she did not return no anxiety was occasioned, as she was in the habit of riding out to the country and spending a few days with relatives. When the week passed away and no word was received from the daughter the parents thought it but their fears were not aroused until Saturday afternoon when some of the relatives came in and in answer to a query stated that Miss Fraser had not been near them. From that moment until the awful news was broken to them the parents were in a fearful state of suspense and the confirmation of their worst fears has been almost a relief, but their grief is indeed sad to witness, Mrs. Fraser being confined to bed and unable to see any but her nurse.

A LITTLE STRANGE,

The theory is that Miss Fraser went to the cemetery to coast down the inclines and becoming tired left the wheel at the caretaker's office and went down to the shore to rest. Whilst walking along the wharf it is thought that she must have been overcome by a sudden dizziness to which she is subject, and fallen into the water in such a manner as to stun herself by coming in contact with some object.

THE BRUISE ON THE FOREHEAD

would lead to this belief. At the extreme end of the cemetery on the east side there is a dangerous spot when some large rocks have been rolled from the bank. The water is very deep just here and it may have been that the unfortunate girl fell in at this point. Further evidence that she must have been stunned in some way is adduced by the fact that she was an excellent swimmer.

Rev. W. L. Armitage, of St. John's church, called a number of times at Mr. Fraser's house during the week and states from positive knowledge that the young lady had been quite ill for several days previous to her drowning and that on the particular morning in question he walked with her to the Bank and at the time she was so dizzy and faint that she was unable to mount her wheel and walked for a considerable distance on the sidewalk, rolling it beside her. Such a statement coming from Mr. Armitage is considered as the strongest possible evidence that the lamentable occurrence was the result of an accident, caused through a sudden attack of the dizziness of which Miss Fraser had been complaining of during the previous week.

Mr. Foord states that at about eight o'clock on Tuesday morning he saw a young lady in a white waist riding around in the cemetery and if this young lady can be found she would probably be able to throw a little additional light on the matter, as she might possibly have seen Miss Fraser.

The deceased was a beautiful and most accomplished girl and her tragic death has cast a depression over the town which will not be dispelled for some time.

Coroner Bell decided that an inquest was unnecessary as there was no suspicion of foul play and on account of decomposition setting in the funeral took place yesterday afternoon at four o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

THE FUNERAL SERVICE.

A short informal service was held in the the cemetery chapel by Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's church. Afterwards concluding prayers were offered at the grave, where a large concourse of people had gathered. Mr. Davidson made a short impromptu address to those who were assembled referring pathetically to the fact that the young girl was being laid to rest within a few hundred yards of the spot where her earthly life had been so suddenly terminated. The mystery surrounding the sorrowful tragedy invited comment, which was not always thoughtful, but if it was serious responsibility to judge the living, how much moreso was it to judge those who were not present to answer for themselves? In this case, however, with all its sadness there was really nothing to judge.

Mr. Davidson then took the opportunity of expressing to those in attendance, his implicit confidence in her of whom their thoughts were full. He felt sure that the thoughtful sympathy of the community would be gladly and generously given to the family who had been so suddenly plunged into bitter sorrow.

He closed the brief address by emphasizing the boundless mercy and love of the Almighty and inviting all to experience it.

THE TRAMPS' EXCURSION.

The Hobo Fraternity Bound For Toronto's Industrial Exhibition.

Every freight train which passes Peterborough now is loaded with tramps on their way to Toronto Fair. On this subject the Globe says:—An army of tramps appears to be heading towards Toronto at the present time to take in the fair and the railway companies are experiencing a great deal of trouble in keeping them off the trains. Every day gangs of tramps are captured at points outside of Toronto and their arrest is usually followed by a speedy committal to jail for thirty days. Wednesday might a gang was rounded up by Grand Trunk Detective Hodge, who captured no less than eight tramps on different trains. James White, a pedlar of Montreal; John Staunton and Herb. Brintell, the latter two hailing from Peterborough, were captured on the North Bay train. They, however, were trying to beat their way west. Brintell and Staunton were taken in one fn the cars. White was standing on the dead-wood and jumped from the train when Hodge tried to arrest him. A chase of about a quarter of a mile followed, and when seized White put up a lively fight for a few minutes. John Kavanagh and John Hannah, both of Hamilton, were arrested at Swansea about ten o'clock Wednesday night. They had broken into a sealed car, and will have that charge to answer to. Kavanagh is evidently a tough character. He has several convictions against him, and is at present wanted in Hamilton on the charge of robbery of $163. When he serves his time here the Hamilton police will look after him. John Duffy, of Hamilton, and John Trainer, who comes from Ohio, were taken in a car at Mimico on Wednesday night. The eighth arrest was that of Wm. Graham, who calls himself a musician and gives his address as 78 Vansuley street. Graham was on the Grand Trunk train from Hamilton to Toronto and was arrested at Oakville. They will all appear before Justice Omrod, of York.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

The Results May be Fatal to Peter Carney, of Ennismore.

Mr. Peter Carney, who lives with his uncle, Mr. Alexander Morrison, a well-known farmer of Ennismore, met with a most serious accident on Saturday afternoon, when driving Mrs. Morrison home from town.

The horse made a sudden bound when going through the big marsh just this side of Chemong, throwing both occupants of the rig out. Unfortunately Carney's foot caught in the spring, and he was dragged along the road at a furious rate of speed, without being able to help himself.

Seeing the runaway coming, a farmer who was ahead drove his team across the road, and stopped the runaway when it was found that poor Carney was unconscious, and that his scalp was half torn off from the back of the neck upwards, his head having been dragged along over the stones.

He was at once removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where he now lies in a very precarious condition.

Mrs. Morrison escaped with a severe shaking up.

A BICYCLE CAUSED IT.

A Milk Waggon Team Runs Away on the Way to the Cheese Factory.

At about eight o'clock this morning as Dr. Rose was riding on his wheel home to to Peterborough from Norwood he met a team drawing a load of milk to the Maple Leaf cheese factory, on the Dummer Road in Douro. Although the Dr. dismounted as soon as he saw the team was frightened of the bicycle, he was not in time as they broke away from their driver and upsetting the waggon ran for several hundred yards before they were caught by Mr. John Allan, who was driving into town.

The waggon was being driven by Mr. Roddy Moloney, son of the late James Moloney, and the horses were a spirited young pair of colts. The bicycle was met just about half a lot this side of the cheese factory and the team immediately took to the ditch. The driver losing control of them, jumped to save himself. The waggon was completely overturned and all the milk was split, the cans being also battered up.

It was very lucky that Mr. Allan was driving along behind Dr. Rose at the time and stopped the runaway team, as if they had turned in at the factory, which they would probably have done, there would have been a general stampede amongst the teams waiting there.

REBUILDING AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

New Cattle Sheds to Replace the Burned Ones to be Erected Immediately.

At the meeting of the Board of directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition on Saturday afternoon there were present Messrs. Geo. Elliott, President; W. J. Green, Secretary; Jas. Davidson, T. M. Hunter, Thos. Hall, John Stothart and Dawson Kennedy.

The matter of awarding tenders for the rebuilding of the cattle and poultry sheds, which were burned some time ago, was considered, and it was decided not to let the work out by contract, but that it be done by competent men under the supervision of Secretary Green.

The post holes are already dug, and the building will be erected immediately.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. James Dolan's Mother on Saturday Evening.

Ann Kehar, mother of Mr. James Dolan, McDonel staeet, died at the residence of her son on Saturday evening.

The deceased was 73 years of age, and was born in Athlone, County Roscommon, Ireland. At the invitation of Mr. James Dolan she came to Peterborough about fifteen years ago, and has resided with him ever since.

For the last nine years she has been a great sufferer from a cancer, which finally made such inroads as to case her demise at the time stated.

Five children survive, viz., three sons and two daughters. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place this morning, interment being in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Mrs. Dolan was of a patient and cheerful disposition, and her kindly presence will be greatly missed in the family and amongst their large circle of friends.

WAS SHE SHOT JUST AS A JOKE?

A LITTLE CHILD STRUCK DOWN WHILST AT PLAY.

The Attendant Circumstances are Very Peculiar and it is not Known Positively how the Wound Was Received.

A most peculiar incident occurred on Saturday last on the farm of Mr. Henry T. Adamson, about a mile east of Springville, when his little five-year old daughter, who was watching him drawing grain into the barn, suddenly uttered a cry and fell on the ground.

Surmising that the little one had merely sad down to remove some thistles from her feet or dirt from her shoe, he paid no attention to her at first, until her continued crying led him to think that something more serious was the matter.

On going over to the little girl he found the blood streaming from a small hole in her hip, and immediately hitching up a horse brought her in to a physician in town. The doctor thought that the wound bore a remarkable resemblance to one that would be made with a bullet, and Mr. Adamson recollected that he had heard the sound of firearms. However, after probing for some time no bullet could be found.

On returning home again Mr. Adamson was apprised by two of his neighbours that when driving past his farm at about the time his little girl was hurt, a double rig was just ahead of them with two young fellows and two girls in it, and a revolver had been fired from the carriage.

The little girl was again brought into town on Sunday for another examination, and the fact that she can keep nothing on her stomach seems to lend strength to the suggestion that the wound was made from a bullet which has lodged in the bowels.

It is not thought that the revolver was fired with the intention of harming the child, but that it was probably done in a joke to frighten the girls in the carriage.

In case the child does not recover, however, and a bullet is found in the intestines, the joke may prove a very serious one, indeed, if the perpetrator of it can be traced.

GUNPOWDER EXPLOSION.

A Norwood Boy May Lose His Eyesight Throught It.

Lou McGregor, son of Mr. Malcom McGregor, proprietor of the McGregor House, Norwood, met with an accident Friday night through which he may possibly lose his eyesight.

The lad with a number of companions intended to arrange a surprise for the passengers on the east bound midnight express, and partially filled an old tomato can with gunpowder. The fuse was lighted just as the train pulled into the station, but as the powder did not explode immediately, young McGregor ran back to ascertain the cause. Just as he reached the can the contents exploded, singing his eyebrows, lashes and hair, and injuring his eyes to a serious extent.

He is under medical attendance, and it is hoped that his eyes may be saved.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Yesterday's services in the Murray street Baptist church were again conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. T. Dykeman, after an absence of three weeks holidays at Stony Lake. In the morning he preached a very powerful and instructive sermon from the text found in Nehimiah, 4th chapter, 17th and 18th verses.

Notice was given in St. John's yesterday of a change in the service for Wednesday evening when there will be an address and special prayers and intersessions on behalf of the parish and individuals. A strong appeal was made to all friends of the church to take part in the services.

Rev. A. J. Fidler, of Queensburg, Pa., delivered an excellent sermon in St. John's church last night from the next, "Arise, shine for thy light is come," Isaiah 60 ch., 1 verse. In eloquent language the reverend gentleman described the rise and early progress of the church as illuminated by the indwelling presence of God. Mr. Fidler is a Canadian by birth and education, being a son of Rev. A. J. Fidler, late rector of Whitby.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

Large congregations filled Mark street church yesterday at both services. It was "Floral Sunday," and the church was handsomely decorated.

In the morning Mr. Yooseph, of Persia, spoke on 'Mohammedanism." His address was very interesting and instructive.

In the evening the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., took as his text, "I am the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valleys." He gave a masterly discourse based on this text from the song of Solomon, a remarkable book in which the name of the Lord is not once mentioned. The key to this allegorical book is Psalm 45. Mr. Moore brought out many beautiful comparisons between the rose, lily and other flowers, and Christ, and urged all to yield to the charms of His beauty and attractiveness, and give themselves to His service. The choir sang an appropriate anthem, "Consider the Lilies."

The Epworth League meets on Monday at 8.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Wearing Shoes does not afford much pleasure to people who buy the factory made kind. How can it be otherwise? All feet are not alike, any more than all faces. Unless made to your measure, they pinch your toes, press your favourite corn, squeeze the ingrowing toe nail, inflame the heels, and make your feet sweat, swell and ache.

CAREY'S SHOES don't do that—they fit your feet, give you everlasting comfort, make walking easy and cost less. They are not stamped on the soles, but stamps don't improve the fit or wear.

DR. FOWLER'S EXT. OF WILD STRAWBERRY

BABY WAS CURED.

DEAR SIRS,—I can highly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It cured my baby of diarrhœa after all other means failed, so I give it great praise. It is excellent for all bowel complaints.

MRS. CHAS. BOTT, Harlow, Ont.

THE HEAD MASTER

GENTLEMEN,—I have found great satisfaction in the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and consider it invaluable in all cases of diarrhœa and summer complaint. It is a pleasure to me to recommend it to the public.

THE STRIKE IS EXTENDING.

Westmoreland Gas Coal Company Miners Out Strike Leaders Think They Will Win the Fight.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—The miners' leaders are more encouraged than ever, over the prospects of an early settlement of the strike in favor of the diggers. Efforts are now being directed to the mines along the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Central field of Pennsylvania. District President Dolan addressed a meeting at Claridge Westmoreland County, last night, and the result was that the men decided to quit work. This means the closing of two mines of the Westmoreland Gas Coal Company, the largest company on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

THE STRIKE IS ON.

Vanwickle, Deloraine and Beaver Meadow Miners Join In.

Hazelton, Pa., Aug. 27.—The threatened strike at VanWickles, Deloraine and Beaver Meadow collieries took place this morning. The Hungarians and Italians are masters of the situation, and 2000 men are idle, pending the decision of the foreign element. Last night the foreigners held a meeting and at a late hour they visited the homes of their countrymen, pulled them out of bed and delivered the edict. When the officials arrived at No. 2 colliery this morning, they found the mine door closed and a placard bearing the word, "Struck" upon it. This was the announcement of the strike. The English-speaking miners are not in the movement, but they can do nothing at present.

Four hundred strikers, on their way from Beaver Meadow to Milnerville, marched through the city shortly before noon. It was learned that the Hungarians and Italians want to be recognized on the same basis as the English-speaking miners. In anticipation of the strikers reaching Milnerville, the entire coal and iron police force were taken from this city this morning, and will meet the strikers at the works. The men are not yet organized, but expect to get in shape to-night and present their claims in a formal manner.

Big Run Men Out.

Clearfield, Pa., Aug. 27.—The miners at Big Run and Punxsutawney went on strike to-day, in sympathy with the Reynoldsville and Dubois miners.

Women Undid Their Work.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—The first attempt to start any of the coal mines in this district was made at the Champion Mines of Robbins & Company, near McDonald, Pa., on the Pan Handle Railroad, this morning. Two carloads of foreigners, gathered up from about Pittsburg, were sent to the Champion Mines about daylight and put to work loading slack into cars. The miners heard of the arrival of the new men and 500 women marched on the mine. The new men were attacked with stones and clubs and driven from the cars. The women followed them up, and the foreigners, without resisting, fled to Noblestown. The women then returned to McDonald and dumped the slack that had been loaded from the cars. They were met by 1000 strikers, and, headed by a band, marched a short distance from the mine, where they are now encamped, watching for the return of non-union miners.

The company say they are determined to load the slack and a conflict is expected if the new men are brought back to the mine.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c. 50c. and $1.00.

Sick headache and constipation are promptly cured by Burdock Pills. Easy to take, sure in effect.

EASTERN RECORD.

Scranton, Aug. 27.—Scranton got an early lead to-day, and, while Orton was pitching great ball, his mates hot oppose him in every innings, one excepted. Norton pitched and kept the hits and received splendid support. Cassey stole and steal, and McGinnis two-bagger, with two out, gave Toronto the winning run. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Toronto	1	0	2

At Springfield—Syracuse white-washed the Springfields in the closing game of the series, which was featureless save for the work support given Korwan. It would have been a pitchers' battle, with the score 1 to 0, but for the home team's errors. The Ponies at no time hit Lampe hard enough to give the Stars a chance to do any brilliant fielding. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Lampe and Ryan; Korwan and Duncan.

At Buffalo There were fireworks to give away at to-day's game. The local started them off in the first inning by knocking Wellmer all over the lot and piling up eight runs. When Patton tried his hand later on he did very little better, and Wilkes-Barre had fun with Brown in the 6th turn during the sixth inning, scoring six times. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	15	17	1
Wilkes Barre	8	12	4

Batteries—Brown and Urquhart; Wellmer, Patton and Diggins.

At Providence—The luck was remarkably exemplified in the two games between Providence and Montreal. In the first game Providence batted McFarland out of the box in the middle of the fifth inning and they continued the bombardment when Gannon took McFarland's place, and won the first game by 15 to 8. Then McFarland, the man who was batted out of the first game, went in to pitch the second one, and he not only shut out the home team, but he held Providence down to three singles, and did not allow a point to be made on any battery error. Rudderham pitched a strong game for Providence, but without batting support he had no show to win. Henry Lynch split a finger in the first inning of the first game and this necessitated a lot of shifting of players. Score:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Providence	15	19	4

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The widow appeals to the sympathy of even the most callous-hearted. Here is a woman still in the springtime of life, deprived of the stay and support upon which she had every right to depend, and her future overshadowed by the loss of the one man in all the world upon whom she had centered her love and affection A man has no right to sacrifice his life in the mad race for money, by neglecting his bodily health. A man owes it to himself and to his wife and children to live a long and helpful life. If a man would live he must keep health.

Health is a matter of a little patch here and there Look after the little ailments and the big ailments will take care of themselves. They will never come. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery keeps the body in perfect health. It promptly eradicates the little ailments that bring serious illness. If the serious malady has already arrived it promptly cures it by removing the cause. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It makes the assimilation of food perfect and supplies the blood with the life-giving elements that build new and healthy tissue and firm muscles. It tones and builds up the nerves. It drives impurities and disease-germs from every organ of the body. It cures all diseases due to overwork and worry and faulty nutrition. It is an unfailing remedy for weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, severe cough, bronchitis, asthma and kindred affections. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption.

Mr. Isaac E. Downs, of Spring Valley, Rockland Co., N. Y., writes "For three years I had suffered from that terrible disease, consumption and heart-disease. Before taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I had wasted away to a skeleton; could not sleep nor rest, and many times wished to die to be out of my misery. Step by step, the signs and realities of returning health slowly but surely developed themselves while taking the 'Discovery.' Today I tip the scales at 187 and am well and strong. The Golden Medical Discovery' has also cured my daughter of a very bad ulcer located on the thigh."

FOOD IN TABLET FORM.

A Klondyke Supply For a Year to Weigh Only 30 Pounds.

The rush to the Klondyke has stirred up the dealer in condensed food and the chemist who condenses the nutriment from meats and vegetables into the smallest space. Said one of these men the other day, says The New York Herald, speaking of the heavy weights of food prospectors are taking with them:

"Why, in an ordinary valise I can put enough food to last a healthy man a year and give him a menu just as varied as he could find in a first-class hotel. He can easily take another one of those valises, and when he reaches Dawson City he can sell it for $2000. That's what a year's supply of good food is worth there. If he wants to load himself down with a good sized burden he can take four or five supplies, and he will be a comparatively rich man the moment he reaches his destination.

"The present scheme is to furnish Klondyke voyagers with an assortment of condensed foods somewhat similar to that carried by the Japanese in their recent war with China, but adapted to the peculiar needs of the men in the diggings.

"Anything in the eating line can now be put up in compressed form. A good cup of coffee or tea is crowded into a mass as thin and as small as a medium sized button. It is already sweetened with a saccharine product of coal tar which is two hundred times sweeter than sugar; and accordingly requires but a very small amount. One of these buttons dropped into a cup of hot water becomes immediately a cup of good coffee or tea.

"All kinds of soups are prepared in the same way. The buttons contain a mixture of meat and vegetables, fully seasoned and ready for the hot water. A sausagelike affair, not as large as a frankfurter, and made of pea meal, fat and bacon, makes twelve plates of nutritious soup.

"One of the essentials for Klondyke will be desiccated beef, an ounce of which is equivalent to five ounces of fresh meat. It is put up in hard little chunks—so hard that an ordinary knife makes little headway against it. A tiny machine like a coffee mill grinds it into fine shavings, which can be spread on bread or used for soup making.

"A loaf of bread is compressed into a mass not much bigger than a soda cracker. When soaked in water it swells up like a sponge, and when dried out makes very fair eating. A loaf of the sun-dried size is composed of a preparation of flour, beef fat and it also contains all the essentials of a plain but hearty meal. This is somewhat similar to the pemmican ration used in the British army. Ten pounds of onions, carrots, potatoes, turnips, cabbage or any other vegetable are, by the condensing process, crowded into one small cube, and for soup making purposes are said to be excellent.

"The man who counts upon being a millionaire through his scheme does not expect to do anything this season as the time for leaving for Klondyke is practically over. He expects, however, to be in shape to launch his project early next spring, when the first steamer sails and when the food supply in the mining district is practically exhausted.

"The kingpin of the scheme is to fix up all kind of fancy and plain drinks, from cocktails and gin fizzes to straight whiskey, in tablet form. A trunkful of these tablets will stock a fine cafe and give the Klondykers all the pleasures of life in a big city."

Matts Juhlin Dannfelt.

Matts Juhlin-Dannfelt is dead. Word has just been received from far off Congo, in Africa, that Stanley's intrepid lieutenant has passed away. With his death Congo loses one of its foremost men and its oldest white citizen, for Juhlin-Dannfelt has lived in that country every since 1883, in which year he arrived at Stanley Pool. He was the commander-in-chief of Lower Congo and had his headquarters at Boma. Among other important works the commander did for Congo was the survey of the boundary line between his own territory and the French possessions. This survey was accepted by the Berlin conference in 1885. Juhlin-Dannfelt, prior to his travels in the dark continent, was an officer in the artillery of Sweden. He came of a prominent family. At the present time his brother is the royal Swedish-Norwegian consul at London. He was a soldier of singularly high attainments, with a decided liking for exploration. He never resigned from the Swedish army and continued to hold his place by grace of the King, who constantly renewed his leave of absence. Juhlin-Dannfelt was very popular in Congo—much more than Stanley—and was one of the few men in whom the great explorer reposed absolute confidence. He died of malarial fever.

Sample Road Building.

There is general interest in the proposed sample road-building by the United States Government at the New York State Agricultural Experimental Station at Geneva. The sample road will be more than 7000 feet long. About 800 feet will be macadamized in the centre to the width of eight feet, with rolled dirt on either side, this being designed as an improved country road. The remainder, something over a mile, will be macadamized in the centre fourteen feet, with dirt roads on either side. It is now proposed also to lay 200 feet of steel track, which is now attracting so much attention as possibly efficient and economical road in sections where stone is scarce and costly.—New York Tribune.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

Easy Way to Clean a Wheel.

In cleaning a bicycle most people find difficulty in keeping the machine steady. At such times the want of a rack is felt badly. A little boy in Parkdale overcame this trouble the other evening in a simple way. He discovered that an ordinary chair serves the purpose excellently for those who are not provided with the necessary rack. The little chap turned the chair over, hooked the handles of his bicycle into the rear legs and rested the saddle on the back. The wheel rested firmly in this position and young Canada found that all the working parts could be easily manipulated at will.

Piano Agent Had a Tumble.

St. Mary's, Aug. 27.—A piano agent named Jones from Woodstock had a marvelous escape from death this afternoon.

While driving out of town in a buggy he was run into at the crossing between the market and the junction station by a freight train.

The horse was thrown against the embankment and the man was carried over 50 feet, alighting in the railway ditch. Strangely enough, both man and horse escaped broken bones or serious injury.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

* 1871 *

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

* 1897 *

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

GOLD NUGGETS GALORE.

Madoc District Rich as the Klondike, so Thinks a Madoc Paper.

If our people would only have patience and work, there is evidently as great golden riches in store for them in this district as in the now much talked of Klondyke region, remarks the Madoc Review. Saturday last Mr. W. A. Hungerford and Mr. Joe Best exhibited to the writer a handful of gold nuggets, alluvial ore, some of which were over half an inch long and a large as a lead pencil. As samples of free gold they are certainly the finest ever s' wn in Madoc, and Mr. Hungerford r cred us they were found within ten miles of Bannockburn, but he was not in a position to divulge the location of the property just at present. North Hastings will yet show some astonishing results in the mining world.

Another gentleman who has unbounded faith in the mining capabilities of this country is M. F. Straith Miller of Toronto. As is well known Mr. Miller is a practical mining engineer of large experience, and is at present in charge of several mining ventures in different parts of the country, among others the Eagleson mine, near Queensboro, owned by Messrs. King and Meldrum of Toronto, and also the Hogan, near Millbridge, and mines in Barrie township. Mr. Miller also told us of a wonderful rich copper deposit he has lately secured in northern Peterborough, from which he expects big returns. He has every faith in the mines of North Hastings which only await proper development to prove their richness.

HAVELOCK.

The Late Eliza Maidens.

On Friday afternoon death again visited our neighbourhood, cutting off one of the oldest residents in the village in the person of Eliza Maidens, aged 73 years and 2 months. The deceased was born in Conyhon Place, in the Village of Clonas, Ireland, and came to New York when 23 years of age. After residing there for about a year she removed to Prince Edward for a short time, finally settling in the township of Percy, where she met and wedded the late Mr. James Maidens. They resided in Percy 42 years, up to the death of Mr. Maidens, when she came to Havelock to reside with her son-in-law, Mr. T. H. Cummings. She leaves a number of sons and daughters, among whom are:—Mrs. T. H. Cummings, Havelock; Mrs. O. D. Gould, Cards; Mrs. Farmer, Washington, and Mrs. Young, of Dartford. The sons all reside in the United States and have not been heard of for a number of years. The funeral took place on Sunday from the residence of Mr. Cummings, service being held in the Presbyterian church at 9 a.m., at which a large number attended. After the service the funeral proceeded to the Warkworth cemetery, where a large crowd were present, showing to what a large extent the respect and veneration in which the late Mrs. Maidens was held in that community. The family have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in their affliction.

LACROSSE.

To-morrow's semi-final game against Orillia on the P. A. A. A. grounds will be started at 2 p. m. sharp as the visiting players intend to leave on the afternoon train and the rules call for two hours actual play, exclusive of stops. This means that the game will last almost three hours and as Orillia has strengthened its team since being here last a most exciting match is expected. No one should miss it.

Every player is expected to be on time in order that the game can be started at 2 p. m. sharp.

CRICKET.

Playing for Rosedale against Parkdale on the Rosedale grounds on Saturday J. M. Laing, of the Toronto Club, put together the fine score of 197 runs. It was made by good, clean hitting, and is the third highest innings on record in Canada. G. S. Lyon, of Rosedale, heads the list with 238 against Peterborough, and Browning, of Montreal, once scored 203 against Ottawa.

THE TRIGGER.

Sportsmen now anticipating shooting partridge and quail after a close period lasting four years will be disappointed to find that it has been extended to Sept. 15, 1900, in order to further prevent the total annihilation of these birds, now so scarce in Canadian woods.—Exchange.

Such ignorance of an important law is inexcusable. It is the sale, not the shooting, that is prohibited. The shooting of partridge in season has never been interfered with.

ISSUING FALSE NEWS.

Party Who Writes it Comes Under the Criminal Code.

According to Perrytown's correspondent of the Port Hope Guide, some rascal sent a notice to a local newspaper announcing that the wife of a leading citizen has been blessed with twins. The Guide says:

"The husband of the lady has gone to the trouble to secure the correspondent's letter from the newspaper, and has laid the matter before County Attorney Kerr, and any day the writer of this criminal libel may be arrested and taken to Cobourg and criminally prosecuted for sending such untruthful matter to a newspaper. The lowest penalty is two years, and the law applies against the writer and exonerates the newspaper that inserts the libel, and justly so, as an editor has no way of knowing that his correspondent is sending anything but facts and what is strictly true; and to protect himself the law, in such cases, wisely holds the writer only liable in case the libel is of a malicious nature, and the writer can be proceeded against under the criminal code."

ODDFELLOWSHIP.

(Emblems and mottoes of the Order.)

I saw in a distant city,
Far over the pathless sea,
A scene in the days of my boyhood,
That always seems grand to me.
I beheld a vast column approaching
With plumes half clouded in dust,
And I read on its folds when sighted,
This motto, "In God we Trust."

I saw the column move forward;
In the ranks were the young and old,
Arrayed in garments of splendour,
Regalia of crimson and gold.
There marched the prince and the peasant,
Methinks I can see them now,
As they move to the soul-stirring music
Of the knights of the anvil and plough.

They wore on their breasts strange devices,
Cro-sed axes, crossed gavels and keys,
The pen, the sword and the hour glass,
And a fresh budded rod from the tree.
One had the bow and the quiver,
Another the serpent-twined rod,
And one, dressed in heaven's regalia,
Carried proudly the column of God,

Then came an old man bearing hard on his staff.
He must have passed three score and ten,
His tottering limbs, his wrinkled brow—
How I wish I could see him again.
He bowed to the throng on his right and left,
He seemed pleased with the chosen lot,
And seemed to say as he passed us by,
"Forget it not," "Forget it not."

Then a beautiful banner held high in the ranks,
Decked with emblems brilliant and bright,
Near the top, I remember, were three golden links,
And the heart and the hand on the right.
Near the top of the flag staff three arrows were set,
Above them a young turtle dove;
Right under the links in letters of gold,
This motto, "Truth, Friendship and Love."

"God bless the order," an old man said,
As he tried to keep pace in the ranks,
"They care for me, they bury my dead,
That have crossed over Jordan's banks.
When death laid its hands on my only son,
Without asking they came to attend;
They said they head come at God's command,
As the widow's and orphan's friend.

With fraternal care they carried him out
Down where the willows wave,
With brotherly hands they laid him away,
Close by his mother's grave.
Don't think it strange that I honour the men
Of three links, heart and hand,
May the order extend, may it flourish and grow,
And the sound of the gavel reach every land."

Stand firm by your banner pure and white,
Let no stain mar its beautiful folds,
The lessons we learn from our ritual each night
Are more precious to us than gold.
In the battles of life we have trials and cares,
Ah, who has not been by the tempest tossed?
If true to that motto, "In God we trust,"
We'll get nearer and nearer the cross.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. —G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect:

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

And their pleasures in life would enhance,

Orakzais Committing Depredations on Indian Frontier.

RELIEF ARRIVED JUST IN TIME

Police Posts Were Hard Pressed When Col. Richardson Came Up—Salisbury's Proposals Regarding Turkey and Greece Knocked Out by Russia and Germany.

Simla, Aug. 30.—The Chinwari and Kahi police posts on the Samana range were attacked, evacuated by their garrisons, and burned by the enemy on Sunday night.

In addition the Orakzais, on Sunday night, looted the Nariab, Samana, Bazaar and burned the school. The Kohat Pass Afridis are still loyal, in spite of the Mullah's strenuous efforts to excite their chiefs. They promise not to oppose the Peshawuri troops who are marching on Kohat.

The column under Col. Richardson and a detached party, which were sent to relieve the police posts at Lakka and Saifuldara, found them hard pressed by Orakzais. A sharp conflict ensued between the relieving force and the rebels, resulting in the repulse of the latter with considerable loss. The posts were relieved and their garrisons withdrawn.

Newspaper Men Transported.

Bombay, Aug. 30.—Editor Kishaikar of the native newspaper Mahram published at Ialipore, has been sentenced to transportation for life, and the proprietor and publisher of the paper, Barmoikar, has been transported for seven years. The sentences were imposed in consequence of the publication in The Mahrum of a seditious article applauding the propaganda of committees, in India and elsewhere, in favor of independence.

WHY THE DELAY?

Very Important That the British Forces Should Take the Offensive.

London, Aug. 31.—The correspondent of The Times at Simla says that no orders have yet been issued regarding the expedition to Tirah, though the action of the Orakzais show how imperative it is that the British forces should assume the offensive. The Orakzais, however, make no attempt to attack in force any point where the troops are likly to meet them. The wisdom of the occupation of the Samana range in 1891 is now demonstrated. But for that occupation the Miranzai Valley would have been devastated.

Public opinion now generally inclines to the belief that the Ameer is not directly concerned in the uprising. His desire to answer the Government's letter is proved by the fact that he sent a duplicate copy of his reply by way of Kandahar, so that it would be received by the Government in the event of the Peshawur routes being closed. This duplicate has just reached New Chaman.

NATIVE OFFICERS WERE BRAVE

And Only a Few of the Khyber Rifles Were Disarmed at Jamrud.

Peshawur, Aug. 30.—It transpires that several of the native officers at Fort Lundi-Kotal showed the utmost loyalty and valor when that post was attacked. One of them, who received a bullet wound in his shoulder, continued, despite his injury, to fight, and encouraged his men until the fort was captured. The subadar who conducted the defence of Fort Lundi-Kotal was killed during the fighting. Among the attacking force were two of his sons, while another son fought by his side. The subadar who commanded the Mullagoin Company, when the enemy entered the fort, collected his men and gallantly cut his way through the ranks of the attackers. He lost several men, but reached the road to Jamrud without the loss of a single rifle.

It appears that only a small section of the Khyber Rifles stationed at Jamrud were disarmed. They were on guard the night when the news of the fall of Fort Lundi-Kotal was received, and the officers, fearing that some of them might desert with their rifles, disarmed them and placed other tribesmen on guard. The other Khyber Rifles are still trusted.

The arrests at Quetta on Aug. 24 of three Baluchastan sirdars is considered a most important step, as two of them, Mehrullah and Yarmuhamed, were the instigators of recent raids in that quarter. Their arrest will prevent much trouble in Baluchastan. A majority of the Baluchistan chiefs have visited Quetta, and all declare that there is no further reason for enmity on the part of the Government.

SALISBURY'S PROPOSAL DROPPED.

Russia's Reluctance and Germany's Jealousy Caused It to Fall Through.

Constantinople, Aug. 30.—Lord Salisbury's proposal for a joint guarantee of the indemnity to be paid Turkey by Greece has fallen through, owing to Russia's reluctance and Germany's jealousy.

ENGLAND HOLDS THE BALANCE

Has the Franco-Prussian Alliance Caused the Bumptious Kaiser to Change Front Towards Great Britain?

Coblenz, Aug. 30.—At a banquet given this evening in connection with the army manoeuvres, Emperor William, in the course of a long address, complimented in the highest terms the Duke of Cambridge, long the commander of the brave British army, "who has done me the honor to come to lead past me his brave historical regiment."

His Majesty continued: "We may welcome as the illustrious person of Your Royal Highness a contemporary of our departed grandfather, who always spoke of you in terms of the highest esteem and friendship, and extolled Your Highness' military attainments."

The Emperor concluded by congratulating the Grand Duke of Baden upon the efficiency of the troops, adding: "We may say with a good conscience that the sons of the Rhineland who marched past to-day are as ready for duty and as efficient and brave as they were in the time of the Great Emperor."

His Majesty then proposed the health of the Eighth Corps and its commanding general, the Grand Duke of Baden. The toast was received with three hurrahs.

The compliments of His Majesty to the Duke of Cambridge and the British army are likely to be commented upon in connection with the conclusion of the Russo-French alliance, which leaves the balance of European power in the hands of England.

COAL IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Prospects are That Mining Will Become an Important Industry.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 30.—There is a great boom in this colony owing to the recent discoveries of coal on the west coast. The deposits are very extensive and the seams vary in width from 6 to 13 feet. The quality of the product is believed to be equal to the best Welsh steam coal. Experts pronounce the prospects excellent. Sixty thousand tons are already visible, and it is expected that coal mining will become one of the most promising resources of the island.

GRAIN IS ALL CUT

And Wheat is Being Marketed in Manitoba—The Notorious Jim Finn Captured in Minnesota.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—(Special)—Hon. G. E. Foster passed through en route east to-day. He has been looking up mining interests in the Kootenay.

The notorious Jim Finn, who broke jail here three days ago, has been recaptured at Humboldt, Minn., 70 miles south. The capture reflects credit on the police.

The regular Monday crop report shows that the grain is practically all cut and splendid harvest weather is prevailing. Quantities of grain are now being marketed.

TROLLEY KILLED HER.

Young Woman Cyclist in Toronto Attempted to Cross the Street in Front of a Belt Line Car.

Toronto, Aug. 31.

"Oh, my! Oh, my!" Such was the plaintive cry which marked the termination of Mary Williams' consciousness. In 10 more minutes her soul, suddenly released, had fled to the unknown.

The trolley had claimed another victim.

Miss Williams lived at 33 Bismarck-avenue, where she kept house for her widowed father. She took her bicycle out shortly before 8 last evening, and took a spin down Jarvis-street. It was when she had returned as far as the corner of Jarvis and Bloor-streets that she met her untimely end.

When she reached Bloor-street coming back, Belt Line motor car No. 511 was running west. Miss Williams started to run west along the south side of the street, but, meeting a number of bicyclists, she turned towards the north track to give them the right of way. It was a fatal move. Fate had decreed that just at the moment she was crossing the track the relentless trolley should be at that spot at the same instant.

The wheel was thrown aside by the fender, but the young woman, in falling, was struck, it is believed, by the bumper at the front of the car. So great was its momentum that she was rolled, tossed and dragged until the motorman finally brought the car to a standstill opposite the residence of Mrs. Wilkes, 115 Bloor-street east. It was not long, of course, before quite a crowd had gathered. Mr. H. T. Whittemore of 575 Church-street thought it was a boy hurt, and, running home, returned with his brother, Mr. F. B. Whittemore, to the scene of the accident. Mr. Whittemore, with the aid of some other bystanders, removed the unfortunate girl to the boulevard. Here it could plainly be seen that she had but a few minutes to live. The cry that she had been heard to utter they knew would be her last. A gash above her right ear told too well the tale. Thence she was borne by sturdy but kindly arms into Mrs. Wilkes' residence.

Here it was that Mr. John W. Postill, sexton of Central Methodist Church, identified her. Dr. Spencer was soon on hand, but at 8.35, barely 10 minutes from the time of the collision, she was dead.

Coroner Spencer at first determined to have the body taken to the morgue, but upon the interposition of the friends of the deceased it was decided to remove it to her home at 33 Bismarck-avenue. There she lies awaiting the post-mortem examination to be held this afternoon, and the inquest is called for 8 o'clock this evening at No. 5 Police Station.

H. France, the motorman of the car, reports that he was going west at an ordinary rate of speed, and that the deceased crossed his track before he could slack up. The conductor corroborates the story.

FULLY 60,000 PEOPLE

Gathered in Montreal to Greet Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

THE CHAMP DE MARS THRONGED

All Former Assemblages Thrown Into Insignificance—Complimentary Address Read in English and French—Patriotism Without Politics in the Premier's Reply.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received a royal welcome to-night at the hands of the commercial metropolis of his country. The Prime Minister was escorted up from Vercheres by a flotilla of steamers, both large and small, it being 10 o'clock before Sir Wilfrid and the Ministers accompanying him, reached the Champ De Mars, where the whole town had turned out to await the arrival of the party.

Your correspondent saw the ideal gathering, also the 40,000 who turned out to welcome Mercier from his ill-starred European tour, but those were baby gatherings compared with the one this evening. Fully 60,000 people were present, and one third of those were women, who stood patiently for two hours to see and hear the Liberal leader.

Mayor Wilson Smith read the address in English and City Clerk David in French. The document contained the following: "In olden times, when a man distinguished by some glorious deed visited a city, it was customary to tender him certain highly-coveted privileges, and the enjoyment of such honorable franchises as the community in question could tender. The City of Montreal desires to bestow upon you a token of its high appreciation of the distinguished services you have rendered to our country, and of the honor done to Canada by the brilliant manner in which you have represented the Dominion on the occasion of the celebration of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee. This fair city considers it not only a pleasure, but a duty to offer you, in return for this service, an unsolicited measure of open-hearted hospitality and most sincere congratulations."

Sir Wilfrid spoke very briefly in reply. He said he considered Canada had taken her place amongst nations the day the German and Belgian treaty had been denounced, and in closing this England had made a sacrifice for which Canada should be grateful. Speaking of his decorations, the Premier said he had not accepted them so much for himself, but for Her Majesty's faithful subjects in Canada.

In conclusion, the Premier said that his return was more happy to him than his departure, as he loved his country above all others. He made no political allusions whatever.

After the meeting Sir Wilfrid Laurier was escorted to the Windsor by the different Liberal clubs. Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Messrs. Turte, Scott and Fisher were also on the platform and Sir Oliver spoke a few words.

ROBBED BY CHINESE PIRATES.

Chung Ah Phin, Son of a Straits Millionaire, Was the Victim—How They Did It.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 30.—The steamer Columbia, from Yokohama, brings Oriental advices up to July 27. News has just reached Hong Kong of the prevalence of pirates on the Canton River. One of the sons of Captain Chunk Kewi, a Straits millionaire, Chung Ah Phin, was the victim. He, in company with a few of his relatives, hired a boat and were proceeding to their native place. On the second day the boat stuck in the mud and could not proceed. During the night a gang of men with painted faces and fully armed boarded the boat. With revolvers leveled at the passengers they commanded silence, while four men began at once to look for plunder. Ah Phin brought from the Straits jewelry amounting in value to $50,000 and $20,000 in cash. This the pirates took, besides clothing, etc. When they had satisfied themselves that nothing was to be obtained they left the boat, after threatening the victims with instant death if they made a noise till 12 hours afterward. In the morning information was sent down to Canton, but before the authorities had time to get a gunboat up the river the pirates had made their escape.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT.

Reports of the Japanese Earthquake Confirmed—Bubonic Plague in Foo Chow—Sugar Crops Hurt.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 30.—The Japanese steamer just in brings news verifying the reports cabled to the Associated Press of severe earthquakes in Japan on Aug. 5, followed by a tidal wave and great floods. A thousand houses were inundated and 200 persons were killed and injured. Sixty-five Chinese villages were inundated.

According to a Tokyo press despatch dated July 16, it is reported that next year's budget will show a deficiency of 25,000,000 yen, even though the fullest economy is observed. The deficit is chiefly due to the extraordinary expenditure sanctioned by the Diet.

The Shanghi Shepoo contains a letter from its Foo Chow correspondent, who reports that the bubonic plague in the large city and suburbs is most serious, and the people are dying very rapidly. The centre of the plague is in the vicinity of the Tratar Guild House.

The proclamation of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, offering a free pardon to penitent rebels who surrendered, has now been abrogated.

The Corean Government has sent out an official notice that the ports of Chenanpo and Mokpo are open to foreign trade on Oct. 1.

A terrible danger threatens the sugar planters in Japan from a widespread disease which attacks the roots of the cane. The roots and the cane die. The plant stands helpless before the disease. It has already struck four provinces, and has broken out even on well-kept estates.

Reports from New Caledonia state that rain is much needed, and if harvest fails predictions are made that serious disturbances will occur.

ADVERTISING CANADA.

It may safaly be said that Canada and its resources, have been better known in Great Britain within the past three months than at any previous period. It was always a boast of the Tory Government, when in power, that it was performing wonders in the way of making this country as familiar to the British people, as Wales, Scotland or Ireland. As a matter of fact the immense sums spent, or alleged to have been spent, for this purpose, appear to have had but scanty effect. "Canada was never was much considered in Britain, or so much interest taken in her affairs as at present," used to be a stereotyped remark heard year after year, when some minister or Tory official returned from across the ocean to this country and stuffed an "interviewer." And yet, up to the present, practically little has been done of an effective kind to promote a healthy immigration, or to put machinery in motion which would have the effect of aiding us in developing the vast latent wealth in agricultural and other matters held by the country. Of so-called literature there has been, perhaps, too much. If a collection of the stuff that was written by hangers-on of the Tory party, and printed at the public expense, since the return to power of Sir John Macdonald in 1878, could be collected to-day, its perusal would provoke a smile. A large portion of the pamphlets describing the glories of the Northwest were composed by people more familiar with the streets of Toronto or the hotels of Ottawa than the "illimitable wilderness," and more than one of them were so ridiculous that on investigation they had to be supressed. One even excited the mirth of the late usually serious, Mr. Mackenzie, so much that he favoured the House of Commons with its opening sentence, which informed the intending emigrant that the "sun shines brightly by day, and the moon and stars by night" in Manitoba. Another was calculated to frighten people away. Within the past three months, as we have said, all this has been changed and the present Government, and the Minister of Agriculture in particular, have taken a different course. They have placed the matter before the British public in a practical way, and in a way that will cause the information to reach those for whom it is intended. The public press is the agency made use of. There is not a paper of any importance that has not published statements putting before the public in the mother country every detail of Canadian economy. The last which we have received is The Times of the 13th instant, and this contains a very ably written article on Canadian Trade with Great Britain. It deals with the subject very exhaustively and and lucidly and arrives at the inevitable conclusion—which ought to be as deeply impressed on Canadian minds as on those of the British people—that as last year the food stuffs imported by Great Britain amounted to £115,539,362 and of this enormous amount only £8,020,262 were Canadian, there lies before Canada a vast opportunity, and one which, while of incalculable benefit to this country, is of corresponding advantage to the motherland. It sums up that it may be confidently expected that "a very considerable increase in the supply of Canadian food stuffs to this country will be one of the first consequences of the late abatement of the Canadian tariff upon British goods. The denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties has permanently secured any benefit accruing to Imperial trade from this result." In all this extraordinary change in tactics and still more extraordinary results almost within the first year of Liberal rule the people of the Dominion have a striking proof of the imbecility of the preceding administration. They have been a dead weight on the country and an impediment to its progress. We ventured to express the opinion in these columns on the morrow of Mr. Fielding's tariff speech that the then Mr. Laurier's reception in Britain would be most enthusiastic. So it proved. In view of what has since occurred, it is to be anticipated with equal confidence that his reception here will be equally so. The country owes him much.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Toronto Telegram expresses the hope that if Manitoba harvests a good crop and sells it to advantage the farmers will not allow their wants to multiply faster than their sources, and adds:—"Money is easily borrowed when times are changing for the better, and it is not so easily paid back when times are changing for the worse" The advice is good not only for Manitoba farmers but Ontario farmers.

THE enormous shortage in the grain crop all over the world, save in America, has sent the price up with a bound. As things settle down and the visible supply becomes evident, and the exact position of the purchasing countries becomes clearer speculation will cease and the price will become more decided. The following table of the average price of wheat per annum since 1871 will be read with interest at the present juncture:

Year.	Price per bushel.	Year.	Price per bushel.
1871	$1.31	1884	$1.07
1872	1.47	1885	96
1873	1.31	1886	87

LUETGERT, THE SAUSAGE MAN,

On Trial in Chicago Charged With Killing His Wife and Dissolving Her Body in a Vat.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Luetgert was calm and confident-looking when brought into court to-day. District States Attorney McEwan formally opened the case for the state. On the wall close to the jury box were hung large maps of the Luetgert sausage factory, the Luetgert home and all the surroundings of the place where it is charged the prisoner killed his wife and then destroyed her body. When Mr. McEwan concluded, Attorney Vincent announced that no opening address would be made at present for the defence.

The first witness was then called. W. H. Hoafe of the city government testified to the correctness of the drawings being used by the prosecution.

When the afternoon session began the first witness called was Diedrich Bicknese, brother of Mrs. Luetgert. He told the jury of his visit to the house of Luetgert May 4 to see his sister. There he met the sausage maker and talked with him for some time before he was informed that Mrs. Luetgert had disappeared. Bicknere said Luetgert told him he did not know what had become of his wife. He had last seen her at 8 o'clock the Saturday evening previous. Luetgert said he did not believe she had gone away with some other man, but thought she had wandered away. The witness said he asked the prisoner what he had done to find his wife and was informed that he had not told the police of her disappearance. Instead, he said, he had paid two private detectives $5 each and they would do more than the police would accomplish. The witness said Luetgert told him he had not looked to see if his wife had taken any clothing with her except the dress she had on when he last saw her. He had not visited any place or made any enquiries. Bicknere told his story in a simple, straightforward way that made him an impressive witness.

IT WAS A DEAD SLASH AT US.

Senator Frye Denies Chandler's Story That That 10 Per Cent. Clause in the Dingley Tariff Was a Legislative Trick.

Auburn, Me., Aug. 30.—Senator Frye says that Senator Chandler is mistaken regarding his statement that the tariff clause providing for a 10 per cent. additional duty on foreign manufactured goods brought into the United States through Canada was passed by a legislative trick. Senator Frye, continuing, referred to the fact that all tariff laws for a great many years have contained a 10 per cent. discriminating clause on dutiable goods. "The committee," says Senator Frye, "recommended that this provision be amended so that the free as well as dutiable goods be included and that the per centage be reduced, but did not name the reduction. Their purpose was simply to have the law in the best possible condition whenever, if ever, the Congress should, after full consideration, determine upon discriminating duties."

In conclusion, Senator Frye said: "Of how this amendment was secured I know nothing, but that it was by a legislative trick, in the playing of which the conferees were participants with knowledge, I do not believe, nor do I believe that any Senator other than Mr. Chandler harbors for a moment such a suspicion."

No Decision Yet.

Washington, Aug. 30.—The decision of the Attorney-General in the matter of the Canadian discriminating duty clause of the Dingley tariff bill will not be announced for several days. It had been expected to-day.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINING.

Great Interest is Being Renewed in Mining Properties—Many Properties Have Shown Richer Ore Than Before.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 28.—(Special Correspondence.)—The interest in Klondike on the mainland of British Columbia has been thrown into the shade by the greater interest taken in British Columbia mines at the present time.

Among the interesting announcements this week are the following: The Grant-Govan Syndicate, whose operations have been rather severely criticized of late by several mining journals, have bought out the Bickley Bay townsite, which supplies provisions for the numerous mining camps in the district, and have contracted to develop several of their properties in Phillip's Arm, purchased from the Chanse Mining Company. They also claim that they are going to at once develop their properties in Kootenay to the shipping stage.

Several copper properties in Alberni, scarcely known in the mining world, are being developed by an English syndicate. If they prove all right it will be very advantageous to the district.

The latest report from Lillooet is that rich ore is still being taken out of the Golden Cache, richer than ever, and that the mill will positively be running before the expiration of another two weeks.

The Alpha Bell Company have also been exposing some extremely rich ore in the Golden Cache vein, as well as in their Surprise claim. The Alpha Bell Company will put in a ten-stamp mill, it is said, at an early date. In two weeks' time, when the result of the first crushing of the Golden Cache is known, Lillooet will be a very important camp or a dead failure.

In Fairview, Okanagan, the Oro Fino claim is showing up well. The company have found the true fissure after a slight fault and are confident of big results. The Smuggler mill is working night and day with their new machinery, while the Tin Horn will be crushing in another 14 days. This company are so confident of the results that they have had brokers in the east buying up all the available stock at figures much in advance of the original market price, 25c. Mr. Wills, the engineer, has laid a wager that the company will make from $30,000 to $40,000 the first month.

Many claims have been located at Tipella Mountain, Harrison Lake, near the Fire Mountain property. They all show up well on the surface, the quartz carrying galena and free gold. The Fire Mountain tunnel is now in 85 feet and has widened from three feet at the surface to seven feet at the present depth. The quartz is extremely rich in free gold. The mill is being established with all haste.....

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Paris, Aug. 30.—M. Gorville-Roche, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, from the Island of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, a man of color, who was born in that island, and a Republican in politics, is the author of a long article headed "The Franco-Russo-American Alliance," published by La Jour to-day, in which the writer points out that the United States has no ground for a conflict with France or Russia, while she would bring into the alliance an unlimited naval power, and he asks publicists and politicians to foster such an alliance in order that it may be realized at the dawn of the twentieth century.

"Palmer Cox's Brownies."

The sale of seats for C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger's big production "Palmer Cox's Brownies," opens Wednesday morning. The attraction, which will be seen at Bradburn's opera house, Monday night, Sept. 6th, is one of the greatest ever brought here, and it will be greeted by an enormous audience. It is positively guarranteed that the performance will be exact in every detail with those in New York, where the wonderful spectacle has been witnessed by crowded houses for 156 nights, and the same large organization of 74 people, including Amy Hartley, Eva Tanguay, Gertie Carlyle, Budd Rose, Chas. Hagan, Sol. Solomon and other favourites, will be seen. Two sixty feet baggage cars are required for the immense equipment of scenery and electrical and mechanical effects. The flying ballet that is danced in mid-air; the funny German band; Eddie Pinaud, the phenomenal Brownie bicyclist. Newhouse and Bunts; and the beautiful dance of the Oriental slave-girls are among the many novel features. Palmer Cox, the famous "Brownie man," is another big card. The splendid production will prove one of the principal events of the local season, and no one should fail to witness it.

Trotting Harness.

Those who have heretofore been unable to secure regulation high-grade trotting harness in Peterborough have now only to go to Devlin's Harness Shop, Hunter st., where they will see a beautiful set of trotting harness, of the latest type, made by Devlin for Mr. P. Clunan's trotter "Duke Wilks." These harness can be seen at Devlin's shop from 3 to 6 to-morrow afternoon, after that they will be shipped to Toronto where Duke Wilks went this morning to take part in the big Exhibition trot. Devlin has engaged Mr. A. Hay, who comes from the west, and in addition to being a first-class harness maker is an experienced horseman and knows just what kind of harness a trotter needs. The place, therefore, to get tip-top O. K. up-to-date trotting harness is at Devlin's.

"A Modern Heroine."

A well-filled house greeted the Burton Comedy Company on their initial performance at Bradburn's Opera House last evening. "A Modern Heroine is the title of the drama, presented by a well-selected cast, who did justice to the roles assigned them. The play is an American military drama, containing a strong plot and pretty story that embraces love, sentiment, humour and originality. Miss Helen Minkley, as the heroine, gave a very artistic portrayal of her difficult part and proved herself a conscientous worker, as she has hitherto done on previous visits. Her wardrobe is beautiful and won general admiration. The rest of the company worked to advantage, and the specialties by Miss Earl and Mr. Denier were well received. Carlotta, the premiere dansuse, a mere child, danced gracefully and proved her popularity by the abundant applause. Mr. Simmons received several encores for his black face specialties. The staging of the play was excellent. Taking it all in all it is one of the best repertoire companies that has played Peterborough in some time. This evening the sensational drama "The Octoroon" will be presented with special scenery and effects. An exciting bowie knife fight will be one of the features of the evening. Reserved seats for sale at Ormond & Walsh's.

Men's Silk and Satin Ties, light and dark shades, in knots and four-in-hand, neat designs, and satin lined. Regular price 25c, Grafton & Co's. special price 15c.

THE TOWN SCHOOLS ALL OPEN TO-MORROW.

EVERYTHING IN SHIP-SHAPE FOR THE GREAT EVENT.

The School Buildings all Ready for Their Juvenile Guests—Teachers and and Pupils are Flocking Home—Everything and Everybody Ready for Work on the 1st of September.

This is the last day of the "silly season"—lasting from July 1st to Sept. 1st—so called, it is to be inferred because, as the period corresponding to the long vacation, it marks the cessation of the legal machinery and the withdrawal of the massive legal mind from active operation in the intellectual game or chance called the law. So called also because during that time the pedagogic machinery is silent and the target practice, in respect of the young idea, ceases. As Sept. 1st approaches the summer resorts and other haunts of the recuperating teachers give up their temporary residents and the children flock into town from far and near ready for the opening of the schools on the first of September.

EVERYTHING READY.

In anticipation of the opening of the schools to-morrow, a representative of the EXAMINER took a run to the different school buildings to see how they had come through the vacation and to see in what shape they were in for the fall campaign, and it is a pleasure to report that they were all found in first-class condition in all respects, though in some cases there is lack of accommodation for the seating of pupils.

The first school building visited was that of the Park street, or West Ward school. The first thing that strikes the visitor in respect of these premises is the exceedingly neat and tasty appearance of the front lawn, with its sward well kept and neat, and the flower plots and borders a mass of bright bloom. The importance of these things is by no means confined to mere ornament; the pupil's tastes are refined, they learn to take an interest in the culture of flowers, and the effect of these things on discipline and general deportment is all for good.

The outside walls of the school building have received attention. The broken space in the walls and about the window openings have been chinked up, and yawning spaces under the window sills that would admit many a visit of Klondyke atmosphere, hermetically sealed. Considerable touching up with the paint brush has also been done and the outside premises are

ALL IN GOOD SHAPE.

In the sheds was found a good stock of well-seasoned wood, bought green and now ready for use the coming winter.

The inside of the building also received attention. A good deal of painting has been found necessary and the flooring, which had in some places been literally worn out with the patter of thousands of little feet, has been renewed. Skirting boards have been replaced and hundreds of little odds and ends of repair attended to. For the better preservation of the books, maps, etc., of this school an ash cabinet has been placed in this as well as in the North Ward and South Ward schools, for the holding of maps, books, stationery, chalk ink, etc., very necessary additions to the furniture and a real economy in the end.

None who has not taken the pains to make a personal inspection can form any idea of the thousand and one little odds and ends of repair that are called for in a four or five roomed school in the course of the year. Broken panes, broken plaster, etc., which the most watchful care of teachers cannot prevent, have to be remedied, and there is a constant succession of these little repairs that call for attention and cost money. And when we consider that there are forty rooms in our several schools, occupied by over an average of 40 children each, one is surprised that the buildings and equipments do not need more repair than they do.

The next visit was paid to that excellent school building, the school. This is one of the more modern buildings and is in excellent condition, with several necessary repairs made, and more which will have to follow before winter sets in. Two of the western windows have clear cut holes in them, evidently made by stray bullets, for no stone thrown by a boy could make so clean cut an opening. Considerable painting has been found necessary and other outside and inside repairs.

The Menzies school premises are also quite up to the mark as to condition, having been only recently fitted up. But still the oiling of the hardwood floors is a necessity. There is a vacant room which the demands for accommodation may require fitting up very soon. The Central School and Collegiate Institute premises demand considerable attention all the time for repairs. This vacation the fences have been repaired and painted and considerable outside painting done, still the main steps leading to the public school wing would be much the better for a coat or two of paint. The gymnasium has been provided with a new roof and the inside walls and ceilings have been painted, after being bare and dirty for many years. The windows have also been protected with wire screens, which will result in the loss of many a job to the glazier.

The hardwood floors of the two schools have been oiled, and various repairs made to the wood work where most needed.

THE SOUTH WARD SCHOOL

building is in splendid condition, and in respect of the last addition it is probable that there is not a more substantial or more completely equipped school room in the province. Here naturally the bill for repairs is comparatively light, though there has been the replacing of broken panes, and the oiling of the floors has to be often repeated.

Of course in this school the seats are all of the latest, single seats—such as the Inspector thinks should be in every school. In some of the rooms, particularly in the Central building, some of the seats (double) have seen their best days and should, one would think, be replaced, but the Property Committee do not feel warranted in incurring the necessary expense, so long as the antiquated seats will be tolerated.

As before remarked the schools are all purchased by tender when green. Mr McBain, the chairman, it is said believes in thus providing against a winter without sleighing and consequent high prices for inferior wood, and some of the janitors are inclined to complain of the tight rein he keeps on expenses. The visit to the schools revealed hundreds of little wants which the janitors wanted supplied.

WELL PROVIDED WITH FUEL,

On the whole our schools are in good shape for the opening day to-morrow. Teachers and pupils have returned from their holidays recuperated and invigorated, and one may expect an active campaign from now till Christmas. The teaching staff has been carefully re-arranged and we may hope for good results.

Our schools cost us a good deal, but it is difficult to see how retrenchment to any substantial extent can be employed without an impairment of efficiency. Increase of population demands increased space, and while we are maintaining schools it seems to be false economy to maintain any but the best.

BY WHEEL TO MONTREAL.

Mr. F. W. Taylor, Formerly of Peterborough, Takes a Long Ride.

F. W. Taylor, formerly manager of the Bank of Montreal in Peterborough, recently wheeled the whole distance from Deseronto, where he is now located, to Montreal. From his itinerary we glean a few facts which may be of interest to his brother wheelmen in this district. On Thursday, 12th inst., he left Deseronto and and quietly and easily covered the distance to Kingston, though he sustained a puncture of a tire this side of that city. At 9 a. m. Friday he left Kingston—and in the first two hours rode twenty-five miles. At Lansdowne he struck a frightful piece of road and was compelled to walk about four miles. Brockville was reached at 1.50 p. m. Near that town he had a bad spill but fortunately his wheel escaped without injury. At 3.40 p. m. he left Brockville. There is a beautiful stretch of road between Brockville and Prescott, as good as any to be seen in the country. Morrisburg was reached at 6.20 p. m., ninety-two and a half miles being done during the day. At 7.30 a. m., Saturday, Mr. Taylor left Morrisburg and reached Cornwall over wretched roads at 10.30. Leaving Cornwall at 11.30 Lancaster was reached at 1.30, the roads, as a result of so much rain this season, being awful. Learning that those ahead were still worse he took the Grand Trunk track and wheeled the whole distance from Lancaster to Montreal between the two tracks, the city being reached at 6.45 p. m., a distance of 102½ miles having been traversed that day. The whole distance, counting extras, wheeled was 230 miles. A head wind prevailed all day Saturday. At Cardinal he enjoyed the rather exciting experience of being bitten by a large and vicious dog, who attacked him with great ferocity, the people of the house calmly looking on. He refrained from shooting the brute. He found that the roads in the east are not at all to be compared with those in Hastings or the Bay of Quinte district. However, the streets of the different towns were generally very good. He carried a copy of the Cyclists' Guide, but found that its distances were inaccurate, information regarding roads unreliable and many of the hotels recommended secondrate in every sense of the word. During his stay in Montreal, Mr. Taylor witnessed all the exciting international yacht races, having been the guest of Commodore Ross on the committee boat. He met Mr. Crane and other visiting yachtmen, all of whom were a nice lot of fellows. Accompanied by Mrs. Taylor he returned to Kingston by the steamer America of the Folger line, and he speaks in the highest terms of the ample accomodation of this fine vessel and the unfailing courtesy of the officers. The table service was equal to that of the best hotels in our large cities. His whole trip was of a pleasant character.—Deseronto Tribune.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

BASABELL.

There will be a brilliant baseball tournament on the P. A.A.A. grounds on Labour Day. The Park Nine will meet the Cobourg baseball team in two games. Both teams are especially strengthened for the occasion, and will give a splendid exhibition of the diamond game. The first game will be played at 10 a. m., and the second at three in the afternoon. It is a long time since two first-class teams like these have played in Peterborough, and we may expect a big crowd to see the fine work that will be done. The local team, which is in especially good shape, will put two batteries in commission for the two games. One battery will consist of Miller and Graham, and the other of Connors and Graham. Miller (of Lindsay) pitches a fine game and much sport is expected from his delivery. The games on Labour Day will be well worth seeing. Take them in.

LACROSSE.

The Judicial Committee of the C. L. A. met last night at the Rossin House to investigate the Stouffville-Markham protest. The members who formed the Judicial Committee for the occasion were President J. J. Craig, Secretary J. M. Vance, with P. McMillan, of Beaverton, and T. Glanville, of Mount Forest, their interim finding being as follows:

The committee find as follows:—"We believe that D. J. Tudhope was a member of the Stouffville club from May 19 last, and at the expiration of 30 days therefrom became eligible to play with that club. We are not satisfied however that the said Tudhope has not violated article VI, section 2, and before giving a decision on that point, we require Tudhope to appear personally before the committee, and also require the Stouffville club to produce the letter from F. G. Button to Tudhope dated between May 16, 1897, and May 19, 1897, or some evidence of the contents thereof.

As to the second charge of the complaint, we are not satisfied from the evidence that any error was committed in the computation of the time.

As to the third charge, we are not satisfied that there was any bribery of players and dismiss that charge.

As to the fourth charge, we do not believe that Mr. Stark was influenced through making a $5 bet, and no complaint being made to the referee as to any disagreement, the time kept by the timekeeper, we must accept the official time as correct.

As to the counter charg, we request Mr. Glover to appear before the committee, and also ask Stouffville to produce receipt alleged to have been given by Glover, and at present held by Mr. Broughton, Newmarket, and also the books of the Newmarket club, containing the entry of alleged payment made to Glover for his services as lacrosse player. The committee will finally consider the matter on Monday, Sept. 6th.

The Barrie club is expelled for playing D. Guthrie, of Toronto, that player is also expelled and his name will be handed to the Amateur Athletic Association o Canada to deal with his case.

Stratford club is expelled for playing W. Coppin, under an assumed name, and the Amateur Athletic Association will also deal with him.

Ex-President McFadden, of Stratford, was censured for signing report containing names of men playing under assumed names.

We are showing a fine line of violins, guitars and at autoharps at very close prices. PETERBOROUGH MUSIC CO.

MRS LARGE AND THE METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

As the following letter signed 'Justice,' which appeared in the Toronto World, in its issue of Aug. 14th, so clearly states the case regarding Mrs. Large and Mrs. James Gooderham, the Executive of the Methodist Missionary Society and the departure of these two elect ladies for Japan, and as the eyes of the whole Methodist church are on them at this juncture, I ask you in the interests of your Methodist constituency to publish it:

Editor World:—Allow me a few words in reference to the return of Mrs. Large to Japan accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Gooderham, of Toronto. The door of usefulness for Mrs. Large's return being closed by the decision of the General Executive of the Methodist Missionary Society, and the Japanese urging her return, there was no way for her to go but as an independent missionary. Mrs. James Gooderham, of Toronto, not being willing to accept the decision of the Executive, resigned her position as President of our Women's Missionary Society to accompany Mrs Large to that distant land. This was the reason of her resigning, and not as the Outlook puts it, "her age," as statement both untrue and misleading. The writer in the Guardian states that such a step as this is a case of an individual taking the responsibility of interpreting the Divine Will as against the judgement of the church in council." In the first place we are not living in the ages when "The voice of the church is the voice of God." We live in a day when God speaks to individuals and they must obey. In the second place our writer in the Guardian forgets that said "church in council" entirely set aside the advice of the head of our "Japanese Council" who urged that Mrs. Large return at once to Japan, as her absence was a source of weakness to our work, and also that the Women's Missionary Workers were eagerly asking her return. In view of all this Mrs. Large could do nothing else but accept the door so wonderfully open to her, in answer to the prayers of hundreds in this and the foreign land, and accept the offer of Mrs. Gooderham to accompany to Japan and help her in the work so dear to her own heart.

They have gone as members of the Methodist church, and to work in harmony with our Methodist church, trusting in God and those interested in their work for assistance to carry it on.

JUSTICE.

Or, to sum up, on the one hand the Executive of the Women's Missionary Society sanctioning and urging the return of Mrs. Large to Japan, the Women's Council in Japan, consisting of all the agents of the Women's Board in that country pleading for her return, the Japanese Christians in connection with the Canadian Methodist church, petitioning most strongly for her immediate return, and lastly, perhaps the most significant of all, the "official representative" of the General Board of Missions in Japan, the Rev. Dr. Macdonald, (the highest confidence in whom the General Board is never tired of expressing) who also is the president of the Japan Conference, and has been for many years, using all the influence of his high and responsible position to secure her return, insisting that the work was being greatly injured by her detention at home.

On the other hand the Executive of the General Board of Missions, or rather a majority of its members, opposes her returns, for every one knows that the General Secretary, Rev. Dr. Sutherland, and the Assistant Secretary, Rev. Mr. Henderson, did all in their power to remove the bar against her return.

As to the statement of Mrs. Large interpreting the Divine Will as against the judgment of the church in council, I submit that in the face of the foregoing such a statement requires, to say the least, to be greatly modified before it can be regarded as an expression in harmony with the facts.

Sincerely yours,
ARTHUR W. BEALL.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

The Case of Sampson vs. Sampson Tried in Havelock—Some Norwood Cases Also.

In Havelock on Tuesday afternoon last a case came up before County Police Magistrate Edmison and Mr. Wm. Mathieson, J.P., of Havelock. There were two charges laid. The first complaint was made by Mr. Thomas Sampson, who charged his grandson, George Sampson, with bodily assault on Aug. 16th. The second one was also made by Mr. Sampson, charging his grandsons, George and Thomas, aged 11 and 13 years respectively, with the theft of a watch on the 26th of July. The defendants on both charges pleaded not guilty, Mr. Jas. Sampson, father of the boys, acting on their behalf.

The first charge was then proceeded with, the plaintiff who is about 70 years of age, being the first witness. He stated that on Monday afternoon, 16th inst., while quarrying stone at his place, about three miles east of Havelock, on the Marmora road, George Sampson approached him and began casting stones at him, one hitting him in the left eye, severely injuring it to an extent not known at present, and upon Mr. Sampson's cries for help the boy disappeared and Mr. Sexsmith, who lives about a half a mile away came running up to see what was the matter. Mr. Sexsmith at once procured a vehicle and brought Mr. Sampson to Havelock where he was immediately placed under the care of Dr. Jeffs. The old man produced the stones that were thrown at him previous to his being struck. The rocks are quite a size, one in particular being about 5x4 inches. The witness was cross-examined by Mr. Jas. Sampson.

Miss Mary King was the next witness, and she was positive she had seen young Sampson around his home, which is also near his grandfather's residence, at the time mentioned.

Mr. James Sampson cross-examined her very closely, as he states that he is in a position to bring witnesses to prove that the lad was on a farm two miles away at the time.

The next witness was Mr. S. Sexsmith, who corroborated the plaintiff's statement in regard to cries for help and driving him to Havelock.

Mr. T. L. Ackerman was then sworn and stated that at different times previous to the 16th inst, he had observed the defendant and brother throwing what appeared to be stones at the old man. Cross-examined by Jas. Sampson did not change the evidence.

Mr. Wesley Hart was the next witness, and stated that on the 16th he was driving along the road in the vicinity of Mr. Jas. Sampson's house when he noticed very suspicious conduct on the part of Mrs. Sampson, who was peering around the corner of house, but on observing him withdrew inside. Proceeding further up the road, Mr. Hart met the old man bleeding very badly from the wound in his eye.

Mr. W. Aulthouse then gave evidence, but it had no bearing on the case whatever.

Mrs. Sampson was then called, but failed to put in an appearance, so the court gave Mr. Sampson twenty minutes in which to produce her, failing which a warrant would be issued for her arrest.

Dr. Jeffs' evidence simply gave the nature of the wound and the probable results.

At this period the Magistrate, on account of pressing business in Peterborough, had to adjourn the court until Friday afternoon, 27th inst., at 12 30 p.m., Mr. James Sampson giving $200 bonds for the appearance of the defendants on that date.

On resuming court at one o'clock Friday afternoon Mr. Geo. J. Sherry appeared for the prosecution, and the magistrate allowed him to recall all the previous witnesses. Court sat until eight o'clock, but little new evidence was adduced, and the case was enlarged until Friday next.

On Saturday Police Magistrate Edmison held court in Norwood. Henry Scriver appeared before him charged with the theft of a coat and vest from the premises of Wm. Richardson in Asphodel. As the clothing had been discovered in the prisoner's possession by Constable Wright, of Hastings, he pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sentenced to four months in the county gaol at hard labour.

The prisoner acknowledged having entered the house once before in the absence of the owner and stealing therefrom a pair of trousers.

Thirteen citizens of Norwood were also before the magistrate charged with a violation of the dog bylaw in not having secured tags for their canines. On behalf of three of the defendants Mr. Geo. J. Sherry appeared and took the ground that the bylaw was defective.

The cases were all laid over until next Saturday, in order that Magistrate Edmison may have an opportunity of reading up the bylaw.

THE LATE JOHN S. CRUESS.

The following resolution of condolence was passed at Thursday's meeting of the Lindsay cheese board as a mark of respect to the memory of the late John S. Cruess:

Moved by Mr. Jas. Whitton, seconded by Mr. Jas. Graham, that this board desire to give expression to the deep loss they feel they have sustained in the removal by death of their esteemed vice-president, John S. Cruess, connected, as he has been, with the cheese industry of this county, being part owner of the first factory erected within its bounds, and holding the position of salesmen during all the period, being honoured with the position of vice-president of the Peterborough board prior to the formation of the Victoria board. Having a strong faith in our own resources, he took a leading part in the formation of the Victoria board, and loyally stood by it throughout, and we felt honoured to have him occupy the position of vice-president. While we regret his removal, we cannot but rejoice at the record he leaves behind him. "Honest John Cruess," as he was oftentimes spoken of by familiar friends, had lived the allotted three score years and ten, with six months additional, and passed from time to eternity, leaving behind him a name which will be long remembered with the deepest respect. The footprints he has left on the sands of time point straight forward, his journey through life being marked by sterling integrity, with probity of character which might be envied and emulated with profit by everyone.

That a copy of this resolution be signed by the president and secretary of this board, and forwarded to the relatives of our deceased vice-president.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

It has transpired that last week's wreck on the I B. & O R R. was not caused by cars leaving the track, but by the opening of a switch by some party or parties unknown. The engine was so badly damaged and strained that it will have to be sent to the Kingston locomotive works for repairs.

An important concession has been made by the management of the G.T.R. to the heads of departments and employees generally. Mr. Geo. B. Reeve, general traffic manager of the line, has issued a circular informing the servants of the company that upon the certificates of heads of departments and compliance with certain conditions the company will refund one-half of the freight charges on coal, cordwood and building material intended for the personal use of permanent employees. To facilitate payment of rebates at stations where more than one employee desires to take advantage of the concession, a secretary must be nominated through whom all rebates will be made payable. As to building material, no refund will be made on less than 1,000 pounds. Employees are warned, however, that serious consequences may ensue if the privilege is turned aside to benefit other than employees.

After a week's trial the C.P.R. have decided that the run of 210 miles without changing engines resulted in too much loss of schedule time and was also too hard on the engines. On Sunday night the old plan went into effect again.

RUSSIA'S PICKPOCKETS.

Sample of Their Swiftness and Cleverness Illustrated.

One day, while dining together, the French ambassador and a grand duke of Russia were discussing the cleverness of the pickpockets of their respective countries.

The grand duke claimed that the Russian pickpocket was the more skilful. Seeing the ambassador incredulous, he told him he would, without knowing it, be relieved of his watch before leaving the table.

He then telephoned to the head of the police to send at once the cleverest pickpocket he could lay his hands on.

The man came and was put into livery, and was told to wait at table with the other servants. He was to give the grand duke a sign directly he had done the trick.

But this was not given very soon, for the ambassador was very wary, and always kept on the alert, and held his hand on his fob, even when conversing with the most distinguished guests.

At last the grand duke received the preconcerted signal. He at once requested the ambassador to tell him the time. The latter triumphantly put his hand to his pocket and pulled out a potato instead of his watch.

To conceal his feelings he would take a pinch of snuff—his snuff box was gone. Then he missed his ring from his finger, and his gold toothpick, which he had been holding in his hand in its little case.

Amid the hilarity of the guests the sham lackey was requested to restore the articles; but the grand duke's merriment was changed into alarm and surprise when the thief produced two watches, two rings, two snuff boxes, etc.

His imperial highness then made the discovery that he himself had been robbed at the same time that the French ambassador had been despoiled so craftily.—Harper's Round Table.

His Best Friend.

An exchange has been finding out why woman is man's best friend. Here are some answers:

First and foremost woman is man's best friend:

Because she is his mother.

Second, because she is his wife.

Because without her he would be rude, rough and ungodly.

Because she can with him endure pain quietly and meet joy gladly.

Because she is patient with him in illness, endures his fretfulness and "mothers" him.

Because she teaches him the value of gentle words, of kindly thought and of consideration.

Because on her breast he can shed tears of repentance, and he is never reminded of them afterward.

Because she will stick to a man through good and evil report, and always believe in him, if she loves him.

Because, when he is behaving like a fretful boy—and they all do, you know, at times—with no reason in the world for it, woman's soft word, touch or glance, will make him ashamed of himself, as he ought to be.

Because without her as an incentive he would grow lazy; there would be no good work done, there would be no noble book written, there would be no beautiful pictures painted, there would be no divine strains of melody.

Because—and this is the best reason of all—when the world has reached an unenviable state of wickedness, the blessed task of bringing it a Saviour for all mankind was given to a woman, which was God's way of setting His seal of approval on her who is mother, wife, daughter and sweetheart, and, therefore, man's best friend.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

MACRAE PLEADS GUILTY.

And His Counsel Makes a Strenuous and Eloquent Plea for Him—His Fate Not Decided.

St. Catharines, Aug. 28.—There was a large and very disappointed crowd at the Court House this morning. A concourse of several hundred men crowded the upper court room hoping to hear the trial of A. M. MacRae, but while the big crowd was upstairs MacRae was brought into the sheriff's office from the rear, and when Judge Collier arrived the case was opened in his chambers, while the big assemblage waited patiently above. The chambers were crowded to excess. The prisoner was brought in and took his seat next to Mr. Rudd, formerly his employer on The Trotter and Paver, in New York. County Crown Attorney Brennan conducted the case for the Crown, and Wallace Nesbitt defended the prisoner. A ripple of excitement was created in the court room when Mr. Brennan rose, previous to the opening of the case, and said: "Your honor, prior to your consideration of this case, I desire to bring to the notice of the court an article published in a newspaper of this city, The St. Catharines Star, as follows: 'From another source it is learned that MacRae may be taken before Judge Collier on Saturday morning and the case summarily disposed of on a plea of "guilty" by the imposition of nominal sentence. It is said there is a disposition to "let up" on the poor, prosecuted fellow, because "he" was a good "un when he had it." Not much is heard, however, about his "deserted and heart-broken wife and family."'

"There is no doubt whatever, your honor, that this is contempt of court, pure and simple. Such reference to your honor, as a member of the bench, must be noticed, and as the county crown attorney I am determined that it shall be noticed. The insinuation that there has been some agreement in regard to this matter must be taken cognizance of. Judge Collier, personally I care very little for the article published in this sheet, but the reflection on the integrity of this court must not be allowed to go unnoticed. The matter had better, however, be left over until the return of Judge Senkler. No man on the Canadian Bench could, I know, fall so low as to do such a thing as is insinuated in this article. It is an insinuation against both the defence and prosecution, however, and the matter had better be left over until the return of Judge Senkler."

The judge then asked MacRae how he elected to be tried. Mr. Nesbitt, speaking for the prisoner, said he elected to be tried summarily.

Mr. Brennan then read to the prisoner the three charges of forgery and uttering, asking how he pleaded.

MacRae said in a low tone "Guilty."

Mr. Brennan then moved for sentence upon the prisoner.

Every eye turned upon the prisoner as he sat with bowed head awaiting his sentence. It was a terrible ordeal for the man, and nearly everyone pitied him sincerely.

Mr. Nesbitt commenced what proved to be as fine an address as has ever been heard in a St. Catharines court. He earnestly appealed for mercy. "I am not retained in this case by the prisoner," he said. "I have spoken to him very little. I am retained by his wife and family, who still stand up for husband and father, and refuse to desert him. For their sakes do I ask a mitigation of the sentence. Your Honor might impose, I should not have referred to this particular matter but for the remarks that have been made from time to time in the newspaper referred to previously, but his wife and family want him back. They will receive him and love him as before." Mr. Nesbitt then referred to punishment enough having been already borne. He told of his struggles to make an honest living by driving a street car, herding cattle, as a black smith and finally getting along very well in the newspaper business. Mr. Nesbitt asked the court to hear Mr. Rudd of New York as to the prisoner's character.

To this the court acquiesced. Mr. Rudd took the stand, and, after being sworn, told how MacRae had worked for him three years, and how capable and honest he always found him. He said he had trusted him with large sums of money, and he had never betrayed his confidence. "We paid him $75 a week as a canvasser for subscriptions for my paper, of which I am publisher, and promised him a third interest in our business. I know he has been living frugally and saving money with the purpose of paying off these debts, and I believe he will do it. He need not want for a dollar or a position, for I would trust him." And as the portly publisher resumed his seat by MacRae's side, tears trickled down the cheek of the prisoner at the words of one of the few men who in the past seven years had been his friend.

Then Mr. Nesbitt resumed, citing the actions of other courts in similar cases, and asking clemency. A term in a prison could do no good. The man had repented his wrong-doing, and was striving to make restitution. "Justice would have been better served," Mr. Nesbitt concluded, "had this man never been arrested. This terrible ordeal is worse to him than prison, but I ask you, for the sake of his family, not to add to their punishment by sending him to prison. Let your judgment be suspended—say to him, 'Go, but see you that you behave. The arm of the law is long and strong, and, if you err again, can reach you; go back to your family and live an honest, upright life.' I appeal to Your Honor to do this—give him a chance."

The judge then announced that he would take time to consider the matter, and read the various depositions in the case, and will give judgment on Monday.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

A Clause Was Added to Insure the Peace of the World Faure Has the Pen.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The Gaulois publishes details of the signing of the treaty between France and Russia, which it declares to be a formal offensive and defensive agreement. The treaty, the paper says, was concluded in the Emperor's study in the Alexandra Palace at Peterhof on Wednesday last. President Faure, the Czar, M. Hanotaux, the French Foreign Minister, and Count Muravieff, the Russian Foreign Minister, were present. The instrument had been finished, but it was decided to add a clause which would unmistakably insure the peace of the world. President Faure wrote this clause at the Czar's dictation, and all then signed the document, after which the Czar presented the pen with which the signatures had been affixed to President Faure as a souvenir.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The wise doctor when he is called in to attend a pain-tortured woman, knows that she could avoid the agony that she endures by taking proper care of her womanly self. No woman can long retain her general health who neglects the health of the organs that constitute her womanhood. She may suffer only locally for a time. Eventually the nerves are ruined by the constant wear and tear of pain. They cease to impart the necessary nervous activity to the various organs of the body. A general and serious break down follows.

A wonderful medicine for weak, nervous women, who through local troubles are threatened with a general break-down is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs that are distinctly feminine. It restores them to vigor and health. It allays inflammation and soothes pain. It gives the tortured nerves a rest and permits them to resume their natural function of directing a healthy activity of all the organs. It prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood. It makes baby's advent easy and almost painless and insures the child's health. It is the best woman's medicine and more than 90,000 women have said so over their signatures. Druggists sell it.

"I cannot say too much for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss Clara Baird, of Bridgeport, Montgomery Co., Pa. "I feel it my duty to say to all women who may be suffering from any weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organs on that it is the best medicine on earth for them to use. I cannot praise it too highly for the good it did me. If any one doubts this give them my name and address."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, safe, speedy and permanent cure for constipation. They never gripe. One is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

HUNTING FROM ELEPHANTS.

Recently Tamed Beast That Would Stand Any Charge.

Mr. H. W. Seton-Karr in The Century tells of his experiences when "After Big Game In Africa and India." In the latter country he hunted as the guest of the maharajah of Kuch Behar. Mr. Karr says:

One of the first things the maharajah did after our arrival was to hand to each guest a slip of paper on which was written the name of the elephant allotted to him for shooting purposes, which bore on its back the structure known as a "howdah," to carry the shooter and his guns. As these elephants were necessarily large and the howdah is high, the oscillation was much greater than if one were seated upon a plain pad upon the elephant's back or on one of the smaller elephants, which have a smoother gait. We usually, therefore, went to the cover, or jungle, upon one of the "beating" or "pad" elephants, which afterward during the operations of the day were employed in a long line to force the rhinoceroses and other animals out of the dense thickets in which they live.

The howdah elephant which the maharajah allotted to me was Secunder. Three years previously it was an uncaptured wild elephant ranging at liberty the jungles of Bengal. It was a fine female, between 9 and 10 feet in height at the shoulder, with short but perfect "tushes" projecting a few inches beyond the upper lip. There are other elephants in the maharajah's stud which have been tamed more recently still. It was very gentle and obedient and perfectly fearless and therefore very valuable as a shooting elephant—as, for example, on several occasions during the following three weeks it stood without flinching the charge of wounded buffalo, tiger and rhinoceros, thus enabling me to take a steady shot. Almost all elephants show great fear of the Indian rhinoceros. There are few that will not turn tail when they scent their enemy and fewer still that will stand the crash and short snorts that precede the charge.

About breakfast time each morning the elephant told off for each guest was brought to the neighborhood of his tent and the howdah placed upon it, resting upon a saddle composed of two cushions of strong sacking about 6 feet by 3, which rested in turn upon a large cloth covering the whole of the elephant's back. The howdahs for shooting are lightly built of wood and cane work and contain two seats and racks to hold six guns or rifles, three on each side. All this is lashed on by ropes passing under the elephant's neck, belly and tail. The weight which an elephant is able to carry upon its back exceeds a ton. For short distances they have been known to carry as much as 3,000 pounds, but for long marches half a ton is considered the limit. Many of the maharajah's elephants had fine tusks, but most tusks are cut at regular intervals to prevent them from injuring one another. One or two of the fighting elephants, however, had pointed tusks.

Paris Red Tape.

The Gaulois relates a little incident which seems to imply a good deal of red tape in at least one department of Paris municipal affairs. A few days ago a retired policeman appeared at the bureau of his district to collect his pension, which was two quarters in arrears. He handed to the commissioner as proof of the correctness of his demand a "certificat de vie," or paper setting forth that he was living and was the proper applicant for the pension in his name. This certificate was duly examined, and the policeman received a check for the amount of the last quarter.

"But—excuse me," he objected politely, "there are two quarters coming to me."

"Yes," assented the commissioner, "but in order to give you the other I must have a second certificate."

"What," exclaimed the astonished pensioner, "another certificate! Why, the one you have says that I am alive now, on June 15. That ought to be enough to prove to you that I was equally alive during last January and February and March."

"I cannot argue the matter; it is the law," returned the commissioner.

And it was actually necessary for the policeman to procure a separate certificate affirming that he was in existence during the first quarter of the year 1897, a similar declaration for the second quarter being considered to have no possible bearing on the question.

Sport In Mediæval English Schools.

Probably the oldest English schools were the London schools described by Fitzstephen, who wrote in 1174. He gives interesting details of the lighter moments of school time. We hear of scholars who, on certain privileged occasions, attacked their schoolmasters "in epigrams or other compositions in numbers," using "all that low ribaldry we read of in the ancients," though one is glad to hear, "without mentioning names." In addition to these elegant exercises, they had the more robust sports of their time. On Shrove Tuesday each boy brought his fighting cock to school, and they had cockfights all the morning in the schoolroom, and after dinner played football in the fields of the suburbs. Every Sunday in Lent there was a sham fight, some of the boys being mounted, the rest on foot. At Easter they played at the water quintain, while on summer holidays they practiced at archery, leaping, wrestling and stone throwing and in winter slid, skated and went to bull baits and hog fights. No doubt the London schools had their severer side, and the life was not quite such a round of dissipation as it reads.—London Tablet.

France—the Teuton and the Celt.

Several reasons combine to make France the most interesting country of Europe from the anthropological point of view. More is known of it in detail than of any other part of the continent save Italy. Its surface presents the greatest diversity of climate, soil and fertility. Its population, consequently, is exposed to the most varied influences of environment. It alone among the countries of central Europe is neither cis nor trans alpine. It is open to invasion from all sides alike. Lying on the extreme west coast of Europe, it is a place of last resort for all the westward driven peoples of the old world. All these causes combine to render its population the most heterogeneous to be found on the continent. Nay, more, it still includes a goodly living representation of a prehistoric race which has disappeared almost everywhere else in Europe.—Professor W. Z. Ripley in Popular Science Monthly.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

Largest Brick Building.

"Very few know it, but it is a fact," explained a prominent builder to a reporter, "that the pension office building is the largest brick building in the world. It has been subjected to much criticism, but it can stand it, for as time passes along there are many things seen about it that escaped notice when it was newer. In all there are over 10,000,000 bricks in the building. General Meigs took liberties with bricks that no other architect had ever attempted. He not only used bricks exclusively for the building, but he used them in constructing the stairs throughout the building. In the matter of stair building bricks have often been used for the riser, but the step has always been of iron, wood, slate or stone. In the pension office both riser and step are of brick. As a brick building, therefore, pure and simple, it is unique in construction outside of the fact that it is the largest exclusively brick building in the world."—Washington Star.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—W. A. Ryan, one of the special correspondents of the Associated Press, now en route to the Klondike gold fields, writes from St. Michael's Island, Alaska, under date of Aug. 15, as follows:

"Nearly 300 impatient gold-seekers are fretting here in enforced idleness awaiting the arrival of Yukon steamers to transport them to the upper river, Dawson and the diggings at Klondike. Of this number 160 came on the steamer Portland and 113 on the steamer Excelsior.

"There were 20 persons here when the Excelsior arrived, who had come down the river from the diggings, 15 of whom were miners. They reported to have all the way from $100,000 to $400,000 among them. Few care to say exactly how much they have, but prefer to remain silent on that point, giving as their reason the fact that they have too little money compared to what those who went out earlier took away with them.

"C. B. and Z. B. Patrick, father and son, brought out $10,000. They took passage on a sailing vessel which left port two days after they arrived. F. Cobb of Boston is credited with $15,000 and C. E. Zelly with a like amount. Thomas Rowan of Sitka is $16,000 better off. W. W. Cakiwell of Denver has $20,000. Timothy C. Bell of Vancouver has $31,000 in Canadian money, the result of the sale of his holdings. M. S. Lansing, of Bozeman, Mont., has $10,000. The others refuse to say how much they have. Among the remaining members of the party is H. N. Gocher of Winnipeg, Man., who has won what is called in this region a "homestake," namely, the amount which he believes sufficient to take him home to remain. Very few intend to come back. The hardships they have endured make them dread the country in which they won their stakes."

SHUT OUT THE YANKEES.

It is the Same Old Game With Uncle Sam. "Boost the Canadians All You Can "

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 30.—The steamer King City has arrived from Dyea and Skaguay. The following letter was brought from the Associated Press correspondent at Skaguay, Alaska: The new deputy collector of customs at Skaguay and Dyea has imposed a duty of $30 a head on Canadian horses unloaded at his port from Canadian territory to be used in packing owners' outfits over the summit. Since the new British collector a few days ago announced that his Government would waive all duty on miners' clothes and outfits intended for personal use for the next six months, it is feared this action on the part of the United States collector will react on American miners. The duty was paid under protest. The collector also assumed the right to appraise goods at their value here. One man paid $540 for what cost him $300 at Victoria.

A SHORTAGE IN WHEAT.

Canada a Favored Country, Having Millions of Bushels to Sell—European Countries Will Have to Buy.

Budapest, Aug. 30.—The Ministry of Agriculture has issued its annual estimate, in which it describes the world's harvest as extraordinarily light. The total yield of wheat is placed at 573,700,000 metric hundred weight, while the present annual requirements are estimated at 655,150,000 metric hundred weight. It is calculated that for 1897 and 1898 there will be a shortage of 80,800,000 hundred weight. The stocks available on hand from last year's approximately estimated at somewhere between 38,000,000 and 40,000,000. The total supply for the year, reckoning both the present stocks and the harvest, is estimated at from 610,000,000 to 651,000,000 metric hundred weight.

The world's deficits are estimated as follows: Rye, 103,200,000 bushels; barley, 106,400,000; oats, 102,400,000, and corn 165,200,000. The report states that many exporting countries, such as European Turkey, Egypt, Australia and Austria-Hungary, will either be unable to export grain or will be compelled to import, while others, including British India, Argentina and Chili, will have their wheat export considerably reduced.

The favored countries are Canada and the United States, the former of which will soon be one of the most important of the exporting countries, its excess over last year's production being 7,000,000 bushels of wheat and 20,000,000 of oats. Its output of all sorts of grain was 270,000,000 of bushels.

The yield of wheat in Great Britain this season is fifty millions of bushels, against 63,000,000 bushels last year.

The wheat area of British India is reduced from 23,000,000 acres to 18,000,000 acres and the wheat yield from 254,000,000 bushels to 202,000,000 bushels. The United States, which has reduced its area sown in oats by 2,000,000 acres, that sown in corn by a million acres, while that in other grains remains nearly unchanged, will nevertheless dispose of 534,000,000 bushels of wheat, against 434,000,000 bushels last year, allowing the exportation of 180,000,000 bushels of wheat, while the exports of corn will possibly be 50,000,000 greater than those of last year. The prospects for oats and barley are less favorable than in 1896. The price of bread in Austria has already risen 30 per cent.

DOMINION BANK ROBBED.

A Clever Piece of Work by Burglars at Napanee The Branch There Broken Into and a Large Amount Taken.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—This town was in a state of commotion this morning over the news of the robbery of the Dominion Bank here. The bank was robbed on Friday night, but the news did not get out until this morning. The bank was opened Saturday morning as usual, and when the officials tried to open the safe they could not succeed, although every means was tried. Money was borrowed from the Merchants' Bank to do business. After failing completely, an expert from the safe works was telegraphed for, and, arriving in the evening, he commenced work, and succeeded in opening the vault about midnight, when the robbery was discovered.

The combination of the safe had been changed and a clean sweep made of the contents.

The hallway of the bank is built of tongued and grooved wood, four inches by an inch thick. The robbers gained an entrance from a shed at the back of the bank, boring through some three or four boards, and removing them. They then gained entrance to the hallway, and, removing a panel of the door, they gained the inside. There was no trouble apparently in getting into the vault and safe and taking the contents, $32,000. They then changed the combination, and after getting through the opening in the hallway, they closed the opening so neatly that it was not observed. As the robbery was not discovered until late Saturday night, the robbers have had 24 hours to make good their escape. An investigation is being held into the matter.

Ten thousand dollars of the bills were unsigned.

A detective is here from Toronto working on the case.

Mr. Gamble of Toronto, general manager of the Dominion Bank, stated yesterday that the outside estimate of the loss to the bank was $15,000. The thief, or thieves, got through the combination without breaking into or blowing open the vault. A broken door at the back of the building, through which entrance was obtained to the bank, was the only evidence of the work of cracksmen. There were two combinations, and none of the four employes knew both. The vault was locked up as usual on Friday night. "The whole affair," said he, "is a mystery to me."

KLONDIKE.

Chicago Inter Ocean.
(Longfellow up-to-date.)

The shades of night were falling fast
As through his native village passed
A man with saddened eye, and dim,
With this sign fastened on him:
"Klondike."

His eye, like phosphorescent spark,
Glowed like a cat's eye in the dark;
His cheek aflame with inward fire,
As murmured he his one desire:
"Klondike."

All fleeced and woolly was his coat,
From off a sheep or billygoat;
A coonskin cap was on his head—
He hurried on and only said:
"Klondike."

A spade to dig the golden sand
He carried in his strong right hand:
His left a ten quart pail did hold,
In which to bring his dust of gold
From Klondike.

Beside him trotted as he went
A humble dog, with sorrow bent;
Forseeing fate from selfish man,
In omens of the frying pan,
In Klondike.

"The Chilkoot Pass," the old man said,
"Is over yonder—up ahead."
The solemn miner, somewhat vexed,
Said: "Let 'er pass; I make it next,
For Klondyke."

"Oh, stay," the maiden said, "and rest
Thy weary head upon my breast."
"Go to," he said, "my love will trust
The fellow who brings back the dust
From Klondyke."

"Beware the price of garden truck;
Beware the nimble, gay Canuck!
This was the farmer's last good night;
"And take the first road to the right
For Klondyke."

A man was found to neck in snow
And hauled out by an Esquimaux,
All solid, stiff and dead,
His idea frozen in his head—
Klondyke.

On Yukon's bank at break of day,
Lifeless, but well preserved, he lay,
While o'er his head in solid ice
They carved this simple, plain device—
"Klondyke."

ABOUT ADVERTISING.

Advertising may be done in a thousand ways. Any method which tells anybody about anything is advertising. Advertising may be done by word of mouth or by word of type. Advertising is anything which conveys a message about a business or product.

If a man opens his store and tells his friends about it, he is advertising the store.

If he prints his announcements on cards and hands them to passers by he is advertising the store.

If he puts a sign above his door or goods into his window he is advertising the store.

If he makes a hundred duplicates of this sign and nails them on fences or dead walls where people can see them, he is advertising.

If he joins a church, or a club, or a secret society, his name and his business will become known, and he will still be advertising.

If he causes his sign or his card to be reproduced and printed in a newspaper, he is doing the same thing that he did when he tacked the sign on the fences, or handed the card to the passer-by. He is putting his sign into the house of every reader of that paper.

This hypothetical man is a retail dealer. He is in direct contact with the people to whom he seeks to convey the news of his enterprise. The principle is exactly the same with the marker or handler of goods that are to have a more than local sale.

Of all the ways of advertising, the best, most certain and the cheapest is that of using the columns of a good newspaper. Intelligent people with money to spend always read the papers.

BASEBALL RECORD.

TIMELY HITTING, PERFECT FIELDING

Springfield, Aug. 30.—McGann's timely two-bagger in the fifth won to-day's game for Toronto. It came with two out and two on bases and was followed by McHale's single, earning three runs, just when things were looking favorable for the home team. Fletcher Williams was ordered out of the grounds by Umpire Swartwood for continual kicking from the bench. Score:

Springfield	0 0 0 0 1 2 0 0 0— 3

At Providence—The batting of Bassett and Weigand had much to do with the victory of Providence over Buffalo. It was an exciting game, as the Buffalos gained a lead in the fourth which they held until the seventh. There was a lot of clever team work with the bat on both sides. Errors by Weigand and O'Brien in the fourth enabled Buffalo to get two runs, but otherwise Hodson had dashing support throughout the game. Score:

Buffalo .. .... 0 0 2 2 0 0 0 0 0—4	10	2

Batteries—Hodson and Dixon; German and Zahner.

At Scranton—The Miners had as many chances to win as did the Stars, but the latter played a faster game and better collectively, and won what was otherwise a very even game. Three of the Stars' hits were for five bases in the eighth inning, when two runs were earned. Score:

	R.	H.	E.

Batteries—Kissinger and Ryan; Johnson and Gunson.

At Wilkes-Barre—The Montreal team played with snap and vim. They batted hard and fielded sharply. Up to the eighth inning McFarland kept Wilkes-Barre's hits well scattered. In that inning, however, he was touched up pretty lively, and before the third man had retired seven runs had been scored. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Wilkes-Barre .. 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 7 0—	8	15	2

ONE RELIABLE UMPIRE.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—The Hamilton baseball team paralyzed the Londons here to-day. The visitors were like children in the hands of Stroud's sluggers. Only 32 went to bat against McGinnis in eight innings, and only three hits were made off his delivery. The Hams made eight hits off Johnson in two innings, and then Kershaw was substituted. The Londons refused to play with Patton as umpire, and Cal. Davis, President of the league, umpired. He gave satisfaction. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Hamilton .... .. 0 8 2 1 1 3 0 0 *—15	15	1

The Trimmings For the Dress.

Lace and ribbon trimming is one of the latest fads of fashion, and it is at once effective and economical. Japanese, India and Chinese silks were never cheaper, and they make the most charming tea gowns, trimmed with ribbon and lace. Women are never more attractive than when they are gowned in one of these dainty frocks. Such gowns are not very expensive, especially if the materials are purchased this month, when prices are so much reduced. Fifteen yards of 22-inch silk will suffice for a tea gown built with a Watteau back and full front. A dainty model is cut in a close princess, with a semi-train and the upper part of the front shirred at the neck and again at a point below the waist line. A bertha formed of six square tabs, wider over the shoulders, at the waist and loosely tied either at the left side or at the back, with long ends reaching almost to the foot of the skirt. But whatever else is variable, one thing is always certain, the sash must be of a different shade from that of the dress with which it is worn. A decided contrast, also, is considered the correct thing, a black or white dress being brightened with pink, blue, green or a red sash.

Stocks in Favor.

Stocks and little lawn turnover collars are universal wear this season with dressers—even silk ones. They are to be obtained ready made, but the most economical plan is to buy the collars only, and to tie your own bows; it is easily done—fold the ribbon to a comfortable and becoming width for a few inches along the center, place the center of the ribbon at the middle of the neck in front, pass it round, cross the ends at the back and bring to the front, and tie in a bow, or simply in two ends, with the ends pointed sharply.

Yorkville Fire Station.
Toronto, March 3rd, 1897.

Dear Sir,—Having used Dr. Chase's Pills for Costiveness, I am very pleased to say that I consider them superior to any pill I ever used, as they have perfectly cured me of this trouble. Thos. J. Wallace, Fireman.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

Does the Boy Need A Suit?

Come and Find a Suit for Him at

GOUGH BROS.

Fix him up for School while our Great Building Sale lasts. How we sell Boys' Fine Clothing at such prices and keep on buying and increasing our premises is a wonder to all but US.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect:

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last jot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself."

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come,
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS. will bring all your trade.

Boys' Boots and Shoes, Boys' Hats and Caps, Boys' Underwear, Boys' Hosiery, Boys' Collars, Boys' Handkerchiefs, Boys' Neckties, Boys' Braces, &c. Everything he'll want, from a Suit to a Shirt, strong and good.

ROYAL GRENS IN SECOND PLACE

An Artillery Man First in the Dominion of Canada Match—Annual Meeting of the Kickers—A Plea for Cheaper Ammunition Next Year—Entrance Fees at Bisley.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—The second day's work in the D.R.A. matches opened with the concluding ranges in the Dominion of Canada match, at the 500-yard range. Pte. Ross of the 13th made a possible, and Capt. Hutchison of the 43rd and Pte. McKindle of the Sudbury Rifle Company, made 34 each, oddly enough, the last shot of each making an inner. The weather was fine.

The most luxurious of marquees is that of the Q.O.R., tastefully arranged with two tents, a sitting room and a parlor, with Caterer Bird of the Military Institute, Toronto, looking after the wants of the inner man.

The Nova Scotia contingent flies before its tent a pre-Confederation flag. It is white, with a royal blue St. Andrew's cross, with a lion rampant on a golden field.

Team prizes in Minister of Militia match, open to teams of five men of any rifle association in Canada—

Cup, badges and $35: 13th Battalion, Hamilton, 297; $30, H Co., Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, 289; $25, Hespeler Rifle Association, 286; $20, 57th Peterboro' Rangers, 283; $15, 78th Battalion, Nova Scotia, 283; $12, 10th Royal Grenadiers, 282, $10, Victoria Rifle Association of Hamilton, 281.

At the competitors' meeting in the Drill Hall to-night there was a large attendance. Lieut.-Col. Tilton presided. A resolution was passed asking the Government to endeavor to reduce the price of ammunition next year, owing to the increased cost which it would entail for practising with the new Lee-Enfield rifle. A long discussion followed in regard to the deduction of the entry fees at Bisley from the prize money which the team won. In the past the association paid the entrance fees. The evident desire of those who were at Bisley this year and had the entrance fees deducted was that the old practice should be continued.

While Lieut.-Col. Tilton said that he would lay the matter fully before the Executive, he did not think this could be carried out without effecting economy in some other direction, owing to the financial condition of the association.

OPENING OF TORONTO FAIR.

Lady Kirkpatrick Pressed the Button Which Started the Machinery—A Large Crowd.

Toronto, Sept. 1.

Canada's great Victorian Era Exposition and Industrial Fair was opened yesterday afternoon by Lady Kirkpatrick. The weather was delightful and the crowd the largest that ever attended on an opening day since the Exhibition was instituted. The grounds are in splendid condition this year, and exhibitors have spared no expense to make their displays attractive and interesting, in fact, everything points to the greatest possible success for the big Fair this year.

Lieutenant-Governor Sir George A. Kirkpatrick and Lady Kirkpatrick arrived at the grounds at 2.30, and were escorted to the small platform immediately in front of the big grand stand. Their appearance was a signal for loud applause from the thousands in the stand and on the lawn. In the official party were President Withrow, Hon. A. S. Hardy and Mrs. Hardy, Mayor Shaw, Hon. G. W. Allan, the directors and members of the City Council.

President Withrow read a most complimentary address to Lady Kirkpatrick, who opened the fair, and her ladyship handed a well-worded reply in writing to Hon. A. S. Hardy, the Ontario Premier, who read it.

THE SAUSAGE MAKER'S TRIAL.

Luetgert Had a Talk With Mrs. Tosch and Vowed He Was Innocent—Watchman Wahl's Evidence.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—When the Luetgert murder trial was resumed this morning the defence asked the court to compel the State to set forth by what means, according to the theory of the prosecution, the life of Mrs. Luetgert was taken before her body was placed in the vat. Judge Tuthill promptly decided that the State was not bound to specify the means of death.

The first witness was Charles P. Mehnneo, a photographer, who identified a dozen views of the Luetgert factory. These were pictures of the building and surroundings, and flash light photographs of the basement and the fatal vat.

Mrs. Agatha Tosch, wife of Michael Tosch, saloonkeeper, was next called. She was a friend of Mrs. Luetgert and visited the latter. Mrs. Tosch said that on Sunday afternoon, May 2, Luetgert came to her husband's saloon and brought a glass of beer. He was pale and excited, and she asked him what was the matter with him, a question which he did not answer. May 15 she saw him again, and asked him about the disappearance of his wife. He said that he did not know where she was, and was as innocent as the sun in the sky. She told him she believed he was guilty, and Luetgert replied that he felt like taking a revolver and killing himself. He would do so, he said, but for the children. Mrs. Tosch said Luetgert asked her what she knew or got from the detectives who were around her saloon and what she had told or would tell.

Mrs. Tosch was objected to, a severe cross-examination, but it was decided she could testify if she did not know Luetgert was out of his mind when he spoke to her and sick with threat of trouble. Judge Vincent asked her if she did not say to Luetgert on May 15 that in his talk he was not as well as she (Mrs. Tosch) supposed, he would let her go and not worry about her.

She declared she did not make this statement. She was then asked if she did not suggest to Luetgert that he could come to her house with the two children to live, and she would be a mother to the children.

Her answer was an emphatic no.

Frank Balk, the old watchman, who was employed at the sausage factory, was the next witness. Balk told about the arrival at the factory, in March last, of several barrels which were stored on one of the upper floors and shortly before May 1 removed to the basement. These are the barrels which, it is alleged, contained caustic potash, and the witness said the stuff was emptied in the middle vat in the basement shortly before May 1 and dissolved in the steam.

MARY WILLIAMS' DEATH

Jury Says It Was Accidental and That No Blame Attaches to the Motorman.

Toronto, Sept. 1.

The inquest as to the death of Mary Williams, who was killed by a Bolt Line car on Monday evening on Bloor and Jarvis streets, was held last night at No. 5 Police Station, Yonge street, before Coroner Spencer and a jury.

The witnesses examined were Francis B. Whitmore, 135 Bloor street east; Miss Frances E. Hewitson, who was on the front seat of the car; Herbert France, the motorman; William H. Whitmore, Arthur Goddard, the conductor of the car, and Dr. Scadding, who examined the body of the deceased.

The counsel present were Mr. Raney, for the Crown, and Mr. James Bicknell on behalf of the street railway company.

In his evidence Dr. Scadding testified that he found only one wound, about an inch and a half in length, above the back of the ear, and he had no doubt that death was caused by that wound.

The other witnesses all testified as to the deceased riding up Jarvis street and turning west on Bloor, taking the south track, and seeing other bicyclists riding in the opposite direction, on the same track, endeavored to ride to the north side in front of the car, but, mistaking the distance, was struck. All the evidence went to show that the car was running at a very moderate rate of speed.

The jury were only a few minutes in arriving at a decision bringing in a verdict of accidental death, no blame being attached to the motorman.

THIS, TOO, MAY PROVE FATAL.

Donald McLeod, Telegraph Operator, Struck by a Trolley and Still Unconscious.

Following close upon Monday night's fatal trolley accident came another yesterday morning, which is likely to prove fatal.

Donald McLeod, a telegraph operator residing at 14 Brownell street, was riding on the devil strip on Queen street west when a trolley car going east overtook him. McLeod wobbled, when the car struck him, and he and the bicycle became tangled up and he was dragged fully 50 yards before the car was stopped.

When picked up McLeod was unconscious and the ambulance removed the injured man to his home.

Dr. Lehmann of Spadina avenue was called in and he found McLeod had received a concussion of the brain.

When seen late last night Dr. Lehmann said that McLeod was still unconscious and was suffering from scalp wounds and concussion of the brain; he had also a badly bruised foot. The Doctor stated that he was likely to die, but would live till morning.

Elephants in a Pitch-in.

Malone, N.Y., Aug. 31.—Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' circus was wrecked near Ellenburg just after leaving Moore's Junction, to-day. Several cars loaded with wagons and other paraphernalia were badly wrecked. The cars loaded with elephants were overturned and smashed in at one end. The cars were smashed open to allow the animals to get out. They were then herded in a near-by pasture, and are still there.

Russia to Stop Siberian Exile System.

London, Aug. 31.—The Chronicle asserts on the authority of the Russian Minister of the Interior, that the Czar has decided to partly abolish the Siberian exile system, and to erect large central prisons in Russia proper. The change will go into operation a year hence.

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—The Sultan is following the events in India with the closest attention. He has ordered Turkish representatives in different countries to telegraph full reports of anything bearing on the situation without delay.

A Weakness Confessed.

"I do my best not to be envious," said the nervous man, "but sometimes I can't help it."

"Why, you never manifest such covetousness."

"No, I don't covet. But whenever the Queen's Birthday comes around I can't see a deaf and dumb man without being jealous."

This Year's Tucked Collars.

Tucked linen collars are an accessory that are coming rapidly to the front; they are cut like a nun's collar, square across the front as at the back, apparently without opening, though they should fasten at the left shoulder. They are tucked finely and edged with knife plaitings of lace or net or silk ribbons.

WHEN WILL LAURIER REST?

The Montreal Witness very pertinently asks, will the great premier ever have any rest? It is not in humanity to hold out forever. There was, owing to the prolonged demise of the last parliament, more than a year of tremendous campaigning added to parliamentary duty prior to the twenty-third of June, 1896. Then there was Cabinet-making; then the school settlement; then a session; then tariff-making; then a session, and before that session was over departure for Britain; then speeches and pageants daily; not pleasant little talks to dinner audiences, but words which from the day of landing at Liverpool arrested and enchained the attention of the world; not attendance in processions and at regattas as one additional figure, but next to the Queen-Empress the most watched of all. Then a return to exhausting ovations in which every gesture is under the glare of the world's searchlight, and every word is protentious with the destinies of a nascent nation. Then there are important political matters which have been awaiting his return for settlement. Fortunately, Sir Wilfrid comes home so strong that he can control and set right anything that may have gone wrong. But when will the great premier have any rest?

CANADA SHARES THE HONOUR.

The Montreal Star, which devotes three pages of its issue of Tuesday to a description of the magnificent welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Montreal, editorially remarks:—"The reception which this first city of the Dominion accorded the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier last night was a fitting appreciation of the magnificent successes he scored abroad. He had the good fortune to make his entree on the Imperial stage amidst the exaltation of spirit that naturally came with the Jubilee; and, whatever the tariff of last session may eventually prove to be when all its disguising wrappings have been cut away, it has certainly served the Premier during his visit to Britain as a great and spectacular gift from Canadian loyalty to the vital trade of the Motherland. As the Premier of the first colony of the Empire coming home to join the celebration of the "record reign" of the Queen, who has won the love of three generations of Britons, Sir Wilfrid was sure enough of warm welcome, but when he came a man of French origin and French speech, loyal to the British monarch, and with the banner of the new policy of Imperial unity in his hand, that welcome became an ovation.

In all this honour to her representative, Canada shares. Cheers for Laurier were cheers, too, for the Dominion, and it is no wonder that we join, irrespective of party, to royally welcome the Canadian, who has gathered for himself and for us, so great a sheaf of good-will from the assembled British world. Then this loyal "Canadian of French origin" went to France, as was natural, and returned a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour. Successes of this kind must win a new recognition for Canada in Europe, and the recognition of Europe is an introduction to the world of action.

A SENSIBLE CRITICISM.

The Journal of Commerce of New York, an American Journal honestly devoted to advancing American interests, deals the following stinging rebuke to the recently adopted American trade policy,—

"Our attitude to Canada would be unwise were it nothing more than an application to the Dominion of the general theory of restricting importations. But it is more than that. The politicians who are now carrying on national affairs desire to injure our trade with Canada as compared with other countries. We are willing to make reciprocal trade concessions with all other American countries, but not with Canada, and yet in spite of trade obstructions Canada is as good a customer as all the rest of the American continent. We are willing to enter into reciprocal trade relations with the countries of continental Europe, but not with England, by far our best customer, or with Canada, our best customer on this continent. We are trying to injure the nations that buy hundreds of millions of us, and are soliciting trade favours from the people who buy hundreds of thousands of us. We have undertaken to proscribe our own commerce if it touches the soil of Canada, and some of our citizens are cackling with delight over the belief that they have struck a heavy blow at the shipping trade of a country whose purchases of our foodstuffs and cotton are absolutely necessary to give our farmers even a reasonable degree of prosperity. With the perfectly obvious fact that the cost of transportation is the only protection the English farmer has, and that the lower it is the less there is deducted from the American farmer's receipts, we have undertaken to make the transport of freight across the Atlantic cost more than it does now. We have struck at the trade of every country, we have turned back the hands upon the clock of our own maritime progress, our politicians are groping around in attics and cellars for weapons of commercial warfare that were discarded a century ago, and we are doing this at a time when our manufacturing plants far exceed the requirements of the home market and exports of manufactures are expanding in the most gratifying manner, and when our farmers, barring an exceptional year like the present, have more to fear from foreign competition than ever before."

But probably nothing but bitter experience will convince our American cousins of the fatuous and foolish character of the trade policy specifically intended, as portions of it are, to the injury of Canadian interests. Canadians, however, can regard it with equanimity. A boomerang will it prove in the hands of the politicians who mistake spleen for statesmanship. We can stand it if they can.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER evidently places little comparative value upon the decorations he received in Europe. Forgetful of himself he places infinitely higher value upon the good he has been able to do for Canada. In his reply to the Montreal address presented at his reception in that city, he said: "I bring back for Canada more than these decorations. I bring her a measure of commercial freedom greater than she has ever enjoyed. Now indeed we are a nation."

THE Montreal Star, in the course of an article dealing with "Mr. Whitney's Tour," has the following to say:

The issues of a Provincial campaign necessarily centre almost wholly about questions of administration. There is no tariff, no important railway policy, no problem of national destiny, upon which the parties can divide. It is mainly a question of whether or not the public monies have been spent honestly, whether the public domain is wisely administered, whether (in Ontario) the schools are properly run, and matters of that kind. This is not very good material out of which to make a spectacular picnic speech; and Mr. Whitney will not find it a too easy task to interest the average audience in the questions when a probable session still intervenes between his tour and the actual campaign. Still it is good tactics to let the directorate get acquainted with him—tactics that Premier Hardy can not afford to leave wholly to his opponent.

The question of "whether the public moneys have been wisely expended" is exactly the grounds upon which the Ontario Government invite discussion, very well knowing that their administrative record is too good to fear fair and honest criticism, however hostile. But the trouble will be to bring Mr. Whitney and friends to such a position as to keep them there. In the past the Ontario Government has met with almost every possible style of pointless and impertinent opposition, except that of their administrative record. Side issues have been lugged in and the passions and prejudice of the people of both religious classes in which the province is divided have been played upon and the charges rung from one side to the other as party advantage for the time suggested. As the Star suggests Mr. Whitney, at the best, would find it difficult to make an attack on the Hardy Government's record interesting to his hearers. The difficulty is increased by the fact that the record of the Ontario Government is practically incapable of being turned to the advantage of the Opposition. The people are not easily hoodwinked and know that the Ontario Government, by virtue of a long experience with successful administration, are better qualified for governing the country than an Opposition which, in the past, has been contented to sail by means of a side wind. The people demand the positive in politics and are quite content with a government that has shown its capacity for governing, and will be slow to adopt a "change" merely for the sake of a change.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

RELIEF AT BOMBAY

Because the Tribesmen at Kohat are Dispersed.

DISQUIETING NEWS FROM QUETTA

A Military Paper Says the Empire is Wrapped in Red Tape, and Indicates That Col. Warburton's Services should Have Been Accepted—Cable News.

Bombay, Aug. 31.—Great relief is felt in official circles here at the news that the tribesmen who yesterday blockaded the Kohat Pass have been dispersed. Col. Gordon's column of troops proceeded toward Kohat from Peshawur this morning. Despatches received from Peshawur to-day say that all is quiet there, though occasional shots are exchanged between the advance posts and the insurgents.

A cavalry reconnaissance was made at daybreak to day in force as far as the entrance of the Khyber Pass, without the discovery of any of the enemy. The notorious Mullah of Haddah, who has been at the bottom of a great deal of the present trouble, is reported to have refused to send assistance to the Afridis who begged him for aid.

The Mullah announces his intention of immediately attacking the Khan of Dir, on account of the latter's friendship for the British. The Khan's troops are all watching the frontier.

The Mullah has been joined by large numbers of tribesmen from Afghan territory.

Disquieting news has been received from Quetta, the British military post in Baluchistan. The tribesmen have assembled on the hills about the Mach-Mushkai Bolan Railroad in such numbers that the authorities have telegraphed to the Governor-General, the Earl of Elgin, asking for reinforcements of artillery and for a heavy force of infantry.

Other signs of coming trouble in this region are found in the flight into the territory of the Ameer of Afghanistan of two important chiefs, the heads of the Bungalzai and Shiri tribes. In addition, large bodies of the population of the Pishin villages, with their families, are crossing the border.

Two artillery Lascars and four coolies who were working upon a redoubt near the Harrar Railroad, eight miles from Quetta, have been killed by Ghazis. The native levies in that district are generally considered unreliable.

The Civil and Military Gazette, a paper of high standing, says: "The Empire is wrapped up in red tape. Col. Warburton, whose influence in the Khyber is a greater guarantee of peace than a garrison, offered his services when the outbreak occurred and was refused because he had passed the age for active service.

"The mobilization scheme broke down and the frontier force was stuck for want of transport. Orders to purchase animals are just being issued.

"We know as a fact that the Mohmands in the Shabakar fight were nearly all armed with Lee-Metford and Martini rifles, and that the Haddah Mullah paid them each fighter receiving eight annas in cash daily.

"It is rumored that a day was fixed for the tribes to attack simultaneously."

Heavy Fighting Expected.

Peshawur, Aug. 31.—Jamwaschau, one of the most influential Khans of the Afridis, has joined the tribes in the Khyber Pass. His house here has been seized by the authorities.

The Ublan Pass, through which the Peshawur column is trying to reach Kohat, is reported to be strongly held by the Bazotis. Heavy fighting is expected.

There have been many sunstrokes among the members of the different British columns operating against the enemy.

Short Range Rifles Only.

London, Aug. 31.—The Government has resorted to a peculiar measure in relation to the uprising of the natives in India. The Birmingham gun manufacturers and dealers were notified today that no guns sighted at a greater range than 300 yards would be admitted into India, pending the duration of the rebellion on the frontier.

Gen. Low Counsels Patience.

London, Sept. 1.—General Low has written a letter to The Standard, requesting the public to have patience and confidence in the military authorities in India. He says that it is useless to [illegible] as the troops are properly equipped. He thinks will be [illegible] and he is of the opinion that [illegible] will collapse at the approach of the British arms. He says that it will be some time before the necessary troops could be brought to the scene of the trouble.

BACK FROM RUSSIA.

Faure and Ministers Landed at Dunkirk Yesterday Morning.

Dunkirk, Aug. 31.—President Faure and M. Hanotaux, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, landed at this port from the French cruiser Pothuau on their return from Russia. They were met by the governor, M. Melin, the Mayor, the Minister of War, General Billot, and the Minister of Marine, Admiral Besnard.

M. Melin, in tendering the President the congratulations of the City, was warmly applauded, and the immense crowd in front of the station cheered the Chief Magistrate of France.

After the President attended the banquet given in his honor, and, replying to a toast, said:

"By loyalty, wisdom and political instinct, our democracy has restored France to her rightful place among nations, has reaped the affections of another people and has founded on the natural acts of peace, the intimate union of the two great nations which constitutes one of the greatest events of the end of the present century.

"I drink to the prosperity of Dunkirk and to the greatness of the Fatherland."

The President's remarks were greeted with frantic applause and the bands in attendance played the Marseillaise and the Russian Hymn.

The President and his party started for Paris at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE SCENES IN PARIS.

Great Animation in the Streets Patriotic Joy of Frenchmen.

Paris, Aug. 31.—President Faure arrived at the Northern Railroad Station from Dunkirk at 6 o'clock this evening. He was received there by the President of the Chamber of Deputies, M. Brisson, President of the Senate Loubet, the Ministers in behalf of the Paris garrison, and his staff and the municipal councilors. After listening to short speeches of welcome the President entered a brake and proceeded to the Elysee Palace by way of the Rue Lafayette, the Opera, the Madeleine, and the Place de la Concorde. Enormous crowds lined the route and the President was warmly acclaimed. All the balconies were filled with spectators and the waving of handkerchiefs and flags was to be seen on all sides.

Ten minutes after the President had passed the Madeleine a bomb was exploded beside the railings around that church. Two arrests followed immediately and the radial enclosure was closed by the police, who began an active investigation into the outrage.

Nobody was injured by the explosion, but the affair caused the greatest excitement. All the persons inside the railings of the Madeleine were minutely examined by the police before they were allowed to leave.

The fragments of the bomb found by the police resembled those found in the Bois de Boulogne on June 13 last and on the Place de la Concorde on June 29 last. It consisted of an iron tube, filled with an explosive and loaded with nails.

The Place de Opera, which was richly decorated, was especially thronged with people. On it a large platform was erected, and upon this platform were assembled the members of the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Paris, which had arranged the decorations, and which had been commissioned to welcome the President back from Russia.

The President, who was accompanied by the Premier, M. Meline, and Generals Hanton and Fredericks, left his carriage on reaching this platform and ascended the steps leading to it. There the chairman of the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry read the address to the President, as follows:

"All Frenchmen feel the same patriotic joy at the homage rendered you in Russia and at the solemn consecration of the alliance made for the maintenance of peace. The Chamber of Commerce and Industry is deeply grateful for this, and we rejoice especially because all our fellow-citizens will partake in the prosperity which we are entitled to anticipate from it. Peace is our dearest wish, and in accomplishing this beneficent work you will receive your reward."

The President then re-entered his carriage and drove toward the Elysee Palace. The route was lined with soldiers and the President was escorted by detachments of cuirassiers and mounted Republican Guards.

The shouts chiefly heard as the President was driven to the Elysee were "Vive l'Alliance!" "Vive la France!" and "Vive la Russie!"

The grand stand in the place de l'Opera was surrounded by a ring of triumphal arches raised over the entrances of all of the streets converging there, thus reproducing the effect of decoration of the boulevards during the visit of the Czar to Paris.

The streets to-night were brilliantly illuminated, dense masses of people thronging the principal boulevards.

President Faure gave a banquet to all the ministers at the Elysee. Telegrams were received from the principal towns announcing that fetes were in full swing in various portions of the republic. Cries of "Vive la France!" "Vive la Russie!" and "Vive l'Alliance!" were heard everywhere.

Such a spectacle of popular enthusiasm as has taken place to-day has rarely been witnessed. The people seemed entirely to lose self-control. Many accidents occurred during the crush. The ambulance corps was kept fully occupied. The shrieks of the women in the crowd were sometimes painful to hear.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Seats for "The Brownies."

C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger's big production, "Palmer Cox's Brownies," is such a remarkable one that in the smaller cities the theatres are not large enough as a rule to accommodate the people who have heard of its wonderful scenic effects, splendid ballets and unique specialties. The advance sale for the great attraction is now open, and it is is advised that all who intend seeing "The Brownies" had better secure their seats well in advance, in order to avoid any disappointments. The big show has turned away more people, who have been unable to gain admittance than any other theatrical attraction in the country, and the record of the enormous business it has done is known to every one connected with the articals.

Last Night's Play.

"The Octoroon" or "Life in Louisiana" was well put on the boards in the Opera House last evening by the Burtch Comedy Company. There was a good house and all were delighted with the play. James Durkin, as Wahonette, the Indian, carried out the role in an exceedingly clever manner. Messrs. Al. Denier, Wm. Simmins and Geo. Burtch also deserve special notice. Miss Helen Minkley as Zoe did exceedingly well, as did also Miss Jennie Woodworth as Mrs. Peyton. In the fifth act there was a most wonderfully realistic bowie knife duel. Mr. Wm. Sherman, pianist to the Company, gave short entertainment between the fourth and fifth acts, by showing in how many ways the piano may be played. Mr. Sherman can play one in twenty five different ways, by means of brooms, chairs, hats, lead pencils, etc. Last evening he played with a lead pencil, his eyes being blindfolded.

THE FIRST GAME OF THE SEMI-FINALS.

PETERBOROUGH WINS AGAINST ORILLIA BY SEVEN GOALS TO FOUR.

The Local Team Goes to Orillia on Monday Next With Three Goals to the Good—To Win Orillia Will Have to Score Four More Goals than Peterborough in the Return Match.

The first of the semi-final games in the C. L. A. championship series was played off on the P. A. A. A. grounds yesterday when Peterborough won from Orillia by the score of seven goals to four.

The match was started at two o'clock in order that the visiting players could leave for home by the 5.30 p. m. train and on account of the earliness of the hour the attendance at the start was meagre, although it swelled to more respectable proportions before the close of game.

Both teams seemed somewhat off colour but the occasional streaks of good play relieved the game of monotony. At times the combination work was excellent but again it would be so ragged as to make the spectators wonder if the same two teams were playing as were matched last month and put up so pretty a game. For the Peterboroughs the only man who played up to his usual form throughout the game was Jack Mein, although none of the other players could be singled out as being

OUT OF SHAPE.

The fault seemed to lie in the fact that the home field did not spread enough when the ball came up the field and in consequence the defense of the visitors was never drawn out, but had a chance to get in close to their goals and block them. The Peterborough defense were altogether too easily drawn out. Brown and McCabe should have stayed in closer. This is the first time that Brown can be charged with being led out, as his fine block game in front of the flags is generally one of the features of the match. McCabe sometimes went so far out as centre field, and if the visitors had not been off colour themselves this fact would have resulted in their being able to tally a few more goals.

When the Peterboroughs go to Orillia, Glover should be placed back at first defence, as one of the strongest points in his playing is his trick of breaking up combination work by intercepting the ball. If he is played as far out in the field as he was yesterday, he can have no opportunity of doing this.

Dobbin played his usual good game yesterday, but as two of the goals which were scored were shot by Watson when there wasn't a man between him and the flags, our star goalkeeper cannot be blamed for not stopping them. It is doubtful if the Peterboroughs got in this manner.

For the first few games the combination work of both teams was fast, that of the Peterboroughs being exceptionably noticeable, and for the first half hour the game was all that could be desired. After this the players seemed to go off colour in turns at critical moments. In the last half hour the play again picked up and it looked as though the Peterboroughs were going to run up a big score. They assumed an advantage of four goals over the visitors, but a second before time was called Orillia scored a game by a fluke, which reduced Peterborough's lead by one.

When it is stated that the Peterboroughs went "off colour" at times during the game it must not by any means be understood that the game ever deteriorated sufficiently to lose its interest for the spectators, but the inference which the term is intended to convey is that the fine combination for which the Peterboroughs are noted did not seem to work with its accustomed precision.

As a referee President Craig, of the C. L. A., gave unbounded satisfaction, but he had little occasion to exercise his authority.

Thompson Beatty, of Fergus, makes a clear headed umpire and would make a good referee for any game. Pete McMillan, of Beaverton, although he means well is not the man for such a position. The Peterboroughs lost a game through him yesterday. He is too nervous.

THE TEAMS.

The teams lined up as follows:

Orillia.		Peterborough.
Hanley	goal	Dobbin
Went	point	Brown
Quinn	cover point	Jim McCabe
O'Connor	1st defence	Borland
Thompson	2nd defence	Mein
E Dunn	3rd defence	Glover
Blaine	centre	Galley
Curran	1st home	Rubidge
W Dunn	2nd home	Phelan
McPherson	3rd home	King
Frost	outside home	Jack McCabe
Watson	inside home	Lipsett
Henderson	field captain	McDonough

umpires

P McMillan, Beaverton.....T Beatty, of Fergus
Referee—J J Craig, President C L A.

Peterborough took the ball from the face off and the play was all in Orillia territory, Galley doing some especially fine work at centre in feeding the home. Jack McCabe made a good shot but it bounded too high and went over the flags. A fine piece of combination work was then seen around the Orillia flags, and Galley running in had the ball passed to him by Lipsett, and scored first blood for the Peterboroughs in four minutes.

Peterborough's clean combination work in the relief of the goal, was particularly noticeable in the next game, the old trick of a defence man throwing the ball as far down the field as possible, having become obsolete. Dobbin made a great stop in this game, and then the bombardment began again on the Orillia flags. After some nice combination work between Galley, McCabe and Lipsett, the latter scored in 8 minutes. Score, 2—0.

Orillia woke up in the next game, and made things hot for the local men from the face off. They shot wild, however, when they had openings, and the defence was finally able to relieve. Again and again the visitors brought the ball in, only to have it by the Peterborough defence. When the local home field got hold of the sphere Phelan made a couple of close shots. Then Orillia again went at it harder than ever. Dobbin made a fine stop of one of Mary Ann Curran's sizzling hot ones, but the visitors were finally able to work a goal through, as the Peterboroughs began to play a trifle loose. Time 25 minutes. Score, 3—1.

PASSED OUT TO THE FIELD AGAIN

The next game was more even, but the Peterborough home field was too fast for the visitors' defense and in three minutes more Jack McCabe passed to Lipsett, who passed to King, the latter scoring.—Score, 3—1.

The Peterboroughs again started off with a rush, but by this time the Orillia defense had seen their mistake in allowing themselves to be drawn out and blocked the goals. At one time there were actually eight Orillia players on the defense. Rubidge made two very close shots after which the visitors relieved their goal and gave their home field a chance to do some work. The Peterborough defense was drawn out and without a man between him and the flags,

WATSON TALLIED

for the Orillias. Time, 4 minutes. Score, 3—2.

Honours were evenly divided in the next game and first one side and then the other was placed alternately on the defensive. From a scrimage in front of the goal King scored in five minutes. Score 4—2.

From the face off the next game was very exciting, the play being around the Orillia goal at the start. Up and down the battle raged and it was hard to tell which way the game would go. In eleven minutes Curran did the necessary for Orillia and made the score 4—3.

As the score was so even the visitors pulled themselves together to try catch the Peterboroughs, and some tricky work was resorted to in order to do it, Quinn, of the Orillia defence slashing at the feet of the Peterborough players when they passed him with the ball. He was called down for this, however. In scuffling for the ball Lipsett put Went into the fence with such force as to completely knock the wind out of that player, who declared his inability to go on. So Geordie and he went and sat down in the corner together.

King made a fine run in from the field with the ball and passed to Jack McCabe, but the ball struck the posts. Phalen got it, however, and shot it through. Time, 14 minutes. Score, 5—3.

The Peterboroughs now began to play in fine form. In three minutes more Jack McCabe passed in to Rubidge, who made the score 6—3.

The next game was fast and the play was all on Orillia territory, Peterborough trying hard to increase their advantage. Phalen passed in to Jack McCabe, who scored in seven minutes. Score, 7—3.

With an advantage of four goals Peterborough should now have blocked their goal, but in an effort to score again before time was called, they left the defence weak and Orillia tallied again just as the whistle blew. Score, 7—4 in favour of Peterborough.

The return game will be played in Orillia on Monday next (Labour Day) and a large number of ladies and gentlemen will accompany the local team on the trip, as it is a holiday, and a cheap rate on the railway is being arranged.

The winner of the semi-finals is the club which scores the most goals in the two games, so that the match in Orillia will be especially interesting.

President Craig thinks that the two teams are fairly well matched, and as Peterborough has an advantage of three goals, they ought to be able to win the championship of the two districts. They would then be pitted against the winners of the Madoc-Stouffville match, and if they win that, would play in the finals against the winning club in the west, which will be either Twin City, Wiarton or Orangeville.

Mr. Baxter at once telegraphed to have the remains forwarded to Peterborough, and at the same time requested the chief of police of that place to acquaint him with the particulars of the accident.

William Baxter is a son of the late James Baxter, formerly of Otonabee. His brothers are Frank, of Ashburnham; Robert, of Waterford street, Peterborough; and Isaac and George, of Otonabee. A MOONLIGHT TRIP.

A Pleasant Sail Down the River Last Night—Music and Dancing.

The members of the Hogan's Alley Camp held a most delightful moonlight trip down the river last evening, to which their friends were invited.

The City of Peterborough was chartered for the occasion, and at the locks a scow was attached for dancing. Miller's orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion.

The menu was in charge of Mr. Ed. Welsh, the Hunter street restaurateur, and was beyond criticism, being prepared in the manner which has made his catering so popular.

The boat anchored after sailing five or six miles down the river, and remained there for some time, arriving home shortly after midnight.

The affair passed off most successfully, and reflects no small credit on the management. It was voted the most successful affair of the kind held this season.

The committee was composed of Messrs. Bert Dolan, chairman; Lionel King, treasurer; R. Conroy, secretary; H. Stenson, R. Davidson, G. Reilley, C. Graham, R. Denne, P. Rubidge, W. Borland, H. Thompson and W. Laing.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

THE WHEEL.

The rivalry between the big clothing establishments of Gough Bros. and LeBrun & Co, is not confined merely to cutting their prices to the closest possible figures, but has extended even into the filed of athletics, and Jack McFadden, of Gough's, has been matched against Fred Logan, of LeBrun's, to ride a five mile race on the Nicholls Park track on Friday evening next.

The staffs of the two stores are quite worked up over the race and are backing their favourites heavily.

Last week when the two riders were training at the track they were indulging in a little fast work down the stretch, and were riding neck and neck, when the two wheels came together, throwing both riders very heavily. McFadden's wheel was totally ruined by the collision, and Jack was also badly shaken up.

Logan has very generously consented to postpone the race for a week in order to give his opponent time to recover from the mishap.

John S. Johnson has not yet recovered his old-time racing form. On Wednesday at the National Circuit meet at Charles River Park, he rode in competition for the first time since July 5, and failed to qualify in his heat. Is was in the mile open and the company he was in was very fast. Fred Hoyt, the two-mile champion of America, won the race, Gardiner second and Stevens third. Neither Bald, Kiser or Cooper were in the race.

Bald has now beaten Kiser nine times, and Kiser has beaten Bald eight times. Bald has beaten Cooper 21 times, and Cooper has beaten Bald 8 times. Bald has beaten Loughead 5 times and Loughead has beaten Bald 3 times. Kiser has beaten Cooper 12 times, and Cooper has beaten Kiser 4 times. Lougnead has beaten Kiser but once an l has been beaten by Kiser once. Lough ad has beaten Cooper nine times and has never been beaten by Cooper this season. Gardiner has beaten Bald seven times and been beaten by Bald 10 times. Gardiner has beaten Cooper seven times and been beaten by Cooper 13 times. He has defeated Kiser six times and been defeated by Kiser 13 times. Loughead has beaten Gardiner four times and been beaten by him but once.

A. G. Batchelder, New York State's clever handicapper, seems to have solved the problem of working speed into the heats of races or the finals without the employment of pacemakers. Handicapper Batchelder lines his men up on the tape and then places numbers in a hat. If the race be on a quarter-mile track four men must share the pacing and there are blanks for the rest. The man who draws No. 1 paces the first lap, No. 2 the second lap and so on. Heats of a half mile as low as 2.10 have been recorded, and even better time has been made without pacemakers.

SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS.

Celebration of the Foster—Peoples and Logan—Derry Nuptials Last Evening.

FOSTER—PEOPLES.

Last evening at St. Andrews's manse Rev. J. G. Potter, B. A., the pastor, performed the marriage ceremony between Mrs. Carrie Foster, nee Downer, and Mr. S. Peoples, of Concession street south, Ashburnham.

The bride was costumed in a navy blue gown, and was assisted by Miss Maude Dawson who wore pink and cream. Both carried large bouquets of roses.

The groomsman was Mr. W. Noyes.

At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony the party adjourned to the residence of the groom, where a wedding dejeuner was served and a reception afterwards held.

LOGAN—DERRY.

The wedding of Miss Minnie Logan, daughter of Mr. John Logan, Sherbrooke street, and Mr. Walter Derry, took place last evening at St. Paul's manse, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance. The bride was assisted by her sister Miss Mabel Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Derry have taken up their residence at No. 500 Aylmer street.

FROM PLEASURE TO BUSINESS.

The Summer Resorts Are Being Emptied and the Round of Pleasure Gives Way to the Call of Duty.

For the past two months the population of Peterborough has been about 2000 less than the normal number. Taking the residents of Stony Lake, Chemong, Jubilee, Idyl Wyld, not including those who went abroad to spend their vacation, the total number absent from town at one time was certainly 2 000 and throughout the season a large number more have been absent from town.

Now they are flocking back with renewed strength, improved health and new ardour for entering upon the duties of life.

The summer population of Stony Lake is now at a low ebb. The day before yesterday half a dozen cottages closed, including those of Mr. Felix Brownscombe, the Misses Barlee, Mrs. Hamilton and others and last night the arrivals from summer homes at the Lakes included the parties of Messrs. L. H. Best, D. H. Moore, Valentine Best, J. D. Collins, R. E. Wood, J. J. McBain, J. W. Butcher, E. S. Ploer, Toronto; Prof. Rose, Rochester; and J. R. Stratton, with whom Mr. Peter Hamilton has been for some days the guest, also returned.

The busy scenes that have been witnessed at the lakes are very largely a thing of the past, though the summer railway service will be continued to the middle of September, and the present steamer service will be continued in connection therewith, though, perhaps the frequency of the trips will be lessened, one of the two steamers taking the trip every alternate day, thus maintaining the daily single service.

LAST NIGHT'S RUNAWAY.

An Indian Pony Makes Quite a Dash Through Town.

Ed. Welsh tied his broncho trick pony to a post at the wharf last night, and in some way it broke the bridle and started off up the street. If let along the pony would have gone straight home, but the shouts of those who tried to stop it aroused the broncho spirit, and the pony made a wild dash up George street, and was never caught till it passed clear through the town, and got out in the country as far as Chamberlain's wood, where an Italian who had been chasing it on a bicycle, finally overhauled it. The pony was accompanied on the whole trip by Mr. Welsh's dog.

OUR RIFLEMEN AT OTTAWA.

Splendid Shooting by the Representatives of the Rangers—Fitzgerald Captures the Macdougall Cup and Blade Tops the Score, Minister of Militia Match.

Our Peterborough marksmen are doing splendid shooting at the Dominion Rifle Association meet at Ottawa, and are reflecting credit on the gallant 57th.

On the opening day, Monday, Private Geordie Fitzgerald evidently found the bullseye at the "first crack," for he put up a total of 47 out of a possible 50 in the Lady Macdougall challenge cup match, winning first prize, cup, badge and $25. Good shooting, by George! In the same match Private Blade pockets $5 and Private Pentland $4.

The boys got there also in the Minister of Militia match. Private Blade made the shooting of the meet, laying on 66 points and bagging the $25 prize. His score is pronounced as a phenomenal one and is two points higher than the winning score last year. In the match which is shot by affiliated Association teams, the team representing the 57th got blood four times, the other winners being Private Curtis $1, Private Pentland $4 and Capt Donaldson $4. In this match, though the Blade of the 57th gleamed in the forefront, the team stood fourth.

At both the Ontario and Dominion meets the representatives of Peterborough and the 57th did highly creditable work.

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

AUGUST WEATHER NOTES.

The past month had a large percentage of clear, bright days, with cloudless sky, but notwithstanding that, the average daily temperature of the month was almost 7 degrees lower than usual.

No excessive heat was experienced during the month, the highest being 94 degrees on the 2nd and 3rd. This is in marked contrast to August of last year. Some of the hottest days of last summer were in August, and on the 9th of that month 94 degrees was registered.

The lowest temperature was on the morning of the 23rd, namely, 43 degrees.

There was rain on 8 days to a depth of 2 inches and 94-100. More than half of this amount fell on the 10th, during a particularly severe thunderstorm, in which the electric fluid apparently ran riot. Though the rainfall was less than average, it was double the quantity of the same month last year.

The first white frost was noticed on the morning of the 13th, though the thermometer stood at the time at 11 above the freezing point.

AN UNFAMILIAR COUNTRY.

ABOUT NEWFOUNDLAND, ENGLAND'S FIRST AMERICAN LAND.

A Railway Now Makes the Country Easy to Explore What the Natives Do—Characteristics of St. John's, the Colonial Capital.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. John's, Nfld.—The truth about Newfoundland will appear like a dream. Impressions about this island have been changing of late years. Nowadays an occasional tourist or hunter finds his way to this paradise of beautiful scenery and noble game, and is charmed with the picturesque views of bay and mountains. Game is so plentiful that in the migrating season deer shooting almost ceases to be a sport.

A trip to Newfoundland does not present the same formidable features that it did until recently, when all the vast

ENTRANCE TO ST. JOHN'S HARBOR, NEWFOUNDLAND.

The channel is only about 1500 feet across. It leads to a basin that can care for any ship. In the last century it was fortified, but the batteries visible on the left are no longer in use.

inland forests were devoid of track or trace of human being. The plucky islanders have constructed a railroad through the heart of the country. It runs from the capital, St. John's, on the eastern coast, to Port au Basque, on the western coast, a distance of 550 miles. Port au Basque is only ninety miles from Sidney, on Cape Breton Island, the terminus of the Intercolonial Railway. This railway will probably prove a boon to bad sailors on a European tour. A line of steamers will soon be completed to run between Sidney and Port au Basque. At the end of the Newfoundland railroad, St. John's, a steamer can be taken, and the voyage to Liverpool accomplished in three days, or a little more. This is by the way. For a hunting or a vacation trip the best route is by rail to Montreal, and from there by steamer to St. John's.

Thus far it is an almost unexplored country. There are no crowds of tourists. The forests are primeval, the lakes and streams innocent of an artificial fly. The first sight of the rock ramparts that guard the coast of the island is not pleasing to the eye. Mile follows mile of almost perpendicular cliffs, 300 to 400 feet high. The giant rollers of the Atlantic charge up these, to be thrown back in spray, or gently leave the base, while all around spreads the "ocean's unmeasureable length." But suddenly the traveler sees a break in the rocky wall, and a great "fiord" or bay stretches inland a hundred miles. The shores are dotted with dark green forests that sweep down to the water's edge. Green islands stud the estuary. Fishing hamlets lie on the shore and fishermen's boats dance on the water. If it be summer the atmosphere is balmy, the sky serene and blue as that of Italy. On either side open harbors, where the navies of the world might float secure. The ocean is left behind. Purple hills rise in the distance. These magnificent bays of Newfoundland are not surpassed even by the celebrated fiords of Norway. Conception and Trinity, on the east coast, or Placentia and Fortune Bays, Bay of Islands and Bonne Bay, on the southern and western shores, give glimpses of nature in its grandest and wildest forms.

The interior of the country consists of hill and valley land. The soil is white clay. It packs and hardens wonderfully when wet. It makes roads almost as hard and smooth as macadam. The roads here are fine in the vicinity of St. John's, the colony imitating the Mother Country in its stable and careful improvements as far as they go. Waterfield bridge road, beginning at St. John's and running around two-thirds of the rim of the island is a classic highway. It is a landmark. Some of the most beautiful inland views are to be had on the Humber and Exploits Rivers in the central part of the country. The grand fall of the Exploits, together with the rapids, occupies about a mile of the bend of the river, nineteen miles from the mouth. It is a miniature Niagara, the water pouring over a rock parapet fifty feet high. An island in the midst of the fall divides it in two parts. On the Humber River there are three still water stretches called the "steadies." The water is clear and deep and gives back a perfect image of the surrounding mountains and tall, still pines. At the lower end of the third "steady" the water plunges 240 feet over a precipice.

The entire island is not timbered, as many suppose. There are great stretches of "barrens" sparsely covered with berry and moss. Shooting and fishing can be had on any part of the island. Within fifty miles of St. John's partridges are so plentiful that from forty to fifty birds may be bagged in a day's sport. Ducks, snipe, and curlews are found everywhere. The best duck shooting, however, is on the west coast, and snipe in the vicinity of St. John's. There are plenty of rabbits, and wild geese are thick. The rivers and lakes are all free. Anybody may fish in them, and they are stocked with the finest fish in the world.

THE ISLAND OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

But the hunter of big game will be satisfied with nothing less than the lordly caribou that range the forests. These reindeer are larger than those of Labrador and Norway and stags are shot weighing from 500 to 600 pounds. They swarm over the woods and barrens in countless thousands and the whole interior of the country is one vast deer park. Anticipating the invasion of the country by hunters as large game grows scarcer elsewhere, the Newfoundlanders have instituted stringent game laws. A fee of $100 is demanded of non-residents for the privilege of shooting deer, and not more than three stags and two does may be killed by a hunter in a season. Parties of Englishmen and New Yorkers have evaded the law, however, by taking guides with the party. Each of these guides is permitted to kill his quota of reindeer free of charge.

Instead of availing themselves of the privilege, they are employed to go along and let the hunters use their shots. These guides are all "baymen," fisher folks living along the coast. They will drop their work any time to convoy a hunting party. The best deer stalking season, however, immediately follows the time when the codfish is over for the season. A "baymun" will carry his own gun, luggage, etc., besides provisions for the party for a week. He will trudge in advance indefatigably, row, cook, stalk deer, and constitute himself general factotum. For this service he considers himself treated handsomely if he receives $2 or $3 a week. If he is given nothing but his board he does not complain. Hunting parties from out the island are rare. Most of them are made up of gentry from St. John's.

The herds of deer traverse the island in periodical migrations from south to north. The best season for stalking them is in September and October. At that time they come down from Labrador toward the southern coast of Newfoundland. It is no unusual thing to see 500 in a bunch. Then the killing is nearer slaughter than sport. In the fall of 1893 800 were shot as they swam across Gander Lake. This barbarous practice is now put down by law. The deer park at Grand Lake is more accessible than almost any of the good points, as it can be reached by rail. This is a fine fresh-water lake, the largest on the island. It is about fifty-five miles long. At the northern end of it are the "narrows," where the sheet of water is contracted to a short span. Here the deer swim across every autumn.

Even when game is so plentiful the sport is most exciting. No animal takes fright more readily than these reindeer. Let a hunter get to the windward side of a herd, and instantly he is scented by their delicate nostrils. In a moment all rush over the barrens and through the pine woods with the swiftness of arrows. Then follows a tedious spell of stalking. The least scratching of twigs or underbrush against the harsh clothing of the hunter will alarm the herd. For this reason soft tweed is always worn, and corduroys and rubber boots avoided. Venison is so plentiful that it sells in the market of St. John for from 3 to 5 cents a pound.

The island of Newfoundland is about 550 miles from west to east, by 400 miles from north to south. It has a population of 200,000, mainly fisher folk. On the main island the people are English and Irish. Miquelon and St. Pierre, little islands lying close, are the the remains of the French possessions. A sort of armed truce is maintained between those English and French neighbors. The French fishermen are protected in their rights of casting fly and net by three French warships, that ply the coast the entire season. The Englishmen glory in four war vessels, ready to take their part in case dispute arises.

Cod fishing, of course, is the main industry of the island. Of late years profits have fallen off considerably, and the annual catch has been lighter. They are beginning, however, to improve methods of curing the fish, and hope to soon send fish down to New York in cold storage. The fishermen migrate annually up the coast toward Labrador, taking their families with them and living during the summer months in little huts. They are a quaint and curious class, used to hardships of all kinds. Like the Halifax fishermen, they work

THEY COINED WORDS.

A Young Lady's Interesting Dream of Invention and Wealth.

"Good morning," she said. "You look quite griggish."

"Griggish?" he interrogated. "What kind of a look is that? I—is it—is it anything alarming?"

"Oh, no, silly! Don't you know what griggish means? I manufactured it ages ago out of grig, a grasshopper—something blithe and sprightly, you know. That reminds me, I had the most interesting dream the other night. I dreamed we kept a word store."

"A word store?"

"Yes, we coined words and sold them to the inventors of foods and of typewriters, and"—

"How were they sold, by the yard or by the dozen?" he interrupted.

"Neither way. We sold each word according to the amount of brains expended in inventing it, except the words pertaining to bicycles—they came high, because they were so fashionable. Oh, it was quite a large store, all divided up into departments. There was the bicycle department, the cigar department, the electrical department, the patent medicine department—in fact, all lines were represented in which inventions might be made needing names. You see, we sold a name for so much, and then if the invention proved successful we shared in the profits."

"Well," said the man, "I hope you showed more taste in the matter than the person who invented such words as 'cupograph,' 'mimeograph,' 'comptometer' and 'operaphone'—they give one literary indigestion."

"Oh, ye," she replied, "our coinage was of a much higher order. Of course we had words ending in graph and phone and cycle, but they were exceedingly cheap, and inventors were rather ashamed to be seen buying them. Words like 'pegamoid' came high. I wish I could remember all the lovely names we coined," she went on. "The only one I can think of is 'hamwich,' a substitute for ham sandwich. Don't you think that's choice? I dreamed that we sold it to a restaurant man and he made a mint of money out of it."—Chicago Tribune.

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

1897

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The other day a New Yorker started across Broadway. He was in the heyday of ambitious, vigorous youth. A puff of wind blew an insignificant, almost invisible atom of dust in one of his eyes. It blinded him. He clasped his hands over his eyes and staggered on, only to be run down and killed by a cable car. That man's death was due to an insignificant trifle, an atom of dust that was barely visible under the microscope. It is thus with health. Men find that they are suffering from a trifling disorder of the digestion. It doesn't amount to anything, they think, and time is precious. They don't stop to correct it, but stagger blindly on and are run down in the heyday of ambitious youth by death.

Neglected indigestion is the first cause of all manner of wasting diseases and all forms of nervous disorders. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all disorders of the digestion. It invigorates the liver, imparts a keen, hearty appetite and causes the life-giving elements of the food to be perfectly assimilated. It purifies the blood and builds healthy tissue. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. It cures consumption, wasting diseases and all disorders of the nerves.

"I was a sufferer five or six years from indigestion," writes B. F. Holmes, of Gaffney, Spartanburg Co., S. C., "also from sore stomach and constant headache. I then used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' which in a few days gave me permanent relief."

"The People's Common Sense Adviser" explains symptoms of ailments common to every family, and suggests remedies. It has several chapters on woman's diseases and weaknesses. An edition in heavy paper covers will be distributed absolutely free. Send the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Cloth binding, 50 stamps.

AN UNFAMILIAR COUNTRY.

white duck clothes in the summer time, and in the winter moleskin trousers and oilskin jackets. The women assist the men by spreading out the fish to dry as they are brought in by the smacks. In the winter they change to sealing, a valuable industry to the island.

The Atlantic seals are not valuable for their fur skins, but are caught for the oil to be obtained. The exports of the little island in 1893, consisting chiefly of fish and oil, amounted to $6,500,000. The climate is not nearly so severe as is generally believed. The mercury ranges from 15 or 20 degrees below zero in winter to 70 and 80 degrees above zero in summer.

Of the 200,000 inhabitants 30,000 live in the capital. It is to Newfoundland what Paris is to France. It is the social, political and commercial centre of the universe for the inhabitants of the island. Everybody who is anybody lives at St. John's. It derives much of the dignity of its life from the fact of having as its head a direct representative of the Queen. Newfoundland has its own Governor, appointed by the Crown, and its own House of Assembly and Legislative Council. Governor Murray, the present chief magistrate, succeeded Sir T. N. O'Brien two years ago. The Governor and Lady O'Brien were stand and straight-laced, although most popular with the townspeople. The Governor was a military hero, having served in the Crimea and in India. He made a fine figure as he drove daily through St. John's, not deigning to recognize the salutes of the townspeople or to bow even to a friend.

Governor Murray is more genial. He walks instead of riding and has a friendly nod for all acquaintances. The Government House, his residence, is the centre of social life in the long winters. All the fine old families of the town are invited to attend numerous receptions, dinners and dances at the mansion. The three handsome daughters of the Governor do the honors of the house, and set a lively pace for the Legislators and their families. The Government House is colonial in style, brick, with stone trimmings. It is surrounded by a large and well-kept lawn. The Colonial building, where the Legislature meets, is a handsome limestone building not far from the Government House. The town is very gay for its size. The Newfoundlanders are fond of outdoor sports and enjoy tobogganing and curling in the winter, and golf, baseball, tennis and cycling in the summer. The men make much of their club life, the main organizations with buildings of their own being the City Club, Benevolent Jewish Society, West End, and Academia. The people of St. John's are bankers and merchants. About a dozen wholesale dealers control the fish and oil supply of the island.

Around St. John's there are a good many farms, managed on the tenancy system of England and owned by the well-to-do classes. They do not raise wheat or corn, but many varieties of vegetables and hay are grown.

The town was almost destroyed by fire in 1892. Since then it has been built up on a more solid basis, with handsome stone blocks. Water street is the State street and Wabash avenue combined of St. John's. The harbor of St. John's is one of the finest and most beautiful on the continent. The Northern line steamers to and from Europe touch here. The "narrows," as it is termed, is a break in the coast hills leading directly from the ocean into the spacious basin of St. John's. The channel does not exceed 1,500 feet in its widest part, but vessels of any size can enter in safety. Formerly, in troublesome times, a huge chain was stretched across and locked to the rock on one side, and raised and lowered by a capstan on the other. This proved the entrance of hostile ships. The powerful guns of modern ships rendering such defense useless, chain and protecting batteries have long ago been put into disuse. St. John's boast a summer resort in Topsail beach, a fishing village, twelve miles distant. The shingle beach is fine, and sea bathing is indulged in to a considerable extent. The fiords of Newfoundland do not extend inland many miles. Yachting along the coast is said not to be dangerous, as there are so many good natural harbors to run for.

Besides its fisheries, the wealth of the island is in lumber and marble is considerable. These interests, as well as gold and copper mines, are being developed by the railroad.

The interest of the Little French archipelago centres in St. Pierre, a bustling little seaport on the island of that name. This village is like a bit of old France transported to the New World. The creaking oxcart, the click of the sabot on the ill-constructed trottoir, the Breton, Basque and apple-cheeked Normandy women, the patois, the French windows, the gay colors, and, last of all, the fanfare of the bugle, as the town crier proclaims at each corner of the streets and squares after a preliminary blast of the trumpet that M. Solomon will sell some "bonnes vaches a lait" (good milch cows) at the Quai de la Republique punctually (to-morrow at 10 o'clock), all these remind one of La Belle France.

LIFE IN GYPSY LIFE.

Tour of a New York Englishman in a Van Through the Country

A wealthy Britisher who lives in New York will shortly introduce his friends to a form of diversion likely to become popular and permanent in this country, says The Philadelphia Press. He will take them over a long stretch of country roads in a gypsy van caravanning in the woods at noon and night wherever there is an inviting place and good water. Some of his friends will accompany the van on bicycles, but most of them will have comfortable quarters inside.

The gypsy caravan party is a pretty and popular fancy that long ago captured the hearts of those fortunate Britishers who have nothing to employ their time save devising schemes to kill it. Between the man or woman of wealth and the wandering nomad, it seems that there is this connecting link: While the nomad would like to imitate the habits of the wealthy land owner in whose grounds he camps, the land owner sees in the free and easy character of gypsy life a pleasing variation of the irksome duties of polite society. The aristocrats of England invented the happy plan of playing gypsy by starting out in vans modelled on the exact lines of those in favor with gypsy tribes, and in them the "caravan party" endeavors to take itself as far out of sight and sound of civilization as possible.

The vans are drawn, of course, by a better breed of cattle than that which labors along the highway with the ordinary gypsy party. Four fine horses and a handsomely decorated van ago with new varnish and silver trimmings, is the equipment of many a caravan on the English country roads.

When the caravan halts at a desirable spot for camping, the horses are tethered and housed, and the servants of the party, who travel in style in a separate van from their masters and mistresses, build a fire in the portable range that accompanies the outfit, bring forth the best that the larder affords and the party proceeds to enjoy an al fresco "spread" beneath the green boughs of an English forests, without any of the dirty and undesirable accompaniments that are part of the life of the genuine gypsy.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

THE DISTRICT MEETING.

The Meeting of the Representatives of the Peterborough District of the Methodist Church—The Business Done—The Evening Meeting.

The financial district meeting of the Methodist church, Peterborough District, was held in the Mark street church on Tuesday, Aug. 31st.

Promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning Rev. S. J. Shorey, the popular chairman of the district, called the meeting to order. That beautiful hymn "Blest be the Tie that Binds" was sung, and Rev. J. Kilgour offered prayer.

The Rev. L. Phelps, secretary of the district, read the 10th chapter of Romans, after which the roll was called. All the ministers in the active work on the district were present, with the exception of Rev. D. O. Crossley, who is ill and cannot attend to his pastoral duties. The Rev. W. B. Smith, who is supplying for Mr. Crossley, was present in his stead.

The mission fields on the district occupied the attention of the meeting during the forenoon. Grants were asked for in connection with Harvey, Apsley and Hiawatha missions.

The arrangements for holding the annual missionary and educational meetings were made, which was followed by a conference on "The Spiritual State of the Work." The chairman urged upon all present earnest consecration to God's cause. Rev. Mr. Moore recommended neighbouring ministers to help each other in revival work. He thought the results would be more satisfactory than by employing and importing travelling evangelists. It was arranged to hold a five days' meeting at Mark street church, commencing September 20th, as follows:—Monday, Sept. 20th, Rev. W. D Harrison; Sept. 21, Rev. N. D. Drew; Sept. 22, Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.D.; Sept. 23, Rev. S. J. Shorey; Sept. 24, Rev. H. S. Spence, B.A.

A resolution of sympathy was sent to the Rev. D. O. Crossley, in his severe affliction.

It was ordered that the May district meeting be held in Peterborough at the Charlotte street church.

The Peterborough district is composed of sixteen circuits and missions, with twenty-four ministers and probationers for the ministry. It has a membership of 3,458; Sunday school scholars, 4,030. It raised last year for missions $2,056 63. There are 903 Epworth Leaguers on the district. The district raised during the last Conference year $27,037.32.

THE EVENING MEETING.

In the evening the chair was occupied by Rev. J. E Moore, Ph. B., in the absence o Rev. S. J. Shorey, chairman of the district. After singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," Rev. W. V. Sexsmith led in prayer. Rev. Mr. Moore then spoke briefly and called upon the choir, which rendered the anthem, "Praise the Lord," in excellent style.

Rev. W. H. Foley then gave an able address on "Sunday School Work." He said a change was taking place in religious matters as well as in everything else, and now, as never before, greater attention was being paid to the religious education of the young. The members of the Sunday school are the hope of the church, for they will be the religious leaders of the future. The Sunday school is a great factor in the development of character, because our near surroundings guide our development. One important law for Sunday school workers to remember is that every mental state is retained in the mind and has a tendency to recur again, hence the great importance of carefuly early teaching. Every child has an acute sense of right and wrong, and it is easier to influence a child in the direction of right and the short hour spent in Sunday school may have a great influence over the other hours of a child's life. A teacher should know his class, know their peculiarities, know his lesson and so teach it as to work it into the everyday life of a child. Some essentials to success are:

1. Personal knowledge of class.
2. Appropriate facts of lesson to everyday life of child.
3. Let us take the motto: "Jesus for our class, and our class for Jesus," and do our best by constant, personal work to secure this result. If we do that we shall accomplish the great aim of Sunday school work.

Rev. Mr. Shorey, having come in, was invited to the platform, but asked the favour of being allowed to continue a listener, which was granted.

A pleasing quartette was rendered by Misses McKenny and Smith and Messrs. Armstrong and Fisher.

Rev. Mr. Harrison then gave a pleasing address on "Epworth League Work." One great need of Epworth Leagues is securing new members, for some are moving away, some are growing old, others become absorbed in worldly affairs, and some are removed by death.

To secure new members, those who are already members must realize the need of doing so. Every member should be in reality on the Lookout Committee. Be all things to all men if by any means you may gain some.

A fuller knowledge of the working of the League will also help to scure new members, for the most enthusiastic workers are those who have most knowledge of the work. They feel that He who has called them is able to call others also. The aim of the E. L. is to "lift up." It is well to have a full knowledge of the various methods employed in the work, and to have a high opinion of the League itself, that you may feel free to commend it to others. If possible never allow a member to drop out dissatisfied, as it will make it harder to secure new members. It is well to have an occasional "at home" to get the members acquainted.

But model methods are failures without the model spirit of sympathy. The best success is secured with both combined.

Beware of side-lines, but give your whole energy to "lift up" for Christ and the church. Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in.

Miss Armstrong and Mr. H. S. Armstrong sang a duet, after which Rev. Mr. Drew spoke on Missions. If we can grasp God's thoughts we shall become more successful workers, and shall follow Jesus more closely. The commission still is—"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." We must spend our energies and our money to spread the Gospel so as to enable all to bring glory to God. God is a God of power and as such He is revealed to us. If we are allied to Christ we are allied to power, and God intends that power to electrify and purify every child of his. If the church remains only defensive it will die. Any church not missionary will die. Let us consecrate our prayers, our purses and, if need be, our persons, to the missionary cause.

This able address was followed by a solo by Miss McKenny, the choir joining in the chorus. "Throw out the Life Line."

Mr. Shorey pronounced the benediction, and all departed feeling that they had spent a pleasant and profitable evening, as the addresses were all excellent.

A TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Her Face Covered with Scales. Could Not Leave Home. Had to Sacrifice Hair.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. Improvement in Three Weeks. Six Weeks Complete Cure.

Four years ago Eczema made its appearance on my head in its worst form. I was attended by two physicians, but notwithstanding their treatment it continued spreading, until my face was covered with scales and became a horrid, loathsome sight. For three months I did not leave the house. I had a fine head of hair, seven years' growth, and had to sacrifice it. I was in despair. The physicians had failed even to relieve me, when one of them recommended CUTICURA SOAP. I used three boxes of CUTICURA (ointment), one half dozen cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and in three weeks from the time I began, the scales had left my face and the skin took its florid hue. In six weeks I was entirely cured. My face was smooth and my complexion clearer than it had ever been before. DOLLAR WHEAT.

Montreal Herald.

The whole world is smiling over dollar wheat. Only a few months ago even ninety cents a bushel was almost an unheard of price. The world talked about it, as something never again to be realized, but here it is and ten cents a bushel on top of that price. It is true that men like Armour and Cudahy, of Chicago, and Pillsbury, of Minneapolis, predicted dollar wheat, but with them to make such a statement is but an annual performance. Big men have made similar predictions when it has been known for a certainty that they were on the short side of the market. With the experienced speculators, predictions are merely 'talk.' But in the meantime wheat was yielding to the force of supply and demand, and gradually but surely seeking a higher level. At eighty cents it was thought that the market had reached the top, at eighty-five cents it had certainly reached the point, while at ninety cents it was a sure sale. Between ninety cents and one dollar there was no chance to think or predict. The market went up with a rush and, figuratively speaking, it took the commercial breath away. Now it promises to take some of the ordinary hungry world's bread away. There is at the moment a tendency towards reaction, but, with the situation statistically strong, it is the belief that the market cannot yield very much. Of course present prices will be a great thing for the farmer. The crop in Canada is now at the point of being marketed and with prices twenty to thirty cents higher than last year, it means millions of dollars.

Puny and Fretful Baby.

This is now quite unnecessary! Like others, you may have your baby fat, laughing and happy, if you give it Scott's Emulsion Babies take it like cream.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

Sick headache and constipation are promptly cured by Burdock Pills. Easy to take, sure in effect.

Does the Boy Need A Suit?

Come and Find a Suit for Him at

GOUGH BROS.

Fix him up for School while our Great Building Sale lasts. How we sell Boys' Fine Clothing at such prices and keep on buying and increasing our premises is a wonder to all but US.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect:

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come,
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS will bring all your trade.

Boys' Boots and Shoes, Boys' Hats and Caps, Boys' Underwear, Boys' Hosiery, Boys' Collars, Boys' Handkerchiefs, Boys' Neckties, Boys' Braces, &c. Everything he'll want, from a Suit to a Shirt, strong and good.

THE INDIAN TROUBLE

Quick Changes Made by the Rebellious Tribesmen.

THE MULLAH MAKING ACCESSIONS

British Expected to Attack the Insurgents Within a Few Days—Disaffection at Quetta—Peshawur to be Attacked by the Rebels—General News by Cable.

London, Sept. 2.—The News, regarding the Indian frontier troubles, is indefinite and fragmentary, and it is difficult to follow the varying movements of the British forces, which are apparently decided in consequence of the quickly changing gatherings of the tribesmen. News has been received of fresh accessions to the forces of the insurgents, and of the appearance of various fanatics who are endeavoring to stir those tribesmen who are reluctant to join the revolt to attack the British. There is every probability that an attack will be made by the British at some point within a few days.

The attack upon the British post Gazarbund, Baluchanistan, is not of great importance. The station at Gazarbund is a small one.

A report comes from Quetta, Baluchistan, to the effect that the militia there have become disaffected, but the rumor is not credited in Government circles.

The Times this morning publishes a despatch from Chakdara, saying it appears that Haddah Mullah has abandoned the idea of attacking Khan Dir, and is gathering his forces for an attack upon Peshawur. All the tribes in this district have been quiet since its occupation.

The Upper Swat country has hitherto been comparatively unknown. It has not been visited by organized troops since the time of Alexander the Great. The Swatis deemed their country inaccessible, the only entrance to it being by a narrow causeway barely wide enough to admit one man at a time, flanked on one side by a raging torrent and on the other by precipitious cliffs, fortified by stone breastworks.

FURTHER DROP IN SILVER.

India Has Little Money and May be Forced to Adopt the Gold Standard.

London, Sept. 1.—The following notice was posted in the Bank of England today: "The Secretary of State for India in Council gives notice that the sale of bills of exchange on Calcutta, Bombay and Madras has been suspended for a period of not less than ten weeks."

The Government has very little money in India to draw on, owing to the famine and the plague having rendered the collection of taxes slow, and the present time might be opportune to accustom the Indians to the use of gold instead of silver, though it would not have attempted this had not the scarcity of money arisen.

The Daily Telegraph, anticipating the action of the Indian Council, said today. "The Council may refuse to draw altogether, thus sending exchange up to gold, and render possible the establishment of the gold standard in India."

The India Council has suspended the sale of bills of exchange on previous occasions, notably in 1885 and 1893, but in neither case was gold shipped to India.

The present suspension does not cause surprise, it being caused by heavy expenditures in connection with the frontier troubles. It is probable that a gold loan, for which the powers already exist, will be issued in London in order to replenish the Indian treasury. No other important effect of the action taken by the council is expected, the general belief being that little gold will be remitted to India. The Daily Telegraph agrees in this view, but thinks the situation is uncertain.

The Daily News says the action of the council will not materially change the mercantile situation, as would be the case in the active shipping season.

The Times says: "The suspension caused surprise at first, but is recognized as a natural corollary to recent events, and its effects on Indian exchanges is thought to be already anticipated."

The Standard regards the announcement as unpleasant because of the possibility of gold shipments to India, when business revives. Fortunately. The Standard says, the Indian trade is quiet now and merchants will soon not feel the inconvenience caused by the suspension so keenly.

The Daily Mail says the effect upon the market is more sentimental than anything else.

All the morning papers refer to the possibility that the bank will raise the rate of exchange to-day.

EVERYTHING WAS LOVELY.

President Faure Says Nothing Could Have Been Better at St. Petersburg.

Paris, Sept. 1.—President Faure, referring in an interview to his visit to Russia, is quoted as saying everything passed off wonderfully well, and that no one could dream of anything better.

Admiral De Courtillo, in an interview on the same subject, said: "The Czar upon several occasions expressed to me the happiness he felt at signing the treaty of alliance, and he spoke with a warmth and enthusiasm which could not be misunderstood."

It was given out to-day that upon the arrival of President Faure at Dunkirk yesterday morning he sent a despatch to the Czar, saying: "At the moment I place my foot once more upon the soil of France, my first thought is for your Majesty, Her Majesty the Empress, and the whole Russian Nation. The magnificent and cordial reception given to the President of the republic calls forth throughout France a feeling of emotion and joy. It will leave in our hearts an ineffaceable memory. I beg Your Majesty once more to accept the expression of my thanks and the wishes I entertain for Your Majesty's happiness and that of the Empress and the Imperial family, and for the grandeur and prosperity of Russia."

The Czar replied to this message from the Lazelsky Palace at Warsaw. He said: "The Empress and myself are extremely grateful for your kind words just sent to us. It is with pleasure that I shall preserve the memory of the visit paid by the President of the republic to Russia, whose heart has once more be en in unison with that of France."

Faure at Havre.

Havre, Sept. 1.—President Faure arrived here to-day for a few days' rest, but the city, determined not to be eclipsed by the demonstration at Dunkirk, gave M. Faure an enthusiastic greeting. The citizens turned out by thousands and welcomed the President with loud acclamations, while the bands played the Marseillaise and other national airs. The city was profusely decorated and all of the ships in port, including American vessels, were gay with flags and bunting. All the factories and shops were closed.

Why They Shouted "Down With England!"

London, Sept. 1.—A special despatch from Paris published here to-day says that cries of "Down with England!" were raised outside the British Embassy in Paris last night, because that building was not illuminated in honor of the return of President Faure to the French capital after his visit to Russia. Two lads, the despatch adds, were arrested outside the Embassy for participating in the demonstration, and were subsequently released with cautions.

MAKING RAPID PROGRESS.

Expeditions Being Sent Forward to Crush the Rebellious Tribes.

Bombay, Sept. 1.—Military movements are reported from many places. rapid progress is being made in the organization of the punitive expedition being sent against the insurgent tribesmen. Col. Gordon's column of troops from Peshawur has arrived safely at Kohat without having met with any opposition. The Afridis, according to the latest reports, have apparently left the Khyber Pass. The British post at Gazarbund, Baluchistan, which was held by native levies, was attacked on Sunday night last by a number of Brahuis, who murdered and robbed the levies and some travelers who had sought refuge there. Many new signs of disaffection are reported from various points along the Indian border.

Wheat Area Increased.

London, Sept. 2.—The Times' Buenos Ayres' correspondent says that reports from all the agricultural centre sindicate an increase of fully 20 per cent. in the wheat area of the country.

Hohenlohe Will Retire.

London, Sept. 2.—The Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent says it is stated that it has been practically settled that Prince Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chancellor, will retire in October.

Suspected Assassination Plot.

Brussels, Sept. 1. The police of this city have arrested a German named Gustav Daubenspeck, upon suspicion that he is concerned in a plot to assassinate Emperor William. Daubenspeck was denounced by a friend who learned of his intention to leave Belgium for Germany.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S GUSH.

He is a Potentate by Divine Right and Cannot be Dethroned.

Coblentz, Sept. 1.—Emperor William, in proposing a toast to the Rhine Province, at the Provincial banquet here yesterday evening, after the unveiling by His Majesty of the equestrian monument erected in honor of William the Great, at the confluence of the Rhine and the Moselle, made a long speech upon the subject of his grandfather, during the course of which he said:

"My grandfather went forth from Coblentz to mount the throne as the chosen instrument of the Lord, and as such he regarded himself. For all of us, more especially for we princes, he raised once more on high, crowning it with the bright rays of the treasure, which may we ever preserve in its sublimity and holiness—I mean the kingdom by the Grace of God, the kingdom with its heavy duties, its never-ending, ever-enduring toils and labors, with its awful responsibility to the Creator alone, from which no man, no minister, no house of Parliament, no people, can release the Prince. For me it will be a sacred duty, following in the way which the Great Ruler has shown us, and in solitude for my country, to hold my protecting hand over this splendid jewel and in the tradition which has descended to us and which remains stronger than iron yes, even than the walls of Ehrenbreitstein—to take this province to my heedful heart, the heart of the father of his country, and wish with all my heart that her people may grow under the protection of long lasting peace."

KURDS AND ARMENIANS.

Persian Local Authorities Said to be Assisting the Armenian Incursions.

Constantinople, Sept. 1.—The following official statement regarding the reported disturbances near Van, Armenia, was issued to-day:

"Fifteen Armenian agitators, who were hiding in a village near Van, fired upon the troops sent to arrest them, but 13 of the agitators were captured and taken to Van."

Referring to the report of heavy fighting between the Kurds and Armenians on the frontier, announced in a despatch from Tabreez, North Persia, to The Daily News of London, the following official statement has been made:

"Zekki Pasha reports that the Armenian brigands on the Persian frontier recently raised a band of 500 horsemen, intending to attack the village of Bashkouleh, but the Turkish troops have hitherto prevented them from so doing.

"It is remarked that certain Persian local authorities are assisting the Armenian incursions, in spite of the treaties and good relations between the two countries."

The Queen at Balmoral.

Aberdeen, Sept. 1.—Queen Victoria arrived at Balmoral Castle to-day. At Perth, Aberdeen and Ballater enthusiastic crowds gathered to greet Her Majesty. Decorations were plentiful, and at Crapie a handsome jubilee arch was erected.

Sultan Loaded Him With Presents.

Four Killed, Thirty Wounded.

London, Sept. 1.—An eastbound passenger train was thrown from the track and precipitated down an embankment at Mayfield, Sussex, this morning. Four persons were killed and thirty injured.

THE PREMIER AT OTTAWA.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Had a Decidedly Successful Reception at the Capital—Lady Laurier Was With Him.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—The demonstration to Sir Wilfrid Laurier here to-night was in every way a decided success. The Premier and Lady Laurier were met at the Canadian Pacific Railway depot by Mayor Bingham and the members of the City Council, accompanied by the Governor-General's Foot Guards Band. There were several thousand people at the depot to welcome the Premier and Lady Laurier.

From the railway station Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier were conveyed in a drag drawn by four horses. In the carriage along with them were Mayor Bingham and City Clerk Henderson.

A large procession followed the Premier's carriage to Parliament Hill, where a crowd of over 15,000 people were waiting to receive him. On a platform in the centre of the grounds the civic address was read to the Premier by the Mayor. All the Ministers of the Crown now in the city were present. Hon. John Costigan was also in attendance.

In replying to the address, Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke briefly, referring particularly to the pleasure that it gave him to be welcomed back by all parties, irrespective of politics.

Sir Richard Cartwright, who was called on by the Mayor, also spoke briefly. He referred to the good work done by the Premier in England, and said that Canada went forward with one hand to take her position among the nations of the world.

After three cheers were given for the Queen, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier, the crowd dispersed and Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, followed by thousands, drove to the Russell House. They go to Arthabaskaville in a few days.

Forty Ton Fly Wheel Burst.

Portsmouth, Ohio, Sept. 1.—A 40-ton fly wheel at the Burgess Steel and Iron Works was burst yesterday by a 4800-pound ingot slipping a roll. The mill was crowded with workmen. The roof was riddled. Beams two feet square were cut in two like straws. The mill was set on fire, but the flames were soon extinguished. Only one workman was injured, and he but slightly. How the crowd in the mill escaped is a mystery.

One loaf of bread may be light, sweet and digestible. You may use the same materials for another and have it heavy, sour and soggy. The knack is in putting the ingredients together just right. A substitute for Scott's Emulsion may have the same ingredients and yet not be a perfect substitute, for no one knows how to put the parts together as we do. The secret of "how" is our business—twenty-five years of experience has taught us the best way.

ANOTHER SCALP FOR SIR WILFRID.

Evidence of the wisdom of the Premier's course in refraining, when in England, from urging that a duty should be placed by Britain on breadstuffs in favour of the colonies, comes, says the Montreal Herald, from an unexpected quarter. Col. Denison, of Toronto, an ardent advocate of a British discriminatory tariff, who was in England during the Jubilee, declares that if Sir Wilfrid had argued for a corn duty he would have set the whole of the free trade party against him, and would have made it impossible for the Government to take the step it did in denouncing the obnoxious treaties. This step, the Colonel says, was an imperative preliminary to his scheme, and he considers that Sir Wilfrid, in securing it, sensibly advanced the cause of preferential duties. Now, if Col. Denison, the high priest, is satisfied, surely the pew-holders can refrain from praying for the destruction of Sir Wilfrid.

Can any further evidence that Sir Wilfrid is welding the Empire into one harmonious whole be desired than the fact that he has captured Col. Denison? Of course, Mr. J. Castell Hopkins is still uncaught. But he might be induced to write the Premier's life.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, the ex-pugilist, is said to be a candidate for mayor of Boston. If he is elected it will be a triumph of brawn over the cultured consequences of the brainy bean.

THE United States Government lost 32½ millions of revenue through the rush of importations in anticipation of the Dingley tariff. The loss on the wool duties alone was over 24 millions.

MONTREAL exhibition was, it is said, a failure, owing to insufficient advertising. A thing that is worth patronizing is worth advertising. Printer's ink pays. Other exhibitions might take warning by Montreal's failure.

OTTAWA, we are told, is making its periodical raid upon the Dominion treasurer for funds for making municipal improvements. If such a demand were made in the shape of a fine upon the Government for remaining in the Sawdust City, so much fault could not be found.

THE return of prosperity to the country is so palpable that even the pessimistic Mail and Empire has to acknowledge it. It's a wonder we can have improved conditions with such a bad Government as the Mail tries to think we have in power. But the organ can't resist facts, such as the pleasant one of good government and good times going hand in hand.

IF the Attorney-General at Washington, correctly interprets a discriminating clause in the new tariff, all foreign goods, not the growth of Canada, imported into the United States through the Dominion, must pay an extra duty of 10 per cent. This, says Monetary Times, will affect goods brought by the Pacific steamers from Asia, via British Columbia, and European goods passing through Eastern Canada to the Republic. This trade will be so seriously affected as to be nearly, if not quite destroyed. The declared object of the law is to encourage direct and discourage indirect trade. We did the same thing, when, through the Galt tariff, we discriminated against the tea brought into this country through the United States, and in favour of direct importation. This foundation stone of the National Policy was laid in obedience to loud demands from the city of Montreal, and in the face of equally loud protests against it by Toronto. The same thing, in principle, was repeated in the Foster tariff, which made the discriminating duty 10 per cent., an amount which Congress now copies exactly. Such devices, like curses, generally come home to roost, though they may take their own time in doing it. Apparently the bonding privilege, secured by the Treaty of Washington, will not be disturbed by the new discrimination. It might be well to see whether the treaty of Navigation of Commerce of 1810, not obsolete, but in full vigour, has any bearing on the question. Probably it has not.

CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE.

The Encyclical letter issued by the bishops of the Church of England lately in conference at Lambeth deals with the burning question of relations between employers and employees. It points out that the industrial problems of the day present themselves under the double aspect of justice between man and man and sympathy with human needs. It is widely thought in some classes that the present working of our industries is unjust to the employed and unduly favourable to the employer. The bishops say:

"It is obviously not possible for us to enter upon the consideration of such a question in detail; but we think it our duty to press the great principle of the brotherhood of man, and to urge the importance of bringing that principle to bear on all the relations between those who are connected by the tie of a common employment. Obedience to this law of brotherhood would ultimately, in all probability, prevent many of the mischiefs which attend our present system."

Doctrine like that, preached steadily and strenuously, would soon extinguish the charge sometimes heard that the churches are cold or unthinking where the vital needs of the masses are concerned. And it is simply Christ's doctrine.

SAVED HIS BOY.

A PLAIN STATEMET FROM MR. ROBT. McLEOD, OF GALT.

His Little Son was Paralyzed on One Side, and Doctor's Treatment Did Him no Good—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Were Given and Effected a Thorough Cure.

From the Galt Reporter.

Mr. Robt. McLeod is a gentleman well known in the town of Galt and throughout the district. In conversation with a member of the Reporter staff recently, he consented to make public the facts concerning the illness and restoration to health of his little boy. He said:

"Yes, I believe that had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my little boy would not have been living to-day. Willie, who is ten years of age, was taken with an illness that developed into paralysis of the left side. He had the best medical aid within my reach, but nothing seemed to benefit him. He got so bad that a pin could be run into his left hand to the bone without his feeling it in the least. If he attempted to walk he could only get over the ground by dragging his left foot behind him; he had no power in it whatever. One night I was feeling pretty blue about him. I felt that he was going to be an invalid all his life, and I viewed things in their worst light. On this particular night I put on my hat with the intention of going out to take a quiet walk, but just as I got to the door I saw lying on the step a pamphlet. I picked it up listlessly, and saw it was an advertising book of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. I only read a few words when the conviction seized me that there was something that might possibly benefit my boy. I at once went down to Mr. Ferrah's drug store and purchased a box of the pills. By the time he had taken two boxes the colour had come back into his hand and arm, and by the time had taken half a dozen boxes he was cured, and now he is better than he ever was before in his life, and as hearty and strong as any boy in the town. Yes, sir, I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful medicine."

BRUTALITY OF STUDENTS.

One Came Out of a "Rush" With a Broken Jaw and Two With Broken Legs.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 1.—There will be no more "rushes" at the University of California, if President McClogg's latest mandate is obeyed. Half-dazed, his jaw broken, and his face a bleeding mass, Benjamin Kurtz, a newly entered freshman, was found wandering about the campus after the rush between the two lower classes. In the struggle someone put his heel on Kurtz's face, and, as a result, he is disfigured for life and may have sustained an injury of the brain. There were two other serious casualties, Frank Marshall, freshman, had his right leg broken, just above the ankle. Another freshman named Conlon came out of the combat with a broken leg.

Gold at Michipicoten, Ont.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 1.—Later developments tend to substantiate all that has been reported concerning the richness of the recent gold find at Michipicoten, and there is no end of excitement here in consequence. The tug Annie Clarke returned from the new gold fields last evening with Mackie, one of the owners of the first location. Mr. Mackie brought down with him 30 oz. of gold, valued at about $700. This gold was extracted from surface quarts.

PORTLAND'S MAXIM

W.ll be Mounted as Soon as the Steamer is Ready.

DUE TO SAIL ON SEPTEMBER 10

No One Starting Now Can Get Through to the Klondike This Season. Yet Hundreds are Making the Venture--
A Newspaper Man Predicts Starvation This Winter.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—The rapid-fire Maxim gun, with which it is proposed to fortify the treasure ship Portland against pirates, arrived in Seattle to-day over the Northern Pacific Railroad. Thursday the Portland will be placed in the Government navy dock of the Puget Sound naval station at Bremerton, Wash., and as soon as she is hauled off the ways the gun is to be mounted. The vessel will be given a thorough overhauling, permission to have the work done in a United States dock having been granted to-day by the Secretary of the Navy. While the Portland is not seriously in need of repairs, it was nevertheless decided to have her overhauled before starting on this, her last trip this season. It is estimated that on the next trip she will return with as much treasure and possibly more than she brought in July.

The Portland is due to sail Sept. 10, and if the steamship Cleveland, also of the North American Transportation and Trading Company, arrives on schedule time Sept. 5, she will sail the same day. It is more than probable that the Cleveland will return from St. Michael's with several thousands of Klondike gold dust. She will not bring the treasure of the North American Transportation and Trading Company, now supposed to be on the steamer Weare, which was expected to arrive at St. Michael from Dawson City a day or so after the departure of the Portland Aug. 15.

Notwithstanding the innumerable warnings of those who have undergone the hardships of a trip to the Yukon that no one starting from the States at this season of the year can possibly get across the divide before the river freezes, hundreds are hastening to Dyea and Skaguay even at this late day. The Utopia leaves to-morrow with 75 Klondikers and 60 head of horses, and the Alki, which is also scheduled to sail to-morrow, will have over 100 passengers bound for the Yukon gold fields.

July 17 B. Supunizka wrote from Dawson City to Mark Norton of Seattle, in part saying:

"The ground on some of the creeks here is surprisingly rich; in fact, I suppose it is the richest in the world, but owing to the difficulties attending the prospecting the ground must be rich to make it pay. Provisions are very high and delicacies rare. Potatoes are $1 per pound and eggs $1 each at the restaurants, and other things in proportion. The town is being overrun with saloons and gambling houses, but more than likely the gold commissioner, who is the supreme authority, will regulate these things."

Concerning the crowd making for Dawson City and affairs along the Skaguay trail, T. R. Lindsay of this city, writing Aug. 23, says:

"The trail is in a very good condition, but it is a long one. There are one or two bad places in it, but we fixed them as soon as we got to them. I am over the worst hill, and will get my goods through. The Seattle boys are here, and they have changed the name of Skaguay to New Seattle. There are about 4000 people here, and more are coming, the arrivals being nearly 300 a day. I have made four miles a day ever since I left salt water. Not very many will get over the divide this fall. Only the determined ones will succeed in crossing."

Leroy Tozier, writing from Skaguay: "As a blockade is on and with those now here and coming, 5000 people will be compelled to remain here until spring or return home. Some have horses and wagons, and such are making from $80 to $100 a day."

H. T. Hannon, who started for the Klondike late last spring, after his arrival at Dawson City, wrote of his experiences en route in part as follows:

"I would not advise any one to take the trip if he is not perfectly familiar with the navigation of swift rivers or else has some one with him who is. It don't make any difference whether he has rowed a boat or not, he must know how to handle it at the rough and dangerous waters. Before I started I supposed that when I crossed the summit our difficulties were about over, while, in fact, they had but begun. The labor crossing the summit, the cold storms, are nothing compared to racing down the river at a rate of nine miles an hour for a distance of thirty or forty miles at a stretch, with rocks and bowlders sticking up out of the water and others but a few inches under water."

PREDICT SUFFERING AND WANT.

Reports Tend to Confirm the Gloomy Stories From the Yukon.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—The situation on the Yukon, as outlined in the despatches yesterday, is fully as bad as painted. To-day there arrived a letter from St. Michael, under date of Aug. 16, from Ben Sanford Goodhue, a newspaper man, who went up on the Excelsior, and has devoted his time to investigating the situation. He says positively that by no means can enough provisions be taken up the Yukon to supply those now on the Klondike and those going in. He sustains his assertions with statements from the deputy collector at St. Michael and the representatives of the two trading companies on the Yukon. He shows that even if both companies had all their river steamers available and they could make the three trips usually made they could not land enough provisions to provide for everybody at Dawson City during the long winter.

But at least two of the river steamers and possibly more are laid up somewhere up the river, presumably stuck on sandbars, and with little chance of getting off unless timely rains raise the stream. They are already so long delayed that they must miss at least one trip, and that probably means the difference between a fair share of food and starvation. To add to the critical situation Goodhue confirms the report that the river is unusually low. The depth is now three and one-half feet, when it should be at least double that. Drought or frost has the same effect on causing low water in the river. If winter sets in before the rains raise the river then Dawson City will see famine in all its worst horrors."

There are now 238 persons at St. Michael, waiting a chance to get up the river, and Goodhue says the chance is exceedingly slender. The new steamer C. H. Hamilton has just been launched and she will make an attempt to go up, but as she is the largest river steamer there, she stands a poorer show than any of going through. Goodhue has talked with every miner who has come down the river this season, and all are agreed that Dawson City must starve this winter. All state that every season the companies have promised to get in plenty of provisions, and the supply has always been a trifle short. The largest amount taken up heretofore has been 3500 tons. The river steamers, if every condition were favorable, could take in 6000 tons. Under present circumstances 5000 tons will be an outside estimate.

To show how near to the line things are at Dawson City, Goodhue says that the first load of provisions which went up this season was sold before the steamer had finished unloading. From the statements of the miners coming down the river, and from the report of the people going in over the passes, Goodhue estimates that there will be about 12,000 people on the Klondike this winter. Five thousand tons of provisions means less than 1000 pounds to the person, and the lowest estimate of the amount necessary to carry one through the closed season is 1,500 pounds. The usual estimate is 2000 pounds.

Goodhue states that the transportation companies are making every effort to move the goods, but are almost entirely helpless. Manager L. B. Shepherd of the North American Transportation Company at St. Michael's told Goodhue that he did not think more than 4000 tons of supplies would get through to Dawson City.

Erwin Anders, Deputy Collector of Customs for the United States, said that the two transportation companies were lacking in facilities equal to the demand, and predicted much suffering.

Values His Claim at $1,000,000.

Ottumwa, Ia., Aug. 31.—Oskar Lamppeze, one of the wealthiest of the men who have returned from the gold fields of the Yukon, is visiting relatives in this city. Lamppeze returned from the north several months ago with over $150,000, which he mined on his own claim.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured, easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action—and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell us so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. LUETGERT MURDER TRIAL.

Watchman Bialk Saw the Prisoner Doing Things Which Were Unusual and Suspicious.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The interest in the Luetgert murder trial was unabated to-day. Attorney Vincent conducted the cross-examination of Watchman Bialk and put to him questions regarding his connection with the police since May 15. Bialk testified that since May 16 he had been with Officer Schuler, living at the latter's house and paying no board. He had done no work, but Inspector Schaack had provided means for his wife to move and pay rent.

In the cross-examination of Bialk, Mr. Vincent brought out the fact that previous to May 1 the watchman had met Luetgert in different parts of the factory at all times of the night. Sometimes the sausage maker walked about the building and even in the yard at late hours. Bialk said he regarded the actions of his employer on the night of May 1 as suspicious, because he turned on the steam into the basement at 9 o'clock. This was unusual.

It was made plain to the jury in the cross-examination that Bialk, from his position in the boiler room, could have looked through an opening near the elevator and have seen Luetgert at the vat in the basement. He did not do so, he said, because he knew it would not do for him to be caught at it.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

Good Blood

Is essential to health. Every nook and corner of the system is reached by the blood, and on its quality the condition of every organ depends. Good blood means strong nerves, good digestion, robust health. Impure blood means scrofula, dyspepsia, rheumatism, catarrh or other diseases. The surest way to have good blood is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and sends the elements of health and strength to every nerve, organ and tissue. It creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep and cures that tired feeling. Remember,

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Ottawa Government was enriched to the extent of $810 in conscience money last week. Seats for "The Brownies."

Seats for C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger's wonderful spectacle, "Palmer Cox's Brownies," are now on sale at Ormond & Walsh's. It is urged that all who intend witnessing the big show at the Opera House next Monday evening should secure their seats well in advance, if possible, in order to avoid any disappointment. The coming of "The Brownies" may be compared to that of a mammoth circus, and in its four years' career of remarkable success the crowds it has attracted have been everywhere enormous. In many cases hundreds of people have been turned away, unable to find even standing room. This is undoubtedly the greatest attraction ever brought to Peterborough, and from present appearances a packed house will witness the production next Friday night.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

On the Charge of Uttering a Forged Cheque—Ross to be Tried by Jury.

Wm. Ross, who was arrested last week on the charge of uttering a forged cheque, came before Magistrate Dumble this morning, and was given a preliminary hearing, the result of which was that he was committed for trial on the charge.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defence, and County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution.

Mr. J. D. Craig, furniture dealer, testified that Ross came to his store five or six weeks ago and purchased a couch for which he proffered a cheque drawn on the Bank of Montreal by the Hamilton Bridge Company for the sum of $16. Ross stated that he had been working for the company in question at the new Auburn bridge, and had secured the cheque as wages. The cheque was accepted by Mr. Craig, and the price of the couch being $7, the difference was given the purchaser in cash.

The cheque was then given to Wm. Buller to pay a freight bill at the C.P.R., and was forwarded from there to the head office at Montreal. It then came back to the local branch of the bank, but as the Company had no account here, Mr. F. J. Rogers, the manager, notified the C.P.R., and as an accommodation, sent the cheque on to the Hamilton branch, but it was returned with the statement that the Company had no account with them.

Mr. Craig then redeemed the cheque and notified the police, since when they have been on the lookout for Ross, who was captured in Port Hope last week.

As stated, the prisoner was committed for trial on the evidence offered.

He Draws a Pension From the U. S. Government Because he Fought For His Country.

Morgan Rattler, an old United States pensioner, was up in the police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy, but as he showed that he drew a pension of $36 a quarter he was discharged. The magistrate could not make out on what ground Rattler was entitled to a pension, as he was not maimed in any way, but the prisoner stated that he drew the money because he "was a hero and fit for his country."

THE J. R. HOOPER CASE.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

DEAR SIR,—As a number of unfounded rumours are being circulated with regard to the John R. Hooper case, which are calculated to prejudice those who are not fully acquainted with the facts of the case, and thereby frustrate the efforts which are now being put forth in his behalf, in the interests of justice I beg to ask space for a brief statement in connection therewith. I have obtained an account of the calamitous affair from a person who is intimately acquainted with the whole circumstances, and after a careful perusal of a number of sworn dispositions and other documents which have been placed at my disposal, I believe the same to be absolutely true :

Mrs. Hooper became insane and one of her delusions for nearly three years was that she was gifted with the power to walk on water as well as to work miracles, believing she could drown herself and come to life again. After being placed in an asylum she became worse, and was being taken to a place near her own home when she escaped from her husband, thinking he was going to take her back to the asylum. After she escaped she either fell into a small creek or open drain, or, as was thought by many, tried to walk over the water. She was unhurt in this escapade, and did not receive a mark, bruise or scratch. When she was found by her husband she had simply walked into the water and got wet. Before her own father, mother, brother, sister and seven other witnesses she stated that she had of her own accord and free will gone into the water after she had run away from her husband, and attempted to do the same thing at her own house afterwards. Sometime afterwards Mrs. Mrs. Hooper died, and it was thought that she committed suicide. Her husband, J. R Hooper, demanded an inquest as the accounts of her escapades might look suspicious. The result of the inquest and the the trial was a clear vindication of J. R. Hooper who was honourably acquitted. The best experts in Canada proved that Mrs. Hooper had not taken or been given anything to cause her last illness, which brought on death by syncope of the heart. Contrary to the opinion of most eminent judges and lawyers, Hooper was again tried on the same evidence on the charge of being guilty of "attempting to drown his wife." In court the jury were told that it was not necessary to believe or to think Hooper had actually tried with his own hands to drown his wife, but if he had left her in a position where she, in her insanity, might be exposed to danger, then Hooper was to be held equally guilty. The foreman of the jury has since stated that the verdict would have been different had they known at the trial what they know now. The insanity of Mrs. Hooper was hereditary. Her brother jumped out of a window and escaped to the woods in the depth of winter, partly clothed. It caused his death, yet those in whose care he was at the time were not condemned for allowing him to escape, or for leaving him in an exposed position. It was proven at the trial that Hooper always gave his wife the greatest consideration and kindest care, and this his wife maintained up to her death in her periods of sanity.

Thanking you for space, I remain,

Very truly yours,

W. H. G. ARMSTRONG.

RIDING IN BOX CARS.

Harvesters Who Went West Travelling in Hard Luck.

Anyone who has viewed the state of affairs in our city since Thursday last, says the Brandon Sun, will be quite ready to agree with us that it is possible to get too much of a good thing. Harvesters' excursions when carried on within proper limits are a boon to the province, but when overdone, as they have been this year, they re-act to the detriment of the province, and cause loss of both time and money to those who have come out on them. On Saturday afternoon fully one hundred men were down on the C. P. R. platform, and inside of another hour ten cars, crowded to the doors, came to add their numbers to the crowd unemployed. On Saturday night it is said that one hundred and fifty men slept out, some because they could not secure lodgings and others because they had a very small amount of cash left, and, seeing the blue outlook ahead, they preferred to save their money for food and so slept in the open air.

The men are not tramps, and must not be confounded with them because they are unshaven and don't feel particularly jubilant. In many cases they are the sons of respectable eastern farmers, who came up here under the belief that farmers with lumber wagons would be in waiting at the station, and all they would have to do would be to climb in. For these reasons many who would have brought a supply of ready money with them did not do so, and now unless they get work or receive aid from the east they are in a bad way. It may be said that they will all get work eventually, but this looks doubtful at present. It is estimated that 2,000 or 2,500 men at the outside, would have been sufficient, and instead of this number 6,000 came. These men say that they were told that Manitoba had been drained by the demand for the Crow's Nest Pass, and that 5,000 men would be able to get employment at from $35 to $40 per month in taking off the crops here. In a few days most of them will be out of the city, and people may think the trouble is over, but if looked into it will be found that many of them are working at starvation wages. About sixty went out by the N. P. yesterday in box cars, and fully one hundred more on the Souris branch, but large numbers are still in the city. These should be advised if possible to work away from the railways to places where the demand exists, and there has not been the same surfeit in the supply.

FRAUD IN CHEESE TRADE.

A MONTREAL FIRM ACCUSED OF ILLEGAL DEALINGS.

Bristol Provision Trade Association Takes it Up—Montreal Association can do Nothing in the Case.

(Montreal Star.)

A matter which has caused almost endless discussion among the cheese interests of not only Montreal, but Canada at large, was taken up at the meeting of the Butter and Cheese Association Executive yesterday afternoon. This was the substitution of one brand of cheese for another in the English market. It seems that this has been practised, so it is alleged, much to the detriment of the whole Canadian trade.

The secretary of the Bristol Provision Trade Association wrote the Board of Trade here as follows:

"I am instructed by my Association to call your attention to the fact that a circular was issued in July, 1897, by J. C. & G. D. Warrington, of your city, in which they state that certain gentlemen on your side are shipping French cheese worth 7c per lb, with the original marks scraped off and branded finest Brockville cheese, C. W. & C.," and also in the same circular: "We have seen French cheese branded 'Perth Gems.'"

Now, Perth makes the finest cheese in Canada, bar none, and this is the grossest fraud and robbery. Monalea factories are being scraped and shipped as Brock Gems. This is another barefaced swindle. We only know of one factory (East Matilda) that brand their cheese "Brockville section."

The letter goes on to state that these allegations are being published broadcast throughout England. Regarding the charge that cheap cheese is being substituted for finest Brockville cheese in England, the letter goes on to cite an instance in which the Bristol houses purchased of a Montreal firm 1 500 boxes "finest white Canadian cheese, Brockville section, June make." The Bristol firm were afterwards notified by cable that other goods than Brockville were being shipped to them, and cancelled the contract with the shipping agent in Bristol. The cheese was eventually sold for account of the Montreal shippers, the buyers receiving one shilling per 100 pounds indemnity for non-fulfillment of contract.

The Bristol Association then asks that the Montreal association take the matter up in order to prevent a re-occurrence.

Copies of the contracts, etc., between Messrs. Geo. Widgery & Company, of Bristol, and the Montreal Shippers, were also enclosed by the shippers of the Bristol Board.

After discussing the situation yesterday, the Executive of the Butter and Cheese Association concluded that they could take no action in the matter, as the Montreal firm was not a member of the Association and therefore beyond their control.

The London, England, Grocer, of Aug. 14, devotes a large amount of space to the affair, publishing the letters and circulars in full.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Messrs. James and Neil returned this morning from Rice Lake and report the ducks scarce. They got one brace.

—The Chief of Police wants an owner for a parasol left in the vehicle of Mr. M. Y. Crowley yesterday. Apply at police station.

—Frank Leslie was sent to Cobourg by the Relief Officer this morning. The man is afflicted with St. Vitus' dance, and was unable to support himself, so he was sent home.

—Mr. F. W. Hodson, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, has made arrangements with Mr. H. J. Hill, manager of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, to occupy a tent as an office, on the fair grounds from September 1st to 10th. It will be located east of the cattle ring, and just in front of the horse and cattle sheds, on the site occupied last year. Associations connected with agriculture and fruit growing are at liverty to use the tent, free of charge, for holding public meetings, for which ample accommodation will be provided.

—The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—The suggestion is made by an esteemed citizen that as it appears out of the question to get a railway here by land, we try the next best thing and bring the railway here by boat. His idea is that an arrangement should be made with the Grand Trunk to permit of cars being run on to scows at Lindsay, and towed here for loading. The saving accomplished is in handling and cartage, items that double the cost of transportation. The gain to the village that is calculated would arise is in the opening of a market for the purchase and shipping of grain, cattle, etc. The suggestion is well worth considering and enquiring into. It would not be a difficult or expensive matter to fit the wharves and scows for the transportation of cars.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

BASABELL.

Those who do not go out of town on Labour Day will have the opportunity of witnessing two fine games of baseball, as arrangements have been made by the Park Nine to bring the Cobourg team here for the day. In the morning a game will be called at 10 o'clock, and the afternoon's game will begin at 3 o'clock. The Park Nine just won by one run from Cobourg when playing at Jubilee Point the other day, so that the Labour Day games will doubtless be close and exciting.

LACROSSE.

The members of the local team are practising every evening and will be in in fine shape for their game in Orillia on Labour Day. It is expected that four or five hundred of the citizens will accompany them on their trip, as arrangements have been made to offer a special rate of $1.00. A large number of ladies proposed taking in the trip. The train leaves at 8 10 a.m., and arrives in Peterborough at 8 50 p.m.

Brampton won from the Tecumsehs yesterday 4 goals to 2.

Marmora refused to finish the match with Madoc yesterday. The score at the time was 2 to 1 in Madoc's favour, and Madoc wins the Quinte District championship.

WET WHEELING.

It is too much of a good thing. That is, the water on George street from Edinburgh street to Smith street. Bicyclists complain that by excess of water the street is rendered so sloppy that it is impossible to use a wheel. This is wrong—involving three fold waste, waste of water, waste of time and waste of enjoyment and, it might be added, waste of ill-temper on the part of the cyclist. It is to be hoped that the street watering contractor need only to have his attention called to the matter to remedy the grievance, which is a great one to cyclists.

CANOEING.

The International Paddling Trophy race will be paddled for in Toronto on Saturday on the course of the Toronto Canoe Club. The best paddlers of the American continent will be present to take part. The Americans will have three representatives and the Canadians will be represented by Mr. D'Arcy Scott of Ottawa, the American Canoe Association champion, and Messrs. D. H. McDougall and J. M. McNicholl, of Toronto. Mr. King, of Boston, Mass., the present holder of the cup, will be present but will not compete.

THE WHEEL.

Mr. R. H. Kells has established a record for the distance between here and Millbrook. The other evening he negotiated the seventeen miles on his wheel in an hour and eleven minutes.

The riders across the line have given up match racing and are sticking close to the National Circuit. The racing season is coming to a close in the North, and the men want to be represented in the championships at the close of the year. The circuit will be continued throughout the south in all probability, but there are a few who will not go on this circuit.

Last year Bald secured the top of the championship tables in the last race of the year at Washington. Both Tom Cooper and Tom Butler were in the lead of Bald, and Bald made a hard fight towards the close of the season, and secured the championship only by the very narrowest of margins. In fact so close was the decision as regards to who had the championship, that a dispute arose which continued throughout the whole winter and long into the spring of '97. This year Bald intends to leave no dispute as to who really is the champion. He is taking the best care of himself, and he never rode better in his life than he does at the present time.

E. C. Bald occupies the top in the percentage and in the points table. He is rapidly gaining over his fellow-competitors in points and percentage, and if his upward course is not checked in a short time he will be out of the reach of the other men. He now has 15 points the lead of any man, which means that four first places must be won on the National Circuit ere he could be headed, and that he must not win one place. This, of course, would be impossibe. The tables are as follows:

PERCENTAGE TABLE.

	Sts.	Defeated.	Defeated by.	P C
Bald	26	142	26	.845
Kiser	14	68	14	.829

KINMOUNT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

What is the matter with the local mining experts in this district? We hear of gold in Klondyke, Stony Lake and other places, but nothing of the mines at our very door. Does this silence bode good or evil, or are our mines so insignificant as not to be worthy of at least a passing thought?

Those interested in the latest styles of dresses will be pleased to hear that Miss Foley has again resumed business after a short vacation.

Owing to the return of an absent brother there has been great rejoicing in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Foley. The many friends of their eldest son Frank extended him a warm welcome on his return from Hartford and Waterbury, Conn., where he has been an honoured member of the Brotherhood of Trainmen.

The holiday season also brought Mr. T. Byrne, of Minneapolis, Minn., who has been engaged in the milk business. He is a true sample of our Canadian boys, and is at present visiting Mr. and Mrs. Martin Byrne, of Sommerville. It is pleasant to see the friendly relations existing between our Canadian and American cousins.

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

MR. OGILVIE TALKS

About the Wonderful Wealth of the Klondike.

THEMAN WHO STAYS ON THE FARM

Is Better Off Than the Placer Miner, in the Opinion of the Surveyor The Richest Mining Area in the World But the Difficulties are Great.

Seattle, Aug. 31. Mr. William Ogilvie, official surveyor in the Northwest Territories for the Dominion Government, has made the following statement to a reporter. In 1887 I was sent in by the Canadian Government to determine astronomically where the 141st meridian crossed the Yukon River. A rough survey was made to determine the position of the boundary on Forty Mile River. It was not deemed necessary to make an accurate survey, my only object being to give the people of the country a rough idea of about where the boundary was on Forty Mile River.

In 1889 Mr. McGrath of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey Corps, was sent in to determine on behalf of the United States the same point. He remained in the country two winters, and appeared to have been unfortunate with respect to the weather. The result of his observations, he told me, was to locate the 141st meridian a little further down the river than I had done.

There never was any dispute, never was cause for any dispute, and between two civilized, fairly honest peoples, there can never be any dispute. The two Governments concerned, I believe, agreed to split the difference between Mr. McGrath's determination and my own, so the question is practically settled, so far as this vicinity is concerned, at least. My line is now plainly marked on the ground, and the worst thing that can happen is that a joint commission may move it a handful of feet one way or the other, probably to the westward. But even assuming that it were moved eastward a mile from where I have marked it, it would affect no claim or right or interest now known in the country.

Man Who Stays at Home.

My experience is, and I have had considerable, that the man who stays at home and plods on his farm, or in the shop, or in the office, is, in a vast majority of cases, better off, healthier, physically and morally, has had indubitably more enjoyment of life, and has answered the end of nature or God vastly more completely than the man who devotes his life to the culling of every-day placer gold mining. But then somebody must do it, and let us give all honor to those who do it, as befits a man. But to cap this. Let me speak of the probable extent of the gold-bearing region. Gold has been found in a certain zone in British Columbia, running through the Cariboo and Cassiar districts. Project the axis of this zone northwesterly, and we reach Teslin Lake, Hootalinqua River, Stewart River, Indian Creek, Treasondike, Sixty Mile, Forty Mile, American Creek, Seventy Mile and Birch Creek. Now, it is highly improbable that gold being found at all these points, the intervening spaces are barren, and we will do no more than say generally that we have a zone of upwards of 500 miles in length, some of it in Alaska, more of it in the Canadian Northwest Territories, and much of it in British Columbia, which will yet be the scene of numerous mining enterprises, both placer and quartz, the latter practically inexhaustible. This country under more favorable conditions would be the richest and most extensive mining area in the world.

What are the conditions? Well, first, pretty nearly nine months' winter; barrenness almost total, as far as a vegetable supply of food is concerned; the earth bound in eternal frost; intense cold during the winter months, with the thermometer often reaching 60 to 70 degrees below zero, 50 degrees frequently, 40 degrees almost daily; in the summer, occasional warm days, succeeded by cool days, almost verging on freezing; a country practically unfitted for roads other than pack track; the streams swift and shallow, the Yukon excepted, very few of them being fit for other than small-boat navigation. Notwithstanding all this, which will be conceded as serious, we have here a wide field for profitable investment, and room for thousands of happy, contented, cultivated homes.

Given some moderately easy, cheap and quick access to the country, it will immediately spring into importance. The present mode of taking supplies into the country via St. Michael, thence up the Yukon 1500 to 1800 miles on steamers against a strong current the greater part of the way, and that only for, say, four months in the year, with little or no return cargo, no one will contend is either cheap or quick. The question of a road from some point in southwestern Alaska to some point on the navigable waters of the river I cannot at present publicly discuss, but it would seem that the proper and full development of the country depends much on the success of some such scheme.

Before closing a few remarks may be made upon the political situation of the ground. On the early maps published by the United States authorities of this country, Fort Reliance was shown well west of the 141st meridian, which as far as the interior portion of this continent is concerned is the boundary line between British and American territory. That is a question beyond cavil or dispute. Determine where the 141st meridian is at any point and we know where the boundary is.

Even in the more civilized parts of the country, with pleasant evenings in which to observe and telegraph communications, is a tedious task requiring only a few evenings, work by two or more observers, an interchange of signals by telegraph, the mathematical reduction of the observations, and the work is done, but here it assumes a more formidable and strenuous task, with a much larger probable error in the results. The only available method of determining the position of any point of longitude in the north at the present time is by observation of the moon in conjunction with the stars.

During the summer months this is impracticable for the reason that the moon is during the time best suited for observing that is, from the first to the last quarter either below the horizon or so near it that observations of it are out of question.

Then, too, the smaller stars are invisible during the continual daylight or twilight extending over this period, so the poor astronomer deputed to do this work has to do it during the winter half of the year. In the months of October and November the sky is generally clouded. This precludes work of that description.

Working Below Zero.

In December we have clear weather, very often beautifully clear nights, but excessively cold. Fancy an observatory in which all proper artificial heating have to be carefully avoided, with the thermometer 40 and 50 degrees below zero, the observer dressed in furs to such an extent that he can hardly see or hear, and both of these senses required to be very acute in observations of this kind. Fancy this observer standing from one to two hours almost perfectly still, listening intently for the beat of his chronometer, guarding zealously against directing his breath against any part of his instrument, where it would instantly congeal and perhaps spoil his work, avoiding standing too close to his instrument, that the heat from his body may not interfere with its adjustment or level, errors from which are terribly prominent under these conditions; writing his records with almost or wholly bare hands on a tablet that feels like fire, with fingers so benumbed that the characters on the tablet are most undecipherable, and if the observer does not as soon as possible after the evening's observations are completed transcribe them into legible form while it is still fresh in his memory it would often be difficult to make out what is intended.

Now, let us suppose it requires a score or more observations of this kind, the more the better, to determine with reasonable accuracy the longitude of any given point. Let us add to this the fact that the system itself, under the most favorable conditions, leaves a much larger probable error, as it is termed, or in other words, uncertainty, as to the position assigned to the point, than by the first mentioned method of star transit and the electric telegraph, and we need not be surprised if two observers, equally capable, equally experienced and perfectly honest, differ several hundred feet in their results. It would be unreasonable to expect them to agree. So much for the systems.

BASEBALL RECORD.

HITTING ALWAYS WINS.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 31.—After Springfield had batted in eight runs in the second inning, Manager Irwin put Catcher Snyder in to pitch, and the home team added two more, making the score 9 to 2 against Toronto. In the last half of the third they went at Korwan and banged everything that went over the plate. Four hits and three passes to first scored six runs. Mains was then substituted, but the visitors easily slaughtered him, and won out easily, while Norton pitched the home team to a standstill. A feature of the game was a triple play, worked in by Wagner, Taylor and McGann. Score:

Toronto	2 0 0 0 2 4 1 0 x—15
Springfield	1 8 2 0 0 0 0 0 0—11

At Wilkes-Barre—Keenan had Montreal completely at his mercy. The five hits the visitors made were scattered and failed to net a single run. The home team fielded sharply and ran bases well. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Wilkes-Barre	0	1 0 1 0 3 1—	7 11 1
Montreal	0	0 0 0 0 0 0—	0 5 3

Batteries—Keenan and Gonding; Yerrick and McNamara.

At Scranton—At every point Scranton was out-played by Syracuse. Gilton's pitching was better than the detailed score indicates, but he was poorly supported. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Scranton	1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0—	3	5 6
Syracuse	0 0 0 4 3 0 0 0 3—	10	11 1

Batteries—Gilton and Boyd; Lampe and Ryan.

At Providence—The victory of Providence over Buffalo in a 12-innings battle was brought about by one of the finest pieces of nervy, strategic pitching by Jack Egan that was ever witnessed in this city. Twice Buffalo had a lead and twice Providence managed to make a tie. Eight times, when Buffalo had men on bases, Egan put three strikes on the batsmen. Five times when there was a Bison on third and ready to score on any ball hit, Egan struck out the man at bat. Three times Egan put strikes on two men in succession, with one on third base. Gray pitched great ball for Buffalo, too, but his rival in pitching proved his bete noir at the bat. Egan batted in the two runs that tied the score the first time; he scored the run that made the second time, and he also scored the winning run. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	0 0 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—	3	10 2

Batteries—Egan and Dixon; Gray and Urquhart.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York, Aug. 31.—The Reds fell down before the Giants in two games this afternoon. They got four runs in the first innings of the first game and one more in the fourth. They held their advantage over the New Yorks until the fifth, when two hits and two errors netted the Giants three runs, tieing the score. After five errors of the Cincinnatis permitted the New Yorks to win the game. Rhines pitched winning ball, while Rusie was easy.

The second game was a walk-over affair, for the Giants hit Breitenstein almost at will and Cincinnati could do nothing with Meekin. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
New York	0 0 1 1 3 1 0 0 1—	7	10 4
Cincinnati	4 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1—	6	15 6

Batteries—Rusie and Warner; Rhines and Vaughn.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
New York	0 0 1 1 1 3 3-	9	13 0
Cincinnati	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—	1	6 2

Game called on account of darkness.

Batteries—Meekin and Warner; Breitenstein and Peltz.

At Boston—The Bostons narrowly escaped a defeat as Chicago had the game well in hand when bad errors and a few lucky hits allowed the home team to tie the score, and after two extra and exciting innings, the game was called on account of darkness. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	0 0 1 0 3 0 0 1 2 1 0—	8	14 4
Chicago	0 2 0 0 1 0 2 0 2 1 0—	8	11 6

Batteries—Klobedanz and Bergen; Briggs and Kittridge.

At Philadelphia In a pitchers' battle Taylor got a little the better of the argument, and Philadelphia won out in the last innings on Cross' three-bagger and McFarland's single. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Louisville	0 0 1 0 0 0 2 1 0—	4	6 3
Philadelphia	0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1 1—	5	8 4

Batteries—Hill and Wilson; Taylor and McFarland.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

Bulls scarce. Mr. Zeagman bought two, one weighing 1600 lbs. and another 1470 lbs., for which he paid $4 per cwt.

Milk cows sold fairly well and choice ones are wanted. There were about 12 on the market, which sold at $20 to $40.

Export sheep sold as follows: Ewes $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt., bucks $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt. Lambs sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt. and $2.75 to $3.25 each. A few of extra weight and quality brought $3.50 each. There was a large run of lambs, more than was needed.

P. McConvey sold 100 lambs, weighing 85 lbs. each, at $4.10 per cwt. and 50 ewes at $3.50 per cwt. D. O'Leary had 35 extra fine sheep, which sold at $3.50 per cwt.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

There is no sadder sight than that of the orphan-child bereft of the loving care of a mother. If women would but learn the vital importance of taking proper care of their health, and always look after the health and vigor of the organs distinctly feminine, the pitiful Sabbath day procession of motherless children that goes to the cemetery to "put flowers on ma-ma's grave" would be materially reduced in numbers. Too many women bring a child into the world at the sacrifice of their own life. This sad tragedy may be avoided by any women who will resort to the right remedy.

The usual dangers of maternity are banished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly and only on the important and delicate organs that bear the burdens of motherhood. It makes them healthy and strong, vigorous and elastic. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period, insures the health of the newcomer, and makes its advent free from danger and almost free from pain. Over 90,000 have testified to its virtues. Druggists who offer substitutes are untrustworthy.

Mrs. William Vincent, of Sidnaw, Houghton Co., Mich., (care Birgland's Camp Box B), writes: "When I first began to take your 'Favorite Prescription,' four years ago, I was suffering with local weakness and heart trouble. At times I could hardly endure the pain in my sides, quite low down, and had such a pain between my shoulders I could not sleep at night. Was just as tired in the morning as at night. At times there was a very sharp pain around my heart. When I would sleep over there was a dull aching just under the heart. My head ached and was continually sore to the touch. I took ten bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can most truly say that as a result I never felt better in my life. I was more like a young girl than a mother of a family. The pain all left me, so I know that your medicines will do all that medicine can do."

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

WARFARE OF CLASSES.

Modern Football Mere Play to Yale's Old Freshman-Sophomore Struggle.

The organization and development of intercollegiate athletics now absorb much of the energy that used to be given to the furious internecine warfare of classes. From time immemorial there were mighty games of football on the New Haven green, in which whole classes engaged. The freshmen posted their formal challenge on the bulletin of lyceum, and the supercilious acceptance of the sophomores named the day for the struggle. "Come," cried the class of '60,

And like sacrifices in their trim
To the fire eyed maid of smoky war,
All hot and bleeding will we offer you.

And the Tyrtæus of '58 cheered his mates with the noble lines:

Let them come on, the baseborn crew!
Each soil stained churl—alack!

What gain they but a splitten skull,
A sod for their base hook!

On the bloody day appointed both sides massed in heavy column with Napoleonic tactcis, while the New Haven fathers surrounded the field. When the round leather ball was kicked, 200 men clashed together in frantic, shoving, dusty, roaring chaos, the one side striving to kick the ball to the Chapel street fence, the other to force it to the steps of the statehouse. Swift runners hung upon the outskirts to seize the ball chance directed to their feet, and hurry it amid full gazing applause to the goal. But it was in the middle press where deeds were uncrowned, where shirts became streamers and rib squeezed rib until they cracked, that the heroes of war and the college bully were to be found. From this Titanic struggle the degenerates of today have evolved the emasculated game which they call football, a wretched sort of parlor pastime! —Judge Henry E. Howland in Scribner's.

Always Felt Tired.

"I suffered with severe headache and loss of appetite and I always felt tired. I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking one bottle my headache disappeared. I continued taking it until now I am never troubled with headache and my appetite is good." LAURA GARLAND, 247 Claremont St., Toronto, Ont.

SIX MESSAGES ON A WIRE.

The Inventor Explains His Wonderful Sextuplex Telegraph.

Thomas Burton Dixon, the inventor of the sextuplex system of telegraphing tested at Boston during the past week, is from Henderson, Ky. His right sleeve hangs empty at his side as a result of trifling with a gun in boyhood. He is 32 years old, though he looks much younger.

The last nine years he has spent in work upon electrical inventions, his first efforts being devoted to a system of automatic railway signals, on which he holds fifteen patents. Then he became interested in multiplex telegraphy, and for four or five years has devoted all his attention to it. He is not even a practical telegraph operator, but his deft, exact touch in the difficult adjustment of the delicate instruments betokens the enthusiast. Being asked to explain his invention in language stripped so far as possible of technical terms, Mr. Dixon said:

"The development of the duplex and quadruplex systems of telegraphy naturally led to attempt to produce a sextuplex system as the next step in the direction of increasing the capacity of telegraph line for carrying messages. The difficulties which have existed in the working of the quadruplex since it became a practical apparatus have been due mainly to the fact that its theory calls for a division of the current at each end of the line into two parts. This results in a reduction of the working margins of the receiving instruments so that what is known as the polar or first side has a working current of only about one-third of the total current employed. The neutral or second side has a similar reduction in margin, and, in addition, has a difficulty introduced which tends to mutilate the originals and in telegraph parlance is termed the 'kick.'

"This 'kick' on long lines becomes so great, owing to its prolongation by the electrostatic capacity of the line and the low working margin of the instrument affected by it, that the limitations in length of line over which it is feasible to work quadruplex have been reached soon as compared with the single wire and duplex systems. All attempts to further divide the current so as to produce a sextuplex and send three messages each way over one wire have been, according to the general verdict of experts, unsuccessful. The methods suggested invariably gave the sextuplex a much lower margin and a greatly increased tendency to interference between the different sides, due to the 'kick' of several instruments as against that of one in the quadruplex. As the difficulties of the quadruplex have become generally recognized by practical telegraphers as entirely adequate to tax to the utmost the skill of the best men, it is not strange that they have learned to regard any attempt to go beyond the 'quad' as visionary and impracticable. Their conclusion regarding attempts to build, as it were, upon the present quadruplex is perfectly correct.

"It occurred to me after arriving at an understanding of the conditions involved that the only hope for a sextuplex was to first get a quadruplex which would be operative under the conditions of practical service, yet on a given potential would have the same margins as the single wire and polar duplex system. This result I attained by devising a quadruplex system which would operate upon a single potential without division of the current at each end of the line. By this means I have been able to operate a quadruplex, other things being equal, on less than two-thirds of the current required by the old quadruplex system, and to get on the polar side a margin equivalent to the entire current strength, while on the neutral side I get the same margin as would result from the same current on an ordinary single wire, and at the same time to reduce the 'kick' or tendency to interference 50 per cent.

"As a matter of fact one-third of the current in the quadruplex systems in use is entirely wasted. In my quadruplex there is no waste of current. Hence I am enabled to utilize the current, which in the old quadruplex systems is wasted, to send an additional message each way. My quadruplex system has been fully demonstrated to be operative upon lines more than a thousand miles in length, a line 1300 miles long having been worked quadruplex without interference. This line was a loop over separate pole lines from Boston to Buffalo, back to Boston, from Boston to New Haven and back to Boston again, a total distance of more than 1300 miles.

"By taking the potential required to operate my quadruplex over this extreme length of wire and dividing it, so as to get two strengths of current in the line, I have been able to operate a sextuplex satisfactorily over lines between three and four hundred miles in length, and to demonstrate that, with properly constructed and proportioned instruments, I can operate a line sextuplex on the same potential over about one-third the distance covered by my quadruplex.

"I am entirely satisfied from my experiments that my sextuplex will prove to be operative over substantially all lines now operated as quadruplexes, and that my quadruplex will prove to be operative over all lines now restricted to duplex working. A great advantage must result from working many long lines quadruplex without the necessity of repeaters in the circuit. Repeaters involve complication, delay and great expense. With my system lines between New York and Chicago can be operated quadruplex direct, and by interposing repeaters may be operated sextuplex. The conclusion resulting from facts thus far demonstrated is that the substitution by my quadruplex and sextuplex systems for the duplex and quadruplex circuits now operated will double the carrying capacity of the wires involved."—New York Sun.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give one temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

Symptoms—Moisture intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumour. All druggists or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman Sons & Co. Breathing Exercise.

The following are some excellent rules for improving the respiration and bringing it up to a normal condition: Stand in an open window or recline on a couch, with the waist and chest muscles free; hold the chest walls high and inhale in slow, long breaths, exhale as slowly, three times only at first. Gradually the number of times may be increased and the time lengthened for the breathing exercises. Fifteen minutes twice a day at least should be devoted to this exercise to accomplish the desired result.—Farmers' Review.

Providence, Sept. 1.—Providence defeated Toronto to-day in a well played and interesting game. Divsen was hit hard in the fourth and fifth and was then relieved by Gaston. Score:

Providence	0 0 0 4 2 0 0 2 0—8
Toronto	3 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—5

At Springfield—Springfield and Buffalo drew over 4000 people away from the firemen's muster by playing a double header. They broke even. Buffalo won the first game by bunching hits on Dolan in the fourth, and came nearly losing it on Wise's errors. Brown tried to pitch both games, but the home team batted him hard in the second game, and Kearwan, with perfect support, shut out the Bisons. He came within one of tieing his own season's strike-out record, made against Montreal. The scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.

At Wilkes-Barre—The game between Wilkes-Barre and Syracuse was hotly contested. The visitors got only two hits off Odwell, Smith's single and Gonding's two errors enabling Syracuse to score two runs in the fourth. Malarkey pitched good ball and had perfect support. Buckenberger's men displayed a good deal of rowdyism, and, for abuse of the umpire, Schelbeck was put out of the game in the seventh inning. Score:

Syracuse	0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 x—2	2	0

At Scranton—Costly Scranton errors and timely hitting gave Montreal the day's game. A bunt and a grounder, stopped by Sullivan, were the only hits off Harper up to the eighth inning, when a base on balls, Bonner's error and three hits for four bases gave the visitors three runs and the game. Des Moines Miners Went Out in Sympathy With the Carbondale Men.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 1.—The threatened miners' strike in this district culminated to-day, and all miners, except about 200 employed in Christy Flint Valley and Des Moines Coal and Mining Company's mines, went out, following the lead of the Carbondale miners of several days ago. It was decided by a meeting held to-day to stand by the demand for $1 a ton. A conference committee was appointed to confer with the operators. About 800 men are out. The operators issued a statement a few days ago, refusing to grant the prices asked by the miners, and it is reasonably certain they will not give in. The present price is 75c and 85c, and the operators may grant 80c, with a possibility of going to 90c.

YACHT'S BOILER EXPLODED.

Several Persons Were Injured on Lake Champlain Yesterday.

Whitehall, N.Y., Sept. 1.—The boiler of the yacht Winona, owned by Del Halloway of Langsingburg, exploded about noon to-day opposite Fort Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain. There was a party of twelve persons on board. J. C. Debaun and wife, Miss Libbie O'Sullivan, Mr. Halloway and Herbert Brewster were severely burned. Mr. Halloway being hurled over forty feet into the lake. Through the heroic efforts of Mr. Brewster, the members of the party were kept safe until help reached them. They were taken to the hotel at Fort Ticonderoga, where medical aid was rendered.

FLOATER AT BURK'S FALLS.

The Body of a Man Found Face Downward in an Advanced State of Decomposition.

Burk's Falls, Ont., Sept. 1.—At 7 o'clock this morning Chief Constable Walford Taylor found floating in the river among some logs a few feet below the road bridge, above the falls, the body of a man, face downward. On being pulled to the river bank, the body was identified as that of William Baxter, who has been working at various obs in the lumber woods about here, and of late on the farms of Fred Brasher and D. F. Burk. Coroner H. L. Barber, M. D., was promptly summoned to the spot. The bloody and ghastly appearance of the face warranted a full investigation which was made by the coroner's jury and a post mortem examination by Drs. Crawford and Caughell. The post mortem examination gave no evidence of violence other than that the man must have been dead or semi-conscious before entering the river, from the fact that there was no water in the stomach, which would have been otherwise full. Decomposition rendered it impossible to get any positive evidence from the state of the lungs. The evidence of the principal witnesses showed that deceased was last seen on Tuesday night, Aug. 23, between 8 and 10 o'clock, standing within a few feet of the edge of the river, in a state of intoxication, holding by the fence, for upwards of two hours in the rain, refusing to leave the spot or accept any assistance. He had evidently staggered into the river and was drowned.

The verdict of the jury was that deceased came to his death by drowning while under the influence of liquor.

His brother, Frank Baxter of Peterboro, visited the authorities here to ship the body to his home in Peterboro, but owing to the advanced stage of decomposition this could not be done, and the relatives gave instructions to have the body interred here. The burial took place to-night by starlight.

NEGROES TOLD TO "GIT."

White People of Elwood, Indiana, Will Not Tolerate Black Residents.

Elwood, Ind., Sept. 1.—All negroes residing in Elwood have been warned to leave, and serious trouble is threatened if they are not gone by the middle of this week. On numerous occasions during the past 12 years colored people have made efforts to establish permanent residences here, but were invariably driven away. Two months ago a colony of fifty negroes came here and expressed a determination to brave all danger and make Elwood their home. A number secured employment and then warnings began to be served on them. A few of them departed, but the others remained.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect;

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life.
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come,
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS. will bring all your trade.

Boys' Boots and Shoes, Boys' Hats and Caps, Boys' Underwear, Boys' Hosiery, Boys' Collars, Boys' Handkerchiefs, Boys' Neckties, Boys' Braces, &c. Everything he'll want, from a Suit to a Shirt, strong and good.

THE EVIDENCE GIVEN BY DR. PARK

He Believes the Man Died From Arsenical Poison Dr. Harrison Agreed With Him—The Aged Mother of the Dead Man Tells Her Story in Detail.

Cayuga, Sept. 2.—After several weeks of delay and being remanded again and again, Mrs. Sternaman's preliminary trial on the charge of poisoning her husband, commenced before A. A. Davis, J.P., this morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Sternaman was represented by W. M. German, Q.C., of Welland and C. W. Colter, Crown Attorney, assisted by Detective Murray, represented the interests of the Crown. Mrs. Sternaman seemed to take great interest in the case and watched every move of her lawyers. She was neatly attired in black, and wore a light black veil. At times her face took on a sad look, but as a rule looked very pleasant. Quite a number were present to hear the proceedings.

Dr. Park was the only witness called this morning, and testified that he diagnosed Sternaman's illness as arsenical poisoning.

After court was resumed this afternoon Dr. Park of Fisherville was further examined. He said: "Dr. Harrison and Dr. Thompson were present at the post mortem, when the various garments were removed for examination. The parts removed were placed in jars and sealed by Coroner Thompson. They were in a good state of preservation. There did not appear to have been any leakage from the body since the first post mortem. Food taken into the stomach in the ordinary way would not remain more than seven hours, but as an extreme time it might stay two or three days. In view of deceased's history and of the circumstances of his death, together with the results of the post mortem, he had no hesitation to express the opinion that George Sternaman died from the effects of arsenic. There is no disease known that would account for all the symptoms, but there are diseases which might account for some of the symptoms. If arsenic was found in the fluid contents of the stomach, it must have been administered within two or three days of death."

On cross-examination by Mr. German, witness stated that he tested the urine after, but found no traces of arsenic. He said he had no information that deceased had vomited previous to his death, and on enquiry had also been told that no vomiting had taken place. Both witness and Harrison were strongly impressed with the belief that deceased was suffering from arsenical poisoning, and they made the post mortem with the expectation of finding evidences of it. They did not find any, however, but this did not change witness' opinion.

John Snyder, undertaker, Selkirk, gave evidence as to the burial of the body of George Sternaman on Aug. 19, 1896, after the doctors held their post mortem, and encased it and buried it. He did not notice any marks on the body.

Dr. David Thompson, coroner for the County of Haldimand, stated: "I had an inquest upon the body of George Sternaman. I opened the enquiry on Sept. 20, 1896, and on that occasion the jury was sworn in, the body exhumed and a post mortem held by Drs. Park and Harrison, in the presence of the jury."

Part of his evidence was similar to that of Dr. Park.

To Mr. German witness said he held the inquest under instructions from the Crown Attorney, and without any preliminary investigation. He had heard that Mrs. Sternaman, mother of George H. Sternaman, wished an inquest and

Mr. Robertson, on behalf of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, had spoken to him about the case.

Elizabeth Jane Sternaman, sworn, stated: I am the mother of George H. Sternaman, who was married on the 3rd of Feb., 1896, to Mrs. Chapman. I went to visit them when he was sick in Buffalo about the middle of July. I found my son in a very low condition. He couldn't pick up even a pocket handkerchief in his fingers; his legs were paralyzed; could draw them up but couldn't straighten them out; arms were paralyzed, but not so bad as his legs; mouth and lips were very sore; skin dark. I asked his wife about his sickness. She told me that he came home sick from his work. Prisoner said that all the food he had taken for two weeks had been injected. She said that he would vomit it taken in the natural way. I saw him vomit once after taking medicine. Dr. Frost wanted to have him taken to the hospital, but his wife objected. She gave him his medicine mainly. I remained just a week in Buffalo. I met George at the station at Cayuga when he was brought home. He was far more paralyzed than when I left him at Buffalo. His wife came with him. I fed him toast and tea once. I think on Friday I made the bread and butter myself. His nourishment was mainly toast, eggs and butter milk. The rest of the family partook of the same food and did not get ill.

George's life was insured for $1000 at the time of his marriage. He sent me papers a few days after his marriage to sign the insurance over to his wife. His wife told me before he was buried that the insurance was $770. I asked her if that was all, and she said "yes." I said she would soon apply for the insurance. She said her mother had done so already. I felt confident that George was poisoned. I was not friendly to prisoner after she married my son. I did not look in George's house for poison. His wife gave him his medicine and food. I may have given it once. I think the medicine had to be given three times a day. The sister and mother each had opportunities to give George medicine and drink. It was about three weeks after I came away that George came to Cayuga. I gave him butter milk. I did not see him vomit, but my daughter and a neighbor were in the room at the time and saw him. George asked me when in Buffalo to have a post-mortem. I did not order the post-mortem; suppose it was his wife. I did not accuse prisoner of poisoning George until the night before he was buried. At one time in Buffalo I said to Dr. Frost, "Is there foul play?" and he said no. I did not say to prisoner in Buffalo that she wouldn't care if George died, as she would get the insurance. I accused her of poisoning her first husband. I know now that prisoner ordered his post-mortem held because of my accusations. I said once that prisoner meant harm to me.

I ordered the exhumation of the body. Mr. Robertson came to see me. He came to see if it was my son who was insured. He said that nothing but arsenic or alcohol would cause such a sickness.

This concluded the evidence for the day, and court adjourned till Friday, Sept. 10, at 10 a.m.

CANADIANS NEARLY STARVED.

Sub-Collector Gibson and Northwest Mounted Policemen With Him Were Four Days Without Food.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 2.—Had it not been for the fortunate chance that took one Tacoma woman to the Klondike gold fields the Dominion Government would in all probability be mourning to-day the loss of twenty faithful servants. John Gibson, the British sub-Collector of Customs at Tagish Lake, and the Northwest Mounted Police who accompanied him, have been as close to starving as was possible for men to be and live.

They went in by way of Skaguay a month or more ago, and, being in haste to reach their post of duty, started "light" over the newly reopened trail, trusting for their supplies to the pack train that was to follow them three days later. Unluckily for them, the trail was deluged by rains a day after they had completed the most difficult part of the journey.

When George Knight of Victoria fell in with the party on Aug. 15 at a point six miles beyond the last settlement, they had been four days without food, and were in a most pitable condition. Their hands and bodies were raw and bleeding from contact with the steep and jagged rocks, their clothing was in tatters, their health had been jeopardized by the terrible stench from the dead horses and abandoned supplies along the trail, and they were in every respect at the end of their resources. The coming of Mr. Knight gave them fresh courage, and a little later their good Samaritan arrived in bloomers.

She was a Tacoma woman, who, with her husband, had attacked the hazardous journey with rare pluck and determination. Her costume, while it was that of all women whom Skaguay has yet seen, would have attracted attention in any American city, being the most rational dress, with the accompaniment of a belt from which two pearl-handled revolvers peeped. Despite her martial garb, the unfortunate police and the customs official quickly discovered that she had a kind heart, for she had no sooner discovered their position than she was at work cooking, and while the two parties passed on together, the Government men had the assurance that they should not go hungry again.

The letters which Colonel Milne received to-day from Deputy Collectors Gibson and McInness give the good news that the party reached Tagish Lake without further misadventure, and are now regularly installed and performing the duties that took them into the northern wilderness. These letters confirm the report brought down by the Islander's passengers that the American officers have been charging a duty of $30 per head on all Canadian horses passing through their territory, although it has now been arranged that these horses may go through in bond, on the understanding that they shall not be sold or hired, or made to carry more than the owner's personal goods while passing through the strip over which the Stars and Stripes fly.

This is a great setback to those who went from here to speculate in transportation with horses, and efforts will be made at once to insure some arrangements by which the restriction may be removed. Collector Milne has already written to Ottawa to see what can be done. Mr. Milne, in his latest letters, pronounces the White Pass the great highway to the Upper Yukon, and the most feasible route for a railway. Were a road, either narrow or standard gauge, to be built at once, it is his opinion that it would pay for itself within two years.

NOT THE BEST OF GOLD.

New York Assayers Claim That the Klondike Article is Not Up to the California Standard.

New York, Sept. 2.—The first consignment of gold from the far-off Klondike, so far as its intrinsic value is concerned, is disappointing to the consignees, the Bank of America.

The shipment comprised two lots. One weighed 44 45-100 ounces, and the other 10 16-100 ounces. The gold in the first lot assayed .749 fine, making its value $15.48 an ounce. The silver assayed .246 fine. The gold in the other lot assayed .820 1-2 fine, making its value $16.95 an ounce, while the silver turned out .174 fine.

California gold, which passes through the hands of the assayers here, assays .850 fine, and is worth at least $17.50 an ounce.

It being the first shipment which had reached this city, no time was lost in sending it for reduction to the assay office in Wall-street, where the fever to reach the value of the Alaska gold was so great that the wiseacres gathered, anxious to even get a look at the precious consignment. After a hasty examination of the stuff in the rough, the experts were unanimous in the opinion that, compared with either California or Madagascar gold, the Klondike wasn't in it.

Assayer Graham looked disappointed. He said the first sample of gold from the Klondike was of a very poor quality, but there was no telling what the next sample might show. Mr. Graham said there was a possibility that the shipment was made in a hurry, and perhaps ought not to be taken as a criterion.

All the Government officials who examined the gold pronounced it as far below what they expected it would be in value. Superintendent Mason, it was said, characterized it as miserable stuff.

DOMINION MILLERS

Met in Toronto and Passed Several Important Resolutions Regarding Trade Matters.

Toronto, Sept. 3.

At the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon there was a large and representative gathering, numbering about 100 Canadian millers, who were present for the annual meeting of the Dominion Millers' Association. Mr. James Cummings of Ayr was in the chair.

Some important resolutions were passed, among them being:

Moved by R. Neilson, Ayr, seconded by W. H. Meldrum, Peterboro:

"That deputation representing the Dominion Millers' Association wait upon the Dominion Government to urge upon them the desirability of making an effort to secure form the Governments of the British West India Islands and British Guiana preferential duties on Canadian goods entering these colonies, in return for preferential duties to be granted by the Government of Canada on the goods imported into Canada from such colonies."

Moved by W. B. Robson, seconded by A. H. Baird:

"That whereas the members of this association are deeply interested in a financial way, in keeping up the value and reputation of the standard grades of flour, and whereas this can only be accomplished and maintained by the use of sound wheat, therefore be it resolved that this association impress upon the Ontario Standard Board the great importance of keeping the standard grades of No. 2 red, No. 2 white, No. 2 mixed and No. 2 spring, and grades above these, entirely free from sprouted wheat while making the standard for this crop; and that two or three standard grades be made for sprouted wheat."

A resolution was passed asking the Government to prohibit the importation of adulterated flour. It was maintained that much American flour manufactured for export contained from one-tenth to one-fourth corn flour, and thus could be made cheap enough to pay the duty and still have a good profit.

The report of the Executive Committee, dealing with inferior or smutty wheat, advocated the appointment by the Government of a chief inspector of Manitoba wheat, and suggested that a man be chosen who was thoroughly conversant with the grain business and who was of strong force of character and highest integrity. The decisions of such a man, it was maintained, would have ten times more weight and influence on the Commercial prosperity of the agricultural and milling interests of Canada than the decision of the Judge of the Supreme Court.

In his report Mr. C. B. Watt, secretary of the association, referring to the duties on wheat and flour, was of the opinion that the association should endeavor to get the Government to make no change in the present duties, as there had been no special agitation for any change as far as wheat and flour duties had been concerned.

The report of Mr William Galbraith, treasurer, showed a clear balance on hand of $852.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President, S. R. Stuart, Meaford; 1st Vice-President, J. J. Hunt, London; 2nd Vice-President, R. Neilson, Ayr; Treasurer, William Galbraith, Toronto; Representative on Toronto Exposition Committee, James Goldie, Guelph; Executive Committee: A. N. Baird, Paris; James Cummings, Lyn; J. D. Flavelle, Lindsay; John Goldie, Ayr; W. H. Meldrum, Peterboro; M. McLaughlin, Toronto; J. L. Spink, Toronto.

Allison's Trial for Murder.

Galt, Sept. 2.—The preliminary hearing of James Allison, charged with the murder of Mrs. Anthony Orr, takes place before Magistrate Turnbull to-morrow. The hearing will last three or four days, as all the evidence obtainable will be taken.

UP-GRADE WORK.

THE Conservative journals have rather up-grade work in their industrious attempt to stir up dissension in the ranks of the Liberal party. We have daily circumstantial statements of serious squabbling between the Cabinet ministers. But these, as other rumours, are manufactured out of whole cloth. Reports of disagreement amongst Liberals in the matter of unimportant details are converted into rumours of party disagreement and disaffection. It natural that Conservatives should take such views. They are accustomed to take their policy and politics ready-made at the hands of their leaders—when those leaders agree—and cannot understand disagreement among Liberals on even unimportant details. But the Liberal party is united on the main policy and programme of the party as laid down by the great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier:—"This Government is a Government of business men. The only programme which we have now is to develop the prosperity of this country. Whatever may be the struggles and whatever may be the grounds on which politicians can make war upon the present Government, as for us, we have only one struggle to make, and we have only one ground on which we fight; we want one thing, and one thing only; that is to develop the resources of this country, to make its prosperity more complete than it is at present. That is our aim, that is our programme, that will be our object at all the periods of our existence as a Government."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

WELCOME back to the Capital, Sir Wilfrid. Welcome, premier of all Canada. Liberals, Conservatives, third party, and everybody else, unite in welcoming you home.—Ottawa Journal (Independent.)

AN authority states that the American silver dollar, with a purchasing power of one hundred cents, if melted down and sold in the open market, would sell for only 39½ cents. A dollar of Canadian silver coin is worth a gold dollar every day in the week.

IF it be true that United States lumber dealers are endeavouring to raise the price of lumber two dollars a thousand feet, the United States consumer will, the Montreal Herald thinks, know who pays the duty. And the Canadian exporter may not be so anxious for an export duty.

LORD KELVIN estimated the available supply of coal from British deposits at 40,000,000,000 tons. There may be a good deal more, not at present discovered or known to be available. John Bull, says the Ottawa Journal, will be able to get up a good deal of steam before he has to send across the Atlantic for his coal, as well as for beef and wheat.

ANOTHER pointer to returning prosperity: The returns of exports and imports for July show heavy gains over the same months last year, and are another indication of returning prosperity. The increase for the month in exports was no less than $5,443,000. The total trade for July, 1897, was $26,581,786, and for July, 1896, $20,978,718, an increase of $5,603,068 in one month. This is a splendid showing for the first month of the new fiscal year.

THE evils of large holdings of land are by no means confined to the Old Country. A Philadelphia, U.S., millionaire has purchased tens of thousands of acres in Colorado, and enclosed it all with a strong fence, and there are hundreds of plutocrat land grabbers like him in the United States.

THE gross debt of Canada is over 325 millions of dollars. Deducting from this the assets, we get the figures of the net debt as over 258 millions. But there are some uncomfortable items about these same assets. For instance, one item is "St. Mary's Bridge, $300,000." This is a legacy from the late Government—that iniquitous transaction to secure the election of Mr. Foster, the late Conservative Minister of Finance. The Government advanced $300,000 to the private proprietors of the bridge in question, and the latter were never called upon to pay a single cent of principal or interest. This is one of the big leaks that make us regret that our debt is so high. If we had ample value for the immense expenditure it would not be so bad. But when it is known that scores of shady transactions, like that of the Fredricton bridge, representing only spoil for the members of the Conservative Government or their friends, as well as ruinously reckless waste of the public funds, contributed to the total of our debt, the case is shameful. If circumstances justify an increase of the public debt under a Liberal Government, we may rest well assured that the best possible value will have been received.

CANADA'S PROGRESS.

Mr. John A. Cooper, editor of the Canadian Magazine, in the August number gives a statement of the progress of Canada during the Victorian era, or rather of the provinces now united under the Dominion of that name. In 1837, there were five disjointed provinces, with an area of some 500,000 square miles and a population of about 1,400,000. Now there is a united Canada, including these, and extending from ocean to ocean, with an area of 3,315,647 square miles, and a population of over 5,100,000. In 1677 Canada consisted of a few isolated colonies. Now it is a nation, united in patriotic endeavour to build up a great country from its boundless natural resources. The total foreign trade of the colonies, now in Canada, was in 1837 about $29,000,000. In 1893 it was $246,000,000. The figures given for the exports in 1837 and 1895 respectively are as follows:

Exports: Products	1837	1895
Mines	$1,000,000	$ 6,981,450
Fisheries	4,400,000	10,699,247
Forest	6,000,000	5,517,341
Agricultural products	500,000	15,719,123
Miscellaneous	700,000	85,908
Animal and products	——	34,387,770
Manufactures	——	26,144,376
Coin, bullion and short returns	——	7,625,409
Foreign products	——	6,485,034
Totals	$12,600,000	$113,638,803
Ontario	236,702	2,114,321
Quebec	553,134	1,488,535
Nova Scotia	160,000	450,396
New Brunswick	119,557	321,263
Prince Edward Island	32,292	109,078
Manitoba	——	152,506
British Columbia	——	97,173
Territories	——	98,967
Total	1,101,685	4,833,239

Better than figures, no matter how striking, is the fact that throughout the Dominion there has developed rapidly of late years a remarkable pride and confidence in the Confederation, a hearty loyalty to it east, west and centre, a determination everywhere to fearlessly maintain and promote it.

THE APPLE CROP.

Estimates of the crop of apples available for export this year vary from two hundred and fifty to five hundred thousand barrels. Last year the actual export was nine hundred thousand barrels. The difference between the unusually low prices of last year and the comparatively high prices of this year will probably bring the growers more actual net cash for the smaller quantity than there was for the large.

OVER 77 CENTS PER BUSHEL.

Manitoba Farmers are Getting a Higher Price for Their Wheat Than for Many Years—The Klondike Rush.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—(Special.)—The first large sale of this season's grain is reported from Boissevain, where some 12,000 bushels of wheat was disposed of on Wednesday. It is said the price paid was in excess of 77 cents per bushel. This is the highest price secured by the farmers of the province for many years.

Reports from Edmonton show that the total number of people starting from that point for the Klondike to date is 162, of whom 39 are from Edmonton and vicinity, 27 from other parts of Canada, and 36 from the United States. Their expenditure in outfitting averaged not less than $250 each. This $25,000 was chiefly expended in Edmonton and vicinity.

Messrs Minett and Hardi, two gentlemen who have been engaged for some time securing kinetograph scenes of Manitoba harvesting operations, have secured Premier Greenway in one of his own fields, with his coat off and sleeves rolled up, engaged in shocking grain.

The duty collected on imports into Manitoba during August was over $100,000. The chief articles on which this was paid were farm implements and binder twine.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

Orakzai Tribes Scattered by the British Forces.

INDIAN AFFAIRS LOOKING BETTER.

Mangu Occupied by Gen. Briggs' Troops—Reinforcement for Shabkadar—Germany and France Snarling at Each Other Over the Russian Alliance—Sedan Day.

Bombay, Sept. 2.—Col. Abbott, with two guns and a squadron of the 18th Bengal Lancers and the First Regiment of Sikhs, attacked 1500 of the enemy at Doabaon, on the road from Hangu to Thull, a despatch from Simla says. The Orakzais fled, but the cavalry failed to cut off their retreat. Other centres of interest are Hangu and Shabkadar, where serious fighting is imminent.

The Second Regiment of Gourkhas, with Brigadier-General Yeatman-Biggs and his staff, has arrived at Hangu. There the camp, which was open and scattered, has been transformed into a defensible position, surrounded by sheltered trenches and breastworks of earth bags. The camp has also been well supplied with stores and ammunition. According to reliable reports, there are 10,000 hostile Orakzais on the hills surrounding Hangu. General Yeatman Biggs has with him a mountain battery, the Royal Irish Regiment and five native regiments at Hangu. The 18th Bengal Lancers and the Ninth Field Battery are at Shipwari, to cut off the retreat of the enemy.

Advices from Shabkadar say that the Haddah Mullah is threatening the front of that place, where the enemy has collected in great numbers. Col. Mills, who is in command at Shabkadar, has at his disposal the 20th Punjab Infantry, the 39th Gourkhas, the 13th Bengal Lancers, a battery of field artillery and a wing of the Somersetshire Light Infantry. The balance of the Somersetshire Regiment and the 26th Punjab Infantry are on their way to reinforce Col. Mills at Shabkadar.

Col. Richardson at Sadda.

Simla, Sept. 2.—The rumor that the Indian Government is about to send a fresh letter to the Ameer of Afghanistan, regarding the alleged complicity of Afghans in the frontier uprisings, proves to be without foundation. The Ameer's first reply to the Government is regarded as satisfactory.

News has been received that the flying column, under command of Col. Richardson, has reached Sadda, thus rendering the Parachinud headquarters in the Kurram Valley safe, as Sadda commands the only route from the Orakzai country.

The news from the Kohat side is satisfactory also, the Orakzais having withdrawn from British territory, though a large force of them is still facing Samana.

The authorities have sanctioned the immediate concentration of brigades under Col. Elles at Shabkadar, to advance as a punitive force direct into the Mohmand country, and check an expected second raid of Haddah Mullah, with 4000 tribesmen. This decision has given great satisfaction, and the knowledge that the British forces have at last taken the offensive will probably have a deterrent effect on the tribes all along the frontier.

General Blood will operate with Col. Elles in this expedition.

It is reported that a punitive expedition, consisting of 20,000 men, will shortly be sent into the Afridis' country, with orders to push on to Tirah.

GERMANY IS AROUSED.

Will Demand an Explanation From France as to the Premier's Utterances.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—It is asserted upon reliable authority that the German Government will demand from France an explanation of the despatch sent by M. Meline, the French Premier, in reply to the message of congratulation of the Alsace-Lorraine Society upon the signing of the Franco-Russian alliance, in which despatch M. Meline expressed the hope of a reunion of Alsace-Lorraine with the French Republic.

Germany, it is announced, also will demand satisfaction for the excesses committed before the German Embassy in Paris on the evening of President Faure's return from his visit to Russia.

SEDAN DAY CELEBRATED.

German Papers Give France a Hint That Alsace-Lorraine Will Stay German.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—The anniversary of the Battle of Sedan was celebrated here with much less enthusiasm than usual, the evident desire being to divest the anniversary of all elements irritating to France. Flags were flying from the public buildings and the school children were given a holiday.

Still smarting under the completion of the Franco-Russian alliance, most of the leading German papers embrace the opportunity to convey to France a hint that she must abandon any idea of the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine.

The Tageblatt says that when France shall have learned to accustom herself to this irrevocable fact, the celebration of Sedan Day will be superfluous.

The Democratic organs urge the abolition of what they term a useless celebration.

The evening papers comment severely upon Premier Meline's want of tact in sending a reply to the message of congratulation of the Alsace-Lorraine Society upon the signing of the alliance, thus encouraging the members in an act which, from the German view point, involves high treason.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA

Are of Course Anxious to Develop Commercial Intercourse.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The Minister of Commerce, M. Boucher, is quoted in an interview, printed by The Gaulois to-day, as saying that the Governments of France and Russia are anxious to make every effort compatible with their economic interests to develop commercial intercourse between the two countries.

Continuing, M. Boucher said he did not entertain the least hope that Russia would abandon her protective policy, as the chief object of Russia was to draw capital into the Empire, and that policy had been crowned with success, many French, Swiss, Belgian and other manufacturers having established works in Russia. On the other hand, the aim of France was to encourage exports. Where large Government contracts could be obtained French influence had succeeded in obtaining them. For instance, contracts had recently been obtained to construct eighty locomotives for Russia and to build a new bridge over the Neva. But, he added, individual enterprise must still exert itself.

French Press More Resolute.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The attitude of the French press and public towards Germany is distinctly more resolute than it was before the Franco-Russian alliance was announced.

Various rumors concerning the Government's intentions are in circulation, among others one to the effect that upon the re-assembling of the Chamber of Deputies, M. Hanotaux, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, will make an important speech on the subject of the alliance, which will be in the nature of a manifesto, and will reverberate throughout the country, and that the Chamber will immediately adjourn, without transacting any further business.

It is also reported that the Government intends to dissolve the Chamber and appeal to the country in the assurance that the popularity of the Meline Cabinet is so great that the whole Radical Opposition will be swept away.

This effervescence is partly due to the celebration of the anniversary of Sedan Day.

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

HEART PAINS.

MESSRS. T. MILBURN & Co.,
Toronto, Ont.

DEAR SIRS,—I have suffered for some years with a smothering sensation caused by heart disease. The severity of the pains in my heart caused me much suffering. I was also very nervous, and my whole system was run down and debilitated.

Hearing of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills being a specific for these troubles, I thought I would try them, and therefore got a box at McLeod's Drug Store.

They afforded me great relief, having toned up my system and removed the distressing symptoms from which I suffered. I can heartily recommend these wonderful pills to all sufferers from heart trouble.

Not Discouraged.

A duffer of a sportsman went out partridge shooting, accompanied by an Irish keeper who was good natured enough to make all kinds of excuses for his patron's bad shots. At last the shooter, made reckless by ill success, perceived a covey of birds quietly feeding on the other side of a hedge and resolved to have a slap at them on the ground. He fired, but to his mortification they all flew away untouched. "Oh, faith," cried Pat joyfully, "begorra, sor, you made them l'ave that anyway."—Household Words.

Last November Mr. Andrew Knox caused a writ of summons to be issued against Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Webster claiming two thousand dollars damages for slander. The writ of summons was served upon Mr. and Mrs. Webster, who refused to settle the action. Mr. Knox did not proceed with the action and it was on the 20th day of May, 1897, dismissed with costs to be paid by Mr. Knox. These costs were taxed at $25.45 and were recently paid by Mr. Knox.

LABOUR DAY EXCURSION TO ORILLIA.

The Lacrosse Boys Have Made Arrangements for a Cheap Rate.

As a large number of the citizens expressed a wish to accompany the Lacrosse Club to Orillia on Labour Day to witness the last match in the semi-finals of the Canadian Lacrosse Association championship series, the Executive, after a great deal of trouble, at last succeeded in making arrangements with the Grand Trunk Railway for a special excursion rate of one dollar for the return trip.

The excursion leaves at 8.10 a.m. from the Grand Trunk depot on Monday morning next, and as it is a public holiday it is expected that a large number will accompany the lacrosse boys and cheer them on to victory.

A special coach is to be provided for the Peterborough ladies.

The game will be called at one o'clock in Orillia and the train leaves to return at 4.45 p.m., although the tickets are good until next day. Half fare will be charged for children.

In the semi-final series home and home games are played between the opposing teams, and the team which scores the greater number of goals in the two games is the victor, and is allowed to compete in the finals. In the game played here with the Orillias Tuesday last the Peterboroughs won by three goals, and therefore the Orillias, in next Monday's game, have to scores three straight goals without the Peterboroughs getting one before they can even tie us. They need four straights to win. Can they do it? Peterborough says "nit," but those who go to Orillia on Monday next will have an opportunity of seeing the Orillias try to do this very thing.

The trip is a cheap one, and all who are interested in the lacrosse club and its success should take in the excursion, and by their presence encourage the Peterborough players to their best efforts.

It was chiefly owing to the great personal efforts of Mr. Wm. Bunton, local G.T.R. ticket agent, that the cheap rate was secured. He laboured hard with the head officials to oblige the lacrosse boys.

George Riley Takes a Bad Fall From His Wheel.

Whilst scorching up the Hunter street hill last evening at about seven o'clock, Mr. George Riley, a drug student with Mr. John McKee, had the misfortune to have his wheel thrown from under him by a stick catching in the forks.

The consequent fall was a heavy one and the bicyclist will feel very sore for a week or so from the effects. His clothing was badly torn in places and as the force of the fall deprived him of consciousness for a time those who witnessed the accident thought he was killed. He was carried into Dr. Moher's where he recovered sufficiently in the course of an hour or so to to be able to be driven home.

In the police court this morning Thomas Squires, who was charged with the theft of a bag of flour from his employer, Mr. W. H. Meldrum, was discharged, Mr. Meldrum stating that he had sufficient confidence in the man to take him back into his service again. The man, it seems, was under the influence of liquor at the time the offense was committed, and as it was his first error it was condoned.

A Madoc Woman's Husbands.

A Kingston despatch says: Mrs. Angeline Wetmore, formerly Miss Angeline Cooney, of Madoc, was arrested on Friday night at Lowville, N. Y., charged with bigamy. Four years ago she was married to Frederick Hans of Marcey, but left him after a month because he got drunk and abused her. The prisoner stated that she was married about two years ago to Thos. Wetmore of Constableville. She further stated that she was housekeeper for Wetmore and would never have marrried him had she not been drugged. Her present husband compounds medicine and gave her a preparation to take about the time of the marriage. Wetmore is the complainant in the case.

Look out for Him.

A little over two weeks ago Mr. Willard Curtis, of Victoria county, had in his employ a young farm hand calling himself Dewey M. Pearce, and he would now feel gratified for news relative to his whereabouts. One Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Curtis set out to call on a friend, and Dewey undertook to look after things during their absence. When they returned some hours later the young man had disappeared, and so also had Mr. Curtis' best suit of clothes, a watch, razor and several other articles, worth in all about $40. Chief Bell, of Lindsay, was at once informed of the occurrence, and he watched outgoing freight trains, but without success—the only trace he obtained was that Pearce had been met on the railway track west of Lindsay the same night, wearing what had appeared to be a new suit. Cards have been sent to the police at many points in Ontario, but so far the thief has evaded arrest.—Lindsay Post.

A CLUE FOUND TO JACK MERVIN'S MONEY.

A LITTLE BOY ACKNOWLEDGES THE THEFT OF IT.

The Lad is Only Thirteen Years Old, and What he Did With his Wealth Cannot be Surmised—The Police Court Proceedings.

Herbert Kent, a little 13-year old lad, who is known amongst his companions as "Reddy," on account of the bright shade of his auburn hair, was arrested last night charged with the theft of $1.42 from Mr. John Mervin's till on Monday.

Mr. Mervin noticed on Monday afternoon, when in his butcher shop, that the till had been rifled during his absence at dinner, and on making enquiries he learned that young Kent had been seen to sneak out of the rear entrance to the shop, shortly after twelve o'clock.

Mr. Mervin said nothing to the police at the time, but on seeing the boy over in the blacksmith shop a day or so afterwards he walked over from the store and asked him if he had spent all the money yet that he had stolen out of the till. At first the lad and asked "What money?" but on Mr. Mervin telling him that he had been seen coming out of the rear door of the store he burst out crying and acknowledged his guilt, stating that he had spent all the money. On being asked how he got in he said that he slipped in the door when the men were busy and the shop crowded, and hid under the sausage table behind the big refrigerator. When the store was closed at twelve o'clock he emerged from his hiding place and worked at the cash drawer till he accidentally discovered the combination. He then rifled the till of its contents, and made his exit by the back way.

As the lad lives in the same locality as Mr. Mervin, the latter began to question him to see if he was connected with the disappearance of his watch and chain and seventy dollars, which were stolen, it will be remembered, about six weeks ago, from his bedside while he slept.

Mr. Mervin states that in the presence of witnesses young Kent then confessed to having also executed this robbery, saying that he went to the house early in the evening; when the housekeeper was in the rear of the premises he slipped in through the front door, and making no noise,

AS HE WORE LACROSSE SHOES,

went upstairs. He rummaged around without being able to find any money, and was going through the pockets of a pair of trousers when he heard a step and crawled under the bed, dropping the trousers. As Mr. Mervin discovered these trousers on the floor, when he came in and wondered thereat as his housekeeper is very tidy, he regards this as a proof that the boy's statement is true.

The boy, he says, then went on to tell how he remained under the bed until Mr. Mervin came in and retired, when he crawled out and took the clothing containing the gold watch and chain and the seventy dollars and escaped from the house by going down into the cellar and out through a door leading into it from the yard.

On being asked what he did with the stolen articles, Mr. Mervin states that Kent told him that he had sold the watch to a Toronto man named Fred Wilson, whom he met down in the cemetery and that he had concealed the money under a lumber pile in the garden, abstracting it from as he wanted it, until it was all spent.

He also made another statement regarding the watch, saying that he had sold it to Jack Fraser, who in turn sold it to a traveller. Mr. Mervin went to young Fraser with Kent, but Fraser denied knowing anything at all of the matter, stating that Kent came to him and wanted him to say he got the watch in order to corroborate the story, but this he refused to do.

In the hope that he might yet find out something about his missing property, Mr. Mervin reported the matter to the police. The lad when arrested confessed to Officer Stewart that he had stolen the articles from Mr. Mervin's house, but in the police court this morning he denied it point blank, although he acknowledged tapping the till in the store.

The case was enlarged for a week in order that the police may have time to sift the matter to the bottom. In the meantime the boy has been released on his own recognizance.

The case is one which will be especially difficult to deal with by the magistrate on account of the youthfulness of the culprit. What he could have done with the money is a mystery, although he was a good customer at the confectionery and fruit stores and spent a good deal in cigars, it is said. On August 12th he "blew in" a large sum at the Lakefield celebration, so he told Mr. Mervin.

BICYCLE CLUB RUNS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—What is the matter with some of the road officers of the Victoria and Peterborough bicycle clubs that they have not called a meeting of the club for the purpose of discussing fall club runs? The season is getting well advanced, yet the organizations have not had a club run for months. Surely these officers have not lost the enthusiasm displayed by them at meetings held early in the season. Now, as there are lots of riders, why not have a club run to Lakfield and back some evening, leaving town at 6.30 sharp, and thus boom cycling and club runs?

Yours,
WHEELMAN.

ROBB FOR HIS LIFE.

A Wheelman Chased by an Angry Bull Coming in From Lakefield.

A few evenings ago an official of the Victoria bicycle club was riding leisurely home from Lakefield at half past eight o'clock, and caught up to a farmer's herd of cattle being driven to the pasture by one of the hands.

As the cattle were all on the road, the wheelman gave a shout to warn them out of the way. The herd parted to right and left, but just as he cleared them the bicyclist heard a roar behind him, and glancing back saw an enraged bull charging along the road after him. The bull had probably been one of the first animals passed, and as he saw the cows become startled and run to either side of the road as the wheel came up, his bile arose, and he came to the front to protect the herd.

The bicyclist, however, didn't wait to argue all this out but when he saw the lowered head and flashing eye, promptly humped his back and scorched away townwards at a faster gait than the wheel had ever carried him before.

He states that if the man who was driving the herd had not shouted at the bull and so distracted his attention for a moment the wheel would most assuredly have been caught before he could get under sufficient headway to carry him away from those dangerous horns.

Town wheelmen who have listened to the Victoria Club man's relation of his experience will think twice before they heedlessly approach a herd of cattle on a dark night, as a rut in the road might mean fatal injuries at such a moment.

PAPER ON THE STREETS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Lying around the streets are numerous sheets of paper signed Richard Hall & Son, offering "special attractions for this week." These papers are a nuisance, but if merchants will persist in littering our streets I would suggest that they be made to pay for the broken bones caused by runaway horses frightened by these flying papers. The cheapness of Messrs. Hall's goods wont salve over the wounds. There is a way to stop this nuisance if the authorities of the town will do their duty—and perhaps the "special attractions" may yet remain.

CIVIS.

NOTE—The proper place to leave such advertising bills is not on the streets, but at the homes of citizens where they will be read.

SEPTEMBER BRIDAL BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Louise Stevens and Mr. F. M. Britton.

On September 2nd, at 7 o'clock a. m., a very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brown, 617 Rubidge street, when Rev. S.J. Shorey, pastor of George street church, performed the ceremony that united Miss Louise Stevens, of town, and Mr. F. M. Britton, of Lindsay, in the bonds of matrimony.

The presents were both numerous and useful, among which were a handsome china tea set presented by the employees of Mr. R. Neill's shoe store, where Miss Stevens has been employed for the past four years as bookkeeper, a beautiful silver teapot and napkin holder from Vernon, B. C.; a large hand-embroidered fancy table cover from Bristol, England; and an elegant silk piano drape from Woodstock, Ont.

Mr. Britton was formerly employed with Mr. Neill, town, but is now with the Rathbun Co., Lindsay. Miss Stevens come to Peterborough ten years ago from England.

The many presents received bear witness to the high esteem in which they were held during their residence in town and their many friends join in wishing them a happy and prosperous married life. After partaking of a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Britton left by the 8.10 G. T. R. train for Georgian Bay for a few weeks' tour, after which they take residence in Lindsay.

MARK STREET AUXILIARY.

Annual Meeting Held Wednesday—Officers Elected for the Year.

The regular annual business meeting of the Mark street Auxiliary was held Wednesday afternoon, September 1st, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

1st Vice-President—Mrs. (Rev.) Moore.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. S. Henderson.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Annie M. Smith.

A delegation was present from George street Auxiliary to request the appointing of a billeting and refreshment committee to act in conjunction with similar committees from George street and Charlotte street Auxiliaries.

Mrs. Wand and Mrs. Wood were appointed on the Billeting Committee, and Miss A. Smith and Mrs. M. W. Matchett on the Refreshment Committee.

After other items of business had been attended to the roll was called and the meeting was closed with the benediction, pronounced by Mrs. (Rev.) Moore.

The society was pleased to have three more new names added to the list and earnestly pray that all the ladies of this church will be aroused to take an interest in missionary and church work.

CHOIR EXCURSION.

The George Street Methodist Singers Enjoy a Day Down the River.

Yesterday morning at half past eight the members of the George street choir began to assemble at the Wolfe street wharf. At nine o'clock a goodly number embarked on the trim little steamer North Star. The day was rather gloomy at starting out, but at length succeeded in "breaking forth beautifully clear," as one poet puts it.

When the choir excursion was first introduced among the members for discussion, it was unanimously taken hold of and boomed for all it is worth, with the result that the choir had one of the most successful outings yet bold.

A delightful sail was enjoyed down the river and over Rice Lake.

Stoppages were made along the river in order to take on more passengers. Singing, story telling and admiration of the beautiful scenery along the route were in order all the way down. The excursionists arrived at Idyl Wyld shortly after twelve. Baskets were carried to the picnic grounds and the ladies soon had an excellent dinner prepared for all. The sail down the river was successful in sharpening the appetites.

After dinner games were played, in which all became so interested that all too soon the last whistle sounded the warning to get on board. The last thing done previous to re-embarking on the homeward journey was the taking of the members of the choir, in a group, which was done by an expert photographer. The number of plates which were broken by the very pleasant smiles of some in the group need not here be mentioned.

The homeward journey was commenced at ten minutes past four, and was enjoyed quite as well as the downward trip. Singing was indulged in all the way home, and at a few minutes after eight the excursionist were safely landed at the Wolfe street wharf, all feeling that one of the pleasantest days in their lives had been spent on this excursion to Idyl Wyld.

Too much praise cannot be given to Capt. Martin and crew for the way they made all on board feel right "at home."

TOOK CARBOLIC ACID.

Joseph Doris, a Temperance Street Mechanic, Ends his Life by Taking Poison—No Motive Discoverable.

Toronto Daily Globe Sept. 3.

Some commotion was caused on Temperance street shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the announcement that a boarder named Joseph Doris had committed suicide at his boarding house, No. 15 Temperance street, which is kept by Mr. S. McClennaghan. The circumstances of the case are somewhat peculiar by reason of the apparent entire absence of any motive for the act. The deceased was a well built young man, about 24 years of age, an ironworker by trade, and a native of Peterborough, being a son of Mr. Wm. Dorris, who resides at 95 Reid street in that town. For the past three years he had worked in Toronto, first at the new York street bridge, and later at Polson's yards. During most of this time he had boarded with Mr. McClennaghan, who says that he always found him to be a well-behaved and quiet young man. Some weeks ago the ship on which he was working was launched and towed to Pembroke, and Doris, with others, was sent there to help put in the machinery. When the job was completed, which was about two weeks ago, Doris went to Peterborough to spend a few days with his father, and only returned to his boarding house last Saturday night. Since then he had not been to work, but, according to Mr. McClennaghan, expected to start to work the latter part of this week. He therefore was hardly likely to have become despondent by lack of work, especially as he only owed for his board since Saturday.

On Wednesday night he appeared to be in unusually high spirits, so much so that Mr. McClennaghan suspected that he had been taking some liquor, and that was the last seen of him until twenty minutes before his death, as he had not been down for either his breakfast or his dinner yesterday. Nothing was thought of this, but about four o'clock in the afternoon Mr. McClennaghan happened to look out of the back door into the back yard, and saw a small bottle lying on the ground which he knew had not been there a few minutes before. He went out and picked it up and saw that it contained a small quantity of white liquid, and was labelled carbolic acid.

Returning into the house he asked if anyone had thrown the bottle out, and on receiving a negative answer made the remark—"I believe Doris has been taking poison." He then ran upstairs and found the deceased lying on his bed in terrible agony. Catching hold of him Mr. McClennaghan, who says he could detect a strong smell of carbolic acid coming from his mouth, asked him if he had been taking poison. He replied, "I guess I'm blamed for it."

Mr. McClennaghan at once went out for medical assistance and succeeded in getting Drs. Wrench of Bay street and Badgerow of John street, who were quickly on the spot, but their services were too late, as life was pronounced extinct at 4.50 o'clock, just twenty minutes after the occurrence was discovered.

Coroner Spencer was notified, and on arriving had the body removed to the morgue and issued a warrant for an inquest to be held this evening at eight o'clock.

The bottle of poison was bought by deceased on Wednesday afternoon at Bingham's drug store. Mr. Bingham says that he came in during the afternoon and asked for an ounce of carbolic acid, saying that it was for a liniment. When the bottle was found half of it had been used, so that he must have swallowed half an ounce.

BE LOYAL TO YOUR TOWN.

The cheap rates and the attractions of the Victorian Era Exposition in Toronto will be the excuses for thousands of our citizens taking the trip to Toronto. But on the part of a great many—far too many—especially ladies, whose eager quest for bargains dulls the sense of fairplay, the trip is in search of apparent bargains in the purchase of goods in the city shops. But the "bargains" secured are to a large extent delusions. In nine cases out of ten the bargain hunters can get just as good articles at just as low prices, if not lower prices, if they take the pains to visit our large, well-stocked and well-conducted establishments. Many persons go to the city and invest in articles for which they pay actually a higher price for similar articles as good, if not better, than they would have to pay in Peterborough, not counting the cost of their railway and other expenses and not counting the breach of fairplay in leaving good money in Toronto that should be spent in Peterborough. As a rule, which has mighty few exceptions, money should be spent where it is made, and it is in the highest degree unfair to give an outside city the benefit of the expenditure of money that was earned through the exertions of Peterborough citizens and by the help of the advantages which Peterborough affords. If this practice were carried out generally, we should soon have no town at all. We can none of us be independent—we all exist by the help of our fellow citizens. It is wrong for Peterborough citizens to spend their money away from the merchants and business men of Peterborough. In a word, don't do it. You are acting unfairly if you do, besides in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, getting no better value than you can get in your own town.

ANARCHY IN EUROPE.

BLOOD-STAINED RECORD OF RULERS WIPED OUT BY THE REDS.

The Latest Was Spain's Prime Minister, Canovas Del Castillo, Whose Death Leaves the Conservative Party Without a Chief.

Antonio Canovas del Castillo, the "great Conservative," was killed by an anarchist at Santa Aqueda. Three shots were fired at him. One bullet entered his head, another his body. He fell at the feet of his wife, crying "Viva Hispania!" He lived only an hour. His assassin, an Italian, was captured. Canovas was the greatest power in the restoration of the Bourbons.

"Canovas is easily the greatest statesman in Spain," Spanish Minister to the United States de Lome said. "His death would leave the Conservative party without a chief, but, of course, the Queen could summon the council within five minutes and appoint another Minister. The death of the Prime Minister would not change matters in Spain, except that the party in power would be without a head, and there is no other Conservative leader of sufficient authority in the party to be looked upon as his successor."

For the past five years the police and the anarchists of Europe have been engaged in relentless war. The anarchists of Europe, acting under the instructions of the secret coterie of anarchistic chieftains known as the "Red National," have been attempting to wage war against society by means of the bomb, pistol and dagger. Ninety per cent. of these attempts have failed. The police of Paris, Vienna, London, Berne or Madrid have spies in every group of anarchists, and many of the plotted outbreaks have been prevented without their being ever attempted. Thousands of lives have been saved in this way and the failure of their plans has wearied all but the most rabid, while the vigorous repressive measures of the police have checked the growth of the cause. The only anarchistic attempts of which the public learn are those in which an attempt to throw a bomb or use a weapon is actually made. The others are smothered by the authorities, whose policy is not to allow such attempts to be known, as they give the followers of the red flag new courage to make other attempts.

The distinguished predecessor of Canovas, General Juan Prim, met his death by assassination on December 28, 1870. He held the title of President of the Ministry under the Serrano regency, when the Spanish Imperialists were scouring Europe for a King. Prim was responsible for the choice of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, which, through the jealousy of Napoleon III., resulted in the Franco-German war. He then prevailed on the young Italian, Prince Amadeo, to take the throne.

The day Amadeo landed in Spain Prim was going from the Calle Alcala, the great thoroughfare of New Madrid, through a narrow lane to the Cortes, when five guns loaded with slugs were fired into his coupe. Prim's body was terribly mutilated, but his secretary, in the same vehicle, was unharmed. The Cortes held a special session, took Prim's children as wards of the nation, and three days later King Amadeo I. was sworn in and crowned in the presence of the corpse of his dead champion. Prim died a Marquis and the Grandee of Spain, and his body rests in the Church of the Atocha, beside the Kings and Queens of Castile.

THE LATE SENOR CANOVAS DEL CASTILLO.

Spain has been a hotbed of anarchy. There it has thrived as nowhere else, and the police of that nation being less efficient than those of others, there have been more outbreaks. The first anarchistic outbreak during these five years in Spain was at Xeres in January, 1892. A desperate attempt was made to pillage Xeres and liberate the prisoners confined in the jail at that place. The fight was most stubborn, and the insurgent anarchists were not subdued by the military and police until three anarchists were killed and twenty wounded. The military captured four of the leaders, Rusigni, Zarzetell, Tumala and Lebel-

D. BELLEGHEM
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES
Hunter Street, Peterborough.
OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

When a young couple runs away to get married half the world says: "How Romantic!" the other half says: "How silly!" But you can't tell either way until the "honey-moon" is over. When this young couple get settled down to the regular hum drum of life, they'll manage all right and find solid happiness in any case, if they have good hearts and sound health. All depends on that.

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness. Sickness affects the temper. You can't be happy nor make others happy if you're ailing. When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it's because your blood is getting poor. You need richer blood and more of it. Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It imparts new power to produce an abundance of the healthy, red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure, rich blood. It's a blood-creator; it is for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition. It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease is settled on you, it is driven out by the blood-creating properties of the "Discovery." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, malaria, eczema, erysipelas, scrofula and every form of blood-disease. It is'nt called a consumption-cure but even consumption,—which has its roots in the blood—is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery" if taken in time.

The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical writers in this country.

New South Wales.

New South Wales is the oldest of the Australian colonies and its possession of responsible government dates from 1855.

The Governor, appointed by the Crown, receives a salary of £7000 per annum, paid by the colony.

The Legislative Council consists of not less than 21 members (there were 66 in June, 1896), appointed by the Crown for life.

The Legislative Assembly contains 125 members and the Parliament is triennial.

The area of New South Wales is estimated at 310,700 square miles, and the population in 1891 was 1,132,234.

Sydney, the capital, is one of the finest—by many travelers said to be the finest—harbors in the world. Its population in 1895 was 408,500; the other principal towns are Newcastle, Bathurst, Goulburn, Parramatta, Broken Hill and Maitland.

The principal oversea exports are wool; the staple exports, tallow, coal, hides and skins, leather and preserved and frozen meat.

The total volume of the trade of New South Wales in 1895 was—exports £21,934,785; imports, £75,092,415. Of this amount the imports from the United Kingdom aggregated £6,420,107, and exports thereto £9,371,418.

The principal imports from oversea are iron, apparel and haberdashery, cotton and woollen goods.

Victoria.

Victoria obtained its existing constitution in 1854.

The Governor is appointed by the Crown and receives a salary of £7000 per annum.

The Legislative Council is composed of forty-eight members elected by a higher franchise than that which qualifies the electors who return the ninety-four members who form the Legislative Assembly.

Until 1835 Victoria formed part of New South Wales. Its area is estimated at 87,844 square miles, and the population at the last census was 1,140,405, of whom 9377 were Chinese and 565 aborigines.

Melbourne, the capital, had a population of 447,506 in 1895. The other principal towns are Ballarat, Bendigo, (Sandhurst), Geelong, Warrnambool and Castlemaine.

The principal articles of export oversea are, first and foremost, wool, then gold and wheat.

Victoria has a number of manufacturing industries and exports apparel, leatherware, breadstuffs and refined sugar, etc., into the adjoining colonies.

The imports from oversea are princi-

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

A RUNNING COMMENTARY.

The Summer Fashions Reviewed in Exceedingly Summary Style.

So far as gowns are concerned, they are loose. A tight fitting dress, or at least one that has the appearance of being tight, would be a curiosity this summer.

The bodices are nearly all "pouched" in front and usually fastened at the side. The fastening at the side will be emphasized into a surplice in the autumn, and trimmings which cross at the front of the bodice are sure to be very popular. There have been seen several models with lace trimmings forming a perfect X across the front of the blouse. Bolero trimmings cross at the bust line and run up to the shoulders again.

Nevertheless, the blouse with bands of insertion running around horizontally is still in favor, and for a cool afternoon gown nothing is prettier or more easily made.

An ingenious young city woman who makes all her own clothes has just finished a silk dress which cost her $1.75 in cash. This sounds like a pretty big story and needs explanation. The cash was spent for some printed chiffon in a Persian pattern which had been marked down to the astonishingly low figure of 25 cents a yard. Seven yards was a sufficient quantity, for the material was forty-two inches wide.

The stuff was almost as thin as organdy, and was purchased to wear over a couple of old silk gowns which had become shabby. One of these was pale blue and the other pink, and she had ribbon to match each. Around the bottom of the skirt she sewed a ruffle of cream-colored Valenciennes an inch and a half wide, with a band of insertion above it. She had this lace on an old pink mull dress that was too faded to wear, and besides trimming the skirt with it she put three rows across the front of the blouse and a tiny ruffle of lace and insertion over each shoulder.

The sleeves were shirred down both seams with narrow tucks and were finished at the hand with bands of insertion laid over pink or blue ribbon according to the dress she intended to wear it with, and little bows. This costume may sound like the woman's 10-cent cake which was so cheap because she "had everything in the house," but every woman knows the advantage of using up old materials and "bargains" when pocket money is as scarce as it has been for the past two years, and there's no false economy in it, either.

White pique is introduced into all sorts of summer costumes. The newest combination is with red. Red is always picturesque, and with white it is particularly so, especially when seen in the center of a green lawn or shining through the vines of a country veranda. One such dress has a plain white pique skirt with a bodice of red denim. There is a narrow yoke of white with a turn over collar like some of the linen ones worn now. The bodice is gathered on this and is fastened to one side. Bands of fine white braid run across the front in military fashion and end in loops that project over the edge.

Hats become more and more winged as the time approaches when the summer swallows homeward fly, but the wings are far from being swallows' wings. They are immense white wings with numerous points interspersed with bugs and ends of ribbon.

Some of the popular actresses at the few theatres that are kept open all summer are making strenuous efforts to introduce the narrow or flaring hat. It has some roses under the brim in front, and if it did not flare so widely would be almost a poke.

Blondes in blue are out of date nowadays. The real fetching blonde wears geranium pink, which is more brilliant than scarlet and pretty generally becoming to fair beauties.

Gray is also a very smart color for outdoor costumes.

Cashmere will be a favorite material as the days grow cooler, as its soft folds fall in well with the present tendency to drooping draperies. Gray cashmere for street dresses will, therefore, be the extreme correct thing in early autumn. Hats with high crowns are already being manufactured for the season of 1898. —Philadelphia Press.

The Fashionable Frocks.

Embroidered frocks are worn upon all occasions, and they are exquisite in design and texture. A chic creation is of cream white tulle de soie, built over a cream plaited underskirt. The tulle is embroidered with garlands of delicate purple violets. The garlands rise at intervals around the skirt from hem to waist; the front width is entirely covered with embroidery, which is framed on both sides by a shell plaiting of rich lace, which forms tablliers. A feature of midsummer garnitures is a square yoke. It may be varied in design, but it must remain a yoke effect. Some are very deep and cover the dress from armhole to armhole. Again, a yoke is short, leaving a space between it and the collar. Others have narrow pieces, like the bolero, running under the arms, and yet another design is finished with a straight band running down each side to the belt. The extreme novelty in yokes, however, is an irregular effect, where one side differs from the other in length and design. Such yokes are built of lace, jet colored beads in brilliant reds, violets and turquoise stones applied to net and mousseline de soie. Brilliant linings, as the season advances, are less used for jackets and mantels. In fact, everything points to autumn, not only for linings, but for gowns, hats, shoes and gloves.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E. Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

Sick headache and constipation are promptly cured by Burdock Pills. Easy to take, sure in effect.

Turkish Traffic In Slaves.

Slave dealing in Constantinople, as we know, always exists, and the wife of a pasha is not above the wretched business. Richard Davey, in his book, "The Sultan and His Subjects," says:

"A good deal of Turkish traffic in slaves is conducted in the following manner on very well conceived commercial principles: The wife of a pasha, as a matter of speculation, purchases two or three little girls for a trifle, either from a slave dealer or some poor woman, generally a Christian, possibly a Bulgarian refugee who is unable to bring up her own children. The lady educates each child, teaches it those accomplishments which are indispensable to harem life, such as singing, dancing and playing on musical instruments, washing, starching, ironing, embroidery and even a little cookery. To this may be added a smattering of some foreign language and a very elementary knowledge of Turkish caligraphy. When the child is grown up, if she is handsome the lady turns her to account and liberally repays herself for her trouble by selling her at a high figure to some pasha of her acquaintance through the medium of one of the well known old women whose business it is to carry out transactions of that sort."

GORED BY A BULL.

A Northumberland County Farmer Meets with a Painful Accident.

On Monday morning, at about 5.30, Mr. Robt. White of the English Line, and President of the Empire cheese factory, met with an extremely painful accident. He attempted to head off a young bull that he had in his possession, but the animal, though not usually very fierce, became infuriated and ran at Mr. White with his horns, throwing him out of his way. The horn entered the leg near the abdomen, and made an ugly gaping wound. Mr. White was thrown several feet, and when picked up had fainted and was thought to be dead. However, he soon revived, and on Dr. Bogart being called and the wound dressed he was pronounced out of danger. It was a very narrow escape; the horn barely missed an artery which would have caused the accident to end fatally. The animal afterwards attempted to gore Mr. Geo. Martin, but, fortunately, without success. Mr. White is a man of nearly 70 years of age. His condition at the time of writing is as favourable as can be expected.—Campbellford Gazette.

MILLBROOK.

The death last week of Mrs. Coombe, wife of Mr. Coombe, tailor, and mother of Walter Coombe, of Coombe & Burnham, merchants, removes one of Millbrook's oldest and most respected residents. Although only sixty-three years of age, the deceased was, with only a very few exceptions, the oldest resident of the village. She came to Millbrook from England over forty years ago, her maiden name being Oliver, and shortly afterward was united in marriage with Mr. Coombe. For years she has been recognized as one of the "Mothers in Israel," her hopeful and cheerful disposition, coupled with an unblameable life, causing her influence to be felt by all those within the inner circle of her acquaintance.

Her illness, which commenced nearly a year ago, was borne with meekness and fortitude, although from the nature of the ailment, little hope could be entertained of recovery, the last days of her life being attended by severe suffering.

The funeral took place to Gardiner's cemetery, the service at the house being conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. Phelps, of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Byam, where sorrowing relatives and sympathetic friends and neighbours gathered to pay the last tribute of respect. Her church will miss her active interest in all its departments of work, her friends will feel the loss of her companionship, but more than all the bereaved husband and family will "sigh for the touch of the vanished hand and the voice of one who is gone."

Besides the sorrowing husband three sons, William, Walter and Fred, a sister, Mrs. Richards, and Thos. Oliver, all of Millbrook, and another brother living in Port Hope, mourn her loss. A daughter and son had gone on before to the "better land" to welcome the homecoming of the deceased. We extend the sympathy of the whole community to the sorrowing friends.

THE WHEEL.

The officials have been appointed for the great five mile race between Messrs. Fred. The race takes place at five o'clock on the Nicholls Park track Friday, September 3rd. Alf. Terrill will act as official referee; Jimmy Tully as starter, and Alex. Gibson and C. LeBrun as timekeepers.

A meeting of the Victoria Bicycle club is called for 9 o'clock to-night to discuss the holding of the annual fall road race and a smoking concert. A full attendance of members is requested.

LACROSSE.

A communication was received from the Shamrock Lacrosse Club this morning stating that the players might be expected in Peterborough for a game late in September, at the close of the Big League's championship series.

Everybody is going with the lacrosse boys to Orillia on Labour Day.

The team which will play in Orillia will be picked from the following players, all of whom will go up on Monday: Jack McDonough, Fred Dobbin, Galley, Brown, Mein, McCabe, (Jack) Glover, Borland, King, Phelan, Rubidge, McCabe, (Jas.) and Lipsett. Will Lech will act as umpire.

RULES FOR BICYCLISTS.

Never scorch.

Ride on the right side of the street.

Slacken speed at busy corners. Dismount at the busier intersections.

On a side path, the rider who is on the right side has the privilege of the path.

Ring your bell as you meet or pass a vehicle of any description in the dark.

Never pass between two bicyclists riding side by side. Always go to the right side of the pair.

Never ride without hands on handles. You may be a genius but your peculiarities make others nervous.

Never ride at full speed past a car which has just stopped. You may run into embarking or disembarking passengers.

If a wheelman or a pedestrian are likely to collide a good rule for the wheelman is to dismount and for the pedestrian to stand still.

Never make a short cut across a corner. Always make a long sweep and keep an imaginary post at the intersection, on the inside.

If you attempt to pass a bicyclist wheeling in the same direction as yourself between the same pair of rails, ring your bell.

In the dark one ring or whistle from an approaching wheelman means that he is alone, two, three or four rings or whistles mean that there are a number in the party.

A Good Move.

We are glad to see that the beautiful property on Aylmer street, north of Smith street, and just west of J. W. Fitzgerald's residence is being put on the market at such low prices that there must be immediate sales. This land a few years ago sold at $10 a foot, but it is now offered at five dollars a foot, with a chance to the skilful ones of getting 50 ft. lots at $50, $100, and $150, according as they approximate correctly the true count of the number of beans in a bottle. When a man of small means can get a good fifty foot lot for $250, he can then afford to build a home, and a number joining together to build at uniform distances (25 feet) from the road, they can make a very pretty place. A lane at the rear saves cutting up the front, and a total expenditure of $1000 gives a man his own home at $60 a year, which his less than a rental. The scheme of Messrs. Lindsay & Might calls for 34 subscribers for lots. The plan is too good to fail, and we expect to see more applicants than the number of lots offered. The wonderfully easy terms of payment ($3 a month) and the offer of money to build, make this the best thing ever offered in Peterborough to encourage industrious mechanics and others to get a home on terms easier that renting. 2d

MAXIM'S GREAT LIGHT.

The Gun Inventor has Beaten Edison in the Way of Illumination by Electricity.

A London correspondent of the New York Journal writes:—I saw to-night a wonderful new light, just invented by Hiram Maxim, the American scientist living in England, and the inventor of the Maxim gun.

It is the finest, cheapest and strongest electric light ever made, with nearly three times the candle power of the ordinary incandescent light. It lasts more than twice as long, and requires less than half the energy.

Unlike the lights now in use, the film is made of a mineral, instead of a vegetable substance, the nature of which is a secret. The result is a light of intense brilliancy, without red rays. The bulb is of ordinary size.

The light I saw was in the library of Mr. Maxim at his house, No. 19 Queen's Gate place. This is a big, lofty room, 22x26 feet. A single new lamp illuminated the room far beyond the power of two of Edison's sixteen candle power lamps. Also, the life of the ordinary incandescent lamp now used is 500 hours.

Mr. Maxim said: "This one lamp has been burning in this room a thousand hours, with only a slight diminution of power. I don't know how much longer it will burn, as it is still in an experimental stage.

"The ordinary lamps now used have sixteen candle power. This new lamp has forty candle power, taking the Watts unit of electrical energy.

"The American lamps require four and eight-tenths to five to the candle power. The best English lamps take four and two-tenths to the candle power. The new Maxim lamp takes only two and eight-tenths to the candle power.

That expresses mathematically the economy of the new lamp in electrical energy. It secures nearly three times the light, and this single lamp has burned already twice as long as the average lamp now in use. I do not claim, however, that all my new lamps will do as well as this. I am not yet ready to show it to the public."

Mr. Maxim exhibited some of the material from which the films are made. It looked like pieces of coal. The vegetable films now used are very costly. Mr. Maxim said he could make a thousand of his new films for a dollar.

ENGLAND, CANADA AND THE TREATIES.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Opinion on the Subject.

In an interview with members of the press on his way up the St. Lawrence on his arrival home, Sir Wilfrid Laurier thus expressed himself in relation to the denunciation of the treaties and the consequences thereof:

"What is the feeling in England towards Canada?"

"Canada is now beginning an entirely new career, not only in England but in Europe. The denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties, at the request of Canada has created a profound impression all over Europe. Without exaggeration I can say that Canada is thus recognized as among the nations. The feeling in England is very friendly towards Canada, and if my anticipations are not deceived, we shall see a great flow of capital and population to Canada in the next few years."

It was only two years ago that the English Government refused to denounce these treaties. How do you account for the change?"

"The attitude of the Canadian Government and the tariff legislation of last session brought the matter to focus. England was placed in the position of having to advance or of seeing Canada recede, and she advanced to meet us in the manner we desired."

"What advantage will we derive from the denunciation of the treaties?"

"The denunciation of the treaties will further the legislative, fiscal and commercial independence of Canada," replied the Premier. "These treaties were in the way of any fiscal arrangements which we could have made with the sister colonies, or even with foreign nations, because the moment any such arrangement had been made Germany and Belgium would have stepped forward and claimed the same advantages without giving anything in return. Canada found this out repeatedly during the twelve months prior to the Jubilee, when the Government was quite able to see how its power was limited by the existence of these treaties, when it had opportunities to act in a manner which would have been for the good of Canada. Now we are free from this entanglement."

SCHOOL IS NOW IN!

Does the Boy Need A Suit?

Come and Find a Suit for Him at

GOUGH BROS.

Fix him up for School while our Great Building Sale lasts. How we sell Boys' Fine Clothing at such prices and keep on buying and increasing our premises is a wonder to all but US.

An Appeal to Parents.

Isn't it a little rough on the boy to make him wear a heavy suit in school this half-warm weather—and it's rough, too, wearing the old worn-out Summer Suit. Read and reflect:

There was discord at Henderson's house, Monday night,
As Willie—come in from the street—
To the mother's tired gaze, as she scanned his attire,
Brought his trousers—but minus the seat.
The mother just sighed, as good mothers are wont,
But the father's eyes flashed sparks of fire,
As he heard the lad's tale of "Leap Frog," and the like,
Which seemed but to add to his ire.

The child told his story with many a halt,
And listened with heart full of dread
To his parent's stern verdict—"No supper to-night"—
"A spanking"—and sentence—"to bed."
Which was all carried out to the very last dot,
And the boy, with sobs heavy and deep,
Pulled the little white coverlet over his head,
And cried himself softly to sleep.

Outside in the sitting-room quiet and still,
The father discussed with his wife,
In a pessimist key, with ne'er a bright view,
The prospect of Willie in life
And out of the mischievous pranks of the lad
He conjured a future so drear,
That the mother's heart sank, as she mended the pants,
And to love gave her tribute—a tear.

He pictured a prison—a gallows, perhaps—
Each vision more black than the last,
For the lad who would thus his kind parents annoy,
And forever their happiness blast,
Until, quite tired out by his visions and fears,
With heart weighing heavy as lead,
He dropped the discussion, extinguished the light,
And took himself sadly to bed.

But even in slumber his visions remained,
Disturbing his nocturnal rest,
And a mischievous boy, full of spirit and fun,
Was standing right there on his chest—
A boy with his pants torn and ragged and 'grimed,
And a face all bespattered with mud,
Who was playing "leap frog," and other boy's tricks,
And who yelled with delight at each thud.

This urchin was livelier far than young Will,
Tho' in many respects much the same,
He looked like him, too, and queerer than all,
He answered to just the same name.
The sleeper grew tired of the vision he saw,
And angrily turned from the elf,
When he woke with a start, and looked' round the room,
For the urchin he saw was—HIMSELF.

Then up from his pillow and to the next room
He tiptoed in silence and shame,
And over the boy with the tear-spattered cheeks
He knelt in profession of blame,
And prayed that the good Lord his sin would remit,
As he pardoned the pranks of young Will,
And asked that the boy who was bearing his name
Might continue on—just a boy still.

Ye fathers with business worries and cares
Engrossing each hour of the day,
When pranks of your children your patience annoy,
Remember your own hours of play.
Look back to the days of your own happy youth,
To those moments of unalloyed joy,
And out of the riches of that golden past
Be lenient in judging your boy.

'Tis true that the little things shapeth the life,
That geese saved the city of Rome,
That a vicious cow's kick caused Chicago's great fire
And that one deed may ruin a home.
The pranks of a boy, perhaps, need some slight curb,
But pause in your chase after pelf,
And in forming a judgment forget not the time
When you a wild boy were yourself.

MORAL.

Dear fathers and mothers, who your little ones love,
And their pleasures in life would enhance,
If it pleases their fancy, why, let them keep on,
And slide on the seats of their pants.
If you get the right clothing no trouble will come,
"OUR BOYS' SUITS," the best that are made.
A test of their virtues will scatter their woes,
And to GOUGH BROS. will bring all your trade.

Imperial Government Sanctions a Strong Expedition

TO SUPPRESS THE INDIAN RISING

A Fully Experienced and Able Fighter, Namely, Gen. Lockhart, Suggested as Commander of the British Force—Germany Obstructing Settlement—Cable News.

London, Sept. 3.—Confirmation has been given to the report that the Government has sanctioned the sending of a large expedition against the Afridis. It is reported that General Lockhart, commander-in-chief in the Punjab, will be recalled from England, where he has been on furlough, to command the expedition.

General Lockhart left Brindisi, Italy, to-day on his way to India, where he will arrive in good time to command the expedition, which will be ready to move about a fortnight hence. General Lockhart's reputation, military ability and skill in border warfare, which is great, will, it is believed, tend to overawe the tribesmen who have taken part in the uprising.

Little News at Bombay.

Bombay, Sept. 3.—Little news has been received here regarding the situation on the frontier. The expedition to Tirah will invade the country of the Afridis by several different routes. The tribesmen in the vicinity of Jamrud are increasing in numbers and are threatening an attack.

LORD ELGIN'S PROGRAM

To Protect the Road to Chitral and Crush and Punish Maddah Mullah.

London, Sept. 3.—The following official despatch has been received from the Governor-General of India, the Earl of Elgin: "The object of the operations of the Malakand forces is the protection of the road to Chitral and the territory of the Khan of Dir, the destruction of the hostile gathering under the Haddah Mullah, and such punishment as will deter the Mohmands from again attacking British territory and our allies. The troops will return to Peshawur as soon as these objects are accomplished."

GERMANY KICKS.

Peace Conference Must Decide About the Whole Financial Question First.

Athens, Sept. 3.—In response to the offer of the Government to cede certain revenues as a guarantee for the claims of bondholders, the reply of Germany, which was received yesterday, refuses to enter into any discussion with reference to old loans until the peace conference shall have arrived at a decision upon the whole financial question.

This reply has created a disagreeable impression. The German Minister to Athens had an interview with Premier Rhallis, who subsequently, with the other Ministers, conferred with the King.

The British Government still persists in adhering to Lord Salisbury's demand for the complete evacuation of Thessaly by the Turkish troops, independent of any financial questions.

Sultan Wants to Keep on the Trouble.

London, Sept. 4.—A despatch to The Times from Constantinople says the Sultan is impatient to reopen the Cretan question, hoping thereby to checkmate the European concert. The Palace Councils are cunningly preparing the campaign, though no official action has yet been taken.

WHAT RHODES SAYS.

The Parliamentary Inquiry Will be Judged Half a Century From Now.

Capetown, Sept. 3.—Mr. Cecil Rhodes, in a speech just delivered at Fort Salisbury, is quoted as saying that the conduct of the parliamentary inquiry into the Transvaal raid will be judged half a century hence. His personal troubles, Rhodes is said to have added, were trivial, when compared with those of the people of Fort Salisbury district, and, he continued, his whole future would be directed towards the unity of the South African States, in clear and open policy.

GRIEF AT FAIR ISLE

Because Four of the Best Men in the Community Have Been Drowned.

London, Sept. 3.—News has been received here of the loss of four lives off the coast of Scotland. Four skiffs left Fair Isle, between the Orkney and Shetland Islands, on Thursday to barter produce with passing vessels. The skiffs were overtaken by a gale, but two succeeded in returning safely. The other two were missing throughout the night, but one was found in the morning. In it were the bodies of four men and its three other occupants were nearly dead from exhaustion. The remaining boat has not been seen, and it is believed that its occupants, four in number, have all been drowned. There is great grief at Fair Isle over the loss of the men, several of whom were men of families.

The Rise Has Come to Stay.

London, Sept. 4.—The Daily Graphic this morning publishes a table comparing the available prospective English wheat supply at the present time with that of September, 1896, showing a deficiency of nearly 2,000,000 quarters. It is inevitable, The Graphic says, that the raise in the price of bread will be maintained.

German Soldiers Killed.

Weimar, Sept. 3.—During the military manoeuvres in this vicinity to-day a pontoon bridge constructed by the pioneers collapsed while the 94th Thuringian Regiment of Infantry was passing over it. A number of the soldiers and some of the trumpeters were either drowned or were hit by the timbers of the bridge and killed.

Azcarraga Has Failed.

Madrid, Sept. 3.—The newspapers of this city say that the Premier, General Azcarraga, has failed in his efforts to reunite the warring sections of the Conservative party.

Woman's Mutilated Body Found.

London, Sept. 3.—A special despatch from Paris published this afternoon says that the body of a woman, naked and frightfully mutilated, the nose and ears being missing and the skull smashed in, has been found in the River Seine. On the middle of the deceased's back were tatooed the words: "Long live Poland," and "Death to traitors." The remains are supposed to be those of a Nihilist who had incurred the suspicion of her fellow Nihilists.

Eight Armenians to Die.

London, Sept. 3.—A despatch from Constantinople, received this afternoon, says that eight Armenians who have been convicted of taking part in the recent bomb outrages here have been sentenced to death. Two Armenians who were charged with complicity in the outrages have been acquitted.

An Official Contradiction.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—An official contradiction was issued to-day of the report that Germany will demand an explanation from France of the despatch sent by the French Premier, M. Meline, in reply to the message of the Lorraine Society, congratulating the Government upon the Franco-Russian alliance, in which M. Meline expressed the hope that Lorraine would be reunited to France.

Notes From Constantinople.

Constantinople, Sept. 3.—Since Tuesday of the present week about 300 Turks have been arrested for supposed connection with the committee of the Young Turk party.

Rifaat Bey, until recently councillor of the Turkish Embassy in London, has been appointed Turkish Minister at Washington, in succession to Mustapha Tachsin Bey.

Bodies Were Terribly Mutilated.

Berne, Sept. 3.—The remains of three of the victims of the Mont Pleureur avalanche disaster, including Bernard, the young Englishman, have been recovered in a terribly mutilated condition.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY.

Miss Sarah Frank of Ingersoll a Victim of Heart Failure.

Ingersoll, Ont., Sept. 3.—Death came with awful suddeness to Miss Sarah Frank, head milliner at I. Coyne & Co.'s dry goods establishment, this morning about 11 o'clock. Miss Frank had frequently of late complained of a severe pain in her head, but went to work at her usual hour this morning, apparently in good health. During the morning Mr. Coyne, hearing a scream in the rear of store, rushed back, and found the unfortunate lady suffering great agony from a pain in her head. In a few moments the vital spark had fled. Miss Frank has been in the employ of Mr. Coyne for 20 years, and was held in the highest esteem. The cause of death is pronounced by medical men to be heart failure.

FRANZ JOSEF LAND.

Return of Jackson-Harmsworth Expedition

AFTER ABSENCE OF THREE YEARS

Steamer Windward Arrived at London With All on Board in Good Health Full Explorations Up North Which Will Cause Changes in the Map.

London, Sept. 3.—The British steamer Windward, having on board the Jackson Harmsworth expedition, which has spent three winters near Cape Fleer, Franz Josef Land, arrived here to-day from Franz Josef Land with Mr. F. G. Jackson and his colleagues. All the members of the expedition are in good health. They report having explored Franz Josef Land thoroughly, with the exception of some odd corners. Before the Windward sailed the quarters of the expedition at Elmwood were fastened up, but Mr. Jackson left there a quantity of supplies in case the place is visited by Prof. Andree or other explorers. He has also established a depot at Bell Island.

Talking with a representative of the Associated Press over his experiences, he said that since the Windward left Franz Josef Land last year with Dr. Nansen the winter had been less severe and less windy than usual.

Mr. Jackson and Mr. Albert Armitage, nautical astronomer of the expedition, started on March 16 with a pony and dog sledges to explore the western part of Franz Josef Land. They encountered boisterous weather, and at the end of the first month a majority of the dogs and the pony succumbed, and the explorers were compelled to abandon all but the most essential parts of their equipment. The party followed the coast line, sometimes on a sea of ice, and sometimes along glaciated land 1500 feet high bordering on Cambridge Bay.

The constant mists which prevailed made the journey very harassing. They shot a bear, the only one seen, and having procured meat and blubber they returned to Elmwood in the middle of May, after meeting a party sent out to look for them, anxiety having been felt for their safety, as they were a fortnight overdue.

A second expedition, which went eastward during the beginning of June, was less successful, as on the second day out the explorers lost a sledge through the thin ice, and had a hazardous return journey.

The result of these explorations, it is claimed, completely revolutionizes the old ideas of Franz Josef Land, and proves that the much-discussed Gillis's Land does not lie where Arctic geographers have been in the habit of placing it, therefore, it may be considered non-existent.

The whole continental mass of land is replaced by a vast number of small islands and the lofty mountains by long ridged hummocks and ice packs, while north of these areas has been found an open sea, which is the most open north sea in the whole world.

Most valuable magnetic, meteorological and geological observations were made and very valuable botanical and zoological collections were brought to England.

The winter life of the explorers was uneventful. There was about two hours' twilight in the middle of the day from October to November, and from thence on it was total darkness until the end of February.

The members of the expedition killed 1400 loon (a web-footed bird found in the northern regions) in the autumn, which provided ample fresh meat. During the winter they caught 19 loon and 22 kittiwake (a bird of the gull kind) to which they fastened labels initialed "F" and liberated them.

The cold sometimes reached 40 degrees below zero and jumped up to 29 below freezing point. The members of the Jackson-Harmsworth expedition failed to see King Oscar Land, and are convinced that there is no great land northwest of Franz Josef Land.

They add that the existence of Petermann Land is doubtful and that in any case it must be small.

These alterations in the map render the prospect of reaching the North Pole from Franz Josef Land more than doubtful, as the returned explorers are satisfied that there is no land north of 82 degrees. They did not see anything of Prof. Andree, who started on July 11 from the Island of Tromsoe in an attempt to cross the North Pole by balloon.

Mr. Jackson announced his intention of heading another Arctic expedition, this time on his own account.

NORTON HAS SKIPPED.

Bank Cashier, Prominent in Church Circles, Gone and the Bank Closed.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 3.—The Bank of Durand failed to open its doors yesterday, and Charles A. Norton, cashier and general manager of the institution, has disappeared. He is said to have forged the names of prominent farmers to notes for various amounts. The bank had deposits of about $30,000, but a time-lock is on the safe and it cannot be opened until to-morrow. Norton is 36 years old, and was prominent in church and business circles. Norton wore three overcoats, with pockets filled, and carried a satchel when he drove away last night.

League of Christian Socialism.

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—A movement is on foot in this city to organize a National League for the Propagation of Christian Socialism. Rev. W. P. Ds Blois, the well-known Episcopal clergyman, formerly of the Church of the Carpenter, Boston, is the organizer, and with him is associated Rev. J. A. Scott, D.D., a Presbyterian clergyman prominently connected with socialism, and editor of The Social Economist. The new organization is to be known as the Union Reform League.

SATUDAY SEPTEMBER 4, 1897.

LABOUR DAY.

Monday next is the statutory holiday known as Labour Day. Its importance is not all derived from the fact of its being a holiday, but from the fact that it is a recognition by our legislators of the dignity and honour due to labour as the one great element at the bottom of material prosperity, and, indeed, of national existence itself. Without labour the wheels of the world would stand still. Capital and labour are usually associated as complementary elements, but after all that is not their true relation. The world could get on in a way without capital, but not without labour, so that the chief position that capital occupies is as an ally of labour. No one will grudge the toiler one holiday he may specially call his own, out of the three hundred and twelve working days of the year. There is divine warrant for such a holiday. In the beginning the Supreme Labourer enjoyed a day of rest—a holiday from His creative task, and decreed the seventh as a day of rest for the sons of men for all time. It is eminently proper, therefore, that labour should have its special holiday, when the wheels of industry shall stand idle and the brawny toilers may seek recreation as well as rest. In Peterborough the day will be observed in various ways and the EXAMINER hopes that the sons of toil will have a day of great enjoyment such as they deserve and that would be only a small share of what is the due of labour; for the relations between the employing agent, capital, and the employed agency, labour, are not yet adjusted upon an equitable basis.

The conditions that at present obtain in the industrial world, and the exceeding superabundance of the acquisitive side of human nature in the character of employers, prevents the labourer from receiving his due share of the wealth he creates. Capital and labour are supposed to co-operate in the creation of wealth, yet of the immense wealth gathered—produced by co-operation—the employer, whether represented by the great corporation or the individual, gets the lion's share. Large manufacturers become millionaires, but the chief and indispensable element in the creation of the riches they appropriate—the labourer—still remains a labourer—having received as his share, in too many cases, merely enough to keep soul and body together—to keep the human machine in "working" order. This condition of disparity still obtains, though it is becoming somewhat ameliorated, but there is too much of inequality and injustice existent yet. The true and just relations will never be adjusted between employer and unemployed till both are equally animated and influenced by the Golden Rule—do unto others as you would have others do unto you. Then would labour get its fair reward, and capital would share among those who help to create it, a fair proportion of the wealth which, under present day conditions, it appropriates very largely to itself.

PROOF OF THE FABRICATION.

Yesterday THE EXAMINER referred to the ordinary as well as extraordinary means taken by the baser element of the Conservative press to try to create the impression that there was disagreement to the point of dissension among the leaders of the Liberal party, and that the rank were on the verge of revolt. Of course such attempts are the outcome of despair—of envy of the success of the Liberals as successful rulers of the country, and jealousy of the popularity—the unexampled and universal popularity achieved by the great leader of the Liberal party. Success suggests a policy of detraction to those at whose expense, in a certain sense, such success is achieved and one need hardly be surprised at obscure politicians and publications resorting to calumniation to achieve ends which the merit of their party leaders or their policy cannot accomplish. But it would hardly be expected that the chief of the two chief organs that assume to speak for the Conservative party (though they do not reflect in such a course at any rate, the sentiments of the great Conservative party) the Toronto World should resort to straight misrepresentation to score a political point. The World printed a wild-cat despatch from Montreal to the effect that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was unpopular with his party in Ontario to the point of repudiation and gave Mr. James Sutherland, Liberal Whip, as its authority. In comment upon such an absurd statement, the following despatch to the Globe from Ottawa may be given:

A ridiculous statement sent from Montreal to The Toronto World having been credited to Mr. James Sutherland, that gentleman, who is here, was interviewed by the evening papers. The Journal says:—"James Sutherland, M.P., who is in the city to-day, was shown the despatch. He laughed at the very absurdity of it, and said that it was a pure fabrication. 'Sir Wilfrid Laurier,' said Mr. Sutherland, 'was never more popular in Canada than he is to-day. His Government was never stronger than it is at present, and there is not a constituency from the Atlantic to the Pacific but would be carried by the Administration if there was an election to-morrow. The writer of such stuff must have a very poor opinion of the readers of The World.

The Free Press report says:—"Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., who is in the city to day, says the statement is an absolute absurdity and without any truth. There is not the least foundation for any charge of unpopularity against Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Ontario. On the contrary, Major Sutherland is willing to stake his reputation on a prediction that the Liberal party would carry any constituency in Ontario if there was an election there to-day, or anywhere else in Canada, for that matter. All the other parts of the despatch, he said, were fabrications of the worst kind."

GOOD TIMES RETURNING.

The political pessimists who predicted a period of commercial collapse, idle wheels in our factories, and general dullness in all departments of commercial and industrial activity, were false prophets. The contrary conditions prevail. We have the evidence of increased activity among our manufacturers, in town. Almost all our large manufacturing establishments are busier now than at any period for several years past. Instead of shutting down, as the blue ruinists predicted, they have to work over-time and then cannot keep pace with the orders. And as it is in the manufacturing sphere so it is in the commercial world. The trade returns of the Dominion, as pointed out in these columns yesterday, show a volume of foreign trade for the month of July, the first month of the fiscal year, of over five millions greater than the trade of the corresponding month last year. This increase is to be divided amongst several classes. The increase in "animals and their products" was $1,786,964, or sixteen per cent., in agricultural exports, $1,714,404, or about a hundred per cent., and here, it may be remarked, is furnished evidence of the solid character of the improvement. When trade betterment begins at the foundation, (with the farmers) it proves to be stable and lasting. The increase in forest products was $1,326,339, or over ten per cent. Then there was considerable increase in our exports of minerals and manufactured products. There is to be noted a large increase in our imports, indicating a return of confidence and a certainty of increased demand from the people, arguing increased purchasing power and increased general prosperity. Taken with the increased importations the public are interested in knowing that there is a decreased amount of taxation—the fulfilment of the promises of the Liberal Government to reduce taxation. On the whole the general outlook is encouraging; there is increased confidence, increased buoyancy of public spirits, and every evidence of the return of good times.

WHERE RHEUMATISM IS UNKNOWN.

No Matter how Intense the Pain South American Rheumatic Cure Will Remove it Quickly—A Lady of Highgate Tells What it Did for Her—Permanent Cure of a Case of Years Standing.

It has been declared by scientists that every disease has a remedy. The difficulty is to always find the remedy. In rheumatism South American Rheumatic Cure has been found a certain antidote for this painful disease. It is always effective. Mrs. N. Ferris, wife of a well-known manufacturer of Highgate, Ont., says: "I was seriously affected with rheumatic pains in my ankles, and at times was almost disabled. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years without much benefit. I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. To my delight, the first dose gave me more relief than I had had for years, and two bottles have completely cured me." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

THE RETURN OF THE PREMIER.

Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G.C.M.G., received the greatest ovation ever accorded to a citizen of Canada. The St. Lawrence from the Gulf to this city was alive with local demonstrations in his honour, in which persons of both political parties shared. To use a familiar expression the Premier has given Canada the greatest advertisement she ever enjoyed in Great Britain and Europe. Time alone can tell to what extent the fiscal policy which he was so largely instrumental in causing to be adopted will be serviceable to our interests. Prophesying is easy, but experience in such matters is apt to differ from forecasts. The assurances, however, which he gave with so much eloquence of the fixed resolve of Canadians being to remain an integral part of the British Empire produced a deep impression in the old land, which strengthened confidence in our securities, as our future destiny as a nation is now regarded as beyond doubt. Of the unity of our people, and the mutual good will which exists between those of different races and creeds in this Dominion, Sir Wilfrid himself as our Premier was a demonstration stronger than words. The spectacle of a French-Canadian of refined, courtly manners, statesman-like breadth of views, intense loyalty to the Crown, deep attachment to British institutions, speaking English not with ease merely but with eloquence, was a revelation to the people of the old country, which roused their enthusiasm to fervid heat. When Sir Wilfrid magnified his office by pressing the claims of his country to wider fiscal independence, while pressing also claims for closer association with the mother country, he struck a chord which is a most sensitive one in the people of the old land, to whom liberty is a passion and loyalty an instinct. The heart of Canada goes out to the son who has done her such honour and such service as distinguish the Jubilee record of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. While Canada can show such distinguished representatives as a Macdonald, Cartier, Mackenzie, Thompson and Laurier, she can hold up her head with pride.

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

CROP YIELD IN MANITOBA.

Wheat Ranges From 40 Down to 16 Bushels and Oats as High as 50 Reply to the Kick of the Ontario Millers.

Winnipeg, Sept. 3.—(Special.)—Reports issued by the Manitoba-Northwestern and Northern Pacific Railways to-day show wheat cutting to be practically over. The following reports of yields are given: Westbourne, wheat, 20 to 22 bushels per acre; Gladstone, wheat 16, oats 45, barley 25; Arden, wheat 18, oats 45; Neepawa, wheat 30, Minnesota wheat 15, oats 30; Rapid City, wheat 20, oats 30; Newdale, wheat 30 to 40, oats 55; Strathclair, wheat 18, oats 50; Shoal Lake, wheat 25, oats 50; Birtle, wheat 18, oats 50; Yorkton, wheat 24; Portage la Prairie, wheat, 20; Roland, wheat 18; Miami, wheat 20. All reports give the sample as No. 1 hard.

In reply to complaints made by the Ontario millers of Winnipeg grain dealers, a prominent Winnipeg dealer says the reason they would rather sell to exporters than to Ontario millers is because the Ontario men weigh them short ten, twenty or thirty bushels on every car, which seldom occurs on cars sold for export.

Three thousand bushels of No. 1 wheat was purchased at Gretna on Tuesday at 81 cents.

MRS. J. OLIVER'S CASE.

Bright's Disease had Developed as the Result of her Ten Years' Suffering From Kidney Disease — Dodd's Kidney Pills Again Saves a Victim From the Grave.

Brockville, Aug. 23.—Anyone who asserted a few years ago that Bright's disease was capable of a cure would have been written down as fit only for a lunatic asylum. But it has been conclusively proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a cure for this disease, so long looked upon as fatal. Mrs. J. Oliver, of Phillipsville, is one of the living witnesses who can testify to this fact. She suffered from diseased kidneys for ten years and Bright's disease had developed when she heard of and used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have restored her to perfect health.

BASEBALL RECORD.

Providence, Sept. 3.—Providence won both games from Toronto to-day, making it three straight, and knocking the Canadians out of the lead. Egan pitched the first game, and won out by a single run. Gaston pitched eight innings for Toronto, and dropped out to allow Snyder to bat for him, when a strong batsman might have put Toronto in the lead. The second game resulted in a shut out for the Toronto team. Hodson had the strongest batsmen at his mercy. Snyder could not hold Norton's delivery successfully, and Casey had to take his place in the second innings. The second game was called at the end of the eighth innings to make train connections. APPARENTLY A HOPELESS CASE.

A Kincardine Banker Who Suffered Distressingly From Indigestion — Apparently a Hopeless Case of Stomach Trouble Until South American Nervine was Used—His Words are:—"It Cured me Absolutely."

What this wonderful remedy for all forms of stomach trouble can do is best told in the words of John Boyer, banker, Kincardine, Ont. "About a year ago, as a result of heavy work no doubt, I became very much troubled with indigestion; associated with it were those terribly distressing feelings that can hardly be described in any language. I tried various methods of ridding myself of the trouble, but without success, until I was influenced to use South American Nervine. The result, and I gladly say it for the benefit of others—this remedy cured me, and I never hesitate to recommend it to any person affected with any form of stomach trouble. —Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

High-Grade Cemetery Work

AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract.

"Merit talks" the intrinsic value of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses actual and unequalled curative power and therefore it has true merit. When you buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take it according to directions, to purify your blood, or cure any of the many blood diseases, you are morally certain to receive benefit. The power to cure is there. You are not trying an experiment. The Baskinonge Bridge.

A deputation from the county of Haliburton waited upon the Hon. J. M. Gibson Thursday morning for the purpose of urging the minister to grant some aid to the township of Stanhope in re-building the Baskinonge bridge, which is now practically useless. The estimated cost of the work is $1,200, and the deputation asked that the Government contribute one-third of this amount. While not receiving a definite promise that the assistance asked would be granted, the deputation withdrew apparently well satisfied with the interview. Those present were Messrs. R. J. McLaughlin, John Austin, Dr. Giles, Dr. Curry, Wm. Curry, Wm. Hartle, E. C. Young and Geo. W. Stevens.—Post.

A Good Move.

We are glad to see that the beautiful property on Aylmer street, north of Smith street, and just west of J. W. Fitzgerald's residence is being put on the market at such low prices that there must be immediate sales. This land a few years ago sold at $10 a foot, but it is now offered at five dollars a foot, with a chance to the skilful ones of getting 50 ft. lots at $50, $100, and $150, according as they approximate correctly the true count of the number of beans in a bottle. When a man of small means can get a good fifty foot lot for $250, he can then afford to build a home, and a number joining together to build at uniform distances (25 feet) from the road, they can make a very pretty place. A lane at the rear saves cutting up the front, and a total expenditure of $1000 gives a man his own home at $60 a year, which his less than a rental. The scheme of Messrs. Lindsay & Might calls for 24 subscribers for lots. The plan is too good to fail, and we expect to see more applicants than the number of lots offered. The wonderfully easy terms of payment ($3 a month) and the offer of money to build, make this the best thing ever offered in Peterborough to encourage industrious mechanics and others to get a home on terms easier that renting. 9d

RAN INTO A HORSE AND BUGGY.

A Bicyclist Has a Collision on Charlotte Street, Which Nearly Proved Fatal.

Harold Armstrong, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. Jos. Armstrong, Gilmour street, was so severely injured last evening through colliding with a horse and buggy whilst riding his bicycle, that for a time his life was despaired of.

Accompanied by a young son of Rev. D. O. Crossley, he was riding down Charlotte street, from Mr. T. E. Bradburn's at a considerable rate of speed. Young Crossley was in the lead and Armstrong was close behind him. Being about half past nine, the night was dark and the two riders came upon a horse and buggy driven by Mr. Lillico, of the Gravel Road, very suddenly. Crossley swerved to the left and Armstrong to the right, but the latter did not quite clear the rig, the shaft catching him in the groin and impaling him on it. He immediately fell from the bicycle, breaking off the end of the shaft, which had entered his body.

Mr. Lillico jumped out and seeing that the boy was badly injured, placed him in the buggy, but then discovering that the shaft had been broken. Fortunately another conveyance was quickly procured and the lad was driven to the home of his grandfather on Hunter street.

A hack was then secured and the unfortunate boy placed in it and taken to the hospital. At first it was feared that the bowels had been perforated by the shaft, in which case the injuries would probably have been fatal, but an examination showed that this had been averted and although the wound is a painful one, every hope is now entertained of the lad's recovery.

Mr. Armstrong drove to Idyl Wyld last night and brought Mrs. Armstrong, who was staying there, back to town.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

A Young Lad has His Leg Fractured Near Coldsprings, Otonabee.

Willie Fawcett, son of the late Andrew Fawcett, at Coldsprings, Otonabee, had his right leg fractured between the ankle and knee, on Tuesday afternoon, though a most unfortunate accident.

He was driving a horse rake in the fields when the animal attached suddenly kicked him with the above severe result.

The same leg was broken about a year ago when the young fellow was playing at football.

ILLUMINATED PARADE

Bicyclists to Hold an Evening Run and Decorate Their Wheels.

It is proposed that the wheelmen of town unite in holding a monster illuminated parade on one of the evenings upon which the Peterborough Central Exhibition will be open.

The idea is certainly a capital one and the picture presented by several hundred wheels prettily decorated and all carrying Chinese lanterns would certainly be a pretty one.

A joint meeting of the two bicycle clubs should be called at once, to which all non-attached riders could also be invited, and arrangements made regarding the details as to where the start should be made form, etc. If the parade wheeled down to the Exhibition doubtless the Directors could be persuaded to give a prize to the prettiest decorated wheel.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. Thos. Taylor.

Mr. Thomas Taylor, a prominent resident of Otonabee, on the Keene road, died on Friday afternoon after a brief illness. He was attacked with peritonitis on Tuesday night and succumbed to the disease on Friday afternoon. Mr. Taylor was one of the most respected residents of the township, and was for many years People's Churchwarden of St. Mark's. In this capacity he will be greatly missed by both clergy and congregation. He took a very active and intelligent interest in the promotion of all the interests of the church. In the general community he was held in high esteem, and was always very highly spoken of.

The funeral takes place on Sunday at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. L. Baynes Reid will conduct the service at the late residence of deceased, and Rev. H. Symonds will officiate at the church, preaching the funeral sermon.

Another Bug to Battle With.

A new insect pest that has lately made its appearance in this country is one that attacks the leaf of the pumpkin vine, and feeds upon the sap it contains until it becomes crisp, the same as if dried by the sun. The insect is of a grevish color, and is as large, though not so heavy, as the potato beetle. It is very lively, and a large number of them congregate on a single leaf. This enemy to the pumpkin was pointed out to us a few days ago; and no doubt many of the gardeers of this locality have been watching its movements, and will try the experiment of sprinkling paris green upon the leaf.

Fabio Romani.

Aiden Benedict's "Fabio Romani," which will be presented at the Opera House Thursday evening, Sept 9th, is an adaption of Marie Correlli's famous novel, entitled "The Vendetta," and is one of the best melodramas ever written of absorbing interest dealing with Italian love and vengeance. The scenic effects and costuming are pronounced by the press wherever the company have appeared, to be the best extant, and the company have been highly complimented by the public. Messrs. Benedict and Bowman and Miss Olive West receiving special praise. Miss Grace Hunter's Fire, Serpentine and other dances are also highly spoken of, and she is universally considered by all to be the best in that line now before the public. Prices 25, 35 and 50c.

A PETERBOROUGH ARTIST AT THE INDUSTRIAL.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey's Portrait in Toronto.

The Globe, in its criticism of the pictures exhibited in the fine arts department of the Victorian Era Exposition, Toronto, has the following to say of the portrait of Ven. Archdeacon Casey, exhibited by Mr. D. A. Shaw, artist, of this town:

An important piece of work is Mr. D. A. Shaw's fac-simile of the Ven. Archdeacon Casey (244), well posed and well drawn, and we would suppose a satisfactory likeness, but marred by the heavy colour—no lighting or reflection in the shadows of the black robes, even the flesh taking the same tones.

[It is fair to explain that the portrait arrived at the Exhibition buildings late, and did not secure as good a position as it would otherwise have got. The want of light accounts for the lack of "light or reflection in the shadows of the black robes. Under a proper light, as can be testified by those who saw and admired the portrait when on exhibition in Peterborough the apparent defects suggested by the Globe critic disappear. The picture is not at fault in Toronto, but the light in which it is viewed is very bad. Beside the severe criticisms bestowed by the Globe on much of the work shown by Toronto artists, the tribute to Mr. Shaw's portrait is to be considered high praise. Yesterday must have been the bad day for the critic's liver.

THE TRIP OF TWO CANOES.

They Were Well Made and Stood a Lot of Rough Usage.

In his official report to the Department of the Interior, on the Yukon District Wm. Ogilvie, Dominion Land Surveyor, makes the following reference to two canoes which he purchased from the Peterborough Canoe Company:—"These two canoes travelled about 3,000 miles by rail and about 1,000 miles by steamship before being brought into service. They did considerable work in Chilkoot and Taiya Inlets and were then packed over to the head of Lewes River (Lake Lindeman), from where they were used in making the survey of Lewes and Yukon rivers. In this work they made about 650 landings. They were then, transported on sleighs from the boundary on the Yukon to navigable water on the Porcupine."

"In the spring of 1898 the descended the latter river, heavily loaded, and through much rough water, to the mouth of Bells' river and up into McDougall's Pass. They were then carried over the pass to Poplar River and were used in going down the latter to Peel River, and thence up Mackenzie River 1400 miles; or, exclusive of railways and ships carriage, they were carried about 170 miles and did about 2500 miles of work for the expedition, making in all, about 1700 landings in no easy manner and going through some very bad water. I left them at Fort Chipewyan in fairly good condition and with a little painting, they would go through the same ordeal again."

Col. Rogers sent one lot of canoes to Rossland this week and two more to Buffalo for a couple of Americans who are going to take them to the Klondike with them.

BEGINNING OF THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

The first Sunday in September opens the fall campaign in connection with Y. M. C. A. work.

To-night at eight o'clock Mr. Jas. Goodwin will lead the young men's meeting, the subject being "Opportunities and their use."

To-morrow at 3 p. m. the Evangelistic Bible Class will be organized. It's aim is to interest those who do not attend Sunday school classes. All such are invited to join the class.

At 4.15 a short address will be given by the secretary at the men's meeting.

During the month a series of business talks will be given, the theme of course being adapted to spiritual lines. Subject for to-morrow's meeting. "Worldly Capital Despised." There will be a special musical service: Mr. G. W. Mulligan will sing. All young men are welcome.

PRECEPTS AND WARNINGS FOR THOSE WHO WOULD DYE WELL.

Let thy faith be fixed in the wonderful transforming powers of Diamond Dyes; the results they give will cheer thine heart.

Never allow any interested or wily dealer to recommend for thy use some inferior or imitation dye. If thou wilt hearken to his words, he will rejoice at thy simplicity of character and will delight himself over thy wrath and bitter disappointment.

If thou wouldst avoid handling poisonous ingredients, use only Diamond Dyes for thy home dyeing work; they are the only harmless and pure dyes.

When times are hard and money scarce, thine heart often craves for new and stylish colours and garments. By the use of the magic Diamond Dyes thy wishes can be fully realized, because Diamond Dyes recreate old dresses and make them to look like new.

If thou wouldst have a smiling face, a happy heart and easy mind, do thy colouring at all seasons of the year with the Diamond Dyes; they never cause worry or grief to those who make use of them.

The difference between what they are worth and what we shall ask you for them is so much money saved. There are about a thousand yards of these remnants—all lengths—suitable for boys' suits, boys' trousers, men's trousers, and some of them long enough for youths' and men's suits. Remember only half price for these remnants while the sale lasts. Cut free of charge to those who want to make them up at home.—H. LEBRUN & Co. dtf.

THE FIFE PICNIC.

The Annual Gathering of the Clan

On Tuesday, August 31st, the members of the Clan Fife, about 120 in number, met on the farm of Mr. John H. Fife, Bethel, Otonabee, to hold their second annual picnic. The day was beautiful and Mr. Fife and his family spared no pains in providing for the comfort of those assembled.

An excellent dinner was served in true picnic style, and after the tables were cleared Dr. Fife, Chief of the Clan, took the chair, and a short programme was presented as follows:

Opening hymn—"Blest be the Tie that Binds."

Chieftain's address, dealing chiefly with the life and character of the late John Fife the day being the one-hundreth anniversary of his birthday.

A mouth organ solo by Miss Maggie Fife, was much appreciated.

Communications from several absent relatives, who regretted their inability to be present at the picnic, were then read by the secretary.

A short poem entitled "Lines composed for the Fife picnic," by Harriet Heal, was then read by Mr. Herbert Fife.

A very interesting essay was given by Mrs. Welbourn, dealing with the early life of our ancestors and the hardships which they had to undergo in the early settlement of the country.

Then followed a very pleasing paper given by Miss Lizzie Fife, Otonabee, dealing with the genealogy of the Fife families.

Mr. Richard J. Winch, town, gave a short but spirited address chiefly on the character of the late John Fife.

Then followed the election of officers for 1898 as follows:

Chief—John H. Fife.
Secretary-treasurer—J. A. Fife.
Assistant secretary—Herbert Fife.
Executive Committee—Dr. Fife, John H. Fife, Hugh Fife, Geo. Fife, Isaac Fife.

Tea was served, after which the friends adjourned, feeling that a most enjoyable day had been spent.

The EXAMINER has to thank Mr. Fair for a beautiful souvenir of his trip to Ireland in the form of a large bunch of Irish heather of the bell variety. It was plucked by his own hands near the rules of Green Castle, county Donegal. Mr. Fair's many friends give him a cordial welcome home. He didn't come back with a Knighthood or Legion of Honour Cross, but brought back a fine stock of fine goods, in this way practically remembering his wide clientale of customers.

WEDDING BELLS.

MARRIAGE OF TWO FORMER RESIDENTS OF NORWOOD.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Eulalie Widdess and Mr. Harry Bewell and Mr. S. Cloyd Hartranft and Miss Mabelle May Griffin.

WEDDESS—BEWELL.

Last Friday's Toronto World contained the following happy announcement in reference to a former member of the Norwood High School staff:—

The many friends of Mr. H. Bewell will learn with pleasure of the event which interrupted the even tenor of his life, when he was united in marriage to Miss Eulalie Widdess, eldest daughter of Mr. R. Widdess, Lindsay, on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Manning, in the presence of a number of immediate friends, the bride being assisted by sister, Edna, and Miss Lena Hall, Port Perry, while Messrs. H. S. Robertson, Seaforth, and W. Widdess, discharged like services for the groom. Harry Bewell is well known to the football world, having organized and brought to perfection many football aggregations. Such towns as Galt, Norwood, Woodstock and Brandon will long remember and exhibit the result of his careful instructing in the art of kicking. As an individual player, he has always excelled. The rivals of Galt and Norwood will never forget his studied half-back work, his unique back kick, while in recent years not a few goal-keepers made his acquaintance in the capacity of a dangerous forward. He was one of the Canadian representatives who won football fame in the Mother Land in '88, and has figured in several international and inter association matches. In the estimation of some, he was, in his prime, the best exponent of half-back playing. Football men, Canada over, will learn with pleasure of the event which has terminated the bachelor career of their "kicking" friend."

HARTRANFT—GRIFFIN.

The Groton, South Dakota, Independent refers as follows to the recent marriage of Miss Mabelle May Griffin, daughter of Mr. S. J. Griffin, formerly of Norwood:

Yesterday was one of those ideal South Dakota days, when the sun shines brightly, but not too bright; when the wind blows, but not too hard; when all nature seems to take on a restful, happy somnolence, and lays a peaceful benediction upon all the struggling sons and daughters of earth.

It was doubtless just such a day as S. Cloyd Hartranft and Mabelle May Griffin would have chosen for the beginning of their married life, if they had had all the days of the year to select from. May the bright skies of yesterday prove a good omen.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Griffin, and has lived from childhood in Groton. Mr. Hartranft is the successful principal of our public schools—which position he has held for three years—and as an institute director he ranks with the foremost educators of the land.

The wedding ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the witnesses thereof being only the relatives and a very limited number of friends of the contracting parties as follows:—Mrs. Reynolds and daughter, Winnifred, of Norwood, Ont.; Mrs. M. Otis O'Brien, of Little Falls, Minn.; Miss Heasty, Aberdeen; Miss Berg, Redfield; Mr. and Mrs. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, Mr. Reynolds. Miss Carrie Brott was the maid of honour. Assistants were Misses Luverne Leach, Winona Mallett, Edith Mather, Winnifred Reynolds.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Reynolds.

The bride was dressed in white brocaded silk, trimmed with lace. A veil was not worn. The travelling costume consists of green novelty goods, trimmed with cardinal.

The groom was neatly attired in the usual black.

The house decorations consisted of maiden-hair ferns and flowers. During the ceremony and reception, the bride and bridegroom stood beneath an arch of Irish point lace and maiden-hair ferns, banked by potted plants and ferns. The dining room decorations were pink and green, and the table centre piece consisted of white carnations and pink sweet peas, ferns, etc.

Rev. J. S. Butt performed the ceremony, which was followed by a dinner that included all the accessories essential to the occasion.

A reception occurred from six to eight last evening, and for two hours scores of people were coming and going, all eager to wish the happy couple God-speed. Each guest at the reception partook of dainty refreshments, left an autograph, and was charmed by the piano music by the lady friends of the bride.

Out of town guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew, Dr. Miller and Mrs. Gregory, of Aberdeen.

There was a delightful array of presents, beautiful, ornamental and useful. The bride presented each of the young lady assistants with a souvenir pin.

When the train, which was to take the happy couple to Ortonville arrived from the west, there was a throng at the depot with all the rice and old shoes necessary to keep up the ancient customs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartranft will leave to-morrow for Hot Spring, this State, and will visit the points of interest in the Hills before returning.

THE D. R. A. MEETING

Kirkpatrick Match Opened Yesterday's Program.

FOURTH MILITARY DISTRICT WON.

Lieut. Ross of Hamilton Gets Away With the Top Prize in the Grand Aggregate, and Lieut. Mitchell Was Just One Point Behind The Full Scores.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The fourth day of the D. R. A. meeting opened with the Kirkpatrick match at 500 yards, the wind being from the left, and the light changeable.

The shooting at this range was very good. Several 17's and 18's and one 19 out of a possible 50 were noticed.

Lieut. Ross, 13th, is away up in the grand aggregate. Such shooting as the 13th are doing has never been equalled.

After Sergt. Mitchell of that corps won in the tie match for the Walker Cup yesterday he was complimented by Lieut.-Col. Hon. J. M. Gibson. A number of his admirers formed a chair and carried him to his tent.

The meeting of the Canadian Military Rifle League is set for this evening.

The 65th Mount Royal Rifles, the crack French regiment of Montreal, made a great effort this year in the way of representation, but have received a black eye on account of the sudden illness of Major Mackay and Pte. Monge, preventing them from further participation.

Marksmen are making a big effort to have the winner of the Governor-General's prize shoot the last shot on the range.

The score of Staff-Sergt. Millgan, 14th Regiment, in the Victoria match is changed from 68 to 70, giving him eleventh, instead of eighteenth, place, caused by an unavoidable error in the statistical office.

First prize, Kirkpatrick Cup and $30—1st, Fourth Military District team, with 3:5; 2nd, Fifth Military District, 402; 3rd, 63rd team, 402; 4th, Nova Scotia, 391; 5th, Third Victoria Rifles, 391; 6th, 11th Military District, 391; 7th, A team, No. 1 Military District, 390; 8th, Foot Guards, 387; 9th, second team 43rd, 385.

WARNED AGAINST KLONDIKE

An Englishman Advises His Countrymen to Go to the Kootenay in Preference, Yet He is Returning to the Yukon.

London, Sept. 3.—(Montreal Star special cable.)—The Englishmen now returning from the Klondike are earnestly warning the public against an English rush there. "The Klondike," says one, "is a lottery. The blanks are now about one hundred to one prize," yet this man himself has netted $30,000. He returns to the gold fields in the spring. The papers continue to warn investors not to touch the Klondike companies, but to extend their preference to Kootenay, where the returns are sure. The insurance companies are refusing to insure those going to Klondike at any price, unless they are joining a well-equipped expedition. The papers, however, publish advertisements inviting men with £250 to join an expedition in November by a short and secret route to the northern gold regions.

Letter from Governor Brady.

Washington, Sept. 3—John C. Brady, Governor of Alaska, has sent to Secretary Bliss a personal letter from Juneau, in which he says:

"Steamships are passing daily for Dyea and Skaguay loaded to the utmost with passengers and supplies. The news just out of Klondike by reliable men is calculated to raise the excitement to a higher pitch. The shipment of dust by the mouth of the Yukon will be all of two and a half tons. Rich finds have been made up on the sides of the mountains."

 1871 ***

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

 1897 ***

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

Is there anything more wholesome, more beautiful, more completely pleasing than a womanly woman? Such a woman is even tempered, intelligent, strong and healthy. Health really tells the whole story. Health means strong nerves and strong body, and they go far toward bringing good looks and amiability.

A woman worn and wearied by the dragging weaknesses peculiar to her sex, cannot be expected to find zest in any duty or amusement. Life is all one dead monotonous gloom to her. On her face is written the story of weakness and pain. The wholesomeness of health is lacking. The cheeks lack fullness, the eyes lack sparkle, the hair lacks luster.

Doctors have learned to locate nine-tenths of womanly sickness in the organs that ought above all others to be strong and healthy.

Sensitive women shudder at the thought of consulting a physician on such matters. A natural feeling of modesty makes them dread the examination, and subsequent stereotyped treatment by "local applications" on which most doctors insist.

Much more often than not, this is unnecessary. It should not be submitted to except as a last resort.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured thousands of severe cases of "female weakness." It works in a natural, sensible way. It begins by subduing the inflammation that is always present. Then it strengthens and invigorates the whole body, particularly the organs distinctly feminine. It promotes regularity, cures inflammation and ulceration, and stops the debilitating drain caused by them. Of all dealers.

TORONTO MARKETS

Wheat—There was a good demand for export and for home millers to-day, and the market was 2c to 3c higher for Ontario wheat, some 30 cars of new selling north and west at 83c to 85c. Manitoba wheat was firm and higher at $1.01 to $1.02 for No. 1 hard, afloat Fort William; $1.00 for No. 1 hard, Goderich, and $1.07 for No. 2 hard there.

Flour—There was a fair enquiry for export to-day, and some orders were placed. The market is firmer at $4.40 to $4.45 for cars of straight rollers in wood, west.

Millfeed—Unchanged, at $11 for shorts and $7.50 for bran, west.

Rye—Scarce, there being none offering and buyers are quoting 1c to 2c higher, at 45c east and 43c west.

Corn—Firm at 20c for yellow, west.

Oats—Steady at 21½c for mixed and 22½c for white, north and west.

Peas—Firm at 44c to 45c, north and west.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were 40 car loads of live stock on the market, made up of 800 cattle, 900 sheep and lambs, 24 calves and 400 hogs. This was a large run for Thursday, but 19 loads of them were stockers, bought by Messrs. Connors & Maity in the Province of Quebec, and were unloaded here to feed and rest, previous to shipment to the Buffalo market. To say the least, they do not compare favorably with Ontario cattle.

The market was dull, and no business, or next to none, in export cattle was done, and the dealers, not being pressed to fill space at present, seemed to be waiting to see if cattle could not be got at lower prices than have been paid for some time past, there being no money in it.

While we did not hear of any sales taking place in this line, we would quote them at $4.00 to $4.50 per cwt.

Trade in butchers' cattle was brisk, and the market firm at Tuesday's quotations.

T. Crawford, M.L.A., & Co. bought one load of mixed butchers' cattle at $3.35 per cwt. and one load of choice butchers' at $3.70 per cwt., and $9 over on the lot.

William Lavack bought quite a number, amongst them a car load of mixed cows and steers, weighing about 1200 each, at a trifle over $3.12½ per cwt.

Good stockers were scarce, and prices remained firm at Tuesday's quotations.

William Crenlock sold 10 light feeders of good quality, weighing 835 lbs. each, at $3.50 per cwt.

There were only some 6 milch cows on the market, and prices remain the same.

Calves were worth all the way from $3 to $7 each, the latter price being paid for choice odd ones.

There were plenty of sheep to supply all demands, and good export ewes sold at $3 to $3.50 per cwt.

Bucks at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Lambs brought $4 to $4.25 per cwt., or, in other words, $2.50 to $3.25 each; and extra good ones a quarter more.

Four hundred hogs were sold on the market at Tuesday's quotations, which were $5.75 per cwt. for the best quality and a few extra lots at $5.87½ per cwt.

Messrs. J. & J. W. Dunn have shipped during this week 1627 sheep for export to the English markets.

SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

PARTS OF IT JESCRIBED BY ONE OF THE GENERAL'S AIDS.

Signs of Disaster and Retreat Greeted the Plucky Rescuer at Every Step as He Neared the Front Mounted on His Black Horse, Little Phil Inspired All.

We came suddenly upon indubitable evidence of battle and retreat. About a mile in advance the road was filled and the fields dotted with wagons and men belonging to the various brigade, division and corps headquarters, and in among them officers' servants with led horses, and here and there a broken ambulance, sutlers' supply trains, a battery forge or two, horses and mules hastily packed with officers' mess kits, led by their cooks, and now and then a group of soldiers, evidently detailed enlisted men attached to the headquarters trains. In fact, this was the first driftwood of a flood just beyond and soon to come sweeping down the road. Passing this accumulation of debris with a rush by leaving the pike and galloping over the open fields on the side of the road, we pushed rapidly on, but not so quickly but that we caught an echoing cheer from the enlisted men and servants, who recognized the general and shouted and swung their hats in glee.

Within the next few miles the pike and adjacent fields began to be lined and dotted everywhere with army wagons, sutlers' outfits, headquarters supply trains, disabled caissons and teamsters with led mules, all drifting to the rear, and now and then a wounded officer or enlisted man on horseback or plodding along on foot, with groups of straggling soldiers here and there among the wagon trains, or in the fields, or sometimes sitting or lying down to rest by the side of the road, while others were making coffee in their tin cups by tiny campfires.

Soon we began to see small bodies of soldiers in the fields with stacked arms, evidently cooking breakfast. As we debouched into the fields and passed around the wagons and through these groups the general would wave his hat to the men and point to the front, never lessening his speed as he pressed forward. It was enough. One glance at the eager face and familiar black horse and they knew him, and, starting to their feet, they swung their caps around their heads and broke into cheers as he passed beyond them, and then, gathering up their belongings and shouldering their arms, they started after him for the front, shouting to their comrades farther out in the fields, "Sheridan! Sheridan!" waving their hats and pointing after him as he dashed onward, and they, too, comprehended instantly, for they took up the cheer and turned back for the battlefield.

To the best of my recollection, from the time we met the first stragglers who had drifted back from the army, his appearance and his cheery shout of "Turn back, men; turn back! Face the other way!" as he waved his hat toward the front, had but one result—a wild cheer of recognition, an answering wave of the cap. In no case as I glanced back did I fail to see the men shoulder their arms and follow us. I think it is no exaggeration to say that as he dashed on to the field of battle for miles back the turnpike was lined with men pressing forward after him to the front. * * *

After the whole line was thoroughly formed I rode over to my chief and urged him to ride down it, that all the men might see him and know without doubt that he had returned and assumed command. At first he demurred, but I was most urgent, as I knew that in some instances both men and officers who had not seen him doubted his arrival. His appearance was greeted by tremendous cheers from one end of the line to the other, many of the officers pressing forward to shake his hand. He spoke to them all cheerily and confidently, saying: "We are going back to our camps, men, never fear. I'll get a twist on these people yet. We'll raise them out of their boots before the day is over."

At no time did I hear him utter that "terrible oath" so often alluded to in both prose and poetry in connection with this day's work.—"Sheridan's Ride," by General George A. Forsyth, U. S. A., in Harper's Magazine.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

A Double Cure.

Mrs. Jas. E. Elwood, St. Thomas, Ont., says:—"My husband and myself have taken Doan's Kidney Pills. We used them for kidney and back trouble for which we had spent a great deal of money without getting relief. Doan's Pills cured us both in a remarkably short time. I believe they will cure even after all other medicines fail."

West Australia.

Western Australia was the last of the colonies on the continent to obtain responsible Government, and the present constitution dates from August, 1890.

The Governor is appointed by the Crown as in the other colonies. He receives a salary of £4000 per annum.

The Legislative Council consists of 21 members elected for six years.

The Legislative Assembly consists of 33 members, elected for four years.

The estimated area of Western Australia is 975,920 square miles; the population in 1891 was 49,872, but it has since largely increased, owing to the remarkable discoveries of gold in the Coolgardie and other districts.

Perth and Fremantle are the principal cities.

The chief exports are gold, pearls, pearl shell, sandalwood, timber, wool and skins.

The imports, except those from the adjoining colonies on the Australasian continent, are iron, articles of apparel, cottons, machinery, leather goods and foods and drink.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A Young Son of Mr. W. McDonald, of Lakefield, Nearly Drowned.

On Friday Master Charlie McDonald, son of Mr. W. McDonald, of Lakefield, had a narrow escape from drowning.

Charlie and Master Harry Mulhern were playing along the river just above the dam when Charlie got on a log and went out into the water. When a few feet from the shore he slipped off into the water, and as he was unable to swim he was in a perilous position.

His cries attracted the attention of the other young boy and Mr. Fortier, but as no boat was available and none of them could swim it looked as if there was no hope of rescue.

The boy at this time had gone down twice and was nearing some logs which were boomed up and the current was fast taking him toward them, and in all likelihood would draw him under them, when Mr. Fortier cried to young Mulhern to go out on the logs and rescue his companion.

He did so, and only just in time, as Charlie was going under the logs when he caught his hands and drew him out. Only for their presence of mind he would undoubtedly have been drowned. This is the second narrow escape for the lad and it is safe to say he will not venture near the water for some time.

THE FIRE FIEND.

A Number of Lakefield Stores and Sheds Burned on Thursday Morning.

On Thursday morning last, a few minute before two o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded in Lakefield and the bright reflection told it was across the bridge near John Hull's flour mills.

The fire started upstairs in a building used by Mr. J. H. Davis as a paint shop, and in a short time the building was a mass of flames. The fire engine was brought out on the first alarm, but as it was some time before sufficient steam was up to start with, the fire soon spread to Mr. John Hull's cooper shop, and a shed next the sidewalk.

All three buildings were burned to the ground. A large quantity of material for making barrels had been stored in the cooper shop, but willing hands soon put the larger part of it in a safe place, and everything was taken out with the exception of some lumber, barrel heads and a set of cooper's tools.

In the paint shop and shed Mr. J. H. Davis had stored a number of sleighs, buggies, waggons, &c., and owing to the fire having gained such headway, three cutters, the gearing for three buggies, a democrat waggon, and a quantity of varnish and turpentine were destroyed. Mr. Davis had an insurance on his property. The cause of the fire is unknown.—Lakefield News.

AN AWFUL SORE

A Babe's Untold Suffering And Mother's Many Sleepless Nights.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS.

I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, Eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering, and myself many sleepless nights.

My baby was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. Every one called it a boil, and, now it had broken, would soon heal, but that was only the beginning of the trouble. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of but nothing seemed to help, in fact it grew worse, her hair fell out where the sore was and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me "to get CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA ointment right away." To please him I did so, and to my surprise, by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore.

CUTICURA soothes and allays all itching and burning that cause a child to fret and the mother to worry, and gives rest and comfort both to parent and child.

MRS. WM. RYER, Elk River, Minn.

BASEBALL.

At the game of baseball on Monday forenoon and afternoon, at the P. A. A. A. grounds, between the Park Nine and the Cobourg team, every arrangement has been made to prevent rowdyism or unseemly conduct of any kind. The grounds will be patrolled in the morning by Officers McGinty and Stewart, and in the afternoon by Officers Adams and McGinty.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse team is in fine shape for its great game against Orillia on Monday next and if a large crowd only accompanies them, to give them encouragement, it will not merely be a case of not allowing Orillia to score too many goals, but the Orillia players themselves will be put on the defensive. Peterborough tied Orillia once before on their own grounds and the chances are that they will do even better than this next Monday.

Mr. Lionel King returned last night from Norwood, where he refereed a game of lacrosse between teams from that village and from Hastings. Norwood won by two goals to nil. The game was not rough, but the checking was of the heaviest kind, although the infractions of the rules were few and far between.

The Orillia Packet speaks as follows of last Tuesday's game:

The Orillia lacrosse team went to Peterborough on Tuesday to play the first match in the semi final series for the intermediate championship, and were defeated by a score of 7 goals to 4. The match was played in the old "hencoop" and was anything but a good exhibition of the national game, the small grounds giving neither side a chance to distinguish themselves. The bulk of the play was in the corners around the flags, and was of the scrap variety, the majority of the games being scored from swipes. The home team had all the advantage there was in knowing the grounds and the manner in which a ball would bound off the fence when thrown against it. In the open field the Orillias easily outplayed their opponents, but were unable to score, although shot after shot was sent at Dobbin, who played a grand game between the flags.

There were not many casualities, Wen being the only player seriously hurt. During the match he got a nasty shunt in the fence, rasping the skin off of his neck and face, putting him out of the game. At the time of the accident Went was playing a strong game, and with the score 4 to 3 the Orillias had hopes of winning, but with this ever-reliable player off the Orillia defence was greatly weakened, and Peterborough scored the next three games.

The return match will be played on the Oval on Monday next, and it is fully expected the home team will be able to reverse the score with margin enough to win out the series.

Bitter Disappointments

And Family Grief That Can be Avoided.

Paine's Celery Compound Brings Health, Joy and Happiness.

You are willing to confess, poor sufferer, that you have been bitterly disappointed with past efforts, and that in your estimation your future seems dark and gloomy.

You and your friends alone are to blame if disease is tightning its chain around you, making you a sure captive for the dark and dreaded grave.

Why keep a wife or husband in feverish anxiety, daily bending over you with tearful eyes and almost broken heart? Why cause your children's voices to be hushed, and their childish sports and games to be disregarded and cast aside? They certainly cannot enjoy life when they see a father or mother in the agonies of suffering and deep m mental despair.

You can change the scene by changing and bettering your physical condition. In other words, you can be cured and made well again by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Your efforts, up to the present, to throw off the encircling and deadly bonds of disease have been vain and futile. Your doctor's well meaning work has not been productive of cheering results, and you are wasting money on medicines that can never meet your case.

Being assured of new health and life by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, you are sinning against heaven and false to your family and friends if you refuse to make trial of the great agency that has saved thousands in the past.

Paine's Celery Compound is the grandest disease banisher that medical science ever devised, and has the indorsation of our best doctors, lawyers, public men, merchants and others. Its curing powers are wonderful, prompt and sure, and it keeps every man and woman permanently cured.

RUNAWAY NEAR NORWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gardner, of Dummer Have a Narrow Escape.

About 10 o'clock last Friday evening while Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gardner and family, of Dummer, were driving home from Hastings when opposite Mr. W. A. Howson's farm about 2½ miles from Norwood, in attempting to pass some other vehicles, their rig was upset and the occupants thrown into the ditch.

Fortunately all escaped serious injury. Mrs. Gardner, however, was considerably bruised and shaken up and was taken in one of the other rigs to Dr. Pettigrew's surgery where her injuries were attended to and she was soon able to continue the journey home.

In the confusion the horses made a dash to get free but were soon brought to a standstill. One of the animals came in contact with the rail fence and received a slight wound. Mr. Gardner and the other occupants escaped with a few bruises. The vehicle was not very badly wrecked but the dishes in the baskets were broken in the mishap. The rig was righted and the contents gathered up and Mr. Gardner was soon on his way north happy to find on reaching Norwood that Mrs. Gardner's injuries were not serious.—Register.

THE SWATIS GIVE UP

Thousands of Rifles and Swords Turned In.

AMEER OF AFGHANISTAN IS LOYAL

Co-operating With the British in Putting Down the Rebels Cretan Blockade to be Raised A Heavy Shortage in the Supply of Wheat Revealed—Cable News.

Simla, Sept. 6.—The Swatis, up to the present, have surrendered 2000 guns, 1000 swords and 500 breech-loading rifles.

A few days after the Durbar at Cabul, when the Ameer of Afghanistan repudiated the complicity of his officials in the uprising of the tribesmen on the Indian frontier, the British agent addressed a letter to him, asking for a specific answer to the strong rumors that natives from Lughman were joining the Haddah Mullah, and that supplies were being sent from Lapura to the gathering of the followers of the Haddah Mullah.

The Ameer immediately replied in an autograph letter, reminding the British agent of his public repudiation of the complicity of his officials, adding that though the Mullah's disciples helped the fanatical priests secretly, they could not do so openly, for fear of the Ameer. The latter also informed the agent that the Afghan officials at Nuigrahar had been instructed to secretly watch the suspected disciples of the Mullah in Afghanistan, and he asserted that the Governor of Lughman recently attacked and dispersed 500 men, who had been collected by the Mullah's disciples, and who were about to join the Mullah. The Governor, the Ameer asserted, had arrested 40 of these men.

Shinwaris Also Scattered.

London, Sept. 7.—The Times' Simla correspondent says that in addition to dispersing the Lughmanis, who had been collected by the Mullah's disciples, and were about to join the Mullah, the Ameer's troops also scattered a body of Shinwaris, who had assembled near Peshbalak, intending to enter and hold the Khyber Pass for the Afridis.

The Ameer, the correspondent says, is plainly determined to keep the tribesmen in check, and measures will be taken by his orders that will cripple the Mullah's power and probably prevent further risings.

Waiting.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The Hamburgische correspondent states that Emperor William, in a Cabinet order issued in August, again enjoined the generals in command to exhort their officers to lead a simple life.

The Lokal Anzeiger's Copenhagen correspondent says that Prince Charles of Denmark, who, a year ago, married Princess Maud, the youngest of the Prince of Wales' three daughters, yielding to his wife's wishes, have at last decided to enter the British navy and to take up his residence in England.

Von Hahnke Was Drowned.

London, Sept. 7.—The Daily Chronicle denies the rumors recently put in circulation to the effect that Lieut. Von Hahnke, who accompanied Emperor William on his yachting trip along the coast of Norway this summer, committed suicide after a scene with the Emperor. The Chronicle says the true story is that Lieut. Von Hahnke, who was accompanied by a brother officer, accidently ran into the River Grondalselv on his bicycle, while trying to avoid a collision with a shying pony. The river is a raging torrent, from which escape is impossible. When his companion came upon the scene all trace of Lieut. Von Hahnke had disappeared except his cap.

Threatening.

London, Sept. 6.—The Mark Lane Express, reviewing the crop situation today, says:

The weather has been adverse to the completion of the harvest and the quantity of grain still out is considerable.

The French wheat crop is estimated at 31,000,000 quarters by the chief writers of the Paris press. Correspondents of English business firms state that the crop will amount to from 33,000,000 to 36,000,000 quarters.

The Austro-Hungarian crop is stated to be 17,000,000 quarters. If this is true, it adds greatly to the gravity of the situation.

The American crop is reckoned by careful judges to be 68,000,000 quarters or 11,000,000 quarters improvement to offset a decline of 9,000,000 quarters in Russia and 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 quarters in France.

All the figures point, therefore, to a deficiency in the world's supply of 14,000,000 quarters. Should the demand be actually as large as this, the stores of old wheat will be used up and a crisis of great seriousness will only be prevented by generally good prospects for the spring of 1898. We are not, however, entitled to argue that such prospects will be more than the average.

To Raise the Cretan Blockade.

Canea, Isle of Crete, Sept. 6.—The admirals in command of the fleets of the powers in Cretan waters have decided to raise the blockade of this island on Friday next, Sept. 10, the cause necessitating a blockade having disappeared and the insurgents having accepted an autonomous form of Government. Therefore the admirals have requested the Governor to disarm everybody except the regular troops. Admiral Canovaro, the Italian officer, who has been in command, by virtue of seniority, of the foreign fleet, has not been recalled with the Italian warships. Admiral Canovaro has left Crete, on leave of absence, on board the Italian warship Sicilia, leaving the Italian squadron in charge of the Italian officer who is next to him in rank. The Russian admiral has also left Canea and the British admiral will sail from here shortly on leave of absence.

Herr Krupp Has Sense.

London, Sept. 6.—A special despatch from Berlin says that Herr Krupp, the ironmaster, has withdrawn his offer of £25,000 to equip the next expedition of Dr. Peters to Africa owing to the sentence recently passed upon the doctor.

Pirates Want $3000

Tangier, Morocco, Sept. 6.—The pirates belonging to the Reeoza Kabyles, who about the middle of last month boarded and sacked the Italian barque Fiducia of the Riff coast, taking as prisoners her captain, boatswain and one seaman, and who about two weeks later seized and plundered the Portuguese barque Rosita Faro and carried off the captain of the vessel and four of her crew, have agreed to release their prisoners in exchange for the Riffians who were captured by the Spanish steamer Sevilla and upon the payment of a ransom of $3000.

Russian Minister [illegible]

London, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of The Times in Constantinople says that, owing to the note of Count Muravieff, the Russian Foreign Minister, implying that England was responsible for the incalculable evils from which Greece and Turkey are suffering through the delay in the conclusion of peace between the two countries, Lord Salisbury has submitted fresh proposals, namely, the constitution of the international commission representing the six powers, under whose control Greece shall place the revenues guaranteeing their interest to the holders of old bonds and the indemnity can to be followed by the prompt evacuation of Thessaly by the Turks.

Prospect of a Settlement.

Vienna, Sept. 6.—The Politische Correspondenz announces that Greece has abandoned her opposition to the demands of Germany regarding the control of Greek finances, and, therefore, there is a possibility that Lord Salisbury's latest proposals will lead to a settlement of the Graeco-Turkish troubles.

Petroleum Syndicate in Russia.

London, Sept. 7.—The Standard publishes a despatch from Baku, saying that a new Russian syndicate, composed of 12 large petroleum firms, will, it is expected, be formed in 1898 and on a 10-years basis. The syndicate will control an immense capital and will be represented in the great markets. It will have tank boats and reservoirs in order to compete with American oil, and with the new Russian Grosney Field Wells, which are largely exploited by foreign firms, and seriously threaten the Baku trade.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

There Were 330 Delegates Present, Representing 1,250,000 Unionists, at Birmingham Yesterday.

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 6.—The Trades' Union Congress met here to-day. There were 330 delegates present, representing 1,250,000 unionists. The Parliamentary Committee reported that the legislation in many decisions of the courts during the year 1897 was not based on principles of equity and justice and was calculated to seriously injure the cause of labor and give capitalism an unfair and improper advantage.

IS IT 65 OR 69?

The Miners Will Meet To-Morrow to Settle a Rate of Wages as a Compromise.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—Mass meetings are being held to-day all over the Pittsburg district by the striking miners for the purpose of appointing delegates to the district convention, which meets here to-morrow to consider the Columbus compromise and elect delegates to the national convention at Columbus on Wednesday. While some of the leading miners have stated that they will contend for instructions to the Columbus delegates to vote for 69 cents or nothing, it is thought that the 65-cent men will be in a minority and unable to successfully urge their plan. A number of operators have received assurances that the miners formerly at work for them will ratify the agreement arrived at in Columbus, and will vote to return to work at the 65-cent rate. President Dolan, Secretary William Warner and District Organizer Cameron Miller all say that they feel sure the great majority of the miners will vote to accept the 65-cent rate. President Dolan is of the opinion that the settlement of the strike on this basis is the very best that can be accomplished at this time.

DEAD AS A DOOR NAIL.

Mr John Torrance Talks About the New Fast Atlantic Contract.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Mr. John Torrance, agent of the Dominion Line, has returned from a trip to England. Regarding the proposed fast line for which Petersen, Tate & Co. signed the contract with the Dominion Government, Mr. Torrance states that the scheme is as dead as a door nail in London. The company have been unable to float it, and there is no prospect of success.

YELLOW FEVER IN THE SOUTH.

Strict Quarantine Has Been Arranged Against Biloxi and Ocean Springs.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 6. President Oliphant of the Louisiana Board of Health sent a telegram to that board here at 10 o'clock to-day, confirming the report that the physicians at Ocean Springs had declared that the prevailing sickness was undoubtedly yellow fever. The doctors of three states came to this conclusion after holding an autopsy on the body of a person who died yesterday.

The State Board of Health has decided to enforce a rigid quarantine against Biloxi and Ocean Springs. Quarantine will also be enforced against the other watering places on the Gulf Coast until President Oliphant receives more light is obtained on the situation. Guards are to be put on the trains and at the stations all baggage is to be fumigated, and every possible precaution is to be taken to keep the disease out of the city. The Louisville and Nashville trains have been ordered not to stop at either Biloxi or Ocean Springs. The homes of all people who have returned to New Orleans in the past two days are to be thoroughly fumigated.

To Prevent a Spread.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 6.—State Health Officer Swearingen this morning issued ironclad quarantine against Ocean Springs, Miss., and all other points now affected or likely to be affected by yellow fever. It will go into immediate effect and last indefinitely.

A SENSATION IN ENGLAND

Over Expected Revelations in Connection With the Private Institutions for the Keep of the Alleged Insane.

London, Sept. 6.—Mr. George W. E. Russell, cousin of the present Duke of Bedford, and Under Secretary of State for the Home Department in the Rosebery Administration, has inaugurated a movement calling for the abolition of the private mad houses, and has announced his intention of asking Parliament to take steps in that direction as soon as ever it reassembles. He declares that he had while in office exceptional facilities for studying the inmates of private lunatic asylums, and that they constitute the greatest infamy in England. Since he has been a member of the Opposition he has gone on investigating the matter, and announces that he will produce before the House revelations of the most startling character. A great sensation has been caused by Mr. Russell's remarks, as it had generally been supposed that the once notorious abuses in connection with these private lunatic asylums had been abolished and were a thing of the past.

THE NATIONAL GAME

Tecumsehs Beat the Capitals in a Good Game at Toronto.

About 3000 people went over to the Island yesterday to see the exhibition game between the champion Capitals and the Tecumsehs. It was clean, fast and scientific all through, and a splendid exhibition of the game. A considerable number were present from outside lacrosse towns, and were all well pleased with the style of lacrosse put up by both teams.

The Island men were in good form, some of them feeling a little sore after the hard game of Saturday, but they succeeded in defeating the Capitals by 5 goals to 2, the same score as made against the Torontos. The score is a fair indication of the play.

1—Tecumsehs, Murphy, 4 min.
2—Tecumsehs, McVeity, 13 min.
3—Tecumsehs, Gorman, 32 min.
4—Capitals, E. Murphy, 5 min.
5—Tecumsehs, O'Meara, 5½ min.
6—Tecumsehs, O'Meara, 17 min.
7—Capitals, Powers, 3 min.

AS OTHER SEE US.

Impressions of an "American" Epworth League Delegate.

The EXAMINER has been favoured by Mr. James Stevenson, ex-M. P., with a copy of the New Paltz (N. Y.) Independent containing a letter from Rev. R. S. Crawford, who was a delegate to the great Epworth League Convention in Toronto, and while in Canada spent a few days in Peterborough. The following extracts from his letter will be of interest:

"What impressed me most of all about the Canadians is their high intellectual and moral, or rather religious, character. The splendid University of Toronto, with its magnificent buildings, and scholarly professors, is abundant proof that the higher education is not neglected; while the large and well-appointed school buildings, which one sees in every city and town, arrest his attention and excite his admiration.

But the churches impressed me most of all. Toronto, more than and city I am acquainted with, deserves to be called a city of churches. That is one large city with more churches than saloons. And almost everyone goes to church.

As a Methodist, of course, I felt something like pride at the great strength of the Methodist body. There are forty Methodist churches in Toronto alone. Fifteen of these I was assured have seating accommodations for 2,000 persons each on an average. Several of them cost about a quarter of a million dollars apiece.

* * * *

Peterborough, an enterprising town of 12,000 people, has not only splendid churches and a good supply of them, but the finest and best equipped Y. M. C. A. building that I remember to have seen in a place of that size.

* * * *

The Canadian character differs from ours a good deal. The Canadians are more open and warm-hearted, yet dignified. They are not less intelligent than we are; they are plainly more religious, and have in them more of reverence. They do not criticise men and things either as freely or as keenly as the sharp-witted American.

A comparison between their Constitution and Government and ours would be both interesting and instructive. An excellent work on that subject may be seen in the State Library in Albany entitled "Comparative Politics." I confess it seems to me that the Canadian process of making laws has, among others, this important advantage over ours, that legislation there can be secured more quickly, surely and smoothly than here. True, hasty legislation is to be avoided. But it is perhaps equally undesirable to have the wheels of legislation move too heavily or to see them blocked.

As to annexation, I must say I found very little annexation sentiment among the Canadians. Indeed among those whom I conversed with on the subject, I found not one who favoured annexation. On the contrary, they all expressed themselves strongly against it, some using terms of extreme reproach in speaking of any who might possibly favour that idea, even going so far as to say that Anarchists and such favoured annexation. It would seem to me pretty plain that the annexation of Canada to the United States is a consummation so remote as to be far out of sight, if it ever comes at all.

On the whole, assuming what will be freely conceded, that it is the part of wisdom, as for an individual, so for a nation, to learn good from others, instead of kicking and cuffing them, or finding in their shortcomings food for an over-weening self-conceit, I should say that there is not a little we can learn from our next-door neighbour to the north.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. Jas. Stewart, of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Nellie Young.

Mr. W. Donnelly, who has been at Stony Lake the past two weeks, has returned home again.

Mr. C. J. Leonard and Mrs. Leonard, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. P. A. Kearney.

Miss Vernie McFarlane, who was ill the past few days, has recovered again.

Miss Minnie Weir, of Peterborough, is visiting Nellie Young.

Miss Annie Young is home from Peterborough for a few days.

They are all professional fishermen around the Point and some excellent guides amongst the number, but one who distinguished himself this summer is Master Austin Walsh. This boy, who is only ten years old, caught 'lunge this summer weighing fifteen and sixteen pounds, which he had to go ashore to land. Besides he made a good round sum of money catching minnows and frogs for the Americans' bait.

Young's Point has been a very lively village since the first of June, as there has been a great number either stopping here or passing up to Stony Lake on the boats. All we want is a regular daily train service to make this village boom.

The following guests have been at the Lakeview this week:—Messrs. Fred. Farber, John Spies, E. Campbell, W. Wright, Sam Solomon, Chas. Stout and H. Held, all of Rochester; Mrs. T. Cavanagh and Master Roy Cavanagh, of Peterborough.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou—Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

The Almonte, Ont., Knitting Co. is working overtime.

The knitting mill of T. A. Code at Perth, is being run night and day.

It is reported that a new carpet factory will be opened at Breslau, Ont., before the first of September. The plant will be thoroughly equipped with new machinery.

A new dye house for the knitting mills of the Penman Manufacturing Company is being built at Paris, Ont., and new machinery is to be transferred to the main building.

It is reported that the Rosamond Woollen Mill at Almonte will employ compressed air as a motive power instead of steam, in the near future.

It might be added that the Auburn Woollen Mills have not been so busy for a long time as they are at present. Overtime is the order of the day.

NEWS FROM SKAGUAY

Criminals Hold High Carnival Tnere at Present,

THEY ALSO INFEST THE WHITE PASS

Desperate Men, Full of Disappointment, Turn Upon Each Other—Gamblers Scheming to Hold Luckless Miners in Camp by Blocking the Pass —Mounted Police Angry.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 5.—Things have about reached a crisis at Skaguay. Trouble, it is asserted, cannot be avoided and the condition of affairs is so alarming that Government officers are gathering in a squad to save Americans. The steamer Queen arrived from the north at 3 o'clock this morning and brings down the latest news.

It is alleged that gamblers and other criminals, while robbing miners every hour of the day and night, are doing everything in their power to cause a blockade on White Pass and drive the thousands of desperate men into winter camp at Skaguay, so that the robbery can continue. Some of the most notorious criminals of the country are there. The old shell game is being worked with success almost on the summit of White Pass by "Soapy" Jim Smith, a renowned crook from St. Louis. An ex-convict from Montana is assisting him. Then, too, thieves are at work. Aug. 27 one miner's tent was relieved of $14,000.

On the Queen were George B. Kittinger of this city and Col. F. S. Chadbourne of San Francisco, State Harbor Commissioner of California. From interviews had with these men, it is apparent that the worst has yet to be told concerning the horrors of Skaguay. Mr. Kittinger, who is the Alaska representative of J. Edward Addicks, returned for additional funds with which to secure boats and transportation from their camp to the lake. Before leaving the trail Mr. Kittinger offered two men $700 per thousand for whip-sawing lumber at the lakes for two boats. The men refused the job and Kittinger finally contracted to purchase the boats at $350 each.

Kittinger says:

"The feeling is most intense between the miners on the trail. Trouble of the most serious nature is likely to break out at any minute. The miners' committee, impelled by the wholesale stealing that has been going on for weeks past, held a meeting and announced that the first man caught in theft would be strung up without the formality of a trial. All the men in the camp are made desperate by their failure to get over the trail, any by the terrible hardships they have been compelled to endure in the hopeless struggle against the odds of the past weeks. The miners have become suspicious of each other and quarrels are of hourly occurrence. Every man's hand is raised against every other man. The lawless characters are much in evidence, and dissensions and disputes have broken out among the miners until such a thing as co-operation is impossible.

"Words are utterly inadequate to describe the trail. You cannot put it too strong. If there were 300 there instead of 6000 it would be different, but with men and horses, some of the latter not more brutes than the men, struggling and fighting for a chance to get beyond the summit, all efforts to place the trail into shape for travel are utterly in vain."

The attention of the authorities of Alaska has been drawn to Skaguay, and Governor Brady and Collector Ives have expressed the greatest concern in the outlook. Colonel F. S. Chadbourne talked with both Ives and Brady. He says that Collector Ives detailed and announced to him his intention of raiding Skaguay with a force of deputy marshals, driving out the whiskey smugglers, saloon men and dive-keepers, and arresting the confidence men and thugs.

"This," said Colonel Chadbourne, "is the only way in which they hope to avoid a winter season full of murders and crimes of all descriptions. The whiskey men and thieves have conspired to keep the trail blocked, so that thousands will be forced to winter at Skaguay. They know that the authorities are not able to cope with them, and they figure on getting every dollar out of the tenderfeet from the East before spring sets in. All sorts of traps are laid for the unwary Easterners and men from the villages of the coast. 'Soapy Jim,' one of the most notorious confidence operators on the coast, conducts a shell game right on the open trail. 'Jack' Jolly, the murderer, who has just been released from the Montana prison, is on the ground, and he says that Skaguay is the easiest graft in the country."

Collector Ives said that if he could break up the whiskey smugglers and dive-keepers the camp could disperse, the gold-hunters return to Juneau and the Sound for the winter, and quiet would be restored. Governor Brady is quoted as saying that the situation is laden with trouble, and that he intends notifying the department at Washington of the condition of affairs.

The action of the collector's deputies in taxing the Canadian Mounted Police $30 per head duty for their horses has incensed the Canadians, and they, as they passed up the trail, openly announced their intention of stopping the first of the American miners that go to Lake Tagish, where the Canadian customs office is established.

In spite of the attempt of the miners' committee to close the trail so that it could be repaired, one party of twelve, with drawn revolvers and loaded rifles, announced their intention of going through to the summit. They passed a guard of miners and set out for the summit. The committee was called together, and a number of armed men were sent after them to head them off. If trouble is averted it will be by the greatest good luck. Men have lost all sense of reason and are desperate and reckless.

A LETTER FROM SKAGUAY.

Americans Have Landed With Tons of Blasting Powder and Other Necessaries for the Prosecution of Work.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 6.—The following letter has been received from Skaguay, Alaska, dated Aug. 28:

An expedition sent out by a New York newspaper landed yesterday morning at Skaguay by a specially chartered tug from Juneau, with two tons of blasting powder and the necessary tools to equip seven complete crews for rock work on the Skaguay trail, and as fast as horses and men could get at it, it was started to the front. In the evening there was a meeting at the foot of the first hill, attended by over 500 miners, who organized for the work in front of them and elected an Executive Committee, consisting of James Christie of Portland, President; Philip Adams, secretary; C. A. Gramer of Seattle. Mr. Heacock and Mr. Day as superintendents, who selected experienced men for the work on the rock hills and veteran loggers for the work of corduroying the muddy places.

There were 30 Canadian Mounted Police also on the trail. They have pitched in with a good will and say that the building of this trail will enable them to get in with the 70 tons of provisions in time to build and provision the mail stations in their territory. They will operate dog teams all winter, and they agree to deliver the mail every two weeks from the Klondike to the American line. Work is in progress for 15 miles along the trail, and all travelers' packing has been suspended until it is completed.

There have been some kickers as usual, but they are so much in the minority that they have had to submit. While I believe this trail will be complete in 10 days so that travel can be resumed, it will take at least 30 days after the trail is completed to get all the miners over who are now there. There would never have been so much trouble for small parties, but the swarm of people, 95 per cent. of whom were tenderfeet and knew nothing about packing and mountaineering, has been the cause of congestion at this point.

The first reports about this trail were inspired by ill-treated parties, who are trying to start a town here, and who are also in the whiskey business. Not nearly so many discouraged prospectors are selling their outfits for a song as has been reported, but a good many who started for the Klondike have given up that idea, have turned town site buyers and are erecting all kinds of buildings and establishing themselves for the winter as best they can. One week ago lumber could be got for $27 per 1000. Now it is $50 and none for sale, even at that figure. Rubber boots, heavy shoes and oil clothing are in demand and fetch big prices. Hardware of all kinds sells well. The steamer Queen of Seattle, steamers Alki and Danube of Victoria have landed over 500 passengers, 800 tons of freights and 350 horses and mules since Aug. 25, and still there is more to follow.

The Klondike excitement has turned the attention of the whole world this way and will result in opening this territory as nothing else could have done.

On board the steamer Queen on this trip are two parties, one organized in Chicago, consisting of four gentlemen, comprising a doctor, lawyer, commission merchant and assayer, all under the guidance of L. L. Bates, who has spent the past eight years in Alaska as a trapper, hunter and guide. They will stay along the coast in the Alexandrian Archipelago this winter, and in the spring will thoroughly prospect the Copper River country. The other party is headed by E. H. Fisher of Los Angeles, Cal., and will push into the Copper River country this winter.

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

WESTBROOK IN FRONT.

The Brantford Man Won the Ten Mile Race at Waterloo.

Waterloo, Sept. 6.—The Labor Day bicycle meet here this afternoon was a success. Over 75 entries were received, and all the races with the exception of the professional events were very keenly contested and were immensely enjoyed by the 3000 people present. The chief features were Westbrook's great ride, winning the 10-mile Canadian professional championship, defeating the cracks McLeod, Davidson, McCarthy, Greatrix and Carman. They found the pace too hot, and had to drop out, while Westbrook rode the last two miles alone, paced by Dunbar and Bouke on a tandem, making the 10 miles in 24.23 1-5. Wilson, the young Wanderer, showed up well, and Axton of Brantford carried off two amateur events. It was very noticeable that the professional hauling races are not wanted here. Summaries.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

The company secured by Mr. Benedict is one of the best organizations now travelling, and the scenery and spectacular effects are equal to anything of the same nature ever produced in this city. A special feature of the entertainment will be the Serpentine, Stereopticon, Fire and Spanish dances introduced by Miss Grace Hunter which are pronounced superior to those performed by the much advertised "La Lois" Fuller. Prices of seats for this engagement are 25, 35 and 50 cents.

SHOOTING AFFAIR MYSTERY IS SOLVED.

IT WAS AN ACCIDNT. PURE AND SIMPLE.

Young Elliot was Shooting Birds Along the Road With a Pea Rifle and a Bullet Accidentally Reached Little Lila Adamson.

The mystery which has surrounded the accident which befel little Lila Adamson a week ago last Saturday evening, at her home near Springville, has at last been solved, but the solution, sad to say, was followed almost immediately by her death.

It will be remembered that in the issue of THE EXAMINER on Monday, August 30th, an item appeared noting the supposed shooting of Mr. H. T. Adamson's little four year old daughter. She was playing in the barnyard and suddenly began to cry. On being examined a small wound, resembling that which would be made by the entrance of a nail, was found just above the hip, and the child being evidently in great pain was brought in to Dr. Boucher, who expressed the opinion that the wound resembled a bullet hole, but on probing he could not detect the presence of any bullet. Mr. Adamson then recollected that just before he had heard the child cry out he had heard the REPORT OF A FIREARM.

On returning home with the little one he was told by Miss Clark and Miss Lang, who live in the vicinity, that at just about the time the accident occurred they had been passing the premises on their way home from Peterborough and had seen a young man fire from a carriage which was just in front of them.

This confirmed the suspicion that the wound had been caused by a bullet and High County Constable Cochrane took the matter up. On Wednesday he drove out and saw the young ladies, obtaining from them a description of the carriage from which the shot had been fired. Taking as a clue the information that the hind springs were higher than the front Mr. Cochrane traced the rig through Fraserville and on down towards Bailliieboro. Having heard of some people who had come up the river road from the south on Saturday evening, he drove down into Bewdley to ascertain if they had met a carriage answering the description of the one he sought. He received no information, however, and came back to town after spending the greater part of three days on the trail. He was about to start off again Monday morning, but in the meantime the item in the EXAMINER referring to the matter caught the eye of the very person who was in a position to know most about the matter, and on Saturday morning he came into Peterborough and acknowledged having been the innocent cause of what has been shown to be a

MOST LAMENTABLE ACCIDENT.

On the Saturday afternoon on which the little child was injured, Willie, the fifteen year old son of Mr. John C. Elliott, Aylmer street, left town at about five o'clock in a carriage with his uncle, Mr. Richard Jackson, and his two aunts. Mr. Jackson lives in Clarke township near Kendal, and the lad was going to spend a week's holidays with him and other relatives in the vicinity.

Before going he borrowed a small 22 calibre pea rifle from a companion and took some cartridges along in order to have some shooting in the country. After getting several miles out of town he saw a crow on the fence, and drawing up the rifle from the bottom of the carriage he slipped a cartridge into it. By this time the crow had disappeared, but after going some distance further Mr. Jackson espied a bird sitting on the top of a stake by the road side, and telling the lad that now was his chance, stopped the horses in order that he might get a steady aim. The bird was missed and the carriage drove on. A moment after the cry of the child was heard and a man was observed to come from the barn and pick it up. Thinking for a moment that the bullet might have reached the little one, the boy suggested going back, but Mr. Jackson thought that an accident arising from such a cause was impossible and they proceeded on their way. During the week the matter came up for discussion several times and the coming of the EXAMINER on Friday was eagerly awaited in order that it might be ascertained definitely whether the spent bullet had or not. The item referring to the mystery of the accident settled all doubt, and Willie Elliott came into town on the Saturday morning train and made a clean breast of the whole affair to his father. As soon as his day's work was over in the Ackerman harness factory, Mr. Elliott and the boy started off for Mr. Adamson's. The father was away at the time in Peterborough, and the child was found to be suffering acutely.

Mr. Elliott learned that Dr. Banker had called in Dr. Carmichael for a consultation which was to take place in the morning and after explaining the whole circumstances of the case to the family, he suggested that his own family physician, Dr. King, be also asked to join in the consultation, which he urged should be held immediately as the little girl seemed to be growing very weak.

He left his address at the house, and with his son started for home, and on reaching there found Mr. Adamson awaiting him. The latter agreed to having the consultation held at once and the three physicians were called upon and made arrangements to go out to the homestead at once.

By the time the doctors reached the home, however, the little girl was in the last throes of her death agony, and nothing could be done for her.

County Crown Attorney Wood, Coroner Fife, and High County Constable Cochrane were all notified of the facts of the case, but it was decided after consultation of the circumstances, that the affair was purely accidental and that an inquest was unneeded.

Mr. Adamson and his sorrow-stricken family will have the sincerest sympathy of all who heard of the deplorable accident, which caused the death of his bright little girl.

To Willie Elliott also sympathy will be meted out as being the innocent cause of the little one's untimely death.

Mr. Elliott insists on meeting the entire expense connected with the matter.

At a post mortem which was conducted by Dr. Fife the bullet was found in the mesentery, and it was ascertained that in in its course the ball had cut an intestine thus causing death.

THE PARK NINE PLAY LEAGUE BALL.

They Defeat Cobourg Baseball Club in Two Exciting and Well Played Games.

The two games played by the Park Nine and Cobourg teams yesterday were the best exhibitions of baseball given in Peterborough for many years. The morning game was short, snappy and replete with brilliant plays on both sides. For six innings the Cobourg team could not get a man across the plate, and in that time the local team had only put two runs to their credit. In the latter part of the game, however, the visitors by bunching a couple of hits and by daring base running managed to score two runs. Much of the credit of this game is due to Miller, who pitched a masterly game, only allowing one man a base on balls. He was ably supported behind the bat by Chris Graham, who caught a grand game, and in the field by Sheridan, Cassidy and Scott, all of whom filled their positions in fine form.

The afternoon game, although not quite as good an exhibition of baseball as the one played in the morning, was even more exciting from the fact that the Cobourg team had the lead up till the ninth innings. In that innings, with the score 9 7 against them, the local team went in to do or die, and by a magnificent batting rally rolled up 6 runs, giving them a lead that the visitors could not overcome. Connors started to pitch for the home team but had to retire in the first innings. He started off well, striking the first five batters, but after that he lost control of the ball, allowing the visitors to take the lead. Miller went on in the sixth and finished the game in fine form. Jack Sheridan covered himself with glory in this game by throwing a man out at the plate from the grand stand. Graham's catching was again a feature, and Scott's work at first could not be better. It is too bad that games like these could not have been arranged earlier in the season, for it was demonstrated yesterday by the enthusiasm of the spectators that there is a home for baseball in Peterborough as well as for other games.

NOTES.

The management of these games reflects great credit on Mr. J. M. Smith, and it is to be hoped that he will be in town next year to take hold of the Baseball Club, for there is no doubt whatever that he could make a success of it.

The Cobourg team are a gentlemanly lot of young fellows and were delighted with their trip to Peterborough. They expressed a wish to arrange a series of games between the two teams next year.

CHAMPION MILT.

Walker Wins the Quinte Half Mile Championship at Belleville.

Walker and Pakenham rode at the Belleville races yesterday. The former won the Quinte District half mile championship by winning two out of three heats. In the first heat a Belleville man ran across in front of Walker upsetting him just at the start and putting him out of the heat. In the second heat the Peterborough man had a close call as the tandem did not go fast enough for him and the winner of the first heat almost caught him in the stretch. In the final heat the tandem tried to run away from the field, but Walker stuck to it and was carried across the tape 100 yards ahead of the field, thus winning the championship. Pakenham took third place in the quarter mile.

FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.

Mr. Lem Felcher took a football team to Young's Point yesterday to participate in the tournament, and although they had no opportunity of doing any practising together, they defeated the Chemong Indians. Young's Point won from Warsaw and then Peterborough and the Point played off, the Point winning by one goal.

Lacrosse at the Point.

The Granite lacrosse team went out from town yesterday to Young's Point to play against Norwood but the latter team was entirely too heavy for them and won easily by seven straight goals.

MARRIAGE IN PRISON; JEALOUSY, MURDER.

A TRAGEDY IN STANHOPE TOWNSHIP.

Brutal Murder of William Sawyer—Jealousy the Provoking Passion—The Victim Beaten to a Jelly—One of the Assailants Arrested—The Other Still at Large.

Special Correspondence to the Examiner.

Stanhope township, in the northern part of Victoria county, was the scene of a terrible tragedy, resulting in the death of a farmer named William Sawyer. Thomas Thompson and his brother, Matthew Thompson, are the assailants whose brutality ended his life.

Some time ago Thomas Thompson betrayed a girl, was arrested, and while in jail condoned the offence by marrying the girl, the ceremony being celebrated

WITHIN THE PRISON WALLS.

The couple went to reside in Stanhope, occupying the same house as the unmarried brother Matthew. Recently Mrs. Thompson went out with a companion to pick berries near a field where William Sawyer was at work harvesting grain. On the way home it appears that Sawyer who was going home also and in the same direction, helped Mrs. Thompson by carrying the baby which she had taken with her, as far as the latter's gate, when the child was handed over to the mother, Sawyer going on home. This act coming to Thompson's ears, roused his jealousy previously excited by sundry reports current in the neighbourhood, to murder point.

Last Wednesday, he and his brother Matthew, laid in wait for Sawyer, who they knew was returning from the post office in company with his father, an old man 75 years of age. At a point on the way Thomas Thompson accosted Sawyer, the brother remaining concealed. The ensuing altercation, resulted in a mutual proposal to fight out the matter on the spot. Both removed their coats and the fight began. Sawyer who was the smaller man had his opponent down when the brother Matthew appearing on the scene began a savage assault on Sawyer who was soon

WICKED INTO INSENSIBILITY.

Then the father, an old man, interfered, whereupon both the Thompson brothers set upon him and beat him in a most brutal manner, his face being pounded to a pulp. Meantime Sawyer came to consciousness and was attempting to rise, when the Thompsons again assailed him and in his weak and injured condition they had little trouble in so severely beating and kicking him that they left him apparently dead on the ground.

Sawyer was removed to his home in an unconscious condition and medical assistance at once sent for. But neither of the physicians at Minden nor Haliburton were at home—they were in Toronto. Under the circumstances Sawyer had to lie from Wednesday till Saturday without medical assistance. On Saturday Dr. Frost, of Kinmount, came to see Sawyer, when he found the poor man dying, and death followed Saturday night. And it was no wonder he died. Subsequent examination revealed the fact that the murdered man's kidney and liver had been kicked to a jelly.

In consequence Matthew Thompson was arrested, and is now in jail at Haliburton, but the other miscreant, Thomas Thompson, is still at large, though the authorities are diligently looking for him.

The murdered man Sawyer was a widower, and his mother as well as his wife are dead. Thus five small children are left doubly orphaned to the care of a weak old man of 75 years, who in addition to the shock of his son's violent death, has hardly recovered from the shock of losing another son, George, who was drowned last fall, the body being recovered only a week before his other son died a violent death, the victim of a murderous assault.

THE REWARD OF HEROISM.

Masters Percy Graham and Harold Lovekin Have the Humane Society's Certificates.

The readers of the EXAMINER will remember that in the issue of August 3rd was printed a report of the heroic rescue from drowning of a little boy aged nine years by Master Percy Graham, son of Mr. Jas. Graham, 116 Dublin street, and Master Harold Lovekin, grandson of Mrs. Ann Graham, 547 Water street. The little lad mentioned, Arthur Boucher, had fallen outside the boom below the Electric Power Company's buildings at the Dickson dam. Seeing his danger, Percy Graham, thirteen years of age, plunged in and the drowning boy clutching him around the neck, both were in danger of losing their lives, when Harold Lovekin, only eleven years of age, came to the rescue and at great risk to his own life rescued the two from their position of peril. The unselfish heroism of the lads was referred to by the EXAMINER as a fitting reason for the bestowal of the medal of the Humane Association. The matter was brought to the attention of the Association on Friday in Hamilton.

The Investigating Governors of the Royal Canadian Humane Association unanimously awarded parchment certificates to "Percy Graham and Harold Lovekin, both of Peterborough, for promptitude and courage in saving Arthur Boucher from drowning at the pier below Dickson's dam on August 2nd, 1897."

WHEELED TO TORONTO.

A Party of Peterborough Bicyclists Take a Pleasant Outing.

Messrs. R. D. Hamilton, A. Mercer, R. Neill, S. Munro, F. J. Rogers and W. L. Allen left on on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on their wheels to ride to Toronto. They arrived in Lindsay in time for tea and in the evening wheeled on to Cannington, where they spent the night.

On Sunday the trip was continued to Lake Simcoe through Sutton and to Newmarket for dinner, where, after a two hours' stay, the party left for Toronto, which they reached at 3 p.m.

Messrs. Mercer, Hamilton and Munro remained in Toronto, and the remainder of the party wheeled to Bowmanville on Monday, returning from there to Peterborough by train.

The outing is described as being a most delightful one, the roads being in fine condition except just between here and Lindsay and between Newmarket and Toronto. The portion of the wheelmen who came on through to Bowmanville road about 260 miles altogether.

PETERBOROUGH PUTS ORILLIA OUT OF IT.

BY WINNING THE SEMI-FINALS BY 10 GOALS TO 8.

The Second Match of the Semi-Finals Against Orillia Results in a Victory for That Town by Four Goals to Three, but Peterborough Went up With an Advantage of Three Goals, and Thus Wins the Series.

By their brilliant play at Orillia yesterday the members of the Peterborough lacrosse team have again worked their way through the first series of the semi-finals games for the championship of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, being now champions of the Eastern, North-Eastern and Northern districts.

It will be remembered that by beating Orillia here by seven goals to four the Peterboroughs had a majority of three games to their credit when they went on the field for the return game at Orillia yesterday, so that in order to win the series the Orillias had to score four more games than the visiting team. The Peterboroughs, knowing the felt positive that this could not be done, and, therefore, entered into the game with the greatest confidence. With a little extra effort they could have beaten the Orillias on their own field, but it was thought that it would be wiser to play a more "canny" game, such as would tend to keep the defence players from scattering out in the field to any extent in their efforts to feed the home field, the home players coming back into Peterborough territory to get the ball and then carrying it down the field with them. Galley and Jim McCabe worked this scheme, together, to perfection yesterday, and in this manner the ball was worked down the field time and again. Peterborough scored first blood and kept in the lead until Orillia tied them in the sixth game. Orillia then won the seventh giving them the match by one goal.

Several hundred Peterborough enthusiasts accompanied the boys to Orillia on the regular train at 8 10 a.m., expecting to arrive in Orillia at about noon, but through the forethought of Mr. Bunton, the G.T.R. ticket agent, arrangements were made at Lindsay for a special train, which got the party to its destination before eleven o'clock.

THE GAME COMMENCED

shortly before two o'clock before fully a thousand spectators, and from the start the play was very fast, although it took the Peterborough boys some time to settle down to the work which was cut out for them. Although the home field of the visiting team were a bit off at the begining of the game, the defence was not, but throughout the match every man on it played a strong fast game, breaking up the Orillia combination work as soon as it came dangerously near the goals, and only allowing one clean shot to be made on goal all day, the other games being scored by the Orillias out of scrimmages in front of the goal.

Dobbin's great blocking between the flags was done with such precision as to bring him almost as much applause in Orillia as it would have at home, and just in front of him Brown "worked like a horse," doing the work of two men in the scrimmage, and time and again carrying the ball out through the struggling mass of players in a manner which was truly wonderful. Mein played coverpoint for the first time this year and put up such a strong fast game in that position as to entitle him to remain there without another move for the balance of the year. Glover put up a very strong game at first defence, breaking up the Orillia combination work time and again by his neat manner of intercepting the ball as it was being passed from one player to the other and once he got the sphere there wasn't a man on the Orillia field who could or make him throw it until he had sized up the position of the players and passed it out to some uncovered man. Borland played his best game of the year at second defence and did some great work in feeding the home, working in well with Jim McCabe and Galley, whose work around the centre of the field was indeed a fine exhibition to watch, nearly all the combination work starting in with them. The pair played a tireless game, fairly breaking the hearts of their two checks. Rubidge played next to centre in the home field and was in far better form than he has been before at any time this year. He worked hard and in the combination was not found wanting. That old war horse, Phelan, did great execution, and dashed around as lively as a two year old. His stick handling was greatly admired. King was one of the players who showed an advance over anything they have done during the year. He caught and passed well and made some exceeding close shots on goal. Lipsett and Jack McCabe made a great pair for inside and outside home men, and although the work in their positions is the hardest on the field, both acquitted themselves admirably during the game, their work around behind the flags and their quickness in turning to shoot, keeping their checks on the qui vive all the time.

THE PLAYERS

all seem to be placed in the positions best fitted for them now and it is hardly probable that any future changes will be made, as the final matches are now so close.

The players lined up as follows yesterday:

Hanley	goal	Dobbin

Quinn	cover point	Mein

ORILLIA DREW THE BALL

at the face-off and it was passed directly in on the Peterborough goal, which, however, was quickly returned by McCabe who passed the ball out to Galley. Between him and Phelan a nice combination was started, but was broken up. Then the ball was sent to the other end of the field, but was quickly back again only to be returned to the Peterborough flags once more. Watson here got in some of his fine work and split Mein's head open, necessitating a stop of three minutes. Watson was warned. After the face-off when the play was resumed the play was around the Peterborough flags again. Mein relieved well and Dobbin stopped a hot one. Orillia made several close shots. When the goals were finally cleared and the ball working up to the other end of the field Jack McCabe and King both made very close shots and then the home field of the Peterboroughs began to pick up and for the rest of the game played in faultless form. Phelan making another close shot a minute later. The ball was then sent circling around the Orillia goals, passing from Rubidge to Phelan to King to Jack McCabe, who scored the first goal of the day, amidst the wild cheers and enthusiastic applause of the Peterborough delegation. Time 14½ minutes.

The next game went to Orillia in just ten seconds, being passed directly in from the face-off and touching about four sticks in its transit. Score, 1—1.

The next game was more even and the play was up and down the field. Young Quinn lashed Lipsett over the legs necessitating a five minutes cessation of play. The offending player was for the game, and as Lipsett had to retire, Dunn was also sent off with him. Strange to say, after being told to remain off, Dunn, in the excitement, slipped back on the field again. This trick did not, however, avail the Orillias much, as Rubidge took the ball out of the scrimmage and passed it to Phelan, who scored. Time, 19 minutes. Score, 2—1 in favour of Peterborough.

The Orillias now made a desperate rally to even up the score, and Dobbin, Brown and Mein made some grand stops and reliefs before the goal was finally cleared. The ball then travelled quickly up the field, and falling into Phelan's ever ready stick, was passed to Jack McCabe, who with a neat shot made the score 3—1 in favour of Peterborough. Time, 17 minutes.

Orillia now made a great kick about Umpire Cameron, of Beaverton, and to the lasting disgrace of the town, he was mobbed by the crowd. This, however, did not avail to alter his decision, and as a number of Orillia's most reputable professional gentlemen were behind the flags, and saw the goal scored, the referee refused to remove the umpire, although Orillia demanded it.

Orillia pulled the score down to 3—2 after five minutes play, and in three minutes more made it a tie.

There was still twenty-two minutes to play, and Orillia worked hard to pull down Peterborough's advantage but only succeeded in scoring one more goal, thus winning the match by one game but losing the series by eight goals to ten, thus putting Peterborough into the finals.

NOTES.

As a referee, Dr. Heggie was a distinct success. Of course he couldn't see all the rough play, but when he did get his eye on it the offender got his warning. Not a Peterborough man had to be warned.

They say that Jim McCabe broke Mary Ann Curran's heart yesterday. He checked him on the field and the Orillia man had just one chance to shoot during the game.

Now for the championship!

Councillor Cobb was amongst those who went up to see the game.

Percy Rubidge got "the knee" from Quinn in a manner which almost made him have to quit the field.

An effort will be made to bring the Markham team here for a game in the near future. Both it and Stouffville have been thrown out of the league for playing men who were not bona fide residents of the respective towns, but this fact would not interfere with the Markham team coming here for a game.

There must have been a thousand people at the station last night to meet the lacrosse boys, and the cheering and enthusiam was something immense.

CANAL WORK AT ROSEDALE.

Peterborough Contractors Interested.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says: "An iron swing bridge is to be built at Rosedale, and the contract therefor has been let to the Peterborough Bridge Co. Mr. Conroy, of Peterborough, has the piers, and commenced work on them last Tuesday. The old bridge, which was condemned some time ago, has been closed, and there will be more traffic across the river in vehicles until the new bridge is built. The new dredge was set to work on Monday for the first time, and gave the utmost satisfaction. About twenty-four men are engaged at dredging, and several more are busy at the bridge piers.

THE RINGERS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR—I know that your reporter was with the lacrosse team at Orillia yesterday. I also understood that the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was to play the same team at Orillia that played on our own grounds, with the necessary men for substitutes. I see by this morning's papers that the Orillia club reports that Peterborough played "ringers," at Orillia yesterday. What I want to know is—Is that so? If it is so, I am done with them. If it is not so, the cowardly liars that sent that report to the Toronto papers should be exposed. If a lacrosse club is not manly enough to take a fair licking with good grace, it ought to stick to marbles. The Orillia players knew every man who played for Peterborough on our grounds last week and they could easily see if any changes were made.

Yours, ADMIRER.

[NOTE—The Peterborough team was composed of exactly the same players as won from Orillia on the P.A.A.A. grounds a week ago Monday. Every man lives in Peterborough or Ashburnham and the public can judge as to how deserving any of the boys are of the appellation of "ringers." Fuller explanation to-morrow.

DINGLEY'S PAPER SPEAKS.

That Objectionable Section Regarding the Bonding Privilege Was Not Intended to Hit Canada.

Lewiston, Maine, Sept. 3.—The originators of section 22 of the Tariff Law did not intend it to affect the bonding privilege, under which foreign merchandise can be shipped and forwarded through Canada, according to The Lewiston Evening Journal, Nelson Dingley's paper. The Journal editorially says of the section: "The controversy which has arisen over section 22 has come entirely over two amendments, one having been made by the Senate and the other by the conferees. The section as framed by the Ways and Means Committee, and passed by the House, was the same as in all previous tariffs, and if it had not been amended after it left the House, no question could have arisen respecting it.

"The Senate amendment to section 22 amended the House section by striking out the words 'or any Act of Congress' in the conditional clause, which is the modification of importance that is causing the most controversy."

"Many papers, commenting on the section, assume that the conferees inserted this amendment, and proceeded to comment on what they call a 'trick in the dark,' etc. The fact, however, is that this amendment was adopted in open Senate. The other amendment, it now seems, was adopted by the conferees simply to prevent an evasion of the section by the landing of foreign merchandise in Canada by vessels not entitled to equal privileges in our ports, and then shipping it to the United States, and was not intended, or understood to affect the bonding privilege under which foreign merchandise can be continuously shipped and forwarded through Canada. Undoubtedly, when finally settled, this amendment will be construed as the conferees intended and, therefore, all the contention over it falls to the ground."

TRADE IN CANADA.

A General Improvement Noted by the Commercial Agencies.

New York, Sept. 3.—R. G. Dun & Company's review of Canadian trade tomorrow will say:

There is further evidence of improvement in Canadian trade generally and the prospects are considered much brighter. The grocery business at Halifax is improving, with orders increasing and profits better, and trade in drygoods is up to the average, with a better demand for fancy goods. Hardware is quiet. The hay crop is good and the general tendency toward improvement.

A hopeful feeling prevails at Montreal and in many lines values tend to strengthen. Collections are fair and discount rates 6 to 7 per cent.

The trade situation at Toronto is unchanged, though the Exposition, which opened on Tuesday, brought in a large number of merchants, who are buying liberally.

Business continues steady and brisk at Winnipeg and bank clearings are over 50 per cent. larger than a year ago.

At Victoria general business continues good for the season and in most lines larger than a year ago and collections are satisfactory.

Bradstreet's will say to-morrow: The distribution of general merchandise in the Province of Ontario is larger than for many years, owing to the large crops and higher prices for farm products.

Business at Montreal is more active than last year and the prospect for fall trade is good.

The Nova Scotia apple crop is short and St. John, N.B., lumber shipments continue checked.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

NINE BENT, ONE CAME BACK.

A Colorado Man Went to South American Except Alone of His Party.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 3. — George W. Adams of Cripple Creek arrived in this city to-day from the gold fields of South America. Eighteen months ago Adams left this city to try his fortune in South American fields. He went to the gold fields, 300 miles from Georgetown, in company with eight Americans, remaining there eleven months. Of the entire party of nine, he alone escaped death from the fatal fever. One by one he saw his companions die of the terrible disease, saw a hole scooped in the ground and their bodies, twisted from pain, covered with earth; was twice attacked himself with the malady, and all but died, and finally, after seeing the last of the eight die in agony, he became terror-stricken and fled from the country, from which, he says, not one out of 75 white men ever return alive.

TORONTO MARKETS

Wheat—There was a good demand for export and for home millers to-day, Ontario being quoted at 85c to 86c. Manitoba wheat was firm at $1.01 to $1.02 for No. 1 hard, about Fort William; $1.00 for No. 1 hard, Goderich, and $1.05 for No. 2 hard there.

Oats—There was a fair enquiry for export to-day, and some orders were placed. The market is firmer at $1.10 to $1.15 for cars of straight rollers in wood, west.

Millfeed—Unchanged at $11 for shorts and $7.50 for bran, west.

Rye—Scarce, there being none offering, and buyers are quoting 1c to 2c higher, at 45c east and 43c west.

Corn—Firm, at 29c for yellow, west.

Oats—Steady at 21½c for mixed and 22½c for white, north and west.

Peas—Firm at 44c to 45c north and west.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The deliveries of live stock were very large and every pen on the market and the annex was filled. Ten car loads of stockers had to remain on the cars for want of space on the market. This state of things was brought about by there being 30 loads of Quebec stock cattle unloaded here to feed and rest before being shipped to Buffalo, where they are billed; 19 of these were mentioned yesterday, and the others belong to Mr. McIntosh, who is shipping to the same place.

There were, besides those reported yesterday, 1265 cattle, 1600 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 40 calves.

On account of the large run, prices were not quite so firm as they have been.

Export cattle were dull and no sales exceeded $4.50 per cwt. and very few at that price.

Shippers have been losing money all summer, as before stated, on account of having space engaged on the boats, which they had to fill or let go vacant. This caused some of the dealers to pay more money for cattle than they otherwise would have done. The space contracts have mostly been filled now, and the dealers do not feel inclined to run the risk of losing more money by continuing to pay higher prices than the English markets will warrant them in doing, hence the decline.

Mr. Canemore sold two car loads of exporters, one of 24 cattle, averaging 1129 lbs. each, at $4 per cwt, and one load of 21 cattle, weighing 1276 lbs. each, at $4.50 per cwt.

J. & J. W. Dunn bought one car load, averaging 1310 lbs. each, as good as any on the market, for which they paid $4.50 per cwt.

James Eakins bought one car load of export cattle, weighing 1200 lbs. each, at $4.30 per cwt.

W. H. Patterson, a prominent dealer in live stock of Agincourt, East York, bought for feeding purposes, one car load of cattle, weighing 1213 lbs. each, at $4.12½ per cwt., deeming it better to pay this price for good heavy feeders than $3.60 per cwt. for light feeders.

A. Ironsides bought four car loads of exporters, two loads averaging 1100 lbs. each, at $4 per cwt., and two loads weighing 1400 lbs. each, at $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle were a little easier, caused by the large run, but were in far greater demand than the exporters; anything choice brought good prices.

William Levack bought one car of mixed cows and heifers, weighing 913 lbs. each, at $3.15 per cwt.

O. Zeagman bought one load of butchers', weighing 980 lbs. each, mixed steers and heifers, at $3.45 per cwt., and nine butchers' cows, averaging 1025 lbs. each, at $3 per cwt.

Choice heavy bulls were worth from $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

C. Zeagman bought five bulls, weighing 1600 lbs. each, at $4 per cwt., and one weighing 1900 lbs. at $4.12½.

Stockers and feeders in good demand, and sold at Tuesday's quotations.

F. McKay, Greenmore, sold 15 stockers, weighing 820 lbs. each, at $3.30 per cwt.

John Henderson bought 17 steers, weighing 1000 lbs. each (heavy feeders), at $3.75 per cwt.

J. Vance of Tavistock sold 20 heavy feeders, averaging 1240 lbs. each, at $53.50 per head, to Coughlin Bros., Loudon.

Milk cows were selling fairly well from $25 to $40 each, and William Weldon sold one extra fresh milker at $43.

S. J. Prouse of Ingersoll, Ont., bought one car load of average dairy cows, for which he paid from $25 to $35 each.

Mr. Prouse has bought several loads on this market during the present season, and states that dairymen are making some money.

Sheep were selling fairly well at Tuesday's quotations. Export ewes brought from $3 to $3.50 per cwt., and bucks sold at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Lambs were plentiful, and sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt., or $2.50 to $3.25 each.

Maybee & Taylor bought 500 lambs at $4 per cwt. for the Buffalo market.

The market for hogs remains steady at $5.75 per cwt. for good, and $5.87½ for extra choice lots.

Farmers will do well to remember that it is not fat that brings the money these days, but the long, lean hogs that are wanted. One weighing from 140 to 200 lbs. of this description will bring the top price.

Shipments per G.P.R.: R. Ironsides, 3 cars cattle for export; A. McIntosh, 1 car; S. Halligan, 1 car, all for export; Thomas Gardiner, 1 car stockers for Kansas City, Neb.; H. P. Kennedy, 1 double-decker of lambs for Buffalo; A. W. Maybee, 1 single-deck of lambs for Buffalo, also 1 car of stockers for Buffalo, and 1 double-decker of sheep for the same place; W. Murby, 6 cars of stockers from Smith's Falls to Buffalo; T. A. Moody, 1 car, and D. Noonan, also 1 car of stockers for Buffalo.

WARD KILLED HIMSELF.

The Englishman Who Eloped With a Millionaire's Wife in San Francisco Went Crazy and Suicided

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Russell D. Ward, who created a sensation a short time ago by eloping with the wife of Millionaire John Bradbury of Los Angeles, Cal., committed suicide some time during the early morning by throwing himself from a Chicago Northwestern Railway train.

The fact was not known until hours later, and as the result of a search, which was begun immediately, the body was found at Wheatlands, Iowa. It is not known at exactly what hour Ward leaped from the train, but, according to Conductor Galloway, the act was committed after 3 o'clock this morning. Ward was evidently insane when he threw himself out of the car window, as he had been acting peculiarly for the greater part of the trip and frequently sent telegrams to all parts of the country.

Ward was an Englishman. He was married and had a large family in England. A short time ago he visited Los Angeles, California, where he met and eloped with the wife of John Bradbury, a reputed millionaire. Later Mrs. Bradbury left Ward and all was forgiven by her husband. Ward, who was placed under arrest at San Francisco, was discharged Aug. 26, and left for New York, presumably to join his wife and family in England.

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

1897

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. There is no experiment in getting a Mason & Risch.

OFFICE—FURNITURE WAREROOMS

The advantage of a policeman over a burglar is that the officer has the law on his side. Health has the same advantage over disease. The Law of Nature is for people to be healthy. When they are sick, Nature helps to cure them. Nature's law is the guide for curing sick people. There is no way but Nature's way. What the doctors call many different diseases Nature cures in one way; by nourishing the whole body with good, pure, rich, red blood. That is Nature's way of curing scrofula, erysipelas, kidney and "liver complaint," consumption and every form of eruptive and wasting disease. When you want to help Nature with medicine the medicine must work the same way as Nature works, then it has the laws of Nature on its side to make it powerful. That is the secret of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery's wonderful cures. It assists Nature according to her own laws; it is on Nature's side and Nature helps it; it imparts new power to the nutritive and blood making organs to create a large quantity of fresh, red, healthy blood which drives every germ of disease out of the system and builds up strong healthy tissues and solid flesh. The "Discovery" completely clears away every form of blood disease from the system; It even cures consumption. It is the only true radical cure for that disease; facts and testimony to prove it.

"I would like to tell the whole world what your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me. The doctor, who is considered an expert on lung troubles, told me I had consumption. He said both my lungs were diseased and I could not live long. I felt down-hearted for I have dear little children to live for. I just went to him to get his opinion. I am glad I did for now I know what your medicine will do. When I started on the second bottle I was better in every way and was able to take a walk on every fine day. I enjoyed my sleep, my appetite was good, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I began to feel like a new woman. I still had a cough, so I got a third bottle and by the time it was half gone I was completely cured."

(Mrs.) James Gatfield

97 Mary St., Hamilton, Ont., Can.

The Use and Abuse of Alcohol.

It is well to point out the injurious effects of alcohol taken in excess, and this, of course, only applies to those who take it, not as an adjunct to the enjoyment of life or to the pleasures of the table, but who take it all times and under all circumstances. Taken in moderation it can do no more harm than any other luxury—it increases appetite and stimulates digestion. In advancing and old age it is certainly beneficial. It strengthens the action of the heart, increases warmth, and acts as oil does to rusty machinery. We have St. Paul's authority for this. But, taken in excess, it weakens the nervous system, and in women leads to hysteria and neurotic derangements. It further impedes the renewal of nervous and muscular tissue and the vital activity of the blood-vessels. It influences the circulation in such ways as to lead to congestion, and by paralysing nervous energy is the cause of degeneration of tissue that eventually leads to such conditions as Bright's disease, cirrhosis of the liver, thickening of the membrane of the larynx and bronchi (as may be noticed in the hoarseness of confirmed topers,) and other evils too numerous to mention. It is a well-known fact that those who are exposed to the temptation of tippling, such as hotelkeepers, wine merchants, barmen, etc., are very short-lived.

Insurance companies,as is well-known, refuse to take at ordinary rates persons who indulge to excess in alcohol, and their tables show conclusively that life is shortened by a great number of years by immoderate indulgence in drink or food. On the other hand, it would, I think, be an evil day if the moderate and healthy-minded individual is to be ruled by the faddists, who, though in the minority, can always make themselves loudest heard. Happily, there is always a majority of level-headed people to keep them in subjection, so that the ordinary sensible man shall be able to enjoy all the foods and drinks that a beneficent nature has placed within the reach of humanity.—Gentleman's Magazine.

London Policemen.

The London policeman goes on the force at a salary of $6 per week, with the assurance of a raise to $8 at the end of eight years' service. He has, in addition his uniform, boots, coal money and some other extras, as well as the promise of superannuation pay at the end of 26 years' service.

Getting Out of Danger.

"Well—well—it is sad to see pedestrianism waning into a lost art."

"Lost art! Not much; since the advent of wheels and trolley cars the human race is twice as nimble as it used to be."

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

RED EAGLE.

The Canadian Iroquois Chief in the Salvation Army.

Joe, the Turk, who gained so much notoriety some years ago by joining the Salvation Army forces, has a rival.

He is Red Eagle, a genuine red man from the Iroquois tribe. And in the language of the Salvation Army poseers Red Eagle preaches, sings and plays the tom-tom for Jesus.

Red Eagle was converted to membership in the Salvation Army during the progress of the midwinter revivals in California in 1896. Since that time he has traveled the country over, preaching under the auspices of the Salvation Corps. He speaks good English, has a voice that is not so bad as it might be, and his playing of the tom-tom lends a flavor to the meeting that is unsurpassed. Red Eagle appears at every meeting in full Indian war paint. He tells of his experiences in the different tribes of North America and his talk is always interesting and proves very entertaining.

Red Eagle was a guest of Sitting Bull at the time when the old chief met his death. He says he witnessed the shooting of the Sioux chieftain and assisted at his burial.

In talking to a Philadelphia Press representative he gives the following account of his life:

"I was born in Ontario, Canada, April 16, 1873. I had been raised in the Episcopal Church, but gradually drifted away from all religious orders. I was never satisfied with my life, and my conscience was continually rebuking me as being a guilty child in God's sight. For some time I tried to convince myself and others that there was no God, but never succeeded in doing so. Finally I got to a place where I felt that unless I accepted the salvation of Jesus Christ before the close of the day that I would lose my last opportunity for receiving pardon for my sins and a heritage in the kingdom of heaven, and, thank God, in the month of March, 1890, I became a Christian.

"During the last few years I have been engaged in missionary work among the different tribes of the United States and Canada, and have every reason to believe that God has called me to preach the gospel not only to the Indians, but to all classes of people with whom I may come in contact.

"I was present at the death of what I believe to be one of the most remarkable men that was ever produced by any nation—Sitting Bull. I first met him in Canada, where he had fled to escape the consequences of the hatred of some of the enemies he had made in the conflict of 1876, in which General Custer's band of soldiers went to their death. He remained in Canada five years, and in 1890 and 1891 we again find him among the Sioux Indian in the outbreak which occurred at that time. I was living in his camp on the morning when his arrest was attempted and his death occurred. I assisted to lay him to rest with his fathers, and as I stood beside that open grave I realized that a great man's life had been taken. He was shot by Red Tomahawk, an Indian policeman."

RED EAGLE.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

PERSONAL.

Mr. A. G Gough was in Lindsay yesterday.

Mr. Robert Strachan and family have returned from a pleasant vacation spent at Bobcaygeon.

Mr. Charles A. Ostrom, of South Bend, Indiana, is in town visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. M. T. Ostrom, Weller street.

Miss Mabel Metheral and Miss Clara Clegg, who have been on a most delightful visit up west for the last month or so, returned to town last night.

The Globe notes the funeral of Sister Thecla, of St. Joseph's Convent, Toronto, on Friday. The deceased was a sister of Mr. M. H. LeHane, town.

Mr. Herb Taylor, of the Canadian Canoe Company, left to-day for Belleville, where he will take a preliminary course in Albert College, for the Ministry.

Mrs. A. D. Thompson and son, of Duluth, who have been visiting with Mrs. M. T. Ostrom, after spending a few days in Montreal and Quebec, will return to town for a further stay.

At St. Basil's Church, Toronto, on Sunday morning, the order of Tonsure was among others conferred upon Mr. A. Hurley, son of Mr. T. Hurley, town. He is a member of the community of St. Basil, attached to St. Michael's College.

Mr. H. LeBrun has just returned from Montreal, where, on Saturday, he refereed a National League lacrosse game between the Shamrocks and the Cornwalls, and the Montreal papers of yesterday all contain complimentary references to his efficiency.

Mr. P. Simons, of the firm of Pete Simons & Co., has just returned from a visit to Oswego, and other New York State cities in the vicinity. He was renewing old acquaintances with Capt. John Farrels and Mrs. Thos. Collins, of Oswego, his cousins. Mr. Simons had a pleasant trip, and is glad to note on his return that times are looking up. The new wrinkles he picked up will be for the benefit of his customers, who are already crowding him with orders.

Mr. John Thomson, who built the new mill at Fenelon Falls, the Gazette says, left on Wednesday for Peterborough, and on the eve of his departure was entertained at a farewell supper at Twomey's Hotel, to which about twenty-five persons sat down. He is now in the employ of the Dickson Company for whom he is to repair a mill at Lakefield, and who have a mill and electric light plant at Peterborough. Mr. Thomson is, we understand, to be general superintendent of all their various industries, a position for which he is well fitted.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy, an old Peterborough boy, of the J. S. Hyland & Co. Publishing firm, Chicago, arrived in Peterborough on Saturday for a few days' holidays. Mr. Sheehy brought his wheel with him and therewith has demonstrated that he still loves his native soil, for he has since his arrival prostrated himself on her heat-hardened breast many times. He is applying the process of arnification to a tender conglomeration of bruises and scrapes all over his anatomy. Under the perfidious persuasion of a mathematical pedagogic expert he took a wheel to Chemong yesterday, and it is reported that he coasted every hill on his stomach, and as a consequence has since been an enforced patron of the druggist and tailor.

CHURCH CHIMES.

MARK STREET CHURCH NOTES.

"Family Worship" was the subject of the Sunday morning sermon by Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B. His text was 2 Samuel 6: 20. "Then David returned to bless his household." He said all people have religion of some kind, but home religion is the most important. The family is composed of individuals, each having equal responsibilities suited and adapted to his or her position and condition in life. Parents have a responsibility to the children, and the children have a responsibility to the parents. The Bible, the only chart to guide us, says: "Parents, provoke not your children to wrath, but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." "Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right." Then there is the commandment with promise: "Honour thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." A family may include master and servants. A Christian family is a church in miniature. All have an influence for good or evil, and every day and hour we are influencing some one either heavenward or hellward. Religion, and religion alone, qualifies man for every sphere in life. The men who take time for religious duties are moulding character and gauging the conduct of others. They are sowing seed that will grow and develop. They are casting bread upon the waters that will return after many days. Religion makes man good. It makes good citizens. Religion fits men to live, prepares them to die, and qualifies their souls for heaven.

In the text we have a beautiful example well worth imitating. In the height of David's fame he did not forget he was both a husband and father. There are certain duties of religion relating to our association with each other which may not be the subject of special command. We should take an interest in ourselves, in the families of others, and endeavour to glorify God in our bodies and souls, which are His. By doing this we shall secure God's blessing. By neglecting it we bring on ourselves denunciation. Angels worship God, so it is certainly not beneath us to do the same.

In family worship the wife may help the husband and the husband may help the wife. The children can also help or hinder. Some of the blessings of family worship are: 1. Peace of mind, from a sense of doing or having done one's duty. 2. Domestic union and peace. 3. Means of developing Christian graces. 4. It brings the smile of God, which is better than life.

Of methods, perhaps the best plan is for all to read, each taking a verse in turn. Singing is also helpful. Pray for the pastor, all the church officers, temperance, missions and other religion causes, and for the prosperity of God's work in general.

The sermon was given in Rev. Mr. Moore's excellent style.

In the evening his text was Isaiah lxiii, 1. Subject, "Bozrah's Conqueror—mighty to Save." A large congregation was present.

The Epworth League meeting was held on Sunday evening, as Monday was a holiday.

I used your Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a severe attack of Bronchitis. I got better from the time of taking the first dose. Summer Goods have vanished.

Autumnal Novelties take their place.

The past few days have seen the opening of the heaviest purchases in Fine Dress Goods, Staples, Carpets and Millinery ever made by the Golden Lion.

We have planned up a very big season—planned to not only do more business than heretofore but to do it much better. Stocks are very much larger and richer—that's the first impression.

It is surprising how much better things can be had for the looking for them. Because of this, Robert Fair's present success has been achieved; and because of this the Golden Lion has attained a position second to none in the retail trade of Peterborough and surrounding district.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Justice Dale on the Outlook in British Columbia.

Mr. Justice Dale of New Westminster, who delivered the patriotic address at that city on Jubilee Day, arrived here last evening, having come east to leave his son at the Royal Military College, Kingston. Mr. Justice Dale is President of the New Westminster Board of Trade. In conversation, he said: "The financial situation in British Columbia has greatly improved, and the future for the province looks more decidedly hopeful. While the Klondike gold discoveries will probably accelerate the rush of population to the province next spring, the Kootenay mines will still continue, as at present, to develop and increase in production. With the advent of a large population to the province, prosperous times may be confidently looked for in the near future. The Fraser River fisheries have been most successful this season, and increase in trade, which would cause an advance in lumber, would help to forward the interests of the province. The bad times may be said to have been fairly tided over; that the future of British Columbia is now more hopeful than it has appeared since 1890."

Ald. Cook has given notice of a resolution for the next meeting of the City Council to prohibit the Lafrance Fire Engine Company of Elmira, N. Y., from sending an engineer with the machine purchased by the city to see that it works properly. Ald. Cook's action is taken under the alien labor law passed at last session, and he requests that the City Solicitor be instructed to advise the Council whether the contract is legal. Further, Ald. Cook wants to know whether the Mayor or any officer of the corporation has subjected himself to the penalty of $1000, as provided by said statute, for encouraging the immigration or importation of any alien or foreigner into Canada.

An evening paper says: "A plum is in store for the Ottawa, Arnprior & Parry Sound and the Canada Atlantic Railways. They are to be given the advantage of an arrangement now being framed with the Dominion Government for the carriage of through shipments of grain from the west down to St. John and Halifax, as a western connection to the I. C. R. At present the Intercolonial has no such connection, therefore the Government will give it a chance."

A quiet September wedding was celebrated at the residence of ex-Ald. W. R. Stroud, on Wilbrod-street to-day, when his eldest daughter, Miss Margaret, was united in marriage to Mr. John Alfred McDonald of this city. The ceremony took place shortly after the noon hour and was performed by Rev. R. J. Boville of Hamilton.

There is a row going on in the railway mail branch of the local postoffice here. It is of long standing, but was kept away from the ears of the Postmaster-General until the change of Government last summer. The reason given for this by some of those concerned was that one or two of the parties interested had too strong a pull with the members of the late Government to make any exposure. It is understood that shortly after the change of Government last July the whole matter was brought to the attention of Postmaster-General Mulock. He promised to give the subject his attention. Some time ago Controller Armstrong, who has charge of the whole railway mail service of the Dominion, was entrusted with the case. He finally opened an enquiry and took the evidence of a number of witnesses. It is said that there are some very serious charges in the evidence, which will require a further and extended investigation. The outcome of the departmental enquiry will probably be that the whole matter will be placed in the hands of a commissioner, who will take evidence on oath and report to the Postmaster-General.

MAPLE LAKE TRAGEDY

Killing of Young Sawyer the All-Absorbing Topic.

PEOPLE ARE GREATLY EXCITED.

The Dead Man Claimed to Have Interfered Between Thompson and His Wife Old Mr. Sawyer's Nephew Got Mixed Up in the Fray, Too, and Was Hurt.

Minden, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—The one absorbing topic in this vicinity and district to-day is the murder of W. H. Sawyer at Maple Lake, which was reported in this morning's World. The event has caused intense excitement, and many drove to the scene of the fight, the home of the Thompsons, and to Minden yesterday, in their eagerness to catch any gossip relative to the affray.

Maple Lake postoffice, the scene of the quarrel, is nothing more than an isolated farm house surrounded by what is called a settlement, which consists of a few scattered houses, a church and burial ground.

The affair was not witnessed by many persons, and it is not likely that many witnesses will be subpoenaed to give evidence in the case.

Dr. Giles, coroner for the district, responded quickly to the telegram sent to him at Toronto, and arrived yesterday. Whilst at Lindsay he consulted with County Crown Attorney Moore and Magistrate Deacon, the former of whom will prosecute the case.

The general impression given abroad that the feud between the Thompsons and Sawyer was relative to the game laws is not generally accepted as wholly correct. Thompson's wife left him soon after they were married, and Sawyer was partly blamed for this. On the evening of the tragedy, after despatching Sawyer, both the Thompsons visited G. Clarke, father of Thompson's wife, and created a great disturbance, threatened to break things generally and assault the household, but nothing came of their threats, and they departed.

The rumor that the feud was due to the game laws no doubt arose from the fact that about three weeks ago one of the Thompsons went into the house of Durnan Redner, a relative of Sawyer, and saw venison on the table. The game laws of Ontario give to the informant half the fine, and Thompson informed on Redner that he had shot deer out of season. The result was that Redner was fined before Police Magistrate Fielding of Minden $20. The relationship between Sawyer and Redner may have had something to do with increasing the feud. At any rate the Thompsons were very bitter against Redner and his connections, and were more disposed to have fought with him, had they come across him, than with Sawyer.

On the night of the tragedy there was with Hiram Sawyer in the buggy his nephew, Thomas Archer, a young man, not of the robust sort. When the old man jumped out of the rig to rescue his son from the assault of the two Thompsons Archer stayed out of the fight, and, seeing the old trapper fare badly pleaded of the Thompsons not to kill Uncle Hi. For this they knocked the young fellow down and blackened both his eyes.

Jim Barry, the mail carrier, grabbed one of the Thompsons when he saw the desperateness of their assault. Turning around quickly Thompson said: "What do you want here?"

"I want to make peace," rejoined the mail carrier.

"Then let go of me," replied Thompson, struggling.

Thinking discretion the better part of valor Barry let go, and the murderous assault continued.

Three charges will be laid: one for assault on Hiram Sawyer, another for assaulting Thomas Archer, and a third for killing W. H. Sawyer. Probably the two first charges will culminate in the latter.

The prisoner, Matt Thompson, took his arrest carelessly, and whistled cheerfully in the cells until he was told of the death of his victim. He then became serious.

Thomas Thompson Arrested.

Canoe Lake, Ont., Sept. 7.—Thomas Thompson, wanted at Minden for the murder of William Henry Sawyer, was arrested here this evening by the park ranger. A young boy named Barry knew Thompson, and when he heard he was wanted for murder said he saw him in one of Gilmour's camps on Sunday. This information was at once given to Park Superintendent Simpson, and the arrest followed.

The Inquest Opened.

Minden, Ont., Sept. 7.—An inquest was opened at Stanhope to-day on the death of William H. Sawyer, who was kicked to death last Wednesday, before Dr. Giles, the coroner, who ordered a post mortem examination, which was to-day made by Dr. Curry of Minden and Dr. Frost of Kinmount, who testified that sufficient injuries were found on the body to cause death. The inquest was adjourned until to-morrow at Pine Lake School, West Guilford, for further evidence.

ABOUT A DOZEN KILLED

Six are Known and several Unknown—Cygnet, Ohio, Shattered by an Awful Explosion.

Cygnet, Ohio, Sept. 7.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine took place here today which resulted in the death of six persons whose names are known and several others whose names are at present unknown.

The explosion occurred at 3 p.m. at Grant Well, located at the rear of the National Supply Company's office building in the village limits. This well had just been shot. The well was a gasser, and when the 120 quarts of glycerine was let down in the well and exploded the gas ignited, and with a terrific roar the flames shot high above the derrick. As soon as the drillers saw the flames several climbed into the derrick to shut off the gas, but they had barely gotten there when there was a terrific explosion. The burning gas had started the remaining glycerine in the empty cans standing in a wagon near the derrick. In another wagon near by were some cans containing another 120 quarts of the stuff, and these were exploded.

The explosion blended in a mighty roar, and the town and surrounding country for miles trembled from the shock.

The National Supply Company's building was completely demolished, and nothing remains but a big hole where the wagons stood. There is not a whole pane of glass in any window in the town, and every house and store was shaken to its foundation. Who the other men that were in the derrick are and who were killed has not been learned yet. Eight buildings are a total wreck and many others damaged. Many bystanders were found dead.

POLISH WOMEN FOUGHT.

Took the Lead in a Riot and the Sheriff's Deputies Were Driven From the Field.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—The efforts to evict the striking miners of the Pittsburg & Chicago Gas Coal Company at Orangeville, one and a half miles from Gastonville, resulted in a riot of no mean proportions to-day and the utter failure on the part of the company to accomplish its object. The strikers, headed by 100 Polish women, closed in on the deputies, who received rough treatment.

Headed by the same women the strikers rushed on the deputies this morning, and blows fell thick and fast. The deputies slowly made their way to Orangeville, taking all of the above insults and injuries, but never firing a shot. Finally they took refuge in a vacant house, closely followed by the mob, which quickly surrounded the building and threatened to burn it. The deputies were ordered to leave town, and after a short parley decided to do so. Almost every man in the posse was cut and bleeding, and several were seriously hurt. As the defeated deputies ran the gauntlet they were greeted by hisses, curses and ridicule. The strikers then closed behind them and marched them to the station, where they took the train for Washington. The officials of the company say no further attempt will be made to evict the miners for the present.

Delegates for Columbus.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—The convention of mine-workers to-day to select delegates to the Columbus convention to-morrow was one of the largest ever held, and probably has not been before equalled in excitement and importance. Although the rank and file of the delegates seemed imbued with the idea that the operators were ready to throw up their hands and pay the 69-cent rate demanded by the strikers, President Dolan kept them so well within bounds that the delegates from this district will go to Columbus to use their discretion in the settlement of the difficulty.

Dolan will use every endeavor to bring the convention in line for the acceptance of the compromise rate.

Chicago Will Have a Boycott.

Wheeling, W.Va., Sept. 7. J. W. Ren of the Painters' and Decorators' Union stated to-day that if the Columbus meeting does not settle the strike all union men in Chicago, including railroaders, would at once boycott and refuse to use or handle non-union coal. This has been agreed upon secretly.

BRUTAL ROBBERY IN WINNIPEG.

Robert Heinstock Was Beaten to Insensibility and Between Seventy and Eighty Dollars Taken.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—A daring robbery was committed on Sunday night in the city, by which Robert Heinstock, after being beaten into insensibility, was robbed of between $70 and $80. Jacob D. McDonald and Edward Cameron were arrested by the police and lodged in the cells, charged with the crime. In Cameron's pocket was found one of his socks, with a good-sized piece of brick in it. Cameron is well known in police circles. He was liberated from jail but a few days ago, having completed a short term for burglary.

Mrs. McDougall of Battleford has been acquitted of a charge of murder.

LOSS $4000: NO INSURANCE.

David Donaldson's Planing Mill at Lanark Destroyed by Fire.

Lanark, Ont., Sept. 7.—About 8 p.m. fire broke out in the boiler room of Mr. David Donaldson's planing mill, and in a very short time the whole mill was a mass of flames. The fire engine got in quickly to work and succeeded in saving Mr. James Watt's new house, although only about 20 feet from the burning building. The machinery in the planing mill being fastened down none of it could be removed. Loss about $4000; no insurance.

LOOKS BETTER IN INDIA.

Orakzais Said to be Disheartened Swatis Surrendering More Guns.

Simla, Sept. 7.—The frontier reports are more favorable. The spies say the Orakzais appear to be disheartened.

The British political officer at Malakand reports the Swatis to be submitting and to be surrendering more guns and swords, which, with the fines imposed, completes the Government's demands and terms for the punishment of the Swati tribes.

PETERSEN'S REPLY TO TORRANCE.

Fast Line Contractor Says All Arrangements are Progressing.

London, Sept. 7.—Mr. Petersen emphatically denies the statement in which John Torrance of the Dominion Line is quoted as saying that Petersen, Tate & Company's fast Canadian service line project is dead, owing to the fact that the company has been unable to finance it. Mr. Petersen assured the Associated Press that the arrangements necessary to carry out the new steamship service is progressing rapidly.

ACTIVE IMAGINATIONS.

The wish is evidently father to the thought that impels Conservative papers of a certain class to invent fairy tales of dissensions in the Liberal Cabinet at Ottawa. The dull season seems, says the Ottawa Free Press, to be a perfect boon to the political "fake" reporters of the Tory persuasion. He fills the columns of his paper with fables evolved out of his own inner consciousness as to the Cabinet dissensions which do not exist, and Cabinet changes which are not going to be made, and piles the Ossa of falsehood upon the Pelion of absurdity. Yesterday it was that the Premier was to be made Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the mirth provoked by this preposterous story has hardly passed away ere the faker makes Sir Oliver Mowat Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. That having fallen flat and done its duty, he ponders a while and invents a story to the effect that the Hon. R. W. Scott is to have the office thereby putting that gentleman to the trouble of giving the invention a flat denial and adding proof to the already sufficiently proved fact that the "news" (sic) monger is a perverter of the truth. This is not either a creditable or a satisfactory condition of affairs. The press, though not directly injured by such conduct, certainly does not benefit by it, and even Tory editors might be more careful how they print statements which bear the mark of falsehood on their face. The methods of yellow journalism should be kept as far as possible out of Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Whitney is making great progress with his political campaign—but it's all in his mind, the Kingston Whig thinks.

The Mail and Empire takes a generally cheerful view of the business outlook. The Mail applies this to any province but Ontario, which it asserts is going to the dogs—a very natural conclusion for the organ which predicts the accession to power of Mr. Whitney and the Opposition.

It is estimated that Manitoba will have this year twenty-two million bushels of wheat for export. This will mean about fifteen million of dollars clear, over railway and other charges. This will be a great boon to the farmers of the Prairie Province and should put them, financially, pretty well upon their feet.

The Montreal Gazette blames Hon. Mr. Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, for the potato rot that is appearing in many places. The Gazette evidently forgets that the Minister is responsible for the excess of rain that interfered with the harvest. Don't let the guilty Minister escape.

While Conservative papers are boasting one day of the great ability and strength of the local Opposition, this does not prevent them the next day from asserting that Hon. Peter White, ex-Speaker of the House of Commons, is to join Mr. Whitney and thus "materially add to the strength of the Ontario Opposition." If Hon. Peter White is to be depended upon to "add strength" to the Ontario Opposition, it is very greatly in need of strength.

A high tariff especially favours the protected manufacturer, and, incidentally, too more particularly in the case of the stupid policy of taxing Canadian-made bicycles ridden by those entering the United States. The object was to help the protected bicycle maker in the States, forgetful of the fact that the money spent by the Canadian tourist would benefit the people more than the tax would the wheel makers. But the people are not thought of by the high taxationists—the manufacturers can be depended upon to "whack up" liberally for election funds.

The Belleville Intelligencer, the organ of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, makes it a matter of complaint against the Dominion Government that the price of bread has risen. "Sir McK.," says the London News, "made a slip that time. The Government is not responsible, and even if it were nobody is going to make such a howl over the high price of bread if it is justified by the high price of wheat." The News might have added that if the Liberal Government is guilty of increasing the price of bread it is also guilty of raising the price of wheat, and no farmer will be found grumbling at that.

CANADA'S TIMBER RESOURCES.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser says:—"The situation is very plain. The world's demand for lumber is increasing as population increases. The world's supply is as steadily diminishing and in the nature of things cannot be replenished by timber cultivation and the pursuit of forestry systems as rapidly as the forests are depleted. It happens that Canada has the greatest forests. Immense as have been the demands on them already, they are less broken in upon than those of any other country. Proportionately other countries are drawing on their timber wealth more rapidly than we are, with the necessary result that the value of our forests is steadily becoming more important in the aggregate of the world's timber resources. Sooner or later Canada will be the only great source of supply. Our course is clear. We should dispose of our timber so as to get the most out of it, and to do that we should adopt such a policy as will cause it to be manufactured here and not abroad. Our lumbermen, our merchants should reap the benefit from the development of our forest wealth rather than those in foreign countries."

"AN UNCOMPROMISING CANADIAN."

The Toronto News, whose chief characteristic is its uncompromising Toryism, speaking of the Montreal Herald's interview with Mr. James McMullen, M.P., the other day says:

That uncompromising Liberal, James McMullen, M.P., for North Wellington, turns out to be an uncompromising Canadian also and has made the fact plain in an interview at Montreal. He announces himself to be in favour of an export duty on logs and pulp wood and says he believes "the time has come for us to cease extending to United States citizens favours denied our citizens by the United States." He He also declared his intention to reintroduce at the next session of Parliament his bill making it unlawful for an alien to hold Canadian lands, mines, forests, etc.

A little more of that spirit in the Liberal party would be appreciated by the country. That is not jingoism. It is simply self-defence such as any man with a heart in him is bound to use against a bully. Mr. McMullen is to congratulated for holding such views and for having the courage to express them in the public manner he has.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou —Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

HARVEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

The farmers in this vicinity are all through harvesting with the exception of some late oats. A few have threshed, and report the grain as a fair sample, except wheat, which in some cases is shrunk—caused by rust. The crop this year is heavier than has been harvested for a number of years, and with wheat at the dollar mark, should make the farmers jubilant.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strachan, of Peterborough, accompanied by Mrs. Glass, have been the guests of his sister, Mrs. James Beatty for the past week. Whilst here Mr. Strachan captured a good many fish, one of them turning the scales at 16 lbs. or 26 lbs. we are not sure which; but we rather think it was 26 lbs., as it took two of them to land it with great difficulty. However it was a fine fish, measuring four feet in length.

Rheumatism & Dyspepsia Cured

571 St. Patrick Street,
Ottawa, July 31st, 1896.

To the Phrenoline Medicine Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Ont.

Gentlemen,—On the advice of a friend I tried one bottle of your famous rheumatic remedy, Phrenoline, and to my surprise it cured me of rheumatism, from which I have suffered for many years.

It also cured me of dyspepsia, from which I was suffering at the time, so that I feel now like a new man.

I have tried several remedies for rheumatism, some of which did me a certain amount of good, but nothing that I have taken has done so much for me as your Phrenoline, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to other sufferers.

Yours very truly,

SALISBURY IS ON TOP

His Proposals of Settlement Accepted by the Powers

AS REGARDS GREECE AND TURKEY

British Expedition on the Nile Making Good Progress—More Favorable News From the Indian Frontier—Tribesmen Losing Heart and Surrendering Cable News.

Constantinople, Sept. 7.—The Marquis of Salisbury's proposal has been accepted by the powers. The only remaining question is the dates for the payment of the indemnity. The powers desire to insert these dates in the treaty of peace, but the British Ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, suggests that they leave the dates to be determined upon by the international commission.

Turkish Police Put Under.

Canea, Island of Crete, Sept. 7.—The Turkish gendarmerie has been placed under the command of officers of European gendarmeries, the powers paying the expense and receiving therefor half of the customs revenue.

Ambassadors Defer.

Constantinople, Sept. 7.—The Ambassadors have decided to defer, until peace be signed, the discussion of the Turkish Government's note announcing the appointment of an Ottoman Governor of Crete and its intention to retain the Turkish troops in Crete.

India's Crop is Good.

London, Sept. 7. The invitation of the India Council for tenders of draft for one crore of rupees (about $5,000,000) produced tenders to-day of 202 lakhs of rupees (about $14,000,000), at an average rate of 1-4 to 1-16.

The Government allotted eleven per cent. of the offers from the tenderers at the highest price, naturally accepting in full all tenders below 1-4 to 3-32.

Teck Not Coming to America.

London, Sept. 7.—Prince Alexander of Teck is staying at Belford Hall, Northumberland. In an interview to-day he said: "Neither I nor any of the Teck family intend to visit America."

British Trade Returns.

London, Sept. 7.—The Board of Trade returns for the month of August show the imports to have been £33,371,385, an increase of £80,912 over August, 1896. The exports for August, 1897, were £18,773,997, a decrease of £1,552,790 over August, 1896.

For the eight months of 1897, ending on Aug. 31, the imports were £294,755,179, an increase of £11,438,513 over the same period of 1896. The exports for the eight months of 1897, ending Aug. 31, were £157,085,901, a decrease of £3,195,174 when compared with the same period of 1896.

THE FIGHT FOR EIGHT HOURS.

Trades Union Congress at Birmingham Resolves to Assist the Striking Engineers.

Birmingham, England, Sept. 7.—The Trades Union Congress resumed its sessions to-day, with President Stevens in the chair. The latter, in his annual address, said the engineers' strike was an instance of one of the best organized and most powerful combinations in the world being in the throes of a great struggle with a powerful combination of capital. It was certain, he added, that the struggle would be prolonged and that the engineers would have to appeal for help to the trades unionists throughout the country. That help, the President continued, must be given, for under no circumstances could they allow the engineers to be defeated. [Great cheering.]

The delegates then unanimously and enthusiastically adopted a special resolution, pledging moral and financial aid to the striking engineers.

Mr. Benjamin Pickard, M.P., President of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, in supporting the motion, said that all trades unionists should tender eight-hour notices and "sink or swim" with the engineers.

BRITISH SUCCESS ON THE NILE.

Friendly Soudanese Have Occupied Berber—Dervishes Evacuate.

London, Sept. 7.—A special despatch from Cairo says that Berber, the next town of importance on the Nile in the advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition upon Khartoum, has been occupied by Soudanese who are friendly to the British. Berber is only about 200 miles, as the crow flies, from Khartoum.

Dervishes Have Skipped.

Cairo, Sept. 7.—The dervishes have evacuated Berber and have retired to Metemmeh. Major-General Hunter, with four gunboats, has gone to Berber. General Sir Herbert Kitchener, the British Commander-in-Chief, will follow immediately.

WHAT BISMARCK SAID.

Germany May Regret Having Harassed England Too Much.

Paris, Sept. 7.—The Gaulois to-day prints an interview with Prince Bismarck, in which he is quoted as having expressed fear that the efforts made at Peterhof were so much wasted time. What was required, the ex-Chancellor is said to have added, was a serious, active agreement, with a well-defined program and much clear sightedness and tenacity to achieve a result whereby the pretensions of Great Britain could be stayed.

The Prince was further quoted as remarking, "It is absolutely certain that Germany will not succeed in attaining this end, and she might regret having harassed England too much."

Prince Bismarck admitted that the time was propitious for the snatching of Egypt and the Suez Canal from England, but said he did not believe that Frenchmen have any passionate interest in that question, adding: "Perhaps they are right to wait for us Germans to become still more deeply involved in our foreign policy, for now we have neither leadership nor principles—nothing whatever. Everyone is groping about and the treasures of influence I labored to accumulate are being profitlessly squandered."

The Soleil, in an important article, draws a contrast between the Dreibund and the Russo-French alliance. Germany and Austria, the paper says, have no claim to each other's aid unless attacked simultaneously by two adversaries, while the Russo-French alliance imposes the obligation to assist if either is attacked by a single enemy.

The implication of this contrast is that in the event of the outbreak of war hostilities would inevitably become universal, because under the present circumstances a war between France and Germany would be bound to bring Russia into the field, thus providing a basis for Austria and Italy to join her in the conflict under the provisions of the Dreibund.

According to another statement Russia only agreed to the treaty upon condition that France should abandon all idea of a war of revenge upon Germany for the purpose of recovering Alsace and Lorraine. This is borne out by the statement of The Buda Pest Nemzit, the organ of the Hungarian Foreign Office, that Emperor William, during his visit to St. Petersburg, obtained a confidential assurance, which he imparted to Austria and Italy, that the proposed Franco-Russian treaty was purely defensive and devoid of hostility towards any power whatsoever.

Belgium Will be the Fighting Ground.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—The Brussels correspondent of The Tageblatt announces that the Governments of Belgium and Holland are about to conclude a defensive treaty. Fear is expressed, the correspondent says, that Belgium will be the seat of the next war between France and Germany.

How to Paralyze England.

London, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of The Times at Paris says: "A diplomatist of my acquaintance expressed the opinion that the chief topic discussed by President Faure and the Czar during the former's visit to Russia was the best means for paralyzing England's action should she join the Dreibund against them."

BLACKED THE KAISER'S EYE.

Labby Intimates That Lieut. Von Hahnke Hit the Emperor and Then Suicided.

London, Sept. 7.—Mr. Henry Labouchere, in Truth, to-day, once more publishes the intimation that Lieut. Von Hahnke's death was a sequel to the black eye which Emperor William received at about that time. According to one story, the lieutenant, stung by the Emperor's sharp words, resented them to the extent of blacking His Majesty's eye and then took his own life.

Truth, in to-day's comments on the affair, says: "We have received a letter saying that on the day following Von Hahnke's death, a dummy figure of the same size and weight was tossed into the torrent in order to test its effect. When the dummy was drawn in it was found to be torn to pieces, and everybody agrees that Von Hahnke's body must have met a similar fate. Yet, since the appearance of Truth's remarks, it is announced from Berlin that the body has been recovered after being six weeks in the raging torrent, and that it will be brought home for burial.

"Perhaps, in time, the full facts in this very remarkable affair may be known."

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

BELLEVILLE

Belleville People Speak Freely About the New Conqueror of Heart and Nerve Troubles.

Perhaps Some of Them are Neighbours of Yours—they Speak with Emphasis.

Mrs. E. McConnell, says: "For the last 8 or 10 years I have suffered greatly from heart trouble and nervousness. The pains across my chest and over the heart were very severe. My heart seemed to jump and throb until I could hardly stand it. I often felt as if it would jump out of my body.

I grew so weak that I could not work, and was tired at the slightest exertion. Nervousness also afflicted me so much that I was startled at the least noise or alarm.

Naturally this effected me mentally, and I grew very morbid and despondent. The medicines I took did me no good, and I was almost despairing of a cure when I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at McKeown's Drug Store.

I experienced prompt relief from the first box, and now am like another woman. My whole system is toned up. All my distressing symptoms have been removed, and I cannot feel to thankful to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for the great good they have done me."

A Good Stroke of Business.

Mr. Henry Owens reports having done a good stroke of business on Labour Day. In the forenoon he closed the sale of a McCormack corn binder to Messrs. Edward and Albert Archer on the 4th concession of Smith; and in the afternoon he sold another to Mr. William Reid, of Otonabee. In addition to these he took an order for a first-class walking plough. This was a pretty fair amount of business to be done on a holiday.

Annual Conference.

The General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association attended the annual Secretaries and Workers conference in Toronto yesterday. Mr. H. Frost of the China Inland Mission led the morning session which was for the deepening of spiritual life. The importance of the spiritual side of the work was shown in that the larger part of the afternoon was taken up in the discussion of methods to further the department during the coming fall and winter. The last hour of the session was spent in the discussion of association problems and difficulties.

Thursday Night's Offering.

Aiden Benedict's "Fabio Romani" will be presented at Bradburn's Opera House Thursday evening, Sept. 9th. It is a fine creation, and pronounced by the press wherever it has been presented, to be an excellent dramatisation of Marie Corralli's famous novel "The Vendetta." The company secured by Mr. Benedict is one of the best organizations now travelling, and the scenery and spectacular effects are equal to anything of the same nature ever produced in this city. A special feature of the entertainment will be the Serpentine, Stereopticon, Fire and Spanish dances introduced by Miss Grace Hunter which are pronounced superior to those performed by the much advertised "La Loie" Fuller. Prices of seats for this engagement are 25, 35 and 50 cents.

St. Luke's Church Notes.

The Rev. C. Channer, of Adrian, Mich., who is the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. H. J. Grassett, preached an eloquent sermon in St. Luke's church last Sunday morning from the text, "Thou hast the words of eternal life." The words of Christ were eternal words in the sense that they did not grow old or worn out. Every generation bore witness to their enduring value. The words of the philosophers and teachers of the time of Christ are buried under the dust of ages, but the words of the humble teacher of Nazareth live in the hearts of millions. Again the words of Christ are eternal in the sense that they give eternal life to others. Christ is the revelation of a blessed immortality and the means by which we gain it. Science and philosophy could never replace the teaching of Christ. Every system that tried to do without Him as destined to failure. A good congregation was present and the service was throughout bright and hearty.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Brophy Henry and Dr. Drain.

St. Peter's Cathedral was beautifully decorated with flowers this morning, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Brophy Henry, youngest daughter of Mr. Thos. Henry, Sherbrooke street, to Dr. J. F. Drain, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

A large number of the bride's friends assembled in the church at eight o'clock to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Sullivan, assisted by Rev. Father O'Brien.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Myles Henry, looked most attractive in white silk, trimmed with chiffon. She wore a large picture hat of white leghorn and carried flowers. Miss Edith McKee made a winsome bridesmaid in white silk with garniture of red ribbons. She carried a bouquet of tube rosee, carnations and smilax.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Thomas Henry, brother of the bride.

During the service Mr. Thos. Dunn's fine baritone voice was heard to advantage in a grand rendition of Bevan's "Everlasting Day." Miss K. Hurley played the wedding march.

The wedding party, consisting of only the relatives and a few particular friends, at the conclusion of the ceremony repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a wedding dejeuner was served.

Dr. and Mrs. Drain left on the noon train for their future home in Iowa, and were accompanied to the station by a large number of their young friends, who gave them a royal send-off in the shape of showers of rice and old shoes.

Dr. Drain studied here for a year with Dr. Brennan some time ago, and in this way met the young lady whom to-day he is bearing away as his bride to the far west. His parents reside in Campbellford.

OUR ARTILLERY.

They Did Well at the Deseronto Ranges on Labour Day.

Capt. Snyder, Non-Coms. E. Hutchinson, R. A. W. Hay and J. Barrie and Gunners O'Shea and Smith of the Durham Field Battery have returned from the new Deseronto Ranges where they have been shooting in competition against seventeen other batteries.

All of the Canadian batteries were in attendance with the exception of Winnipeg artillery men.

On Monday the local battery had its turn at the ranges and up to the time of leaving last evening they headed the list with the most number of points.

The competition takes place on the big plains on the Indian Reserve in Tyendinaga township, Hastings county, and the targets are moving bodies of dummies resembling cavalry, which are arranged on a cable and suddenly appear on the plain and dash across it and this is the work which the gunners are expected to hit.

AN EIGHT YEAR OLD THIEF

The Children's Aid Society Can do Nothing with him, and he will now go to Mimico.

Wesley Allan, the little eight-year-old lad, who was taken to Toronto by Mr. F. W. Miller on Saturday, and placed in charge of the Children's Aid Society there, is again back in Peterborough, having effected his escape and landed here on the noon express yesterday. The lad is incorrigible, having been mixed up in a number of thieving expeditions. The Toronto officers are in pursuit, and will be notified of the lad's presence here. It is probable that he will now be confined in the Mimico Industrial School.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Your Supervision Committee beg leave to report that at the opening of the Public Schools on the 1st of September the teachers were placed in their several schools (as already published in the EXAMINER.) The question of transfers was fully considered and changes were made where, in the opinion of the Inspector, it was important in the interests of the schools that they should be made. We believe that the various members of the staff in the positions they now occupy will give excellent satisfaction during the current school season. We, therefore, recommend that the report be adopted by the Board.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. HILL, Chairman.

Report adopted.

Mr. J. J. McBain, chairman, presented the report of

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN:—As instructed your Property Committee have had the old chimneys of the West Ward School taken down below the roof and carefully rebuilt. They were found to be in a bad and dangerous condition. We also had all the open crevices in the brick and stonework filled up and the floors repaired where absolutely necessary. We also had the outside porch re-floored, a new roof put on and also the front door steps repaired and repainted. The building and grounds are now in fairly good condition.

4TH CENTRAL SCHOOL.

At this school your committee have had the hall floors and steps of the stairs oiled, which greatly adds to the appearance and durability. The building and grounds are, throughout, in first-class order.

BARNARDO AVENUE SCHOOL.

We have had the outside steps painted, also the necessary repairs made. Your committee would recommend that strong wire screens be placed on the cellar windows of the school, which will prevent so much glass being broken as well as adding to the general appearance. When this work is done this school will also be in a good state of repair.

GEORGE STREET SCHOOL.

This school is in fairly good order, with the exception of the roof, some portions of which are in a leaky condition. Your committee recommend that the secretary be instructed to notify the landlord of this fact and ask to have it repaired at once.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

We have had considerable repairs made to this school and premises. We have had a new floor laid in the north-west room in the basement, the old one being worn through in several places. This is a great improvement to this room. We have also had the broken plaster throughout the building repaired and the fences and walks repaired in both schools and a portion of new fence built in front of the Central building, which separates the boys' and girls' playground. We had the necessary painting done. We would recommend that the iron roof on the building get one coat of paint.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

We have had necessary repairs and painting done to this building, inside and out; we consider it to be in first class shape.

THE GYMNASIUM.

We have found it necessary to have the old shingles taken off and replaced with new cedar shingles. We have also had the ceilings calcimined and the walls painted one coat, and wire screens placed on the windows inside to protect the glass which has been broken so frequently.

We would also recommend that one or two new mattresses be purchased for the safety of the pupils taking part in the exercises.

We would also recommend that the instructor of the gymnasium be requested to have the floor of the gymnasium scrubbed out properly at least once a month, and pay more attention to the general caretaking of the building and all the appliances in connection therewith.

Your committee purchased three desks and cupboards combined, for storing maps, etc., for the principals of the North, South and West Ward schools, which were badly needed for the supply of stationery—they cost $20, which your committee think is money well spent.

We have only made such repairs as we considered absolutely necessary in the interest of the schools and ratepayers.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. McBAIN, Chairman.

Report adopted.

Dr. Burnham, chairman, presented the report of

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

GENTLEMEN—Your committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:

R Clinkscale	25 00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. BURNHAM, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

CONFIRMING PAYMENTS.

On motion of Mr. Ferguson, seconded by Mr. Hill, payment of the following accounts was confirmed:

On motion of Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Ferguson, the following were reappointed assistants in the Kindergartens: Miss Smith, Miss Allen and Miss Cameron, the two first at a salary of $10 per month, and the last at $5 per month.

In answer to Mr. Hamilton, the Inspector stated that the number of Public School pupils enrolled at present was 1,356, with about fifty more old pupils yet to register.

The matter of reshingling the Central School sheds was left to the Property Committee with power to act.

Good Things

In dining room furniture at Clegg's. Specials in bedroom suites, antique finish, mixed mattrasses with heavy twilled sheeting; odd rockers, nicely upholstered, and easy chairs covered in handsome stuffs. Visit CLEGG'S Furniture Warerooms, Nos. 425 and 427 George street.

Watchfulness Rewarded.

Our watchfulness has again been rewarded. Another big lot of superior remnants of tweeds and serges are ours to distribute at prices one half what they sold for in the piece. The difference between what they are worth and what we shall ask you for them is so much money saved. There are about a thousand yards of these remnants—all lengths—suitable for boys' suits, boys' trousers, men's trousers, and some of them long enough for youths' and men's suits. Remember only half price for these remnants while the sale lasts. Cut free of charge to those who want to make them up at home.—H. LEBRUN & Co. dtf.

From last Board—Cherry Grove 62, Warsaw 125, Lakefield 150, Otonabee Union 73, North Dummer 70.

Before the bidding began Mr. Cook brought the fact to the notice of the Board that every cheese sold had, by statute, to be branded "Canada." It was not enough to simply mark the box, but the cheese itself had to be branded under a penalty of $5 for an infraction of the enactment.

Mr. Whitton opened the bidding at 9⅜, Mr. Madden went 9 1-8, Mr. Whitton 9¼, Mr. Cook 9⅜. Mr. Fitzgerald 9 5-8, Mr. Cook 9 3-4.

At this juncture the President announced that he had received a bid by telegram from J. R Brower offering 9 7-8 for four factories—Keene, Westwood, Norwood and Ormonde.

The buyers strongly objected to the entertaining of such a bid, and Messrs. Moloney and Galvin moved that no such telegram be considered.—Carried.

Mr. Cook called Ormonde, Westwood, Norwood all of which refused.

Keene accepted.

Ormonde, Westwood and Norwood stated their intention of selling to Mr. Brower.

Mr. Rollins offered 9⅜ for further selections and called Shearer, Maple Leaf and Myrtle: all accepted.

Mr. Fitzgerald offered 9⅜ for further selection, Mr. Wrighton raised to 9 11-16 and named Warsaw, which refused, as the whole month's make was not wanted. Central Smith, Lakeview, Mount Pleasant and Warminster, all accepted.

Mr. Madden offered 9⅜ for further selections, and called Missing Link, Lakefield and Pine Grove, all accepted.

Mr. Fitzgerald at 9⅜ took Trewern, Daisy D. Lang and Peterborough.

Mr. Rollins again opened at 9⅜. Mr. Wrighton raised to 9 9-16 and called Cavanville, Cherry Grove and North Dummer. Which refused. Melrose Abbey, Otonabee Union and Benefort, accepted.

Mr. Cook offered 9⅜ for Fleetwood. Refused.

The Board then adjourned for two weeks.

THE COUNCIL AUTHORIZES MR. BEST TO REMEDY THE DIFFICULTY.

Regular Meeting of the Town Council—The Appeal Against the Moncrief Judgment—More Suits for Damages Against the Town—Work for the Legal Committee.

The adjourned meeting of the town council was held last evening, with the mayor in the chair and the following members present:—Councillors Best, LePlante, Robertson, Denne, Davis, Dawson, Cobb, Meldrum, Graham and White.

COMMUNICATIONS

were read and referred as follows:

From Mrs. John Drake, asking remission of taxes for the year.—On motion of Councillors Dawson and Robertson the collector will be instructed to return the taxes as against the land.

From E. B. Edwards, re "Moncrief vs. Peterborough," as follows:—"In accordance with instructions received from the Legal Committee, I have appealed in this case with regard to the third party, J. W. T. Fairweather, and the case is set down for hearing at Toronto at the sittings of the Divisional Court, commencing to-day. The appeal having been dropped as to the plaintiff and the other third party, they are now entitled to tax their costs and to require payment of the amounts coming to them, respectively, and steps are already being taken by them for this purpose.

As the town will have to pay the amount without waiting for the decision of the court as to the appeal against J. W. T. Fairweather, it is advisable that the council should, at the approaching meeting, authorize the payment of the verdict and the costs of the plaintiff and of the third parties, the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. and A. E. Dixon, respectively, when the costs are taxed and the amounts ascertained. If the town succeed in the appeal against J. W. T. Fairweather, he will be required to pay the amount paid to the plaintiff—Received.

From W. R. Tiffin, Supt. G. T. R., as follows,—As I wired you to day, we have for reasons given, decided upon erecting the footwalk across the Otonabee river, Auburn Mills, at rail level. I enclose sketch of proposed structure. We propose to take up the rails of the bridge and remove a certain number of the present crossbeams, substituting beams of sufficient length to receive a walk 4 ft. 4 in. in width, with a clearance of 4 ft. 4 in. from the inside rail. The outside hand rail will be 4 ft. 6 in. in height, the inside 2 ft. 10 in. The extended beams will be placed at four feet centres, with two inch planking for floor. Outside hand rail will be secured to the beam by means of iron band. On motion of Messrs. Meldrum and White, it was resolved that the plan submitted be accepted by the council, and the G. T. R. so notified.

From the Auburn Power Co., asking for exemption of taxes for 10 years on Electric power transmission plant, poles and wires.—Referred to a committee of the whole council to be held on Monday evening next.

From Wm. Breckenridge, asking for refund of a fine imposed for driving on the sidewalk as the street was blocked—Referred to the Legal Committee.

From Jas. Bogue asking for payment of balance due on sewer contract No. 4.—Referred to a Committee of the whole Council.

From J. W. Gray, M. D., T. Bradburn, S. Henry and M. A. Watt and others, asking for the construction of a sewer on Sherbrooke street from the easterly limit of lot No. 5, west of George street to Aylmer street. Dr. Gray was present and urged that the sewer be constructed as soon as possible, as his house was just being finished and he wished to make the connections as soon as possible.

The clerk was authorized to see if the petition was properly signed and if such was the case that the Sewerage Committee be instructed to construct the sewer.

From the Town Treasurer showing the receipts from Jan. 1st to Sept. 1st to be $30,838.80 and the expenditures $61,839.13. The town account in the Ontario Bank is overdrawn $20,407.72.—Received.

From James Murty and 42 others petitioning for the opening and grading of that portion of Walton street lying between Weller and Cedar streets.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From R. A. Morrow stating that "owing to the ground under the sidewalk on Hunter street, between George and Chambers streets, being lower than the street, the cellars of the premises at the corner are flooded by every rainstorm. I therefore ask you to have the ground raised under the sidewalk in order to prevent the cellars being flooded."—Received.

From A. P. Poussette asking damages on behalf of Ormond & Walsh through having their cellar flooded by water.—Received.

From the F. C. Austin Mfg. Co., re road-making machinery.—Received.

From the Buffalo Pitts Co., re 12 ton double engine steam road roller.—Received.

THE NEW MILLINERY STORE.

Beauty and Attractiveness of Miss A Delaney's New Millinery Establishment.

The painters have just put the finishing strokes on the handsome new millinery premises to be opened out by Miss A. Delaney, on George street. The interior as well as the exterior of the store is painted throughout in a rich white colour, trimmed with gold, presenting a very appropriate contrast with the elegant new autumn millinery novelties rapidly being placed in stock. A very neat design of gold and white wall paper decorates the walls corresponding with the surrounding furnishings. The ceiling is finished with a light colored varnished wood design, harmonizing with the general interior. Separating the beautiful front show room from the workrooms is a panelled design of ornamental woodwork lighted with chip glass of a flaky satin finish. A neat and convenient business office opens out behind the show rooms, and private fitting rooms are provided adjoining the workroom. A very large plate glass mirror will occupy the centre of the middle division of the store, and on the north side is placed a large silver-plated show case, on each side of which other mirrors are displayed. Ranged on each side of the store are heavily fashioned walnut show tables for displaying the goods. The floor is completely covered with an effective oil cloth pattern, and the entire store is suitably fitted up for electric light, the fixtures being of very neat modern designs.

The general effect of the whole premises reflects great credit on the excellent taste of the ladies connected with the new firm, the details of which have been artistically carried out under the skilful supervision of Mr. H. W. Watson.

In a few days one of the most complete and recherche stocks of millinery ever shown here will be ready for the inspection of the the ladies. Everything will be new, and the very latest novelties in autumn millinery will be fully represented and exceptionally artistic.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The Norwood correspondent in his last week's budget has the following: "Arthur A. Dundass, who pulled up such a high percentage of passes at the Norwood high school this year, has secured, etc." In justice to the other assistants I wish to say that Mr. Dundass, as junior assistant, did his work satisfactorily, but he had practically nothing to do with the examinations. The only subjects of the high school course taught by Mr. Dundass, in which there was an examination, were Geography, Form I, and Euclid, and they were as successfully taught by his predecessor.

LABOR DAY SPORTS.

Canucks Ahead in the International Cricket Match.

YANKEES ALL OUT FOR 85 RUNS

Canadians Scored 179, and Boyd Put Up 58 Without Giving a Chance. Hill's Remarkable Bowling.

The result of the first day's play in the International cricket match between Canada and the United States, was in favor of the Dominion eleven by almost a hundred runs. One inning was finished shortly before 6 o'clock, and the score stood 179 to 85.

Capt. Clark won the toss, and elected to bat, sending in Brown and Warder to face the bowling of C. Goldingham. Wickets fell fast, and it was not until Clark joined Warder that a change in the bowling was necessary, McGiverin going on in place of Goldingham, and soon afterwards Hill replaced Laing. The Montreal man especially was effective, and he sent down maiden after maiden, and took two wickets in his first over. The visitors could not completely collar the trundling of the Canadian quartet and were all out for the small score of 85. Warder was very patient in collecting 16. Capt. Clark hit hard at times, once putting McGiverin into the tennis court.

The foreigners were effective with the ball at the start, Saunders, Laing and Terry all retiring before the bowling was changed. Cooper and Goldingham made the first stand, and afterwards many changes were necessary.

Boyd's batting was an exhibition of perfect hitting scarcely ever equalled or excelled in any Canadian cricket. His 51 were compiled without a chance, and he retired on a difficult catch. Cooper showed a splendid defence. Martin's 23 were carefully and correctly compiled. Lyon's 28 were very useful, and, with McGiverin, put on 29 runs. Townsend and Morton are left-handed bowlers. The former had the most success. Morrice and Goodman also had fair success with the ball.

Uncle Sam's representatives' fielding was almost perfect, and many a Canadian run was spoiled by sharp work of the visitors. The Canadians, too, did splendid work in the field, notwithstanding the single muff of a high one off McGiverin's bowling. Hill, Lyons, Terry and Chambers were especially alert after the ball.

In Jordan the Phillies have a first-class wicket keeper, who made his first appearance in Toronto yesterday. The work of Saunders, too, behind the stumps was, as usual, first-class. The weather was perfect and there was a splendid attendance of representative cricketers from Toronto and all over the province. The score:

Curious Facts About the Toad.

The toad lives 10 to 40 years, does not begin to produce young until the fourth year, but then lays over 1,000 eggs a year. It has lived two years without food, but cannot live long under water. It never takes dead or motionless food. It takes its food by means of its tongue alone, and it operates this so rapidly that the eye cannot follow its motions. It captures and devours bees, wasps, yellowjackets, ants, beetles, worms, spiders, snails, bugs, grasshoppers, crickets, weevils, caterpillars, moths, etc. The stomach that doesn't flinch at yellowjackets, wasps, blister beetles and click beetles or pinch bugs would seem to be prepared for anything in the insect line, and it doubtless is. In 24 hours the toad consumes enough food to fill its stomach four times. A single toad will in three months devour over 10,000 insects. If every ten of these would have done 1 cent damage, the toad has saved $10. Evidently the toad is a valuable friend to the farmer, gardener and fruit grower and can be made especially useful in the greenhouse, garden and berry patch.—Galveston News.

To Write on Glass.

The easiest way to write or paint on glass is to take a solution of fish glue and distribute it with a soft brush over the surface of the glass. Of course the solution must be carefully filtered, and when it is applied to the glass pane the glass must be held over a stove or lamp in a slanting direction to allow the surplus solution to flow off and to dry thoroughly without streaking. When the pane has been prepared in this way, it is ready to write or paint upon. Even writing of microscopic minuteness can be applied to the prepared glass surface without the danger of the ink running. On this surface colors, india ink and any kind of pigment may be employed.—Crockery and Glass Journal.

In this year Messrs. Mason & Risch started in business with small capital and no reputation, but with a determination to sell pianos of such unquestioned merit that each customer would be an aggressive advertiser for them.

The enviable position that this firm occupies to-day is the best proof that their policy when they started was a wise one. They have sold over 6000 Mason & Risch Pianos in addition to many thousands of pianos and organs of other makers, establishing for themselves a reputation for piano building such as no other Canadian maker has achieved, also the recognition of prominent musicians in the United States and Europe. Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

GUELPH BEAT HAMS TWICE.

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 6.—Guelph won two victories over the Hamilton team here today. Both the Hamilton pitchers were touched up pretty freely, while Stober and Jordan held the leaders down to seven and five hits. Hamilton played a ragged fielding game in the morning, but redeemed themselves in the afternoon with an almost errorless game. Russe hit the ball over the left field fence for a home run in the second game.

USED UP FOUR PITCHERS.

Syracuse, Sept. 6.—The Stars and Canucks had a slugging bee here this morning, in which the home team had enough the best of it to win out in a game that was exciting from start to finish. Each team used two pitchers, but the Stars did sharper work on the bases, and that helped them out. Score:

TORONTO WON THIS ONE.

Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 6.—The Stars thought they had the afternoon game won when in the fifth Earl dropped a thrown ball and lost a chance to retire the side. After this the Canadians made five runs, and, although Willis was substituted, added four more in the seventh and eighth. The Stars tried a garrison finish, and only missed tieing the score by one run. Mc-

The Beauty of Health

Features don't matter so much. Most any features will do if the complexion is clear, the eyes bright and the lips rosy. Hearty, healthy wholesomeness is better than mere beauty of features. A face full of the glow of good health—full of the kindliness and good humor that health brings, is bound to be an attractive face—a face that will make friends. The face tells the story of the whole body. "Murder will out"—and so will "female weakness" and nervousness and other disorders peculiar to women.

If there is a drain on the system and strength, the record of it will show in the face. If there is nerve nagging "bearing-down" pains, dragging and pulling at the most sensitive organs in a woman's body, the face will show it. Abused nerves draw lines of care and worry on the face. Nervous prostration writes its warning on the face long before it comes. Sleeplessness, nervousness and debilitating drains make more wrinkles than age.

Nine-tenths of the sickness of women comes from some derangement of organs distinctly feminine. Nine-tenths of this sickness can be cured and avoided by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is nothing miraculous about the "Favorite Prescription"—nothing supernatural.

It is the result of rational thought and study applied to medicine.

It has been prescribed by Dr. Pierce for over 30 years. It has made thousands of women healthy and happy, and has brought joy to thousands of homes.

In "female weakness" it acts directly and strongly in healing and strengthening the parts that are most severely tried. It clears out impurities and promotes regularity at all times.

SHADOW OF A NAME.

BARRY PAINE'S TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF CHARLES CHADBAND.

Miseries of a Talented Man Who Bore the Cognomen of One of Dickens' Celebrated Characters — Wrote Brilliantly, but Would Not Publish.

At 4 o'clock on the morning of Easter Sunday at his home near Malvern Well died Charles Chadband.

With the name of Chadband, thanks to Dickens, the reading world is familiar. It is associated with oiliness, hypocrisy and self seeking. At the very sound of the name the reminiscent grin starts on all faces. He is a national joke. But we pay for all our laughter, and we have paid for the Chadband jest. I do not mean to say that the unhappy accident by which Dickens selected the name of Chadband for his imposter was the cause of the death of Charles Chadband. It was not. He died of an ordinary disease—consumption, in fact. But that unhappy accident did overshadow the whole of Charles Chadband's life. It did prevent him from taking the place and fame to which he was justly entitled. It has prevented the general public from reading one single line of his very excellent works.

As his literary executor I have had no choice but to destroy every line of his manuscript, in accordance with his orders. Not a single copy has been taken, and not one word of his works that his friends remember may be committed to writing. I do not easily believe in the existence of genius, but I believe that Charles Chadband had genius. Some, far more competent to judge than I am, thought the same. As I watched the last sparks die out in the big pile of burned paper it seemed a pity that so much work and such wonderful gifts should be all wasted for such a stupid, ignoble, maddening reason—because the author had inherited the name of a character in Dickens.

He was very sensitive, but, unlike most very sensitive men, he was not affected or vain. When I was first introduced to him, he said, laughing, that he was no relation to the original Chadband. He reveled in Dickens and would quote the original Chadband freely. I had known him a long time before I knew that the coincidence of the names gave him any trouble at all. It was long before I could make out why he would not publish anything. He used to give the most absurd reasons for his reticence, and when driven into a corner he would say that he was going to publish, but not yet. One night, when I had just finished a long story of his, I implored him to let me take it away with me to London and see what could be done. "No," he said. "Nobody would publish it." I told him that it might be refused by five men out of six, but that the sixth would afterward be proud that he had accepted it.

Then, quite unexpectedly, the secret came out. "No serious work," he said, "could possibly do anything associated with the name of Chadband." He said it so light heartedly that I thought he was once more putting me off with a wrong reason, but I soon found that he was sincere. He imagined reviewers making jests about his name and owned that he would not be able to stand it. This surprised me, for he frequently joked about his name himself, and so did his friends. He defended himself.

"That's different," he said. "That is in conversation, among men that I know. But I could not have some vulgar brute who did not know me at all doing the same thing in cold print. It would present my stuff from the wrong point of view. No, the associations of the name are too strong. If you are called Chadband, you are called Chadband, and there's an end of it. You may do what you like in private, but you can come before the public only as an intemperate, hypocritical, delicious ass, and in no other character whatever."

He would not hear of a pseudonym or of anonymity. If his work succeeded, the secret would be found out, and he would be ashamed. If it did not succeed—and he did not think it would—it was not worth his while to add to the annual output of bad books. "Why make all this fuss about nothing?" I said, angry with his obstinacy. "If you think it matters one straw—though it does not—change your name once for all and be done with it." He said that it would be sheer cowardice, and he could not dream of it.

Very unfortunately, he had private means. Poverty might have driven him to overcome his sensitiveness and to publish. Had he done so it would have been curious to watch the growth of an entirely new set of associations around the name Chadband. I think he was strong enough to have redeemed the name.

He was unmarried—said that he did not believe in the hereditary principles as applied to jokes. His real reason for not marrying was, of course, the disease of which he died. He worked exceedingly hard, and, as he knew, to no purpose. He would not own that he took pleasure in his work. "No," he said, "it's like smoking—I get no pleasure from it, but I should miss it if I gave it up." He took enormous pains with his work and finished it as thoroughly as though it were to constitute his appeal to the world on the following day. He kept the final copy of everything he approved, but his instructions were that it was all to be burned as soon as possible after his death.—Barry Pain in Black and White.

Means of the Russian Imperial Family.

The means of the Russian Imperial family are of the richest in the world. Apart altogether from the civil list, which usually amounts to £1,500,000 a year, but which may, of course, be increased by Imperial order, the house of Romanoff owns 21,000,000 acres in different parts of Russia, which, under a system laid down in the reign of the Emperor Paul, are managed by a special bureau, called that of the Imperial Appanages, which is controlled by a Minister, who reports to the Emperor alone, and takes no orders from the Ministry of Finance. The Ministry of Appanages now enjoys a revenue of more than £2,000,000, out of which 46 Grand Dukes and Duchesses are supported, at an average cost in all of £500,000, or say £11,000 a year per Prince or Princess. The remaining income is suffered to accumulate, in order to meet the constantly increasing number of members of the Imperial family, who are by no means always satisfied with their donations. The sums, though large, are not derived from taxation, and are probably less than those enjoyed by the Hanseburgs, who are, as a corporation, immense landowners, not to mention the great fortunes of two or three branches of the family, or than those of the House of Othman.

The revenue of the Hohenzollerns exceeds £1,000,000, and that of the house of Saxoy is more than £600,000 a year, the British House being, among the greater houses, by far the poorest. Fifty years hence the question of appanages will be a serious embarrassment to the dynasties, and will probably lead to a great relaxation of the royal marriage laws. Then the American heiresses, who by that time will possess half South America, will indeed, have a chance.—The Spectator.

25c. Beware of Imitations

Balloon Accidents.

"The cause of so many balloon accidents," says Professor William Kendall, an aeronaut of Philadelphia, "lies in the fact that the beginner does not realize what a delicate piece of mechanism a balloon is, and, after having been employed about a balloon outfit for one season, imagines he knows it all. These people manage to get a balloon, usually an old, weather beaten affair, and then secure an engagement at some amusement park. Statistics show that nine out of every ten such aeronauts meet with accidents, and in nine cases out of ten it is all because they haven't mastered the intricacies of their profession."

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

MR. THOS. DOLPHIN, TARA, ONT., says: "I had Itching Piles for about ten or twelve years, and tried everything I could hear or read of, and found that nothing did me any good. Mr. Hilburn, the druggist, gave me a sample box of Chase's Ointment, and from the first application I found relief, and was able to go to bed and sleep. I then purchased one box and that one cured me so that I have not been afflicted since, and that is over a year ago."

THE SEWERAGE COMMITTEE

submitted the appended report, through its chairman, Councillor Best:—

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report as follows:—

That a cheque for $185.63 be issued in full payment of contract and extras for Winch & Grant's contract for section three of sewers, as this amount was agreed to by Mr. Grant.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST, Chairman.

The report was adopted, after which Mr. Best read the following report from the town engineer, dealing with the matter of the flooding of the streets during heavy rain storms:—

To the Chairman of the Committee on Sewerage:

SIR,—A complaint having been made that owing to the heavy rainstorm of this morning the channel gratings over the gulleys at the corners of streets have been blocked and in consequence some of the adjoining cellars were flooded with the storm water, there is no doubt of a possibility of this occuring from the fact that, in many places, wher the surface of the ground under the sidewalk is lower than the street, the water obtains access under the sidewalks and thus enters the cellars: and again, the gulley gratings, whilst sufficient for city purposes, are not in all cases suitable for a town where the streets are not so formed and maintained and foreign matter such as paper, etc., accumulates in the water tables.

I would advise that in a few places where the flow is heaviest the pyramidal gratings should be placed, having increased spaces or waterways, and the street surface under the sidewalks raised with clay or other material. This, I think, will prevent a recurrence of the flooding at these points.

Yours,
SAM'L BELCHER,
Town Engineer.

On motion of Councillors Meldrum and Davis it was resolved that the matter of procuring new gratings be left to the Chairman of the Sewerage Committee and that the request of Mr. R. A. Morrow regarding the filling up of the space under his sidewalks be complied with as soon as he builds up the areas in front of the cellar windows.

Councillor Meldrum mentioned the fact that he had been shown into Stenson's store recently and that a quantity of goods had been destroyed through the cellar being flooded by water from the streets. The merchants, he stated, swept their papers, etc., out into the street and thus the sewer gratings were easily blocked in the event of a heavy rain storm. He blamed the police severely for not enforcing the bylaw regulating this matter and seconded by Councillor Danne, moved that the Mayor be instructed to see that the police enforce the requirements of this bylaw.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor Denne, reported as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee recommend that the following accounts be paid:

2. Your committee does not recommend the payment of the claim made by Thomas Wood for injury to his vehicle, nor the account of George Hytchinson for his posts as they were not ordered with the authority of the council. An account of the Peterborough Water Co. is referred back to the council owing to the resolution passed regarding payments to the Company.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
THOS. DENNE, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

A. McDonald's account will be paid when certified to by the Street and Bridge Committee.

President Elliott and Secretary Green, of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, were present, and were invited to address the council.

Mr. Elliott asked for a grant from the town on the ground that the annual fair was one of the best mediums for advertising the town. In case of bad weather the management would be put to loss and he asked the town for assistance.

Mr. Green reminded the councillors that the directors paid out about $2000 a year inside the corporation in the way of prizes, work done, etc. The county always gave a grant of $100, and he asked the town to do the same.

The matter was referred to the meeting of the Committee of the Whole on Monday evening.

Thos. Bullen appeared and asked to be relieved of his taxes, stating that he had not been asked for any in 1894 or 1895, but was asked to pay them in 1896, although he had been living in the same house all the time.

On motion of Councillors Meldrum and Dawson, the taxes were directed to be returned against the land.

On motion of Councillors White and Graham, the taxes of Thos. Nicholls were remitted.

Councillor Meldrum and Davis moved that the council attend the Toronto Fair for the purpose of examining the latest improvements in road making machinery.

Councillor Leplante raised a point of order, claiming that the trip involved an expenditure of money and therefore a notice of motion was required before such a resolution could be carried.

As two-thirds of the council was therefore necessary before the motion could pass, and as this was not obtained, it fell through.

Moved by Councillors Dawson and Cobb that T. M. McFadden, inspector of sewers, be paid on the certificate of the engineer.

The Council then adjourned.

BASEBALL RECORD.

THE PONIES WERE SLOW.

The Torontos played anything but like a losing team in their opening game of the final home series yesterday afternoon on the Island diamond. Tom Burns' Springfield nine were the opponents, and the ex-leaders made the ponies look like selling-platers all the way. The score was 13 to 2.

LONDON MADE ERRORS.

London, Sept. 7. Hamilton practically cinched their hold on first place in the Canadian League by defeating London to-day in a game which the locals presented to the blackbirds by virtue of costly errors. Cockman, at short, was somewhat disabled and, as a result, his throwing was away off, he being responsible for many of Hamilton's tallies. It was almost an equal contest between Crowe and McDermott, as far as pitching was concerned, but the London man would have won out had he been accorded the support given to McDermott. Score:

"My baby had Eczema in its worst form. The top of her head was as raw as a piece of beef, the hair eaten down to the scalp by applying tar poultices, and I thought if she ever got well she would be bald. The best physician in the city attended her, but she continued to get worse all the time, and he finally admitted "it was the most obstinate case he had ever seen," and that he was "at his wits' end." Some one suggested CUTICURA REMEDIES, which I purchased and tried. In a few days I noticed a great change. She continued to improve, and to-day is entirely cured, has a nice head of hair, is lively and hearty, and the disease shows no signs of returning. I send you her photograph to show her as she is to-day.

THE WANTS OF LABOR

As Set Forth at the Birmingham Trades Congress.

CONSPIRACY LAWS CONDEMNED.

Payment of Members of Parliament Advocated—Reform Demanded in Regard to Taxation and Money Standards—The Indian Uprising at an End.

Birmingham, England, Sept. 8.—The Trades Union Congress, at its session to day, adopted a resolution setting forth that the conspiracy laws, as applied to workers, are "indefinite, ambiguous and generally unsatisfactory," and urged the Parliamentary Committee to promote a bill having for its object the reform of the jury system, so as to make it possible for all workers having no legal disabilities to act as jurymen in all civil and criminal cases.

The congress also unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of paying members of Parliament for their services, and instructed the Parliamentary Committee to do its utmost to get the question again introduced into Parliament, coupled with the payment of returning officers' charges from the local rates.

It was also unanimously resolved to instruct the Parliamentary Committee to promote a bill providing for reform in the taxation of ground values, providing for their rating as other properties.

The Miners' Federation of Great Britain vehemently urged the following resolution: "That this congress instructs the Parliamentary Committee to assist the miners at the opening of Parliament next year in getting as many members as possible to ballot for the Mines Eight-Hours bill, and that when the bill is down for second reading the Parliamentary Committee assist the Miners' Federation in whipping up members to attend the House of Commons in support of the bill."

The delegation from the Northumberland miners opposed this resolution, but it was eventually carried.

Want the Mines Question Settled.

Birmingham, Sept. 8.—At a meeting held this afternoon of over 250 delegates to the Trades Union Congress now in session here, a resolution was adopted declaring "that the best interests of labor and productive industry imperatively press for an international settlement of the monetary question by means of the restoration to par of exchange between gold and silver money, so as to provide a common standard of value throughout the world.

"This meeting of representative trades unionists earnestly urges the Government to carry out its pledges to Parliament on the subject in a hearty, liberal spirit in the present negotiations for an international agreement."

Mr. Fox dwelt upon the growth of trade unionism and the consequent improvement in the condition of labor in America. He declared that there was a growing movement in favor of the establishment of the eight-hour day and of the arbitration of trade disputes, and added that the organized trades had arrived at the conviction that the time had come for the restriction of immigration to America of discontented European labor.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO IRELAND.

A Very Busy Day for the Duke and Duchess of York.

Belfast, Sept. 8.—This was a very busy day for the Duke and Duchess of York and it was the last of their stay in Ireland. Their Royal Highnesses on arriving here from Mount Stewart, the County Down residence of the Marquis of Londonderry, drove to the Town Hall, where they received no less than 18 addresses from different public bodies belonging to the province of Ulster. The Duke and Duchess were then entertained at luncheon by the corporation of Belfast, after which they were present at the formal opening of the new dock here. Next they inspected the shipbuilding yards of Harland and Wolff.

After the garden party in their honor given by the Lord Mayor of Belfast, Their Royal Highnesses went to Belfast Lough, where they embarked on board a yacht for Glasgow.

The royal procession was greeted with enthusiasm by the crowds of people who packed the main thoroughfares.

OFFICIAL DENIALS.

Premier Azcarraga of Spain Did Not Say Words Which Were Credited to Him.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—It is officially denied that the Premier, General Azcarraga, has written to the leaders of the political parties saying that the Government at Havana would prefer war with the United States to the intervention of that country in the affairs of Cuba.

It is also officially denied that an attache of the Spanish legation at Washington has drawn upon himself the suspicion of espionage. On the contrary, it is asserted, the attache referred to confined himself, in visiting United States forts and arsenals, to purely scientific inspection of these works, similar to that of an American naval officer during the latter's recent visits to Ferrol, Cadiz and Cartagena.

BOTTOM FALLING OUT.

The Rising of Tribesmen in India Appears to Have Been Crushed.

Simla, Sept. 8.—In official circles here it is considered evident that the bottom is dropping out of the rising of the tribesmen against the British. The general officers commanding report that the Afridis have dispersed, the news that the Zakkakhols are removing their families from the Khyber district to Tirah is confirmed, and there is no longer any doubt that the enemy is leaving the Samana territory.

Quarrelling Amongst Themselves.

London, Sept. 9.—The Times Simla correspondent says that the dissension among the Afridis is increasing owing to the stoppage of all Government allowances for keeping the Khyber Pass open. It is not unlikely that when the Afridis learn of the size of the punitive expedition sent against them they will elect to yield.

The Ameer's governor of Khort, who recently withdrew his outlying garrisons, has now restored them so as to be able to intercept any tribal force that may intend to raid the Kurdum Valley.

Rejoicing at Suakim.

Suakim, Sept. 8.—There is great rejoicing here at the news received of the fall of Berber.

The measures to establish communication between Suakim and the Anglo-Egyptian forces along the Nile are rapidly advancing. The Dervishes have withdrawn their eastern outposts and are concentrating on the Nile, with Metemmeh as their northernmost post.

RESTLESSNESS IN FRANCE.

London Daily Chronicle's Paris Correspondent Working Up a Scare.

London, Sept. 9.—The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent says that a startling attempt to revise the French constitution is contemplated. The National Assembly is to be convoked at Versailles to consider a plan for the modification of the office of President of the Republic.

The Chronicle, in an editorial article, says: "If the foregoing is verified it is evident that an attempt will be made to take advantage of the visit of M. Faure to St. Petersburg to bring the President's position nearer to that of a hereditary monarch. Possibly the Bonapartist and Orleanist factions might be induced to support such a movement, and there is no Gambetta to resist it. But we doubt if any serious attempt will be made. M. Hanotaux is the strongest man in the Ministry, but neither he nor M. Faure is likely to be the pivot for such a change."

Germans Taking Action.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—A number of German manufacturers and merchants have formed a committee for the purpose of protecting their interests when the time shall arrive for a renewal of Germany's commercial treaties.

Among other things the committee intends to establish a central office for the collection of useful information regarding the requirements of German industry, after the model of similar institutions in America, in regard to which Baron von Thielmann made a highly approving report, based on his experiences as German Ambassador to the United States.

Belgian Troops Mutinied.

Brussels, Sept. 8.—Mail advices have been received from Uganda, stating that a mutiny has occurred among the troops of the Congo Free State in the Toro district. The mutineers, it is said, killed 50 Belgian officers and men and destroyed all the forts, committing depredations right and left.

This report is regarded in Brussels as merely another version of the revolt of the soldiers of Baron Dhani's expedition to the head waters of the Nile.

ONTARIO FRUIT IN WINNIPEG.

Plums, Peaches and Grapes Sold at Auction—Archbishop Langevin Ill—A New Town Projected.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—A carload of Ontario fruit which had been delayed in transit was sold by auction here to-day. Lots of ten baskets of plums, peaches and grapes brought from 80c to $1.25 per basket.

Archbishop Langevin is ill. He was seized with a chill on Friday, but is now improving. Over work, the physicians say, caused the difficulty.

A new town site is being surveyed on the shores of Lake Winnipegosis, where the Dauphin Railway will terminate.

Rev. A. J. Vining, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, has resigned. He will become superintendent of Missions for the Northwest.

GLOOM IN IRELAND.

Crops Have Been Ruined by the Late Bad Weather.

HAY, OATS AND POTATOES A FAILURE

Connemara, Cork, Tyrone, Westmeath and Limerick All Report a Hopeless Prospect for the Coming Winter and the People Panic Stricken—Landlords are Pressing.

New York, Sept. 8.—A despatch to The World from London says: A panic is spreading throughout Ireland over the terrible prospect of the apparently complete failure of the harvest. Reports from 110 parish priests from Counties Clare, Cork, Kerry, Limerick, Tipperary, Antrim, Armagh, Cavan, Derry, Donegal, Down, Fermanagh, Monaghan and Tyrone all tell the same piteous story of ruined crops, impending destitution and famine. Blight has everywhere wholly or mainly destroyed potatoes, while oats, which is the next most essential crop to an Irish farmer, have been battered down by incessant rains and practically destroyed.

From Connemara, County Galway, comes this heartrending tale: The late long run of harsh weather leaves scarcely a vestige of hope to the poor Connemara cottiers. The three principal crops raised in this locality—hay, oats and potatoes—are virtually ruined, the latter to an alarming extent. It is common observation around Clifden that it is a full day's work for a man to dig one meal of potatoes for his family, and even then they can scarcely be eaten.

From Mallow, County Cork, situated in the rich streak of land known as the "Golden Vein," the report is: The oat crop, which is the main dependence of a vast majority of the farmers, is entirely unfit for marketing purposes. Acres are still seen spread out in sheaf and cannot be bound or stalked. The crop is now reduced to a condition that fits only for the manure heap. The potato crop is almost a dead failure.

A despatch from Westmeath says: Incessant rains for the past month have completely destroyed crops of every description. What were a month ago smiling, cheerful looking fields are today blighted and ruined. The potato crop is bad even to rottenness. Oats and kindred crops are in such a wretched way that no yield can be expected from them.

From Maryborough, Queen's County, a correspondent telegraphs: In this county there is a general unanimity of opinion that since the famine year of 1847 the prospect for the agricultural community was never so bad as to-day. This description does not refer to any particular locality, but to every district in the county. The crop that has suffered most is the potato, of which there will be practically none. It is generally believed that before the New Year dawns there will be no potatoes fit to eat in the county. Next to potatoes oats are in a very bad condition.

A correspondent at Ballygawley, Tyrone, says: "The ground where potatoes have been planted in drills resembles a bit of barren waste that had been lying over for some time with the intention of being plowed in the autumn. Flax is almost an unknown quantity. During the week enormous floods have been sweeping the country. Tons of hay, to add further to the misery, have been carried away by inundations."

A Castlebar (Mayo) telegram says: "Torrents of rain prevailed here during the past three days almost continuously and the country is in a most deplorable condition. Lands are flooded, potatoes and oats destroyed, hay rotting. No efforts can be made to save several crops from destruction, owing to the deluge of rain day after day. The farmers are ruined."

A Waterford correspondent says: "It is no exaggeration to say that prospects for harvest were hardly ever darker or sadder than at present in several parts of the country. Corn, now a month cut, is still unstacked, on account of rain. Very little new grain has been marketed yet, and buyers expect difficulty in getting oats fit for breeding purposes. From all parts come bad accounts of the potato crop. The prices of cattle have fallen."

County Limerick reports: "As the season draws to a close no ray of hope is observed that would dispel the gloomy anticipations indulged in some time ago in regard to the ultimate failure of crops in general. From all sides the most alarming intelligence comes concerning the potato crop. The yield in most places, when compared with last year, will not arrive at one-fourth. The hay crop is in very bad condition, verging in most cases on irreparable loss from the continuous downpour of rain. The outlook for every article of agriculture is of the worst description."

A Roscommon correspondent telegraphs: "The coming winter promises to be one of famine. Everything is gone."

Complaint is heard from the most distressed districts of the country that landlords are pressing for their rents to secure whatever little money the tenants may have in savings banks, knowing that nothing will be left before the winter is half through. The weather shows no sign of improving. Rain continues and the temperature has fallen to an exceptionally low point for this time of the year.

THE COAL STRIKE OFF.

No Danger of a Famine Now—Word Was Received That the Miners Will Begin Work This Morning.

Toronto, Sept. 9.

Advices received by telegraph in Toronto from the scene of the great coal miners' strike would indicate that a settlement has been reached. The Conger Coal Company got a despatch in the afternoon stating that the strike in the Hosmeadville district had been declared off. Mr. J. H. Milne also received this message: "Strike settled in our region. All mines resume work Thursday morning." From the foregoing it would seem that the threatened coal famine in Toronto had vanished altogether.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1897.

CANADA'S HOUR HAS COME.

"I predict that at the close of this century we are to have three years of such prosperity as the oldest of those here present has not before witnessed," said Mr. Edward Gurney, ex-President of the Toronto Board of Trade, at the Directors' luncheon at the Industrial Exhibition Monday.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Telegram puts it thus:—"In the politician's dictionary giving a relative a fat job is called 'nepotism'; giving it to a fried 'lovalty,' and taking it yourself 'judgment.'"

THE EXAMINER has received from the Montreal Herald two splendid pictures of two great men—Hon. W. E. Gladstone and Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The portraits of these two men, the highest types of British and Colonial statesmanship, are much appreciated, and the enterprising Herald is thanked accordingly.

As there still seem some confusion existing as to the exact title of nobility borne by the Canadian High Commissioner, it is noticeable that the London Gazette, chronicling his elevation to the peerage, announces his patent as that of "Sir Donald Smith, a baron of the United Kingdom by the name, style, and title of Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, of Glencoe, in the county of Argyll, and of Mount Royal, in the province of Quebec, and Dominion of Canada."

THE Mail and Empire, finding little, or nothing, to condemn in the administrative record of the Ontario Government, is inventing immense steals from Ontario through the Dominion public chest. If a railway subsidy is granted by the Dominion Government it is pronounced a robbery of Ontario. Isn't it rather hard lines to make Hon. Premier Hardy and colleagues responsible for what another Government does? But the organ is cornered for arguments, or it would not go so far a-field for its "facts."

THERE can be little doubt that Canada, in addition to being one of the best agricultural and dairying countries, is at this moment the best gold-producing country in the world. The latest discovery of gold in large quantities is at Michipicoten, on the north shore of Lake Superior. Prof. Alex. Mackenzie, a Canadian mining expert says the deposits are not confined to a small spot, but are spread over a large area. With gold so close at home why do men tempt the hardships of the hyperborean Klondyke?

A magnificent harvest is a blessing both for the good it brings to the farmer and also for the ability it provides for assisting those who suffer from failure of crops. Ireland is threatened with a more or less severe visitation of famine. There seems to be an almost complete failure of the harvest. The potatoes are attacked with blight and continuous rains destroy the oats harvest. It is fortunate that we in Canada are in a position to share our splendid harvest with our Irish fellow subjects and, what is better, if the call is made, we have the will to do so.

IF Mr. Whitney and his lieutenants, who are condemning the Provincial expenditure on colonization roads, were to live a year or two in some of the back townships and attempt to drive a light wagon, not to speak of a loaded one, over the "natural" roads of the country, they would see the wisdom and justice of the expenditure. The people of the back country have as large a share in the public funds as those in more thickly settled and improved regions, and are entitled to some of the benefits of the expenditure. But for the colonization road work done by the Ontario Government, the lot of the people of the newer portions of the country would be many times harder than it is now. By means of these roads they have access to the markets, and are able to have intercourse with their neighbours and to go to church, and their children to school, with some approach to comfort. The chief misfortune is that the financial resources of the province will not permit a greater expenditure on colonization roads. Because farmers in a new country are isolated and struggling with the difficulties incident to living in such a country, that is no reason why they should be grudged the assistance of the Government represented by making the conditions of life easier.

THE STEWART CASE.

Mr. Stewart Pays a Visit to Pictou —Congratulated by His Many Friends on His Restoration to Health.

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 6—Good news sometimes travel as fast as bad news, which is proverbially fast. Many people here know that Mr. Allan Stewart, of Springton, P.E.I., had been for many years afflicted with kidney disease and gravel. It was known, too, that last year he was so bad that public opinion put him down as likely to die soon. Mr. Stewart fooled public opinion though, for he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills and ten boxes of them completely cured him. When he paid a flying visit to this city a few days ago, he received many hearty congratulations on his restoration to health and improved appearance. Dodd's Kidney Pills have never yet failed to cure in this part of the Dominion.

100 Per cent Better.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are curing heart and nerve troubles in every city, town, and village in Canada. Mrs. F. Abbey, Toronto, says, "Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured my husband who had suffered for fifteen years with weak nerves caused by heart trouble. He was subject to pains in his head, dizziness, fainting spells, sleeplessness, etc. He is now free from these troubles, and feels 100 per cent better than when he began using the p ls."

THE LUETGERT TRIAL.

Prisoner Was in Good Spirits Yesterday—Crowds Increasing and Mostly Made Up of Women.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The alleged wife murderer, Luergert, seemed to be in unusually good spirits to-day, despite the damaging evidence heard during yesterday's sessions. The spectators continue to be mostly of the fair sex, and the crowds are growing larger daily.

Two reporters of The Chicago Journal testified that they had bottled some of the pinkish matter which flowed from the sluice way of the vat, when the police opened the valve. They had delivered the bottle to an expert, who will be called later in the trial.

Policeman Bernard Prouss was called and identified two bits of steel as the pieces he found in the ashes where the supposed residue of bones and other material which was scooped from the vat was dumped.

Policeman Talwarwitz testified as to having found a hairpin in the same pile of refuse, and the hairpin was produced as evidence.

J. H. Odenbrett and W. G. Cady, corsetmakers, were placed on the stand in succession, and positively identified the two alleged corset steels as having been the product of their factory.

It was considered by the State to be a great blow to the defence and was unexpected by the latter, who hoped to prove that the two pieces of steel were scale bands.

Emma Schimpke was apparently imbued with the idea that she must testify only to those matters which hurt the cause of the defence. Judge Tuthill administered a kindly but firm lecture to the trembling girl.

From her the defence secured the admission that she was not sure she saw Luetgert and his wife enter the factory, and the defence also forced her to admit that she could not remember anything that happened on any other particular night than May 1. When asked the day of the week upon which May 1 fell, she hesitated and then said: "Saturday was not it." The defence felt that their cause had gained perceptibly from her testimony.

Vickerick Bicknese, brother of Mrs. Luetgert, identified two photographs as likenesses of his sister. The pictures were passed around among the attorneys, and Luetgert attentively compared the two and consulted about them with his attorneys.

Another sensation was sprung when Mrs. Christine Feldt was again called to the stand. The witness identified an ugly-appearing knife which she said Luetgert handed to her for safe keeping, on the day of his arrest. According to Inspector Schaack, Luetgert used this knife as the means whereby he killed his wife.

The evidence was a complete surprise to the defence, and the prisoner craned forward to see the weapon. The knife was passed around among the attorneys and Luetgert examined it. He smiled as he handled it, and talked with his attorneys about it, adding that it had been his property.

Assistant States Attorney McEwen stated that the prosecution will produce testimony showing that the knife is blood-stained. Prof. Haines will so testify. Attorneys for Luetgert declare that they attach no more importance to it than they would to any ordinary pocket knife. The knife is a horn-handled pocket knife about 4 1-2 inches long.

The afternoon session was devoted to expert testimony. Prof. Charles B. Gibson, to whom the newspaper men gave the liquid they drew from the vat, testified to finding organic matter in the pinkish brown fluid, which he subjected to a chemical analysis.

The son of Watchman Bialk testified to having enticed Luetgert to his father the best at the time and the latter's illness. A detective was concealed under the bed at the time and the testimony was intended as merely corroboration of portions of that of the officer who listened to the conversation between Luetgert and his old employe.

The attorneys for the defence assert that the day has done their cause good. They expect to controvert the material points in the testimony. Luetgert's unconcerned demeanor continues.

MR. TARTE IN TORONTO

Minister of Public Works at the Exhibition.

HE SPOKE IN DEFENCE OF QUEBEC

And Said His Own Province Was Progressive—Advocated Good Fellowship Between the Two Provinces—Mr. Mulock on Quebec's Butter Industry—Other Speeches.

Toronto, Sept. 9.

The management of the Exhibition have so far been singularly fortunate as regards the quality of the weather which has been meted out to them. True, there was one disagreeably wet day during the first week, but when it is taken into consideration that there have been heavy rains all about Toronto, the magnanimity of Old Probs will be better appreciated.

Yesterday was Farmers' Day. For the previous 24 hours agriculturists had been flocking in by every train, so that the crowd on the grounds probably exceeded in magnitude any which has attended the great Fair this year. The special features were accordingly regulated to their taste.

There was a plethora of members of Parliament present at the directors' luncheon yesterday, all of whom sang the praises of Canada, but principally those of Ontario and the excellent exhibits made by our manufacturers.

Among those present were Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works; Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General; Hon. James Young, Dr. Sproule, M.P., James Somerville, M.P., Hon. Thomas Ballantyne, S. M. Britton, M.P., Hon. E. J. Davis, George McHugh, M.P., Robert Beith, M. P., L. Burnett, M.P., James Cleland, M.L. A., John Tolmie, M.P., George E. Casey, M.P., and W. H. Taylor, M.L.A.

After dinner had been disposed of and the usual toast of "The Queen" had been fittingly responded to, the president announced the speakers.

Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, was the first one called upon. He commenced by offering his congratulations on the success of the Exhibition, and believed there is none more worthy of attention. He was pleased to see that there were exhibits on the grounds from his own dear Province of Quebec. It brought to his mind more than ever that the two provinces should go on as sister provinces, and walk together in progress. He asked those present not to believe those who say that Quebec is not progressive, for while the people of Quebec have not enjoyed the advantages of those in Ontario, Quebec is a progressive province. Mr. Tarte then referred to a recent trip which he made to Boston and other places, where he found that three-fourths of Canadian trade is handled through American ports, and he thought it time to put a stop to such a state of affairs. "We love the great American nation," he said, "but we love Canada more." Referring to the attention that had been paid to the manufacturing industries, Mr. Tarte said that farmers were entitled to the same consideration. Reverting to the sisterhood of the provinces, the speaker assured those present that the French population is anxious to walk with Ontario in the way of peace and progress, and he was sure that the more the two peoples understood each other the more they would love each other.

Hon. William Mulock was the next speaker, who commenced by saying that as farmers they owed something to the Province of Quebec, namely, the great interest that is now taken in the butter industry. Mr. Lynch's work on the butter industry, which has borne such good fruit, was the forerunner in this important branch of farming. The speaker was of opinion that in the near future there will be great profit to farmers in the shipping of butter to the Old Country by the system of cold storage. In reference to the remarks of Mr. Tarte regarding the traffic through United States ports, the speaker said he expected to see before the year 1900 a stream of grain from Canada and the United States passing through the Welland Canal to the tide water at Montreal. This is to be effected by the deepening of the channels and the enlarging of the canals. The farmers would then be enabled to market their grain in England cheaper than by any other transportation yet furnished, which will be of great advantage to this country.

He concluded by wishing the Exhibition greater success than ever, as it gives a great stimulus to the farming industry.

Dr. Sproule, M.P., was glad to see the many improvements that had been made in the Exhibition Grounds, and the buildings, and said that the Exhibition is now taking on a national character, and he thought it ought to have some assistance from the Government. He regretted that neither Mr. Tarte nor Mr. Mulock gave any intimation of the Government making any grant toward the Exhibition. He was glad to see that the directors in this year of Her Majesty's Jubilee were not behind in catching the spirit of other parts of the British Empire. He was of opinion that the exhibition was held too early for the farming population, at least he knew that in his constituency they are yet busy with their harvest. He concluded by saying that if a public grant is proposed, it would have his support.

S. M. Britton, M.P., pronounced the directors' dinner a sort of mutual admiration meeting, but he felt no one could visit the Exhibition without a feeling of admiration, as it is Canada's greatest show.

Hon. E. J. Davis spoke briefly, saying that the Exhibition began in a small way, but by persistence it had been brought to its present high standard. He pointed out that there was no fear of the Fair decreasing in the matter of attendance, as Canada is growing in population, many new towns and villages springing up in Northern Ontario. He then referred to his being a practical farmer, and knowing something of the difficulties under which they labored, and in his capacity in the Legislature he has always done everything he could to advance the farming industry, which is of paramount interest in Canada.

J. Lochie Wilson, representing the Patrons of Industry, spoke with considerable spirit and pointed out where many improvements could be made. He would like to see a large and suitable building erected for the butter and cheese producers, and placed in a prominent position, as he considered this one of the most important industries in Canada. The cattle pens also came in for some remarks, in respect to which he considered improvement was needed. Then, referring to the education in schools, he advocated the introduction of the teaching of a course of agriculture in the Public Schools, and as there are now professors enough he thought less money might be spent in agricultural colleges. In speaking of the Fair, he thought if there were less of the high-kicking features it would be to the interest of the farmers.

Short addresses were also made by John Tolmie, M.P., George McHugh, M.P., J. B. Middleton, M.L.A., James Sutherland, M.P., Robert Beith, M.P., and Daniel McGillicuddy.

THE RICHEST ON EARTH.

Steamer Arrived at San Francisco Brought an Immense Amount of Gold Down From the Klondike.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—According to the information brought by the steamer National City from St. Michael's, an immense amount of Klondike gold is on its way from the mouth of the Yukon to San Francisco and the Sound. The National City reaches here after a voyage of 11 days from St Michael's, bringing three passengers who just made the trip down the Yukon, besides important letters from the Klondike region. One letter received by G. Murray of this city from Dr. J. W. McKennan says:

"We leave to-morrow for the Yukon. Two steamers arrived last night from Dawson loaded with wealth. The mines are the richest on earth. Men can get $20 per day, but they must have provisions, as they are scarce."

Capt. Anderson, of the National City, says that a large amount of gold came down the river from Dawson, but he could not give figures, as the miners were very reticent about their work. The captain said the Excelsior left St. Michael's for San Francisco, and he believes she will arrive some time to-day.

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than accorded any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it possesses greater merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy

To-Night's Attraction.

What the Kingston papers say:—"The theatrical season of 1897 98 was opened last night at the Grand Opera House by the production of the romantic melo-drama, "Fabio Romani." A full house greeted the opening attraction, which was ably produced. The play is somewhat of the style of "Monte Cristo," and is full of interest and abounds with dramatic effects. A glimpse into the condition of Naples at the close of the seventeenth century is given and the life of the various classes in life shown. Aiden Benedict, in the title role, impersonates his character in a highly creditable manner, and more especially in the latter two acts does he reach his greatest dramatic power, where the play assumes a more tragic aspect. Miss Olive Wood, as "Nina," was remarkably natural, and showed very cleverly the falseness and duplicity of the wife of Fabio. Her innumerable facial expressions add greatly to her ability as an actress. Miss Grace Hunter executed with rare skill the famous fire and serpentine dances between the acts, and these were the best ever witnessed in this city. Prices 25, 35 and 50c. Opera House to-night.

A SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Lewis Ferguson Severely Injured at Fowler's Corners.

About six o'clock yesterday evening Lewis Ferguson, son of J. J. Ferguson, employed by Mr. Jas. Fowler, of Fowler's Corners, was driving a team from the farm yard of the latter, when in descending an incline of the ground leading to the gateway, the pole of the wagon slipped through the neck-yoke ring. This mishap caused the young and spirited team to plunge forward. Young Ferguson was thrown from the wagon against the gate, and the team at full speed down the hill.

When the young man was picked up it was found that he had sustained very severe injuries, including serious concussion of the brain, a scalp wound about two inches in length, a comminuted fracture of the left arm (between the elbow and shoulder) and bruises and lacerations of the legs.

Dr. Clarke, town, was speedily sent for and soon on hand to attend to the injuries of the young man, who is doing as well as could be looked for, though it is possible that symptoms of internal injuries may develop later.

WEDDED AT ST. MARTIN'S.

MARRIAGE OF MISS MARY L. SCOLLARD AND DR. MOLONEY IN ENNISMORE.

An Event which has been Looked Forward to for Some Time—Both the Bride and Groom have Many Friends in Peterborough, who will Extend Congratulations.

The celebration of the nuptials of Miss Miss Mary Loretto, eldest daughter of Mr. John Scollard of Ennismore, and sister of Rev. Father Scollard of North Bay, took place yesterday at St. Martin's church, Ennismore, when she was united in marriage to Dr. P. J. Moloney late of Perth, son of Mr. Francis Moloney of Ennismore.

The wedding took place at ten o'clock in the morning, the rite being performed by Rev. Father Scollard, assisted by Rev. Father McColl, of St. Martin's church, and Rev. Father O'Connor of Stanleyville, near Perth. The fine voice of the latter was heard to advantage in the nuptial mass which followed the marriage ceremony. Mrs. Daniel Crough presided at the organ.

The bride looked very handsome in a rich white satin gown. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms and bridal veil, caught up with bunches of smilax, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Lizzie Scollard, her sister, who looked most attractive in white silk costume, trimmed with ribbons. The two little maids of honour looked very sweet in gowns of pink and blue respectively. They were Aileen and Genevieve Sullivan, daughters of Mr. J. C. Sullivan, Ashburnham.

The groomsman was Dr. McGrath, of Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the wedding party, which was composed almost entirely of the near relatives of the bride and groom, repaired to the residence of Mr. John Scollard, where a sumptuous dejeuner was served. Dr. and Mrs. Moloney drove to town during the afternoon and left on the 4.10 C.P.R. express for a wedding trip west.

Dr. Moloney intends to practice in Brockville, it is understood. He has many warm friends in town, who will wish him success, and his winsome bride has also a large circle of friends here, who will join with the EXAMINER in wishing her and him every happiness.

The presents received were very handsome.

AN ASHBURNHAM BRIDAL.

Nuptials of Miss Laura Dormer and Mr. Percy J. Fuller.

The residence of Mr. Wm. Hartley, No. 786 Water street was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening, when Rev. Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., of the Mark street church performed the marriage ceremony uniting Miss Laura Dormer, daughter of Mr. John Dormer, of Ashburnham, and Mr. Percy J. Fuller, son of Mr. John Fuller, Chamberlenn street, town.

About fifty relatives and friends were present and the bride looked most charming in a pretty costume of shot Bengaline with garniture of lace. She was assisted by her cousin Miss Bertha McElmee, of Rochester, who was attractively costumed in white Swiss muslin. The groomsman was Mr. George Dormer, brother of the bride.

The parlours were very beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion the trimming of the archway being especially noticeable. At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests were invited to partake of an exquisite wedding breakfast. At a reception which was afterwards held a number of the bride's friends presented her with a handsome parlour lamp, and the following address:

RIPPED UP A BOARD.

A Peculiar Accident which Happened to Mr. J. W. Brisbin's Horse.

The horse which Mr. J. W. Brisbin uses in his delivery wagon met with a peculiar accident yesterday. It was bothered by flies, and when stamping to shake them off one of its front feet came down on the sidewalk in such a manner as to cause the tie ring to fly up and catch over one of the caulks, fitting in between the shoe and the hoof.

Here it got so firmly wedged that when the horse became frightened, and tried to get away, the whole board was lifted up out of the sidewalk, and the animal ran across the road with the big board hanging to its foot.

Mr. Brisbin fortunately witnessed the accident, and ran out and caught the animal before it succeeded in injuring itself.

This is a result of the two step waltz. This will be done away with, although what will take its place it will not be possible for us to say until later in the session.

ORANGE PICNIC.

The Members of L. O. L. No. 231, of North Dummer, and Their Friends Enjoy Themselves.

The sixth annual picnic of L. O. L. No. 231, North Dummer, took place at McCracken's Landing on Sept. 6th, Labour Day, and turned out a huge success. The Committee of Management, Messrs. Rich. Crowe and Wm. Batten, are to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which it was conducted. The people congregated from miles around to enjoy the festivities of the occasion. A large dancing platform was erected in front of the Victoria House and many lovers of the terpsicorean art availed themselves of the opportunity and enjoyed themselves in tripping the light fantastic. About four o'clock p. m. the canoe races commenced and the following were run off:

Double canoe race, open—1 S and T McIlmoyle, 2 Wm McIlmoyl and W Northcott.

Greenhorn's race, double—1 Ed Lloyd and J Alexander, 2 H Hamilton and R Hamilton.

Greenhorn's race, single—1 S McIlmoyl, 2 W McIlwain.

Single canoe race, open—1 Wm McIlmoyle, 2 John McIlmoyle.

Grandfather's race, double—1 Thos Hull and Clark Stone, 2 Richard Crowe and Wm Langford.

Boys' race, under 16—1 Allan Payne and Jos Hamilton, 2 Frank Hughes and E Carveth.

Tug of war—Team from L O L No 231, North Dummer vs. team from L T B Lakefield. Orangemen won.

Messrs. Batten and Crowe officiated as judges in a highly satisfactory manner. The Victoria House was crowded to the doors and the genial proprietor Boniface Morgan was busy all day making everything convenient and comfortable for his guests. The highly successful termination of the day's sport encourages the members of No. 231 to redouble their efforts next year and repeat it on a still higher scale.

LACROSSE.

The Toronto World publishes the following letter to-day from the secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club:—

Sporting Editor World: The members of the Peterborough lacrosse team and its supporters regret greatly to see the Toronto papers publish an account of their match with Orillia which would make it appear that the Peterboroughs were greatly inferior to their opponents, although the score spoke to the contrary. Peterborough has already won two matches from Orillia this season by the respective scores of 7 to 2 and 7 to 4. This should settle the question as to the superiority of the teams. Regarding the rough play, the matter can be referred to Dr. Reggie, of Brampton. He can explain that not a Peterborough man was even warned by him as referee, whilst both Quinn and Henderson of the Orillias were put to the fence, and Watson and O'Connor warned on several occasions. An Orillia player went so far as to strike one of the umpires, and the crowd thus incited mobbed that gentlemen, whose decisions throughout the game were fairly given and firmly stood by. After questioning three professional gentlemen of Orillia who were directly behind the flags, the referee refused to change the umpire, as demanded by Orillia, and upheld him in his decision. It rests with Dr. Reggie to clear his umpires from the charge of "crookedness," as well as the Peterborough players from the reputation of being rough. Concerning the charge of playing "ringers," this question is one which will in due course be investigated by the Executive of the C. L. A., if Orillia has sufficient confidence in its statement to risk the penalty of laying a charge of this nature, which cannot be proven. There is not a man in the Peterborough team who was not born here. Every player on the team is in a position to take an affidavit to the effect that he has not played one game with an outside club this season. The interests of lacrosse are not advanced by the publication of such splenetic remarks as have emanated from your Orillia correspondent. When in Peterborough the Orillia players were treated as gentlemen and a clean game of lacrosse was witnessed, whilst on Labour Day the object of the Orillia team seemed to be to incapacitate the Peterboroughs. How well they succeeded can be attested by those who see the boys hobbling around to-day. The Tecumsehs can also tell a tale of the manner in which they were used in Orillia and the Toronto papers mentioned the fact on the return of the Indians from that town on July 1.

The remarks in the last paragraph are not intended to include the entire Orillia team. Some of them are as gentlemanly players as can be found on a lacrosse field to-day.

ALF. TERRILL,
Secretary Peterboro Lacrosse Club.

The Orillia Packet publishes the following account of the Monday game there:—

"The Orillia lacrosse club did not succeed in overcoming Peterborough's lead of three goals in their match on Monday, though they made a good try for it, winning by four to three, making the total score ten to eight against them. The match was hot and fast from the start, and on the whole a good exhibition of the national game, though marred by several displays of ill-temper, Quinn being sent to the fence twice. It was during his absence that the Peterboroughs scored two of their goals. The attendance was the best of the season, the Peterboroughs getting good backing from the crowd, quite a number of their supporters having come up by special train. Both teams went in to win from the very start. At first they seemed very well matched, Peterborough at times appearing to have even a little the best of the play, particularly in the third game. But from that out the Orillias had the match in their own hands, and it was only by the hardest of luck that they failed to score enough goals to put them in the lead. The home team were faster runners, better dodgers and closer checkers than the Peterborough twelve and when the combination on the home got working the play was fairly dazzling, and kept the excitement at fever heat. Peterborough's defence, however, was a strong one, and nothing could tempt them away from the flags for an instant. Curran, Blain, Watson and Frost rained the shots on the citadel like hail, and time and again both players and spectators thought they had scored, but the umpire's hand remained stubbornly by his side. Peterborough scored the first game, Orillia the second, then the next two to Peterborough. The fourth game was particularly unlucky for Orillia, the home having bombarded the Peterborough citadel incessantly, more than one shot appearing to go through the flags. At last the Peterborough defence threw the ball up the field, it fell into the hands of their home, and almost before the Orillia defence knew what had happened, the umpire's hand went up. The game was disputed, and Quinn was so annoyed that he smashed the umpire's umbrella with his stick. But that functionary stuck to his decision. The Orillias did not give their opponents another chance to score. For the next two games the defence had nothing to do but to feed the home when the ball was thrown out of the melee in front of the Peterborough flags, Thomson and McPherson doing this to perfection. With the score three each, and the play against them Peterborough started in to kill time, throwing the ball over the fence deliberately. This, however, did not avail them much, as the referee instructed the timekeepers to make allowance for the lost time. After a hard tussle, Watson succeeded in scooping the ball through the flags during a scrimmage. During the remaining ten minutes of play the Orillias did not succeed in scoring again, though they came near it several times. The game was not rough though there were a number of stops. Lupsett, of Peterborough, had to be laid off in the third game and E. Dunn went off to even up. Dr. Heggie, the well-known Brampton player of a few years ago, made an efficient referee. A. Cameron, Beaverton, and E. Beattie, Fergus, were the umpires, while Alf. Terrill, Secretary of the Peterborough club, and R. H. Jupp performed on this occasion the important and by no means easy duties of timekeepers. Both twelves were made up exactly the same as in the match the previous week.

Orillia may yet have another chance at the championship, as the local club are pushing a protest against Jim McCabe for playing with other teams. Messrs. McPhee and Kean went to Toronto yesterday to lay the case before the C. L. A. officials. On the form shown by the two teams in their match here it would be easy to believe that in a small field their strength, stickhandling and alertness would give Peterborough the advantage in the constant scrimmaging, but in a ground where there is room for running, dodging, and combination there could be no doubt of the superiority of the Orillia twelve."

The Lacrosse Club will resume practice to-night and all the players are requested to turn out in order to keep in shape for the final game, which will take place in a short time.

THE WHEEL.

The Race Committee of the Victoria bicycle club is requested to meet this evening to make final arrangements for the big road race a week from Friday.

Bicycle "scorchers" and "coasters" have fallen upon evil days. The Police Bicycle Corps has just been inaugurated in Montreal with the idea of looking after that class of people. It is composed of twelve men, especially selected for their speed and endurance. Lieut. Naegele will have command of the East End detachment, while Lieut. Fox will direct operations on the West End streets and avenues.

The policemen will perform a day and night service. They have instructions to arrest all "scorchers" and cyclists, who coast down hills.

The Recorder yesterday "scorched" the first batch of offenders, four in number. He imposed a fine of one dollar or eight days. The bicycle squad has also received orders to arrest unlicensed wheelmen, and those who fail to wear their bicycle tags in the proper position. Wheelmen will not be allowed to ride faster than eight miles an hour.

FOOTBALL.

The Rugby football club should reorganize at once, as there are a large number of students in town whose presence will be of great assistance until they leave for the university in the course of a couple of weeks. By starting practice immediately the boys can be in shape to have one match at least before the university men leave to resume their studies.

TUG OF WAR.

As Mr. Lem. Felcher's tug-of-war team did not receive medals at Toronto when they were taken to pull in the hotelkeeper's tournament, he has, at considerable expense to himself, purchased four handsome medals, which he will present to Messrs. Dobbin, Fegg, Hull and Crowley. Mr. Felcher is making arrangements to bring off a tug-of-war tournament in Peterborough.

THE TURF.

David J. McLary, who drove Star Pointer to a record of 1.59¼, is 32 years old, and was born in London, Ont. His father, John McLary, is a farmer, now living in Westlawn, a small town in Ontario, on the shore of Lake Erie. David has two brothers and two sisters living. None of the family are particularly fond of fast horses except David, although one brother John, whose home is in Ontario, is a dealer in horses and cattle.

LUETGERT'S LOVE LETTERS

Were Read in Court at Chicago and Made Fun For Everybody Except the Prisoner.

Chicago, Sept. 7. Two strong points were scored by the prosecution in the Luetgert trial to day, and, unless the defence is able to impeach the testimony of the witnesses, their evidence is likely to have considerable weight with the jury. The two witnesses were Nicholas Faber, who testified that on the night of May 1 he saw Luetgert and his wife enter the sausage factory, and Charles Hengst, who swore that on the night of May 1 he passed the factory and heard a cry from within, apparently made by someone in pain.

The reading of the love letters which had been written by Luetgert to Mrs. Feddt was great fun for the crowd in the court room, and it was very embarrassing for the defendant, as in several of them he had spoken in a slighting manner of the lawyers who are now conducting his defence, saying that they were "greedy" and "not able to handle a trial of such importance." He laid particular stress on the incompetency of Judge Vincent, who is now the leading counsel for the defence. When these portions of the letter were read the lawyers laughed, and nobody enjoyed them more than Judge Vincent, but it was not pleasant for Luetgert, who twisted around in his chair, mopped his face with his handkerchief and seemed to be uncomfortable generally.

Fritz Figel, who worked for Luetgert May 4, told how he had emptied a barrel of ashes in the alley, and Officer James Smith testified to having found particles of bone and two corset steels in the pile of debris where the ashes were emptied.

Frederick A. Scheutz testified as to former quarrels between Luetgert and his wife, in which Luetgert had threatened to take her life. The witness is 71 years of age and feeble. He is so deaf that Interpreter Liebig was compelled to stand close to him in order to repeat the questions of the attorneys.

The defence felt they had undermined the testimony to a large extent when they had gained an admission from the witness that he was 100 feet away from Luetgert at the time of the quarrel.

BY EIGHT WICKETS.

The Canadian Cricketers Had an Easy Victory Over the United States Team at Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 8.

The international cricket match between Canada and the United States was finished early yesterday afternoon at Rosedale, the result being a victory for the Dominion representatives by eight wickets. Brown, Morrice, Morton and Townsend did the best work with the willow for the visitors, raising the total to 129 and leaving the Canadians 36 to make to win. Cooper was bowled the first over and it was not until Goldingham lost his wicket that Terry made the winning hit, a boundary stroke for four. Saunders was in great form and played perfectly for his 22, not out. M. Boyd gets the bat presented by the Griffiths Cycle Corporation for the highest score made in the match.

ALL THREE CURED.

Neil McKechnie, With his Wife and Mother-in-Law, Cured of Constipation by Dodd's Kidney Pills—These Pills Better Than Ordinary Cathartics.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Neil McKechnie, a popular barber of this city, has been a sufferer from chronic constipation for years. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills and not only obtained immediate relief, but a permanent cure. His wife and mother-in-law were similarly afflicted, and used these pills with the same good results. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief and and leave the patient worse than before using them. While Dodd's Kidney Pills are not cathartics, their peculiar action on the liver and kidneys is such that the causes of constipation are permanently removed.

YELLOW JACK IS THERE

And the People in Several Cities and Towns Along the Mississippi River are Greatly Excited.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 7.—A telegram has been received by Governor McLauren from Doctors H. H. Haralson and F. Hunter, members of the Mississippi State Board of Health, now at Ocean Springs, Miss., stating it was the unanimous opinion of representatives of the Board of Health of Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, and of the Marine Hospital service, that without doubt yellow fever was now present at that port. The City Council at a special meeting, held late yesterday evening, decided to inaugurate a limited quarantine against the Gulf coast.

Great Scare at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 7.—Despite the quarantine proclamation about one hundred persons from Scranton, Biloxi, etc., tried to get into Mobile on the midnight train, and but four passengers were let off, they being through from New Orleans and being subjected to examination by the physicians here. The others were taken to a point above Mobile, where they will be transferred to a westbound train and taken back where they came from.

It is said the excitement down the road is very great, and that crowds of people went into New Orleans on the late train. They did not wait for their baggage, and some did not even fully clothe themselves, such was their hurry to leave.

Three Cases of Yellow Fever

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 7.—At 10.30 p.m. three well-defined cases of yellow fever were reported here.

TORONTO MARKETS

On the live stock market there were 60 car loads of stock delivered, composed of 901 cattle, 1442 sheep and lambs, 25 calves and 700 hogs. There was a little more activity on the market and it ruled strong at a slight advance on Friday's prices for export cattle.

One reason for this was that the supply was short to fill space on boats, it having for the present become more plentiful.

E. & A. W. Maybee were buying for the Cardiff Cattle Syndicate and they bought 130 choice cattle at prices ranging from $4.25 to $4.75 per cwt. These buyers also reported having bought two loads of choice heavy American steers and heifers, weighing over 1400 lbs. each, coating them from $5 to $5.25 per cwt. for the above company on the Buffalo market.

Choice export cattle sold at $4.50 to $4.70 per cwt., a few choice loads only bringing the latter price, and the prevailing price was from $4.40 to $4.65 per cwt.; medium export sold at $4.12 to $4.35 per cwt.

James Eakins bought 22 choice cattle weighing 1285 lbs. each at $4.60 per cwt.

H. Maybee bought one load of exporters weighing 1300 lbs. each at $4.50 per cwt.

Messrs. Crawford & Hunnisett sold one car of 20 cattle for export weighing 1150 lbs. each at $4.35 per cwt.

Butchers' cattle sold well, especially the better class, and more could have found sale at the following quotations; Choice butchers' sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt., while medium brought from $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt., and common $2.85 to $3.25 per cwt.

William Levack, as usual, bought a large number of butchers', as well as export cattle, 160 in number, paying all the way from $2.90 to $4.30 per cwt.

Stockers and feeders, of which there were a large number, sold at about the same prices as on Friday last. Crawford & Co. bought a large number at prices ranging all the way from $3 per cwt. for stockers to $3.50 per cwt. for light feeders and $3.75 per cwt. for choice heavy ones.

Bulls—Prices remain about the same. S. Halligan was buying some weighing about 1000 lbs. at $2.25 to $2.50 per cwt. for the Walkersville byres, and is ready to take a large number at these weights and prices.

Milk cows were not very plentiful, only about a dozen being on the market and these sold at prices ranging from $25 up to $45 each, and more could have been sold at those prices.

Export sheep sold well; ewes brought $3 to $3.50 per cwt. Bucks $2.75 to $3 per cwt.

Lambs were plentiful and brought $3.75 to $4 per cwt., and $2.50 to $3.25 each.

Calves sold at $3 to $6, and an odd one at $7.

The hog market was firm at last week's quotations, with a light run and more wanted at present prices. Joseph Wilson, a dealer from the N.W. Territories, was on the market, having just returned from Montreal, after shipping a large number of cattle to the Old Country. Mr. Wilson reports that there will be a large number of cattle shipped from the Territories this season, but not as many as some people imagine. Mr. Wilson leaves for home to-morrow, where he has 1500 more cattle ready to ship.

It has been said that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, health-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

RETURNS WITH $10,000.

An Ansonia Man Has the Cash, But Advises People to Stay Away During the Winter.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7.—Ferdinand Tobler of Ansonia has just returned from the Klondike with $10,000 in cash. He left Alaska June 20 and says he is going back in the spring. He thinks there will be a famine there before spring, and advises people to stay away during the winter.

Tobler went to Alaska three years and a half ago and located on a claim on Davis Creek, 100 miles from the Klondike. It promised well, and, being offered $10,000 for it, he closed the deal. He says it will be a terrible winter there, as there is not near enough food to feed the crowds rushing in.

The Half Has Not Been Told.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 7.—Captain Neilson of the tug Pioneer, just returned from Dyea and Skaguay, says: "The half has not been told of the miserable trails by which the gold-seekers are striving to creep to Lake Linderman. Captain Wasson, banker and ex-Collector of Customs for the Puget Sound district, is reported as being camped on the beach at Skaguay, with not one chance in five thousand of getting through this fall. He has ten horses. One man at Dyea offered $750 to have 100 pounds packed over, but packers refused the offer. Crossing from Skaguay and Dyea the trail is practically closed on account of the mud."

Rise of Land About Hudson Bay.

The rapid rise of the land about Hudson Bay is said to be the most remarkable gradual upheaval of an extensive region ever known. Driftwood-covered beaches are now 20 to 60 or 70 feet above the water, new islands have appeared, and many channels and all the old harbors have become too shallow for ships. At the present rate this shallow bay will disappear in a few centuries, adding a vast area of dry land or salt marsh to British territory in America.

Some men are afraid of death, some are not. Most of us would rather not meet the grim destroyer to-day. We would rather put it off until to-morrow, or until next year. Mere wishes do not count for much in the matter. A man may not want to die. He may not want to be sick. He may wish and hope and pray that he will not be one or do the other, but wishing and hoping won't help him. It is what he does, and not what he wishes that serve his purpose. If a man is losing flesh, and is nervous, irritable, sleepless and debilitated, he may wish he would get well, but one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do more than an ocean of wishes. If a man is on the way to consumption, he should make a stop as quickly as possible. He should put on brakes. He needn't be afraid he has consumption if he will do the right thing—if he will just take the right medicine. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures incipient and well developed consumption. Consumption is a germ disease and a blood disease. The "Golden Medical Discovery" kills the germs and purifies the blood. It increases the appetite, helps digestion, makes assimilation perfect, and so builds up solid, wholesome flesh. Hundreds of grateful people afflicted with consumption, bronchial, throat and kindred diseases, have testified that it has actually saved their lives. For the sake of the information they contain, some of these letters have been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a thousand page, illustrated book, which will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to pay for customs and mailing only. Every family should have a copy for ready reference in case of sudden sickness or accidents. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Perfumes and Discoveries.

What motives impelled those early navigators and explorers to make such sacrifice of time and money to embark upon such uncertain expeditions upon unknown waters and desert wastes; to imperil their lives and fortunes upon such rash ventures, to undergo years of toil, such terrible anxiety, and suffering? With them, as with men in all ages, gold and glory took front rank among the motives. But, strange as it may now seem, it was not the eye or ear's delight only nor geographic curiosity that was consulted. The sense of smell commanded a greater attention and was a greater factor in prompting the astounding enterprise. We are speaking of an age when sanitary science cut no figure in the affairs of life, an age before the ingenious Yankee had made and patented a thousand varieties of toilet soap, an age before a gospel of personal and general cleanliness was preached or practiced. Perfumery, to take the place of soap and water, was in great demand. Rare, expensive and loud perfumes, to antagonize and stifle the offensiveness of unwashed nature, commanded a premium, and its extravagant use then indicated wealth and the upper crust of fashionable society.

In keeping with the ideas of the times, it was the sign and seal of aristocracy, as creditable then as discreditable and unnecessary now, however rank the perfume. Spices and perfumes were not indigenous in Europe. Such merchandise came from the extreme and unknown east by caravan to Alexandria in Egypt. The transportation, added to the cost of production, made such goods enormously expensive. Portugal first, followed by Spain, and lastly by England, all desired a monopoly of that trade. This it was that brought into prominence the great navigators.—H. Hakes' "John and Sebastian Cabot."

BASEBALL RECORD.

Toronto, Sept. 9.

Toronto won two games yesterday afternoon on the Island diamond from the Springfield Ponies, the second of which had a hair-raising finish. The Islanders jumped on the first delivery of Kerwin in the latter part of the first game and made an easy finish of it. Loose work by Dineen and the fielders gave the visitors a chance to make the second one close and Toronto only won out by a rally in the eighth and ninth. Brouthers was troubled with a sore knee and everything went past him as a kit in the first game, and Duncan replaced him with some better results.

THE SECOND GAME.

SYRACUSE AND BUFFALO.

Syracuse, Sept. 8. The home team took both games from Scranton here to-day without much effort. They won the first game by good stick work. The Stars batted Gilks whenever it was necessary, while Horton was only picking for them. Timely batting was the cause of their second victory also. Scores:

First Game R.H.E.
Syracuse 0 2 0 0 5 0 0 1 *—8 10 1
Scranton 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 6 1
Batteries—Horton and Ryan; Gilks and Boyd.

Second Game R.H.E.
Syracuse 3 0 1 4 0 0 0 1 *—9 12 4
Scranton 1 2 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—2 6 8
Batteries—Lampe and Shaw; Johnston and Gunson.

At Buffalo Wilkes-Barre having failed to arrive in time to play on Tuesday, two games were played to make up. Honors were even. In the second game Sanders was knocked clean off the slab. It happened in the eighth innings. Brown finished the game. Odwell had been hit well by the Bisons, and Wilkes-Barre, wanting a pinch, substituted Keenan in the ninth. Cremlinger's home run was made by the ball hitting the outfield fence and falling behind the big blackboard, where it was lost. Scores:

First Game— R.H.E.
Wilkes-Barre 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—1 6 2
Batteries—McPartlin and Urquhart; Keenan and Diggins.

Second Game— R.H.E.
Buffalo 0 2 0 0 0 1 3 0 0—6 11 2
Wilkes Barre 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 5 *—8 11 1
Batteries—Brown, Sanders and Zahner; Keenan, Odwell and Diggins.

MONTREAL BEAT PROVIDENCE.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—McFarland's delivery was a complete puzzle to Providence, and, though Braun pitched pennant-winning ball, Montreal succeeded in getting enough hits to win. Shannon's work at short was the finest ever seen in the city. Attendance 1200. Score:

Montreal	1 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1—5

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston, Sept. 8.—The tail-enders could do but little with Klobedanz after the first innings. The latter was magnificently supported, while the opposite was the case with Pitcher Hart. Attendance 1500. Score:

R.H.E.
Boston 4 0 2 1 6 4 0 0 *—17 17 0
St. Louis 3 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0—5 13 6
Batteries—Klobedanz, Hickman and Bergen; Hart and Douglass.

At Baltimore The champions took the first of this series from the Louisvilles in a dull game. Waddell pitched a good game, but worked against some hard luck. Nops pitching was brilliant. Scores:

R.H.E.
Baltimore 2 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 *—5 . .
Louisville 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1 1
Batteries—Nops and Robinson; Waddell and Schriver.

At Brooklyn The Cincinnatis won a well played game from the Brooklyns. Dwyer, who was in the box for the Reds, was at his best. Dunn was hit hard, but with proper support would probably have won his game. Score:

R.H.E.
Brooklyn 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—2 7 2
Cincinnati 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—4 12 3
Batteries—Dunn and Grim; Dwyer and Schriver.

At New York—With the score 7 to 2 in favor of Pittsburg, the New Yorks made a grand stand finish in the seventh innings, and won the game by making six runs. The game was then called on account of darkness. Score:

R.H.E.
New York 1 0 0 0 1 0 6—8 8 6
Pittsburg 1 0 0 0 4 0 2 7 0—4

Batteries—Gettig and Warner; Killen and Sugden.

At Washington—Washington is in the first division as a result of taking two games from Cleveland. Swaim had practically lost the first when Mercer went on the slab in the ninth innings and won out. The second game was forfeited to the Senators, 9 to 0. At the beginning of the fifth innings McKean claimed that he was hit by a pitched ball. The umpire decided that he intentionally got in the way of the ball. Tebeau disputed this, and refused to continue the game. Scores:

First Game— R.H.E.
Washington 0 0 1 4 1 0 1 0 1—8 15 6
Cleveland 0 1 0 2 1 0 0 3 0—7 9 1
Batteries—Swaim, Mercer and Maguire; Wilson and Zimmer.

Second Game— R.H.E.
Washington 2 0 0 4—6 7 4
Cleveland 0 0 0 2—2 5 7
Batteries—Breshehan and Farrell; Young and Zimmer.

At Philadelphia—Remarkable running catches by Everett and Ryan, coupled with errors by the Philadelphias in the ninth innings, resulted in a victory for Chicago. The finish was exciting. Score:

R.H.E.
Chicago 1 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 3—6 10 1
Philadelphia 2 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—5 13 3
Batteries—Friend and Kittridge; O'Neil and McFarland.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

NOW THE BENHAM PROPERTY

Is Causing a Dispute in the Courts - Action to Exclude Howard C. Benham.

Buffalo, Sept. 7.—A civil action, entitled Howard Sidney Benham, an infant, by Mary A. Farrant, as guardian ad litem, against Howard C. Benham and others, had its initial hearing before Justice Childs in the Supreme Court special term to-day. The action is brought by Mrs. Farrant to exclude Benham and others from obtaining any part of the estate of the late Florence Benham. The complaint cites that in her will Florence Benham bequeathed $7,000 to her son, Howard Sidney Benham; $2000 to Earl Farrant, and the balance, amounting to $35,000, to Howard C. Benham, her husband. It alleges that to prevent a revocation of the bequests in his favor, Benham poisoned his wife, and it is further alleged that on July 29 last Benham was convicted of that crime at Batavia. Justice Childs reserved decision.

High-Grade Cemetery Work
AT A MODERATE PRICE.

The element of permanence which attaches to the erection of any memorial to the dead renders it highly desirable that no mistake be made in the selection either of design or of materials.

A mistake is a serious matter. Let us help you to make a right decision. Our specialty is the erection of monuments which are unique without being grotesque, and artistic without being over-decorated.

We manufacture from all first-quality granites, and as WE SELL DIRECT TO CUSTOMERS, we save the latter all agents' profits. Then, too, there is a decided advantage for the buyer in dealing with one responsible firm for both the manufacture and the setting of a monument.

All our work is guaranteed, NO CHARGE being made if not strictly according to contract. Write us for designs and estimates.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Klondyke gold fever has struck this place, and now nothing else is talked about. Quite a number want to go but the trouble is getting there. Even some of our old business men have the fever, and if able would start away.

Baptie, mechanic, left for the Klondyke. The party left Toronto on Wednesday noon for Vancouver, from there by boat to Dyea, Alaska. The trip will take about fourteen days from here, and the future movements of the pioneers of this company will be decided on reaching Dyea. Mr. Strickland intends returning early in the winter. It is likely that a number more will start from here next spring.

Mr. E. Carter of Pittsburg, who has spent the summer at his cottage at Stony Lake, returned home on Friday.

Mr. C. S. Proctor, Travelling Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System, spent Saturday and Sunday at Stony Lake and went away favourably impressed with Stony Lake as a grand summer resort. We hope to see the lakes boomed by the Grand Trunk next year.

Labour Day was quietly observed here, as nearly all our citizens were on one or other of the excursions.

The Golden City had a large excursion of Young Canadians, who with friends went to McCracken's Landing, thence to Burleigh, up to Boschink and back to McCracken's, where boat racing was in and where numbers of young people tripped the light fantastic on a platform erected for the purpose. This excursion arrived here about 8 o'clock after enjoying a very pleasant day.

The Sunbeam also carried a very large excursion under the auspices of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F. They went to McCracken's Landing, where they had dinner, after which all who desired went for a sail up through Boschink, after which they landed at Juniper Island, where they had tea, then back to McCracken's to pick up those who remained there, and while there they saw some of the races. All enjoyed themselves thoroughly and returned home about six o'clock. A number of our citizens also went to Young's Point, where they had a celebration, including football matches, etc. The Majestic carried quite a number around on her regular trip.

After Thursday the steamers will quit running twice daily and will run one trip each day, alternately going out on the arrival of the morning train and returning in the evening.

Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., will hold its regular meeting next Thursday evening.

R. Graham & Son are daily receiving consignments of new fall goods, which are being rapidly opened out and placed in position, and they invite all to call and see them. Remember their millinery opening on Wednesday of next week and following day.

Severe Bronchitis Yields Promptly to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

I used your Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a severe attack of Bronchitis. I got better from the time of taking the first dose. Having a family of young children, my doctor's bills have annually come to a considerable sum. I believe a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup occasionally will aid me in reducing them very materially.

BUCKHORN CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In my correspondence of some days ago, I intimated that we did not anticipate the early return of the distinguished party who captured our town and everything in sight on that—to us—memorable morning.

I hasten to correct the impression then formed, as the party returned during last night, somewhat changed in personnel and very much so in countenance, but still recognizable.

They expressed themselves highly pleased with their visit to the north and aver that they made such rich discoveries that they are quite satisfied to not pursue the journey to the Klondyke. They freely express the opinion that the hypoborean regions not a hundrd miles from this calm retreat, afford ample field for the profitable employment of capital. The party, as I have already stated, although changed in complexion, appear to have stood the wear and tear fairly well, and the one of the party who was feeling the pulse of "the free and independent" feels highly pleased with his warm reception and future prospects.

He candidly admits the good state of roads for which our local representative he says receives merited credit, but says that he will go him one better but whether this is to be in the shape of a bicycle track or a tramway he declined to discuss.

Happy indeed would your correspondent feel if he could let the curtain drop here but our philosophic friend and our sage hold diametrically opposite views as to the present policy and future prospects of our good Dominion. It would require a barnful of "sunny smiles" and a barrel of arguments to convince our pessimistic philosopher that this great land of ours is not on the high road to ruin, while our optomistic sage as strongly maintains that it has entered on the lightning wing of prosperity and quotes copiously from the files of the EXAMINER as to advance in wheat, cheese and pork in proof of his contention.

And still these contentions do not end here. They almost invariably revert to the visit of the distinguished party before referred to. The philosopher maintains that the party were perfectly satisfied with the rich discoveries they had made and that there was no need to go further, while the sage sarcastically remarks that they were afraid to undertake the journey to Klondyke and moreover that their supplies were exhausted. Your correspondent is not in a position to say which is right or otherwise, but I learn that a joint stock company will be at once formed for the purpose of developing the new discoveries. It is, I understand, to be called the Sunflower Development and Mining Co., Limited, and will include a prominent alderman, an experienced engineer, a well known boniface and an ex-alderman of political proclivities, all of your city.

It is now understood that the unknown gentleman who accompanied the party represents a wealthy British syndicate which is prepared to furnish all the necessary capital on his recommendation, which it is believed he is prepared to do.

Practise Economy

In buying medicine as in other matters. It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla because there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.
